man who is bound by no promises, and a man of such innate stubbornness that it has been truly said, "the only way to make him do anything is to tell him he will do it."

From Schuylkill County. SPECIAL TO DAILY EAGLE. POTTSVILLE, Nov. 4th, 1888. Grant's majority in this Borough is 630.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 2d, 1888. Editor EAGLE:—The square of ground in this city at Vine and Eighth Streets, has been used for 150 years as a place of interment for the magnates of our city.

This morning I walked by the place; the wall has gone, the trees have been cut down, the boys are playing hide-and-seek behind the tombstones, and laborers are tossing skulls about on their spades.

A little further down and I come to the remains of the Second Presbyterian church, in 7th near Arch—a famous place, as Dr. E. K. Kane, of North Pole fame, Mayor Henry, and others of local and general fame, worshipped here.

But with these generous weaknesses he combines some vices which have made his official life a curse to society. He has done everything to get re-elected. The "Policy" business extends like a curse through every lane and alley of Philadelphia.

On Wednesday, police officer Swain was indicted for killing Hamilton on election day. The evidence shows that the plot was not done in self-defense. The Grand Jury refused to hear all the evidence.
