RESOLUTIONS.

WHEREAS, it is at all times the right and priv lege of freemen to assemble, and temperately, bur firmly, declare the principles which actuate and bind them together as a distinctive organization; and whereas, at this hour, when civil war desulates the land, when embittered social rela-tions exist; when usurpations and abuses of authority are frequent; when fraud and corruption stuk abroad in shameless boldness; when the daugerous plea of necessity is admitted and and when the written law of this State and of the Federal Government is set aside and despised; it is the solemn duty of all men, but more especially of those who claim to be de voted to the great principles of civil and religi-ous liberty, to reaffirm and reassert the dogmas of their faith; therefore, Be it Resolved, by the Democrats of Berks county, in mass meeting assembled :

lst. That the people are the true and only course of all power; That all authority which they have not dela-gated to the States or Federal Government still resides in them ; That the Constitution of the United States, and of the several States, and laws made in obedience thereto, and under authority thereof, contain the only and written expression of this delegat authority; That all laws enacted under and by this au-thority shall be obeyed as well by the President as by the citizen : That there shall be no proclamation-made law; That there shall be no arbitrary arrests; That there shall be no Bastiles:

That there shall be no suppression of the pres, or of free speech; That there shall be no confiscation of private property, except for crime judicially ascertained That the Monroe Doctrine shall be maintained That there shall be no emancipation by Federal power, or at the expense of the Federal

That the laws of war shall be observed ; That the recent legislation of Congress shall be reviewed and corrected; That there shall be no interference by the ederal Government at the ballot-box; That there shall be no duties or taxes except Federal Governm for revenue ; That the Constitution shall expressly provide, in the very machinery of Government, a power of defence against sectional parties; and that the Union shall be perpetual and shall be declared so. 2. Resolved, That we reaffirm, readopt and approve of all the acts and resolutions of the De-mocratio State Convention, held at Harrisburg un the 17th day of June last; and furthermore, that we reaffirm and readopt the resolutions passed by the Democracy of this county in Au-gust, 1861, August, 1862, and in April, 1863, and that we refer with especial pride and gratification to the declaration made by us in August, 1861; "The declaration content of delegates from att to the declaration made by us in August, 1991; "That a National Convention of delegates from all the Union loving people of the United States ought to be called immediately, as provided for in the lifth article of the Constitution, for the purpose of delib-crating upon the present state of the Union, and of deriving some proper means for altaining the great object of the present unfortunate war-the speedy restoration of peace on the basis of the Constitution and the Union," Had these words of wisdom the density of which are then adouted, the blessings and the Union." Had these words of wiedom and conciliation been then adopted, the blessings and conclusion been then adopted, the descripts of peace would now be cars, the carcage which has desolated the land would have been stayed, and the lives and property of this Republic Would have been spared to advance her great-
