CITY AND COUNTY.

FIRST EDITION...12 1-2 P. M.

WORK on buildings, yesterday, was pretty generally stopped, the keen wind proving too cold even for those who can stand a great deal of it.

COUNCILS.—Councils will hold a regular stated meeting on to-morrow night. North Six street matters will be called up in the Common branch.

AT present there is considerable sickness in the surrounding country. Typhoid and brain fever and diptheria prevail to a considerable extent.

POLICE INTELLIGENCE.—Quietness prevails in police circles. No arrests yesterday. Twelve lodgers found shelter in the station house last night.

GOOD NEWSPAPER.—Little money laid out for a good family newspaper, is well invested. In what way could a small sum be made to return so much, as to invest it in a periodical richly freighted with valuable and instructive reading? A good newspaper should be in every family.

THE LETTER CARRIERS.—It is a matter of general remark that the letter carriers connected with the Reading Postoffice are prompt and obliging in the delivery of their mail. People are served in the suburbs equally as promptly as if they came to the office in person for their mail.

HIGH SCHOOL EXAMINATION.—Pupils will not be permitted to absent themselves from any portion of the examination for any reason, other than severe sickness. The penalty of reduction in grade will be rigidly enforced in every case of delinquency.

JNO. A. STEWART,
Principal.

THE world-renowned Ole Bull, the greatest of living Violinists, will visit Reading on Thursday next, 17th inst., and will give one of his unapproachable entertainments, at the Keystone Opera House, in the evening of the 17th inst., assisted by other first-class talent, making it altogether the finest musical treat we have had in this city for years.

FATAL ACCIDENT.—Our readers will perhaps remember the two Italian boys who traveled our streets a month or so ago, with violin and harp, and will be pained to learn that they met with an accident which resulted in the death of the one and the serious injury of the other, while crossing the railroad track at Williamsport last Tuesday evening. The dead boy had two ribs and both legs broken. We understand that a considerable amount of money was found in their possession.

CARRIED OUT HIS THREAT.—Some time ago, Mr. Charles B. Miller, restaurant keeper on S. Penn street, found stuck under his door two notices, threatening "to burn him and his property, if he should get his property insured, etc." The fiend made good his threat last night, and made a vain attempt to burn his place. It seems that the miscreant entered the saloon through the cellar, and built a fire in the corner on the floor of the saloon, and also in the yard, and evidently meant destruction. The fire was however, discovered by a neighbor—Mr. Hunter,—before it made much head way, when the alarm was given and the flames were extinguished. The saloon is considerably damaged—probably to the amount of $200. An opening of six or seven feet square was burned through the floor, as well as the entire upper portion of the door close by. A pile of kindling and shavings were found placed on a table in the yard which, it would seem, had been lighted, but did not burn. The firemen were promptly on the spot, and did all they could to extinguish the flames, and render as little damage by water as possible. There is no clue as to who the miscreant was. Mr. Miller assures us that, not to his knowledge, can he remember of having offended any one so much as to justify this bold attempt at destruction. If the fire had not been discovered in time, the destruction to property that had ensued would have no doubt been terrible. We hope the detectives will capture the fiend, and that the law will immediately give him his dues.

CLOSE OF THE LIBRARY FAIR.—The fair, which has been a profitable source of interest with our citizens during the present week, closed last evening at a late hour, the crowd at last going, confectionary &c., being placed entirely at disposal. The attendance was large, and the purchases were chiefly in the line of exhibition. The principal business of the evening was the distribution of all the little knick knacks remaining unsold all one grand scramble, the chances in which were fifty cents each. Many of these chances were thus disposed of and the latter portion of the evening was occupied in the drawing. This was the source of considerable merriment, many of the presents drawn being ludicrously inappropriate to the recipients. Many of the ladies drew bundles of cigars, some of the young men were presented with dolls and baby clothing, while others were rewarded with A. B. C. books and illustrated story books, and young misses with shirt bosoms and articles of exclusively masculine wearing apparel. Candy was dealt out freely, this article being provided in profusion, and some obtained as high as four or five pieces. At the close of the evening the large fancy cakes which remained as the only ornaments of the depleted tables, were disposed of by auction. As upon the several previous evenings of this week, all enjoyed themselves without restraint, and dancing constituted a portion of the evening's amusements.

The total receipts during the entire fair amount as nearly as they can at present be ascertained to about $900 or something over. Deducting the probable amount of the expenses not already paid, the net proceeds of the fair will be in the neighborhood of $700—a sufficient sum to obtain quite a handsome addition of new books to the Library.

Upon this result, the Library Company are to be congratulated, while the thanks of the Association are due in an eminent degree to the large number of kind charitable ladies and gentlemen who contributed their time and efforts to make the enterprise a success, to the entire feelings the degree of satisfaction which invariably attaches to unselfish exertions in a praiseworthy cause.

CHARLES LEVAN & Co. have now on hand a splendid lot of Soldiers' Goods—sold at extremely low prices. Remember the number 57 Penn street.

THE boys are out in their glory. There is good sleighing on the asphalt leading out into the city. We would caution the boys not to go on the canal. This morning a boy broke through and made a narrow escape from drowning.

THE Berks County Teachers' Institute for the year 1869 will be held in the Keystone Hall, in the city of Reading. Its sessions will begin on Monday, 10 A. M., Dec. 21st, and end on Thursday, 3 P. M., Dec. 24th.

The Common School teachers of our County are required by law to attend its sessions, and all other friends of education are invited to participate in its proceedings.

JOHN S. ERMENTROUT.

COMING.—Now is the time of year when every one begins to look forward to the coming of the holidays. The young, especially, manifest more than the usual amount of anxiety, as they inquire what day of the week Christmas will be here. All know that it will be on the twenty-fifth of December, for that has become a historic fact, but it requires a consultation with the almanac to find out what since in the week the anniversary of the Saviour's birth will be commemorated. This year the long wished for day will come on Friday, and it is not far off. To-day is the eleventh of December, and Christmas is rapidly approaching. A few more diurnal revolutions of the earth and it will be at our doors, with all its sacred associations, its holy memories, its mirth, its gaieties and rejoicings. As the day in anticipation of its coming, preparations are already being made for its advent. The windows of our toy shops and confectionaries have commenced their usual display, and gifts of all kinds, suitable for the holidays, are presented for sale. Many of these will, no doubt, be advertised in the columns of the EAGLE in good season, so that our readers will know where to purchase and who has the most desirable stock on hand. From these, and others that will be added before the day arrives, old Santa Claus will fill his budget before he makes his entry into our houses, by way of the chimney, the night before. The children will look out for him and welcome his coming. The old and the middle aged will not be at all averse to it but will greet him with a cordial welcome. We say then, let the jolly old fellow come on. He is the most popular and beloved of any of our annual visitors.

ADVERTISING FOR WIVES.—We observed several matrimonial advertisements in our exchanges during the past week, from some over-modest gentleman who is anxious to secure to himself a help-mate, without going through the tedious form of a protracted courtship. We are assured, too, that the advertiser is in right good earnest—and indeed we see no reason why he should not be. Negotiations as important are frequently opened by the aid of an advertisement, and when we think of the agonizing hopes and fears, the confessions and blickerings that rend the breasts of the candidates for matrimonial bliss—when the course of true love never yet run smooth, we must almost come to the conclusion that the plan of advertising is quite an improvement upon the method generally pursued;—besides, it may be effectually calculated to put an end to the painful practice of coquetry and flirtation, which has blighted many a faithful heart and ruined many a ruddy cheek. Here is a specimen of one which we cut from a New York paper.

WANTED A WIFE.—The extreme bashfulness of the advertiser, a young man of 28 years of age, has induced him to take the following method of procuring a wife. She should possess the following requisite qualities—her age must not exceed 24 years, nor must she be under 16; she must understand the "arts and mysteries" of housekeeping, be good looking, intelligent and affectionate, not too fashionable, have some fixed principles of religion, not fond of balls, parties, &c. It is immaterial to the advertiser, whether the applicant be poor or rich, as he has sufficient property to keep her respectable and comfortable.

Our fair readers will observe that he is a young man who is desirous of securing a young wife. He is not as particular as the testy old bachelor. He cares not whether she be rich or poor—all well enough as long as he has enough of the "necessary" to buy coal at $8 per ton—but he is willing to take a partner in the business of life with no other capital save love.

However, all said and done, we would caution young ladies to "Beware." These advertisements read well enough, and many a young girl has been induced to leave a comfortable home, in exchange for one of misery and degradation. A case has lately come under our observation. An advertisement was answered; a spy was sent to New York, who found the wife advertiser, to be one of a gang of robbers and gamblers. Young ladies, beware!

Our Harrisburg Letter.

From our Special Correspondent.

HARRISBURG, Dec. 11, 1868.

EDITOR DAILY EAGLE:—It would seem as if the weather clerk were partial to his more northern subjects, in thus causing a heavier fall of snow, accompanied by a jarring storm, lasting nearly 36 hours. If the thermometer had been several degrees lower, the snow would have been drifted still more, and traveling made exceedingly difficult and dangerous, as many of the roads through this section of the country are now impassable, and there is not very flattering prospect of these being opened before the winter shall have passed away. Farmers living off of the main roads, are many of them snow-bound, and must either take to shovelling or find new roads through which they can move their surplus stock to market. Business has been dull this week, few farmers having been visible on our streets, and customers generally kept indoors.

The boating on the "raging" canal has come to a standstill, to the great disappointment of many boatmen who expected to run their barges at least a week longer.

Many of the coal works in the Mahanoy region are stopped, and the men on a strike, because of a reduction of wages.

A. Yeager, of this place, bought at Marion Furnace, Allen, of Hereford township, this county, a house and lot of ground, located on Main street, for $1,000.

Mr. Shulman, of Pottsville, sold to W. A. Scott, of this borough, a lot of ground, located on State street, for $700. Mr. S. intends to erect a coach factory upon it next spring.

The little snow-birds have made their appearance here in large numbers, coming quite close to the doors, seeking food, which no doubt indicates much snow north and more on the tapis for us.

Penn Marriages.—Provokingly short—the days, at this season.——Now is the time for business men to advertise their holiday goods.——Christmas, in two weeks from to-day.——Mr. Jack Frost was no better than many other people this cold day—he took a quantity of "cold."——The next style of bonnet is to be a bead and two inches of ribbon, fastened with a hair-pin. The bonnet will be strictly for use, not ornament.——Mercury was looking sharp after Zero this morning.——In Siberia a majority of the women do not get married till after they are sixty. Yes the Siberian lake heart. It is never too late to polish prize.——Our fancy goods dealers are making extensive preparations for the holidays. The toys and trifles also make an unusual display, and in uncommon expectations. The ladies to-day exhibited a decided liking for the "old farm." Almost every one in the street had one on hand.——A point ladies are fond of schleswig-points, indeed.——The "Old Farmer's Almanac" is announced as out. How old is he, and what's the ancient fellow out of——The Grist Mill of William Knabb, deceased, was sold last Saturday for the sum of $10,250.

I TON NOTICE.—Overcoat at a low figure, go to Bush & Bro., Portico Row, Penn street. Old Borcas is now blowing. There's no "blowing" about Bush & Bro. Their clothing is written up in a style that speaks for itself. So does the price. Every one can be suited there, and they will leave the establishment with a perfect fit. Call on them and see for yourselves, and be convinced that what we state is verified.

THE MARKETS.

Daily Review of Business.

READING, Dec. 11, 1868.

In Philadelphia, the money market is without quotable change in rates, but the tendency is more active, and more paper is offered for discount by commercial houses. At present the banks are doing pretty much all that is required of them; but will probably be obliged to curtail this accommodation somewhat after next week, until the January settlement is made, which may make money tighter for a fortnight about the first of the year. The transactions in stocks are so small just at present that lenders need very little money, and the street is easy in consequence. Local stocks are very dull, and even in New York operations are far more modern in amount than usual. The feeling in regard to the railway stocks most active on Wall street is particularly unsettled, owing to the perpetual recurrence of injunctions and other legal proceedings taken by parties adverse to the board of direction in power; and the developments in most cases of more or less speculative management fully account for the indisposition of operators to deal in the stocks until some definite understanding is arrived at as to the present condition and future prospects of the roads. The Erie war, with its exposure of all sorts of rascalities, has led to much litigation, and the conduct of some of the Judges has not been such as to give any confidence that justice can be obtained in any case unless backed up by ample means. It is asserted that the Erie managers consider the present litigation against them as a move of the Vanderbilt faction, and threaten in consequence to do all they possibly can to embarrass the roads owned and controlled by that party. The New York Central has already been attacked with some degree of success, the price having been forced down from 140 to 122¾, from which point it has, however, recovered to 125 at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon, and the Hudson River Company, brother of Commodore Vanderbilt's roads, is threatened with a suit prohibiting them from issuing the stock now advertised for distribution. It is said that proceedings will also be taken to prevent the management of the Chicago and Northwestern Railroad Company from paying any further dividends on the common stock of that company, until all the passed dividends on their preferred stock have been paid. What the result of all these legal movements will be it is impossible to foresee; but as the stocks named are amongst the leading "favorites" in New York, it is natural that the present feeling should be one of great distrust, although money is comfortably easy; rather more so, in fact, than it is in Philadelphia. Government bonds are dull without speculative purchases to any considerable extent, although there continues to be a steady investment demand, for the new issues particularly. The statement made in the abstract of the Secretary of the Treasury's report, published in advance of the official document, that there had been a reduction of $35,000,000 in the aggregate debt, proves to have been either a mistake, or, what is quite as probable, an intentional mis-statement by the parties having the correct information, with the view to speculation. If the latter opinion is correct, it is a consolation to know that very little was made by the manœuvre, as the variations in price have been unimportant.

There is a prospect of another advance in the price of coal. The miners are on a strike. Their wages have been reduced twenty-five per cent. To this reduction they will not agree, and have come out of their cavernous homes to request their employers to give to them their old pay. The operators are stubborn fellows. They say the higher coal sells in price the more profit to them. But it don't become the miner a whit, and it brings misery and shivering into hundreds of households.

FELL AND HURT HERSELF.—Last evening a lady whose name we did not learn, stepped on an icy place, at Fourth and Penn streets, when she slipped and fell and somewhat hurt herself. Would it not be well to sprinkle ashes on the sidewalks when icy?

ROBBERY.—Last night the office of Sayder & Barnhart, old jail building, was entered and robbed of cash. The thieves entered through the door by means of false keys, and broke open a drawer with a chisel, from which they took the money. They did not touch the safe. Matches were scattered all over the floor. Three persons were heard about the premises last night, and it is supposed that these were they thieves.

OIL BANK LEASED.—We understand that H. H. Heiss, Esq., of this borough, has leased his valuable iron ore bank on his farm near Silver Spring, to Messrs. Atkins & Bros., of Pottsville, proprietors of the Pioneer Furnaces and the Pottsville Rolling Mill, who intend to immediately build a branch from the Reading & Columbia Railroad to said banks, and erect the necessary machinery for mining on an extensive scale. We congratulate our young friend on his good luck in leasing his mines to such an enterprising firm as Messrs. Atkins & Bros., who will thoroughly test their quality and extent.—Columbia Herald.

SONG OF IRON.

I am mighty in the mine,
Fiercely wielded by the brave;
Glorious in the stalwart steamer,
Laughing at the storm and wave.

Beauteous in the palace pillars,
Seeking in the printed book,
As it brings the deadly lightning
Quelled and harmless to the rod.

But there is a glorious essence,
Where I take my grandest power,
Giving to the race by service,
Eyesight also, in danger's hour.

See! I purge away diseases!
See the darkest hydras bow!
See the rose of health and beauty
Take the palest cheek and brow.

Fly, dyspepsia! fly consumption!
They all ills are crushed at length,
For I give what human nature
Only ever needed—STRENGTH!

I shall tell to what great essence
I can thus your spirits cheer up!
Pallid, trembling, dying sufferer,
'Tis the famed PERUVIAN SYRUP!

A positive, permanent, and immediate Remedy for Neuralgia, Toothache, Earache, Headache, Rheumatism, Boils, Burns, Frost Bites, and all acute pains.

To alleviate human suffering should constitute the highest aim of the true philosopher. What the march of science in our own day has already achieved, by diverting the inhalation of chloroform and ether to allay the pains consequent upon difficult surgical operations.

SAYRE'S

will accomplish by simple outward application.

Its effect is perfectly magical, and its properties are entirely harmless as to be as applicable to the child of tender age as to the adult. Thousands of successful cases testify that this is no fiction, but a fact beyond all controversy, and a single application of the cure will convince the most skeptical sufferer of its truly miraculous power.

WE CHALLENGE THE WORLD
To Produce its Equal.

No family that once becomes acquainted with its virtues will be without it.

Price 50 Cts. Sold by all Druggists.

No. 69 BEEKMAN St., New York, January 6, 1868.

E. MIEHLER & Co., Reading, Pa.—Dear Sirs:—It affords me pleasure to speak of the wonderful effects of your Pain Cure, in my own case. In June last, I was attacked with Neuralgia in my abdomen and side. After suffering intensely for nearly two weeks, I was induced to try your Instant Cure, and after a application, to my great surprise, I was relieved in a few seconds. So delighted was the relief that I could scarcely believe my own senses. From my knowledge of the preparation, I firmly believe that it will cure I in from twenty every cases and almost instantly.

Respectfully, yours,
J. A. DUDLEY,
Of the firm of Dudley & Stafford, Wholesale Drug Gists.
