WE were shown yesterday a combination safe lock, which has been patented and was invented by Mr. Miller, of this city. It is ingeniously arranged, and it is uttorly impossible for it to be picked or opened by hurgiars. The locking process is guided by figures, and so long as the number is not known to which the lock has been set, it cannot be opened, even if the burglar start from one to millions. It is a valuable invention, from the fact that it has been tested in New York and Washington, and that the sum of five thousand dollars was offered for one-half interest in the lock, "

SAD RAILROAD ACCIDENTS -- A sad accident occurred at Harrisburg, yesterday morning, by which an estimable ditizen of Crawford-county was killed. SISTERS' FAIR .- Last evening as announced in our columns, the Rt. Rev. Bishop Wood, D. D., honored with his presence this commendable undertaking. The Bishops of Harrisburg and Scranton were prevented from attending through unforeseen circumstancesbut an appropriate "token of remembrance" was not withheld. It is not our province, as ournalists, to dilate upon the impetus given by the countenance of such a revered dignitary of the Church as the venerable ecclesiastic whose name it is an honor to mention, but we are justified in remarking, that the recognition of the object sought was not without lits true import. It was, indeed, a hapty sight to behold one, on whose silvery brow the fleeting course of time has a significance, mingling, without the least ostentation, among the assombled throng, and by a cheerful aspect and geniality, exemplifying the precept, "to do good and to communicate forget not." It was an occasion long to be remembered. There our readers are conclous of its import when correctly carried into practice) but a kind word—that which is the manifestation of an honest heart—to every one, sensibly conveying the idea, "kind words will never die." There was an absonce of all formality the pervading thought seemed to emanate, that a good man was present, and it inspired a decorum characteristic of correct appreciation. Father Flau accompanied his diocosan during the visit, and was the medium of introduction to many of our esteemed citizens.

Bishop Wood left the hall with the respect of every one who witnessed his Christian ,and gentle deportment; he rather avoided, much less sought, expressions of thankfulness "Thank you, thank you, you have said more than enough," were words of meaning. True is it that God has sent into the world a more powerful and more noble sentiment than oven gratitude.

This evening will terminate the Fair, and with it we are reminded of the ascription to Benevolence by a poet of other days:

"Soft peace it brings wherever it arrives, It builds our quiet—latent hope revives, have the rough paths of nature smooth and even, And opens in each breast a little heaven."

[From the Berks and Schuglkill Journal.] IRON ORE. - A vory large deposit of iron ord has just been discovered on the farm of John D. Stitzel, Esq., in Maldenereck township, Berks county. It is first-rate hematite, and is found within a few feet of the surface, and extends over a range of at least thirty acres. The deposit is said to be equal in richness and abundance to the Moselm ore banks. Mr. Stitzel purchased this farm last year, of Mrs. Hiji, for $12,000, -- and would not now take double that amount for it. From present indications the deposit of ore on the farm is alone worth more than double what was paid for it. The new mines are at present worked by the Messrs. Kauffman, with the most gratifying

The "Repormed" Element in Reading.

A correspondent, writing to the last number of the Reformed Church Messenger, says:

"Sunday-schools are looking up in the Reformed interests at Reading. They must have about fifteen hundred children in the Reformed Sunday-schools of that city. It looks healthy for the future prospects of the Reformed Church, when we see such growing signs of strength among our people. "Mach platz for alto Berks!"

The same correspondent says:
"If our Sunday-schools would all join in aid of the Synod's plan for publishing books, there would soon be secured the means needed to get up Sunday-school publications. Let not the schools in our large places be put to shaine by those in the weaker points and missionary churches. Books of the right kind are as much needed as chapels and Sunday-schools themselves."

THE MARKETS.

Daily Review of Business,} READING, Jan. 9, 1869.

Money Market.

In Philadelphia, the money market is daily gaining strength, and the banks are evineing a more accommodating spirit. The demand for money is still quite active, which accounts for able reduction in the present rates. The supply of currency has been greatly increased by the disbursements in payment of dividends and interests on the part of the Government Treasury and incorporated institutions, and as soon as these funds shall have found their way into the proper channels of trade, it will give comparative ease to the market, and aid materially in some transactions on the streets for first-class mercantile paper at prices ranging from 8@10 per ceut.

There is no perceptible change in the condition of trade, though the improved tone in financial circles, by restoring public confidence, is a hopeful sign of a speedy revival. The recent failure of a sugar refiner, which we noticed ont Thursday, produced some excitement in limited circles but the consequences are, happily, not of such a nature as to cause much inconvenience or embarrassment.

The business at the Stock Board yesterday morning was small and generally at stendy prices. Government loans were firmer. State loans were unchanged. City loans, new issue, closed at 100@100%. Lehigh Gold loans are dull at 8814. In Railroad shares there was much firmness, Reading Railroad closed at 4714, and Pennsylvania Rallroad at 553/4; Catawissa Railroad, preferred, advanced to 32 4@32%, and Philadelphia and Erie Railroad 26, Bank, Canal and Passenger Railroad shares are steady.

Gold in Reading at Bushong & Bros.

THE market for Staple Cotton Goods has as sumed a more active appearance since our last review, and although there are but few changes in our Price List holders are very firm in their views in consequence of the rapidadvance and still upward tendency of the raw material. This advance has been foreseen by many shrewd speculators, owing to large contracts for future dollvery-mainly on the basis of 23@Mc-that were falling due the present month, and which are now being filled at the best possible price. The apparent scarcity of the staple has had also the effect of enhancing quotations, and from these combined causes, it is argued that prices may reach 30 cents for Middlings before the close of the month. With this impression generally provailing among the trade, we have naturally a more cheerful and sanguine feeling to report in connection with the Spring trade, and jobbers have bought with much more freedom than would otherwise have probably been the case. The transactions have thus been large for this carry stage of the season, as agents were more accommodating in their terms than might have been expected, under the circumstances, but quotations are almost hominal in first hands, with an appearance of a further advance of 1/4 ct.

on many popular makes of Brown Shirtings and Sheetings. The recent stringency in the money market seems to be abating, but complaints are still rife as to the difficulty of making collections in the West, and this latter fact has, perhaps, prevented a still further advance in prices, as there are many firms who would have bought freely during the week, but who preferred to wait until they were strengthened in a financial point of view, and take their chances of the market at a later stage of the season when the actual distribution would be more immediate. There is still another reason why we do not believe it probable that a much higher range of values will be established and that, is the large amount of speculative purchases that were recently made, and which will act as an incubus in the market, until they pass into the regular channels of business; but it would be highly imprudent, to offer any decided opinion of the future of prices, in face of the unsettled state of the cotton trade.

It can run its ore and coal which come by railroad right into the stock house, and the lime stone toams also drive into the stock house aside of the railroad and dump their loads-down through the holes same as the coal and ore. It is splendidly located, being five miles from Reading and twenty-one from Allontown.

Our Hamburg Letter. HAMBURG, Jan. 2th, 1869. Horron Daily Educat-The year of 1888 is passed, and all its joys and sorrows, never to return again. We welcome the new year with bright anticipations of the happiness it may have in store for us, overlooking for the presont what sorrow it may have, and start out with a determination to play our part in the world's drama, leaving the consequences with Him who rules above. We shall endoavor to live by the Golden Rule, "Do unto others as you would that they should do unto you,"and when the death knell of '69 shall have been tolled, and a happy new year of 1870 greet us with merry pealing of bells, we trust that knowledge and wisdom may not only have been sought, but also found.

Letter from Lebanon onviction of the Safe Robbers. LEBANON, PA., Jan. 8th, 1869. EDITOR EAGLE—DEAR SIR: Like thous. ands of our citizens, I have, this week, been watching an interesting prosecution. Doubtless many of your readers know, and many more have heard of three "nice young men" representing their names as Nat. Miller, J. H. representing their names as Nat. Miller, J. H. Beatty... and Charles: Harris; who, without any visible employment, were putting up at a first-class hotel in Reading, during the winter and spring of 1868. When gone, to the aston-ishment of nearly, every one, it turned out that each had sailed under an alias, that they were a gang of thieves, robbers and burglars, and that they had been "flying their avoca-tion" effectually in Berks." The many robberies and burglaries in Borks county last winter, and several false and unsustained charges for them against innocent persons, will still be remembered. Beyond doubt the guilt lies at the door of these "dig-nitation." Who were the staken? (Who rob-bed the miller? might with propriety be ask-ed: In our county, their crimes were brought home to them. On the night of the 10th of April, the station house of the Pilladelphia and Reading Ri R. Co., at Annville, Lebanon county, was broken into, their safe blown open, and about $400 extracted. On the night of the 23d of the same month their passe of Andrew Kreider, of the same little fown, was entered.

tered, his safe rolled outside and blown open, and $6200 in Government Bonds and about $200 in "Greenbax" stolen therefrom,—the loss of which has brought rivers of tears from the eyes, and ever since disturbed the peace and haunted the slumbers of poor Mr. Krieder. These burglaries were traced to these three men, but no positive proof could be had until they had fled the country, when, of course, they changed their names, and, for a time, evaded the law. About the first of Decombor, they were arrested in Philadelphia, Miller, alias Black, and Beatty, alias Baum, fresh from a raid on a safe at Lewisburg, Union county, and on Honne & Son's Store, at Milton, Northumberland county. The evidence was not sufficiently strong enough to hold Harris, but Miller and Boatty were sent to the "Castle" to await a trial. But our prison walls and bolts were not bigh and strong enough, and the keys too simple (to our shame) to hold Miller. On the indicating of January first, he bid a polite and affectionate adicu to Sheriff Shantz. He is still at large, a roward of $100 being offered for his arrest. Just here I will make a suggestion;

NO PHYSICIANS.

NEW YORK, Angust 15th, 1867.

Allow me to call your attention to my PREPARATION OF COMPOUND EXTRACY BUCHU. The component parts are BUCHU Long LEAF, CUBEBS, JUNIPER BEHRIES.

Mode of Preparation.—Buchu, in vacuo. Juniper Berries, by distillation, to form a fine gin. Cubebs extracted by displacement by liquor obtained from Judiper Berries, containing very little sugar, a small proportion of spirit, and more palatable than any now in use. The active proporties are by this mode extracted.

Buchu, as prepared by Driggists generally, is of a dark color. It is a plant that emits its fragrance; the action of a flame destroys this (its active principle), leaving a dark and glutinous decoction. Mine is the color of ingredients. The Buchu in my preparation predominates; the smallest quantity of the other ingredients are adjed, to prevent fermentation; upon inspection, it will be found not to be a Tincture, as made in Pharmucopea, nor is it a Syrup—and therefore can be used in cases where fever or infummation exists. In this you have the knowledge of the ingredients and the mode of preparation.

Hoping that you will favor it with a trial, and digu of the ingredients and the mode of preparation.

Hoping that you will favor it with a trial, and that upon inspection it will meet with your approbation, With a feeling of confidence,

I am, very respectfully.

I was relieved in a few seconds. So sudden was the refrest that I could vertely believe my own
