THE PROPLE'S BANK AGAIDST NA.

The People's Bank is an institution founded upon the merits of its owners, and in order to make it popular its owners should be men of integrity, guilty of no mean, despicable act. They should be upright in their dealingsabove the breath of suspicion. They should be thorough business men; not vain haughty nor overbearing. They should have the same respect for the poor honest man as for the honest rich man. They should never be backward in denouncing error and wrong. They should be pure-minded men, whose examples are worthy of imitation everywhere. They should not be men who would "steal the livery of the Court of Heaven to serve the devil in." They should shun hypocrisy wherever they find it, They should resist all wicked combinations to lock up capital; for in every combination of this kind the consumer must pay the forfoit. They should be possessed of property sufficient to pay all their obligations whenever called upon. They should do business upon the rules which govern and control all the ordinary transactions of life.

National Banks are the creatures of an act of Congress. They receive large franchises and grants from the government. They do not depend so much upon merit as they do upon those privileges which the government has given them. What does the government get for these valuable grants? We cannot discern any consideration. We believe there is none. Why are such grants conferred? We cannot see any reason for it. If we were liv ing in a kingdom or aristocracy we could then see that they were conferred to support particular families or friends, with the view of supporting privileged classes, who in return support the government. But this is a governat of the people, in whom all power sides. It has been said that these valuable grants are given to the Banks so that they may more readily assist the community—the whole community-not a few men in the community. This being the argument, let us examine into it and see how Reading is benefited by National Banks.

We will take the Farmers' National Bank for an example, because it has the largest capital. The capital of this Bank is $100,000. The stockholders, therefore, before they obtained their charter, had, according to law, to subscribe for $400,000 worth of U.S. bonds. The government has delivered these bonds to the Bank, and the Bank every six months draws the interest on these bonds in gold, which amounts annually to $21,000, which is equivalent to $32,400 in greenbacks. The government also gave this Bank $360,000 in National Bank notes, which, if the Bank would loan thom away at 6 per cent. interest, would amount to $21,600. Adding this sum to the $82,400, and we have $54,000, the sum received by the Bank on an investment of $400,000. If, however, the stockholders had loaned their money away at simple interest, (and if they had taken more it would have been usury, under the law,) they would only have received $24,000 in greenbacks. Applying the argument that Banks are to assist the community in which they are located—that is to say, to discount for all men who offer good bankable paper, making no distinction for or against any person-they would receive annu ally from the government for this business the sum of $80,000; this being the amount in axoess of $24,000, legal interest on $400,000.

$30,000 is given by the government to the Farmers' National Bank annually! We say this is wrong; that it is an outrage upon the people! And in addition to this large sum of money given away yearly, the citizens of Reading and Berks county give this Bank their money on deposit without receiving any interest at all. Is it not enough, we ask, that this Bank should receive our money with out interest, and then be able to discount for our people when called upon, without receiving the large sum of $80,000 as a free gift from the government besides?

And has this Bank been in a condition to discount for some time past? Let those who deal there answer. Compare this Bank with any private Bank, and we find that private Banks pay their depositors three per cent. interest for their money on call, four per cent. for thirty days, and five por cent; for one year. Can any candid man arrive at any other conclusion than that National Bauks are what Thomas Jefferson said they would be when the In opposing the charter this great man said, fifty thousand regular soldiers wear blue looking men, and they appear to be very attentive and accommodating in the discharge them, notwithstanding. The uniform is what ails us. It isn't loif. It is gray, trimmed with black, which is decidedly a disloil combination of colors. It makes us uneasy. It reminds us of the naughty men who marched and fought under the orders of one Jackson, know as "Stonewall"-the nien in gray whom we saw too often while in the army-generally by looking over our shoulder while executing brilliant strategic movements to the rear. It don't 'remind us of a little joke;" but it does remind us of the terrifying yell which those naughty men in gray were in the babit of uttering whenever they saw our blue clothes. 'Justice to ourself demands the statement that we nev er annoyed them with the sight of the blue clothes any longer than we could help. If the hinder part of our jacket was visible to them long at a time, or if we helped to fire at the reckless gray fellows who didn't seem to care whether they were hit of otherwise, it wasn't our fault-the captain was to blame for it. We were loil then, and like all truly loil men, in Congress and elsewhere, we couldn't bear the sight of a rebel, especially if he had deadly weapons in his pussession. So we look care not to get near the gray fellows. In fact, we had trouble enough to keep clear of the smaller "graybacks" which swarmed so plentifully on the persons of some fellows who are now sporting kid gloves and canes, and turning up their noses at dirty workingmen. We have hated the color of gray over since. We admit that we were not always loil.

When we found that the war was being waged for the sole benefit of niggers and Radical thieves, we grumbled. It wasn't what we were chased all over Virginia for. When we were mustered out, and called a brave fellow-(by our comrades because we were ashamed to run away in battle while they were looking at is, and by stay-at-home Radicals because they wanted us to re-enlist as a substitute,)—we watched the course of Northern Radicals, and the consequence was that we became disloil. At least the militia officers who never marched further than Harrisburg said so. But we ain't disloil now. Not at all. We have been defeated "by the will of the people" as expressed through the National Banks and the bondholdors, and we are satisfied—in a horn—and thankful, yes, thankful, because because we are as poor as Job's turkey, and haven't any money to lose in the grand crash which is coming one of these days. We are penitent-just as much so as Beast Butler, Simon Cameron and John W. Forney will be soon, when the Democrats get into power, and those self-sacrificing patriots want offices. Grant is elected. He says "Let us have peace!" and we want peace. Everybody wants peace. Every Radical politician wants peace—as big a piece of plunder as he can get. Every Southern nigger wants peace—a piece of land containing forty acres. Every Ku Kluxer wants peacea raw piece of a dead Radical. You won't see a child who don't want a piece of something good to eat, and every hen-pecked husband inwardly prays for peace. So "let us have peace!" -though the election of a military officer seems like a strange way of obtaining it.

But we can't have peace while we see gray uniforms on our streets. They frighten loil men. They frighten us badly. They scare the Loil Leaguers, the G. A. R.'s, and the Invincibles, who haven't had a parade, nor made any visible demonstration, since the gray uniforms made their appearance. And worse than all, they scare our American citizens of African scent. Our friend Pompey Smash, M. D. C. S. A., (which is an abbreviation of mule driver in the Confederate States Army ") is badly frightened. He aspires to represent this district in Congress at some future time, after Berks county has been properly ffreconstructed;" but he says he ffcan't 'lectioneer now-a-days; don't like dem gray clothes; looks too much as if his ole marsa

The gray suits must be abolished. They are shockingly disloil. We suspect that the Postmaster General was persuaded to adopt them by Petroleum V. Nasby, a Southern postmaster noted for disloilty. While gray uniforms are worn we can't expect distinguished loil visitors. Beast Butler and Vienna Schenck haven't been through New York since the parade of the letter-carriers. Loil men won't pass through Reading while gray uniforms are

The letter-carriers must wear blue. Let the G. A. R.'s, the Loil Leaguers, the Invincibles and the P. L. L.'s-all one crowd under different names on different occasions-call a meeting and send a petition to Congress. It won't do to apply to Mr. Getz, our present efficient member. He is rated as disloil, and he would receive no more satisfaction than he did when he requested "a republican form of government" for Reading and Pittsburg, last spring, after Democratic victories in those

The Allied army had made a vigorous as sault on the Paraguayan stronghold at, Villeta, and after a desperate battle succeeded in carrying it. Lopen's army was utterly routed and destroyed. DEAUTIFUL STEEL ENGRAVINGS.—The Dgroat interest man fested by the American people in works of Art (especially those of a scriptural character) is a remarkable feature of the age, and a well deserved adamowledgment of their ennobling and purifying influences upon society. Mr. Levi Melly is now canyassing this city for two of the most elegant productions of that master Artist, Sartain—one from Eastlake's great painting of "CHRIST BLESSING INTILE CHILDREN," and the other from Dobson's famous painting of "BETHLEHEM" or "CHRIST IN THE MANGER." These two Steel Engravings are companion pictures, and are among the finest and nicet ornamental of Sartain's many superior works, and the subjects are such as to inest and most ornamental of Sartain's many superior works, and the subjects are such as to make them worthy a place on the wall of any family parlor, especially where there are chikdren. They are perpetual lessons speaking to the heart through the delighted eye; and such should be purchased and prized by every parent. Mr. Melly is also agent for two other large and superb engravings executed by the same master artist, Sartain—"UHRIST REJECTED," from a colossal and gorgeous painting of the celebrated; Benjamin West, and "CHRIST STILLING THE TEMPEST," from a large and splended withing Benjamin West, and "CHRIST STILLING THE TEMPEST," from a large and splended painting of Hamilton, the greatest Marine Artist in the United States. The subjects of all these several admirable engravings are highly instructive and impressive and of universal and lasting interest.
