INFORTANT FROM MEADE'S ARMY.

RECONNOISSANCES AND SKIRMISHES. A Sharp Battle Mear Jenerson.

of the Potomac Fallen Back in Good Position.

trom the Washington Star, of Oct. 12.3 The following particulars are obtained from unics from the Mono. In Saturday the rebel General Stuart crosses It Saturday the rebel General Stuart crossed the stream's river and captured nearly the whole the thich New York, who were doing picket of the thich New York, who were doing picket of the thich the 5th Michigan cavalry made a lart, but the 5th Michigan cavalry made a lart, and the fill score passed our right and we fell back to James City and held be rebels in check with artillery.

The Study morning our whole reconnoitering the commenced falling back towards Culpeper, were their geovered by artillery. General romagnered falling back towards Culpeper, or remained falling back towards Culpeper, or rear heing covered by artillery. General words eavalry fell back as it happened, faster than kilpatrick, who brought up the rear, so that he latter was cut off by Stuart getting in his feat and on his right and left flanks. A charge ordered, and General Custer's brigade galanty drove the enemy into a thicket of woods, you which they, however, recharged in larger makers, and our cavalry then made a grand darge in their front and flanks, cutting their say through and joined Buford.

Our artillery was brought into play during the ign in covering our rear, and with terrible effect, is an instance the rebels charged upon one batter (M. 2d artillery), when the cannoneers is one instance the reverse charged upon the charcety (M. 24 artillery), when the cannoneers counted their horses, repulsed the charge, and reversed to their guns, and gave the retreating tels. causter, killing and wounding many of

In this combat our oavalry performed the unprecedented feat of making successful charges ignation and in three directions. Gen. Kilmitch led the charges with reckless gallantry, miting his way through several platoons of infarry drawn up in the road, in the midst of a mis feem artillery on each flank.

In Sainrday our loss was but slight, but yesgripy, in killed, wounded and missing, General Kilpatrick lost about 150 men. Capt. Dodge, Acting Major 5th Michigan, was killed; Capt.

Gibbant, of the same regiment, was wounded;

sinhant, of the same regiment, was wounded Cap. Haylings, of the same regiment, is missing and supposed a prisoner; Capt. G. M. Datcher, aid to Gen. Kilpatrick, was slightly wounded; Major Pauldi, of the 1st Michigan, and Lieut.

Testerday about four thousand prisoners, most-ref Gen. Fitz Hugh Lee's division, were brought into headquarters.

At five o'clock yesterday there was considerate skirmishing going on between the opposing cavalry and artillery, but it was thought that the enemy would fall back during the night.

About two o'clock to day, a train came down from Happahannock Station, bringing about thirty-two, mostly of the 5 h Michigan cavalry. The supposition is that Lee designed moving a force through Thoroughfare Gap, and rumor has that the enemy has already appeared there, but in this case rumor must be considerably sheal of the fact, and in any event Meade has the shortest line of march to Manassas, and can the shortest line of march to Manassas, and can readily post himself so as to confront Lee wherever he may make his appearance, if, indeed, the latter is not already taking the back track, fading his plans defeated. The following is the substance of information braught here by correspondents of the Northern

General Meade's army has fallen back to this side of the Rappabannock, followed by Lee's srmy, which is in great force about half a mile from the seuthern bank of that river.

The enemy made a feint of moving up the valley on the southern bank of the Robertson tiver, and our cavalry, under Buford, crossed at Germania Ford and took possession of the earth-works abandoned by them. When our force was all across the enemy came against Buford in great force, drove him across the river, without time to destroy the crossing, and pursued him to happahannock Station.

kilpatrick, with a force of cavalry and artilher, which had made a reconnoissance near Madison Court House, was cut off yesterday af-termon on the road to Culpeper, by a portion of Ewell's corps, which were formed across the only roal by which he could retreat, in twelve ranks, roal by which he could retreat, in twelve ranks, with two regiments on each flank. Kilpatrick was compelled to charge directly into the culd decided by the enemy's formation. He led the charge in person, telling his men they must do or die.

The cavalry cut their way through under a concentrated fire such as has hardly been experienced by our troops during the war, and of Leyden, Holland, is permanoutly located at No. 611 perienced by our troops during that wat, sallprobably his rear with his artillery—retired through Culpeper. Kilpatrick's loss in killed and wounded amounted to one hundred and fifty.
General Meade is said to have displayed good generalship in bringing his army back to the line of the Rappahannock. When the enemy made his faint of mering up the welley Mende also [June 20, 1863-19] bis feint of moving up the valley, Meade also made a feint of following him in force, to attack him in the rear, massing his force at Raccoon ford for that purpose. This drew back Lee's Ford for that purpose. This draw back Lee's army, so that the intended flanking movement was frustrated.

[From the Washington Star, Oct. 13.] Parties who have arrived from the front to-day say that there was considerable skirmishing yes-lerday between the cavalry on either side, and that smart musketry firing was heard yesterday fternoon in the vicinity of Rappahannock Sta-

Meade has succeeded in placing himself in the desired position to defy any attempt at a flank movement by Lee; and the precision with which this has been effected tells well both for the commander and the army.

The crossing by Meade to the north side of the Rappahannock was made mainly at Kelly's Ford, and it was effected in admirable order.

As some seem to suppose that Meade's change of position has been the result of a serious conflict, it is proper to state that the fighting thus far has been purely (on our side, at least) by cavalry and artillery supports of cavalry, the main army not having been engaged at all. It is believed that the rebels lost more in the fighting on Sunday than ourselves, as on one occasion two of our light batteries firing into a mass of the enemy, mowed them down like grass.

[From the Washington Star, Oct. 14.] The whole of General Gregg's division was or dered from Bolton Station on Saturday towards Culpepper, and arrived there at four o'clock P. Culipoper, and arrived there at four o'clock P.
M. Thence the second brigade of the Second division was ordered to Fox Mountain to support Kilpatrick; but finding that Kilpatrick did not need reinforcements, the brigade left him on Sunday morning and rejoined the division at Culpepper.

On Sunday night General Gregg moved to Sulphur Springs, arriving at about nine P. M. On Monday morning two regiments—the Fourth and Thirteenth Pennsylvania—were sent phur Springs, and the First Maine were sent out towards Little Washington to reconnecter. The last named regiment encountered a large force of the enemy just beyond Amosville, and were sur-rounded, but gallantly cut their way out and crossed the river at Waterloo Ford, about twelve miles above Sulphur Springs.

About ten o'clock on Monday morning the one-my advanced on the Fourth and Thirteenth Pennsylvania, which were at Jefferson, with cavalry, sylvania, which were at Senerad, with cavary, showing heavy supports in their rear, when our cavalry seeing they were being overpowered, fell back slowly, contesting the ground, to a large forest this side of Jefferson, were General Gregg, who led these regiments in person, dismounted a portion of his men and sent them out as skirportion of his men and some them continued in mishers, their horses having been sent back to

Sulphur Springs,

The Sixteenth Pennsylvania was now dismounted and thrown out along the river banks as skirmishers, while the Eighth was also dismounted and ordered to support the battery, which had only four short range guns, and the enamy opened on us with some twenty pieces of artillary, but our troops calently held their enemy opened on us with some twenty pieces of artillery; but our troops gallantly held their ground for several hours, repulsing the charges of the enemy, and gradually fell back on the Fayetteville road, the enemy following, but keeping at a respectful distance.

General Gregg had but two aids with him, Lieutenants Martin and Culler, and both were wounded, the former severely, and the latter slightly. Lieutenant Adams, of the Fourth Pennsylvania, Major Wilson, of the Eighth Pennsyl sylvania, Major Wilson, of the Eighth Pennaylvania, Lieut. Col. Kettler, of the First New Jer. sey, and Major Russell, of the First Maryland, were wounded.

The loss of the Second brigade, it is thought, will amount to about four hundred and fifty in killed, wounded and missing—the Fourth and Thirteenth Pennsylvania regiments suffering the ESPERATE RATTLE OF FIVE HOURS—THE REBELS DEFEATED WITH GREAT LOSS-OFFICIAL DISPATCHES FROM GEN. SCHOFIELD.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14 .- The following dispatch was received at the headquarters of the army here to day: St. Louis, Oct. 14.—To Major-General H. W. Hallers, General in Chief: General Brown has beaten the rebels under Shelby three times, and is still in close pursuit. Their escape is hardly possible. Two expeditions, recently sent into north-eastern Arkansas, have captured and sent to Pilot Knob over one hundred prisoners.

[Signed] J. M. Schofield, Maj.-Gen. [Signed] J. M. SCHOFIELD, Maj.-Gen.

Sr. Louis, Oct. 14.—Major-General H. W. HALLECK, Gen.-in Chief:—Gen. Brown brought the robels under Shelby to a decisive engagement yesterday. The fight was obstinate and lasted five hours. The rebels were finally completely routed and scattered in all directions, with the loss of all their artillery and baggage, and a large number of small arms and prisoners. The enemy's loss in killed and wounded is very great; ours is also very large. Our troops are still pursuing the flying enemy.
