The authorities here have come to the conclusion that the draft will not pay. Under its process they obtain more money than men, and the character of the substitutes prevents the really worthy men who are drafted from serving. The Marion delegation, in particular, made an imposing display. They came in a long train of carriages, at the head of which was a four-horse wagon, beautifully decked with evergreens, flowers and flags, fully decked with evergreens, flowers and flags, and containing thirty four young ladies (representing the States of the unbroken Union), who enlivened the scene by singing patriotic songs as they approached the Spring. Great Battle near Chattanooga, Georgia. Three Days' Desperate Fighting.

GREAT SLAUHGTER OF THE ENEMY. Our Loss 1700 Killed and 8,000 Wounded.

Official Dispatches from Gen. Rosecrans. HE HOLDS A STRONG POSITION.

Washington, Tuesday, Sept. 22, 1863. The Star and National Republican, in their late editions this afternoon, have accounts of the late great battle near Chattanooga, evidently derived from official sources. The longer one, from the from official sources. It is longer one, from the Ecening Star, is as follows:

On Saturday, the 13th, a demonstration was made by the rebals in strong force, which appears to have been repelled by the force under len. Thomas, with the advantage on the Unica

On Sunday an engagement commenced late in the morning. The first gun was fired at nine A. M., but no considerable firing took place until ten. Previous to ten o'clock Gen. Rosecrans Trevious to ten choice ten for the Nosethus rode the whole length of our line. Soon after, the battle commenced.

General Thomas, who held the left, began to call for reinforcements. About twelve o'clock word came that he had been forced to retire. The second line of reinforcements were then sent to him, and McCook's whole corps, which was then on the right and as a reserve in the centre, was sent to his assistance. Gen. Wood, of Crittenden's corps, and Van Cleve, who held the front centre, were also ordered to the left, where the furn of the cannonade showed that the where the fury of the cannonade showed that the enemy's force was massed.

Their places were filled by Davis and Sheridan, of Gen. McCook's corps. But hardly had these divisions taken their places in the line, when the rehel fire. which had slackened, burst out in im-rebel ire, which had shokened, ourse out in immense volleys upon the centre.

This lasted about twenty minutes, and then Van Cleve, on Thomas' right, was seen to give way, but in tolerable order; soon after which the lines of Sheridan and Davis broke in disortions. der, borne down by the enemy's columns, which are said to have consisted of Polk's corps. These two divisions were the only divisions thrown in two divisions were the only divisions thrown into much disorder. Those of Negley and Van Cleve were thrown into confusion, but soon rallied and held their places, the first on the left and the second on the right of Thomas corps.
Davis and Sheridan, late in the day, succeeded in rallying about eight thousand of their forces and joined Thomas.
Gen. Thomas, finding himself cut off from the right, brought his division into position for indaright, brought his division into position for inde-pendent fighting, his line assuming the form of pendent igniting, his like assuming the form of a horseshoe along the crest of a wooded ridge. He was soon joined by Granger, from Rossville, with a division of Gen. McCook and Gen. Stead-man's division, and with these forces firmly man's division, and with these forces firmly maintained the fight until after dark.

Our troops were as immovable as the rocks they stood on. The enemy repeatedly hurled against them the dense columns which had routed Davis and Sheridan in the morning; but every onset was repulsed with dreadful slaughter. Failing first ou one and then on the other point of our lines, the rebels for hours vainly sought to break them. Gen. Thomas seemed to have filled every soldier with his own unconquerable filled every soldier with his own unconquerable firmness; and General Granger, his hat torn by bullets, rode like a lion wherever the combat was thickest. Every division commander bore him-self gloriously, and among them Generals Turchen, Hazen and Parker especially distinguished thomselves. Turchen charged through the rebel lines with the bayonet, and being surrounded, forced his way back again. Parker, who had two horses shot under him on Saturday, forming his men in one line, made them lie down unti off all his wounded. Of the sick and wounded at Crawfish Springs, including our main hospital, nearly all had been brought away.

The number of prisoners (aken by the enemy will hardly surpass two thousand, besides the wounded, of whom not more than one thousand could have fallen into their hands. Of rebel risoners we have sent thirteen hundred to Nashville.

Most of our losses in artillery were occasione by the killing of all the horses.

Gen. Thomas retired to Rossville on Sunday night after the battle had closed. General Rosecrans had issued orders for all his troops to be concentrated with the forces at Ghattanage hattanooga. In the last two assaults our troops fought with bayonets, their ammunition being exhausted.

The latest information that has reached this city is from Chattanooga last evening, and was to the effect that Gen. Rosecrans would concentrate on Chattanooga last night.

General Thomas had been engaged with the General Thomas had been engaged with the enemy prior to five P. M. yesterday, and it was therefore questionable whether he would be able to reach Chattanoga last night.

There were indications that the enemy were contemplating a demonstration on another part of our line last evening.

OFFICIAL DISPATCHES FROM GENERAL RO-SECRANS.

WASHINGTON, Wednesday, Sept. 23. Dispatches from Gen. Rosecrans, dated Chat-tanooga, at three and five o'clock, yesterday af-ternoon, were received by the Government this morning, from which it appears that the enemy's attack upon General Thomas' Corps, (Rosecrans' left,) on Monday afternoon, was handsomely repulsed, and Gen. Thomas marched quietly to the position his forces were about to take when they were assaulted.

The official dispatches of Monday evening stated that two divisions of Longstreet's Corps were advancing upon Rosecrans at 4 o'clock on that afternoon, but it turned out that the movethat afternoon, but it turned out that the move-ment was merely for the purpose of a reconnoissance, as no attack was made. Gen. Rosecrans' order for his entire command to concentrate was accomplished before midnight of that day, and it is now in a strong defensive position which can be easily held reinforcements arrive.

This movement of the troops was executed in excellent order, and, although they had been worked hard for several days and nights, they were in fine spirits.

Four thousand of our wounded were removed from the field after the battle of Sunday. Gen. Lytle was the only general officer killed on our side, while Bragg acknowledges the loss of the side, white bragg acknowledges the loss of the enemy in officers to be very heavy.

The regulars of our reserves went into the hattle 1,600 strong, and came out with only 415. This shows the persistency with which our troops contested for every inch of ground.

Gen Rosecrans has performed woulders in reaching his present position after fighting with reaching his present position after fighting with his single command against the immense force of picked troops combined against him. In two or three days he will be able to assume offensive operations.

When the last dispatch of yesterday closed the enemy was quite active. He had been making approaches all the morning. Gen. Rosecrane' men were in line and ready

GENERAL ROSECRANS'S POSITION-REIN-FORCEMENTS.

Louisville, Wednesday, Sept. 23 The Journal has received information, which t credits, that on Monday ught the right and left wings of Rosocrans' grand army rested on the battle field of Saturday and Sanday, and rein-forcements—the number of which is not stated from General Grant's army were to have reached him via Decatur yesterday. Rosecraus' head quarters were four miles from the battle field, in he rear of the centre. Rosecrans was in good spirits, and hopeful of complete, and decisive victory over Johnston, Bragg and Longstreet.

It is reported that Gen. A. P. Hill is in command of the Confederate forces opposed to Rose-

Loursville, Wednesday, Sept. 23, (Noon.) A special dispatch from Nashville to the Jour-ial has just been received, which says there was slight skirmishing yesterday in front of Rose-crans' army; otherwise all is quiet up to 2:30

REBEL ACCOUNT OF THE BATTLE. FORTRESS MONROE, Sept. 23.—The Richmond Dispatch of the 22d inst., contains the following: CHICKAMAUGA, Ga, Sept. 20.—After two days' hard fighting we have driven the enemy, after a desperate resistance, from several positions, but he still confronts us. The losses are heavy on both sides, especially so among our officers. We have taken twenty pieces of artillery and 2,500 prisoners. [Signed] To Adjutant General Cooper.

Rosecrans has been heavily reinforced by troops from Gen. Grant's army.

FURTHER REBEL ACCOUNTS OF THE BATTLE IN GEORGIA.

FORTRESS MONROE, Wednesday, Sept. 23.— The flag-of truce steamer New York arrived here at 6 o'clock this evening from City Point. The Richmond Whig of to day, which hus been received by this arrival, reports three days' hard fighting in Northern Georgia, with heavy loss on both sides. The rebel loss was 5,000, including many valuable officers. Among the killed were Brig. Gen. Preston Smith, of Tennessce; Brig. Gen. Wolffird, of Georgia; Brig. Gen. Waltham, of Mississippi; Brigadier Generals Helm and Deshler.

NO FIGHTING ON WEDNESDAY.

No FIGHTING ON WEDNESDAY.

NASHVILLE, Wednesday, Sept. 23.

The news from the front to day is meagre. No trains have arrived from the South to night. It is reported that they are being detained to bring up the wounded.

A telegram from the front reports that there was no fighting to-day. Our forces still hold the position of yesterday, which is an evidence of strength, as every hour increases the chances for reinforcements from Burnside to arrive, and enables our forces to more thoroughly entrench enables our forces to more thoroughly entrench themselves.

No definite assurance of the arrival of reinprogramments has yet been received. Brigadier General John H. King, who was re ported wounded and a prisoner, is neither. A telegram from the front reports him all safe. Major Coolidge, second in command of the same brigade, was certainly killed.

THE LATE BATTLE IN GEORGIA. WASHINGTON, Thursday, Sept. 24, 1863. A dispatch from Gen. Rosecrans, dated at his headquarters, last night, says:

"I cannot be dislodged from my present position. Another dispatch from one of Gen. Rosecran's staff, written at 40 minutes past 11 o'clock las night, says:
"No fighting to-day, the 23d."

CINCINNATI, Thursday, Sept. 24, 1863.
A correspondent of The New York Herald has arrived here from the battle field of Chattanooga, where he witnessed the two days' fighting.
He says that the official reports of the b his men in one line, made them lie down until the enemy was close upon them, when suddenly they rose and delivered their fire, with such effect that the assaulting columns fell back in confusion, leaving the ground covered with killed. When night fell, this body of heroes stood on the same ground occupied by them in the morning, their spirits being unbroken. Their losses are not yet estimated.

Gen. Thomas's corps is really the only one. Which did any fighting. On the first day, it defeated feen. Longstreet, with horrible slaugh-ter, driving him in great confusion for over a mile beyond the Chicamauga River. Longstreet, and they wounded. Of the sick and wounded at Crawfish Springs, including our main hospital, in a two hours' fight, lost 1,000 men in killed, and double that in wounded. McCook's and Crittenden's corps, the same Actook's and Critteneen's corps, the same day, were both badly beaten, and the enemy broke the centre, driving Crittenden in every direction. The defeat of this part of the line caused Thomas to abandon his field, and fall back to protect his flank, and re-establish his line. At the same time the enemy not knowing what At the same time the enemy not knowing what he had accomplished, failed to pursue the advan-tage, and Gens. Wood and Negley went in the centre and re-established that part of the line. The day was ours though the enemy held the field.

We had taken three pieces of artillery more than we had lost on the first day, when Gen. Thomas had defeated Longstreet. On the second day he saved the army of Gen. Rosecrans from annihilation.

From 10 to 12 on Sunday, he fought the enemy because the state of the saved that the saved the saved that the saved the saved that the saved the saved that the sav and repulsed him in three charges, when, finding the assault in vain, the enemy pushed forward on the right and center, and at the first charge broke Crittenden and McCook's lines, and routed prope critication and microok situes, and routed their entire commands, driving them in a disgraceful panic into Rossville and Chattanooga.

Gen. Thomas with his corps, still contested the day, and was enabled by the timely reinforcement of Gen. Granger, to hold a position until nightfall covered his retreat to Rossville.

The correspondent left the field at 7 p. m Sunday night, and Chattanooga the noon of Rosecrans was falling back on Chattanooga where he was perfectly safe from all Gen. Bragg could do. His lines of communication were perfectly secure, and he had plenty of ammuni-tion and provisions in Chattaneoga to stand a month's siege. The result is virtually a defeat to us, as we have lost tremendously in material, not less than fifty pieces of artillery falling into the hands of the enemy, though Bragg's army receipts for twenty.

The Rebel loss in killed and wounded will exceed our own. In killed he has lost double our number.

Rosecrans is in no danger, but at the time the correspondent left Chattanooga the danger to Burnside was very imminent.

CINCINNATI, Friday, Sept. 25. The Gazette publishes full accounts of the bat-The Gazette publishes full accounts of the bat-tles of Saturday and Sunday, this morning. It confirms the general statement by telegraph al-ready published. The army was saved from de-struction by the stubborn defences of Thomas's corps on Sunday. The report concludes: "Our losses have been most severe and can scarcely fall short of 1,500 killed and $5,000 wounded. Col. Barrett tells me our loss in Artillery will not fall short of fifty pieces. Our deficiency in transportation and baggage cannot be estimated. Notwithstanding this, the report says, it was a substantial failure to the enemy, if not a victory to us. They were foiled in the attempt to destroy the army, and suffered in loss of life fully as much as the Army of the Cumberenemy was quite active. He had been making approaches all the morning.

Gen. Rosecrane' men were in line and ready for another encounter.

Gen. Graham, who commanded one of our brigades at Gettyeburg, and was taken prisoner and conveyed to Richmond, has recently been exchanged, and reached here this morning. He is satisfied that only two divisions, with all their artillery, have hene sent to Bragg. In addition to that, two brigades, under Gen. Picketts, and wile's legion, were also detailed to reinforce Bragg.

Gen. Graham says he saw eighty-one pieces of actillery moving across the bridge from Richmond, said to be going to Bragg.

The news of the battles fought between Bragg and Rosecrans was a disappointment to the rebells and bridge from Richmond. They expected to hear, that Rosecrans had been annihilated, and that Bragg had retaken East Tennessee.

J. Instead of that Richmond is again thrown into a state of mourning by the heavy loss Rosecrans he is indicated upon Bragg.

Gen. Lytle is not killed, as reported, but was wounded, and is in the hands of the enemy.
