SUNSHINE AND SHADOW IN (NEW ions.—A hasty glance over the contents of this new work reveals a graphic interesting style of writing by the author, Mathew Hale Smith. It gives a bistory of a number of the notable men of New York, but we notice par-ticularly that the most noted Radicals come in for the largest share of praise. Some men, not so Radical in their views, and especially Hon. Fernando. Domocrat, como in for just as large a share of abuse. "A BROKEN-HEARTED FATHER."-We have received the following communication from one who signs himself "A Broken Hearted Father." We take it for granted that what he says is true, and it so, his daughter certainly acted very imprudently at the time (and as the sequel proved to her sorrow and shame) in accapting the escort and attentious of an ntire stranger, no matter whether he was "dressed as a gentleman," We forbear further comment, but a homily could be written on what "A Broken-Hearted Father" writes us, that might prove salu-tary and beneficial to a great many other

1217 READING, Feb. 15th, 1869. Ed. Reading Eagle:-I am on the eve of leaving Reading forever, after having lived here as man and boy for over fifty years, and all through the villainy of some villain, in the guise of a man, who has brought disgrace on a once good name, and misery and shame into a once happy family. I will give the particulars in the columns of your paper, in the hope that it may be the means of saving some other family from disgrace.

In October of last year I had occasion to go to Philadelphia for a few days; leaving my house, in the upper end of town. in charge of my only unmarried daughter. On Sunday evening she attended church, as usual, on leaving which she was cscorted by a party, dressed as a gentleman, who had occupied the same pew with her in church, who asked if he could accompany her home? She accepted his escort, and as it commenced raining she offered him the loan of an umbrella, which she went into the house to get for him. He followed her into the sitting room, where he seized her from behind, pressing a handkerchief to her face, when she in-stantly became insensible, in which condition the rascal effected her ruin. When my poor girl recovered her consciousness

the villain had gone, leaving the umbrella in the ball way. When I returned home my daughter told me of the circumstance, and ever since I have used every exertion privately to find out the villain and bring him to barrel; Extra Family at $7 25@7 75; Pennjustice, but I am sorry to say without success; and at the earnest request of my | $8 50@8 75; and fancy lots at $10 50@12 50. poor child, I am now about to leave Reading forever.

Hoping the publication of this will put some of the young ladies of Reading on their guard against such infamous scoundrols who hover about our churches enticing innocent girls to ruin,

I am yours, Mr. Editor, A BROKEN-HEARTED FATHER.

THE MARKETS.

READIEG, Feb. 19, 1869.

In Philadelphia there was an uneasy feeling in money circles yesterday in consequence of the excitement reported in Wall street, New York, among the opera tors in stocks and gold. The rush upon our bond market by European capitalists during the last three weeks has been a genuine windfall to the two rival cliques, and the effect of their operations is invariably felt in the local market according to their settled condition which is very perceptible, and the decided upward tendency in rates for loans, are pretty distinctly traceable to Wall street, and it is to be feared that still further efforts will be made by these public disturbers to so fluctuate the rates of gold, bonds and stocks generally, as to make it difficult to ascertain their real market values. It is during these times of confusion and disorder, of their own creating, that they transact their business; it is now harvest time with them and they are unusually busy. There is no knowing how far these influendes will yet affect the local market, and through it the business interests of the country. It would be a very serious ovil just at the opening of spring, when money is universally in great demand, if any artifleal means should be employed to add to the usual stringency; but if this bond fover lasts we fear that the prediction concerning it a week ago will be literally verisled, and that: "too much credit will prove a curso" to our country. Under an increased demand for money call loans are quoted at 6@7 per cent. on other securitles. Street loans at follo por cent., according to grace.

Government Loans were depressed and lower. Biate Loans wore also weak. City Loans are a fraction higher, and the new issues sold at 101. Luhigh Gold Loan declined to 60%.

Reading Railroad Auctuated between 16@16%-closing at 46%. Pennsylvania Railroad sold at 56%-a decline of 14, and Lohigh Valley Rallway at 551/6. 1231/4 was bid for Camden and Amboy Railroad ; As for Little Schuylkill Railroad; 32% for Cat awissa Railroad Preferred, and 33 for North Pennsylvania Raiiroad.

THE WINTER WHEAT CROP.-A private letter from a reliable authority at San Francisco says the prospects indicate that a million acres of wheat will be sown in California this year. At fifteen sacks of a cental cach, which is not above the average yield in that State, the crop will amount to the munificent one of 25,000,000 bushels. The telegraph advises us of a flood in that State, more severe in its effects than any that has been experienced there since 1812, but we do not learn that the autumn and winter sown wheat has sustained any serious damage. From present appearances a considerable portion of the surplus crop of last year will have to be carried over, owing to the active competition among buyers last summer and autumn, resulting in the maintenance of prices considerably above the scale at which our castorn markets and those of foreign countries have afforded any warrant. Some of the new-fledged speculators have ofther been used up or seriously orippled, tinancially, by uniform heavy losses on exports, and the business at San Francisco is gravitating back into the hands of old and experienced operators. Thus, at last advices, the leading operator of former seasons, who this year, till quite lately, kept protty much aloof from the market, was registered tons, or considerably more than all others combined. In this instance the aphorism about the bird and the worm is subject to slight emendation. As a natur al consequence of the extreme rates at which wheat has been held at San Francis. co. freights have been depressed through cut the season and a good deal of tonnage has been compelled to seek business at the Guano Islands and elsewhere. If the lessons of the past six or eight months shall be heeded, the losses to outside specula. tors, resulting from their own folly, will not have been altogether without compensating influence in the future. Turning to the eastern side of our conticent, the prospects for an increased growth of winter wheat are highly oncouraging, In Tonnessee and the other border States the breadth of land seeded is materially inoreased, while the plant is in a flourishing condition. Intelligence from the great whoat flelds of Ohio, Indiana Michigan and Illinois is to the effect that the appearance of the grain promises an unusually large crop next year. There is still some danger from frost, but it is every day diminishing. The opening of spring with assurance of abundance is seldom followed by disappointment in the summer. Good crops and general prosperity are so closely aliled that the latter is almost certain to follow the former. A repetition even of such crops as were gathered last year would do much to repair the wastes of war.

DANGEROUS, Lumber should not be piled so as to overhang the street. To-day the boards piled slong the street at a lumber yard at Second and Franklin streets, were blown off by the high wind, to the great danger of foot passengers, especially children, passing under the projecting ends of the boards.

In the Monthly Gossip of Lippincott's Magazine for March, the following incldent is related with great gusto: "At a recent lecture delivered at the Ly ceum in C____, Berks county, Pennsylvania, Professor X, stated that Saturn had a ring six thousand miles broad.
"Himmel!" Hans Zimmerman was overheard to excluim, " what for a finger he must have!" This very funny inciden by the very funny editor lacks, but one essential not very material, we admit) and that is, truth! No such incident has ever happened in Berks county, and we do not think there is a man by the name of Hans Zimmerman within her borders. We have a plain, plodding people up here in the mountains, pretty well accustomed to minding their own business, and there is just as much intelligence and refinement here as in any other county in the Commonwealth. At any rate, the penny a-liners and sap-heads who do up the funny things for the Philadelphia papers and magazines, are not able to teach them anything that they do not already know. Will you please put that in your pipe, and smoke it at your leisure, Mr. Lippincott?

Important Decision. The U. S. Supreme Court, Chief Jusice Chase delivering the opinion, has decided in the case of Bronson against Rhodes, brought up from the Court of Appeals, of New York, that gold contracts must be satisfied with coin. When the kind of currency is not mentioned, then legal tenders are lawful in such connection. Mesers. Davis and Swayne gave their unqualified consent, but Mr. Miller dissented in great measure from the opinion.
