Poetry.
A LOVER'S WISHES.
A GERMAN FOLK-SONG.

Were I a streamlet held,
They had to cool and hold
Didst thou my waters sip,
I'd stipple to thy lip.

WEARINESS.
O little hand, that weak or strong,
Hence still to move or long,
Have still to long to give or ask,
I, who so much with book and pen
Have toiled among my fellow-men,
Am weary, thinking of my task.

WHERE I FOUND MY WIFE.
I had laid down my pen at last, and looked out of the window by which I had been writing, and for the last three hours, my eyes were fixed on the landscape before me.

INDOLENCE OF THE PRESS.
The many thousands who at this institution year after year, and the numerous operations performed by Dr. Johnson, witnessed by the reporters of the "Sun," "Tribune," and many other papers, notice of which has appeared in the columns of this paper, besides his standing as a gentleman of character and respectability, is another illustration of the same.

SKIN DISEASES SPEEDILY CURED.
250 letters received, and 250 consultations given, and 250 portions of advertisement distributed.

GEN. BUTLER STILL A DEMOCRAT!
Gen. Butler still claims to be a Democrat—that is to say on all the old party issues of tariff, bank, and so forth. But in his enumeration he avoids the mention of the slavery question. He does not pretend to be a Democrat on them. Here is a report of his speech at Lowell on the 29th ult., at a Republican rally:—

"It was glad that there was no party feeling here; that all were emphatically Union men. Disunion party issues have passed away. New questions have arisen, and now the salvation of the Union is the theme occupying the minds of true men everywhere, at North and at the South—there are and always have been a few uncompromising Union men even in the South. He said he was the same Democrat now as he had been in the past; on the tariff, the bank, on free coinage, on all things, on the South—there are and always have been a few uncompromising Union men even in the South. He said he was the same Democrat now as he had been in the past; on the tariff, the bank, on free coinage, on all things, on the South—there are and always have been a few uncompromising Union men even in the South.

"I had determined to leave the next morning, but my plans underwent a sudden revolution. I watched her as she went down the road, and noticed her dress and figure for the first time. There was a singular fitness about both. She wore a lawn dress scattered with small brown spots, and a brown straw bonnet, with a green ribbon gathered across it. She was small and delicately moulded, and her walk was rapid and graceful—not elegant.

"I saw her take up the basket of raised clothes and spread them carefully on the line, and secure them by a pole in the centre of the rope, and then went to the house just as the bell summoned me to dinner.
