Sensation Caused by Report of Steps to Restore Hawaii's Sovereign.

HOW WILLIS' INSTRUCTIONS READ

Amnesty Being Assured, He Might Set Up the Monarchy--Congress Will Be Wroth--Only Restrained Now, Supposing No Change Will Occur--If It Has, Woe to Cleveland--His Partisans Seek to Discredit the Alarming Reports.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—The United States cutter Corwin brings the latest news from Honolulu. The dispatches from Honolulu announcing that Mr. Willis has demanded that the Provisional government surrender their authority to the queen has caused considerable of a sensation at the capital.

There is some difference of opinion as to its accuracy, the friends of the administration, especially those of the foreign affairs committee of the house, expressing doubt as to its truth, but the general opinion is that the instructions will change the face of things in congress and that there will be immediate action in the matter. Apparently Mr. Willis has requested the provisional government to step down and out, the administration has been taken by surprise.

STATEMENTS ARE DOUBTED. The understanding of those men in congress who have been acting for the administration is that the instructions sent by the Corwin, which arrived in Honolulu on Dec. 11, were for Mr. Willis to take no further action pending the consideration of the question by congress. Upon this information they are inclined to doubt the statement in the dispatch. These instructions, however, were based on the refusal of the queen to grant amnesty or to ascend the throne without the support of the United States to maintain her.

Therefore, if the queen has changed her mind and decided to accept the offer of Mr. Cleveland to the conditions imposed, it is entirely within the scope of possibility that Mr. Willis would act upon his original instructions as applying only to conditions existing while the queen was obdurate.

REVISOR CORRECTED WITH WILLIS. Revised, corrected and complete copies of the Hawaiian correspondence transmitted to congress with the president's message of Dec. 18, have at last been laid before the house committee on foreign affairs. The volume in its completed and corrected form, contains a number of interesting and important communications from and to Minister Willis heretofore unpublished. A confidential dispatch from Mr. Willis to Secretary Gresham, dated Nov. 11, 1893, reads as follows:

Nov. 7 at 11 o'clock I presented to the provisional government, Mr. Blount's letter of recall and the letter accrediting me as his successor. The time since then has been occupied with the reception of executive, judicial and diplomatic representatives of the provisional and foreign governments. I have not, therefore, had an opportunity of executing more fully your instructions, but it is being followed immediately by one with the provisional government. I have therefore enclosed a telegram to your dispatch agent at San Francisco as follows: Report can be sent to me if satisfactory, will be followed immediately by one with the provisional government. I have therefore enclosed a telegram to your dispatch agent at San Francisco as follows: Report can be sent to me if satisfactory, will be followed immediately by one with the provisional government. I have therefore enclosed a telegram to your dispatch agent at San Francisco as follows: Report can be sent to me if satisfactory, will be followed immediately by one with the provisional government.

Views of first party so extreme as to require instructions. This was doubtless the dispatch which called forth from Secretary Gresham that reply which has been published, but without being accompanied by the message to which it was an answer, and is as follows, under date of Nov. 24:

The brevity and uncertainty of your telegram embarrased me. You will insist upon amnesty and recognition of obligations of the provisional government as essential conditions of restoration. All interests will be promoted by prompt action.

TO PROTECT THE QUEEN. Mr. Willis in his confidential dispatch of Nov. 11 intimated that the question as to whether the United States was prepared to protect the person of the queen has been officially asked of him by the British minister, Major Woodhouse. Mr. Willis says:

I replied to the British minister that without reference to her royal claims, the queen stood in such relations to the United States that she was entitled to and would receive the ampest protection at their hands. As a matter of fact, I had already ascertained that, at present, she did not desire our protection. After next Monday, and earlier if necessary, I shall insist on coming to the legation.

The domiciling of Queen Liliuokalani in the American legation appears to have been another of Mr. Willis' original intentions which he left unexecuted. The why and wherefore of this change of mind opens up a wide field of conjecture, even as now extended, fails to satisfy.

RIOTERS SHOT DOWN IN STREETS.

Troops Attacked in Marinio, Italy, Respond with Volley After Volley. PALERMO, Jan. 5.—The presence of large bodies of troops in Sicily and the establishment of martial law has not had the effect of aweing the disorderly element. Today at Marinio, a town eleven miles east of this city, a most bloody riot occurred. A band of men, numbering about 1,000, were quartered

POWER OF AN ALERT MINORITY

Republicans in the House Refused to Vote and There Was No Quorum.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—The political campaign preparatory to the coming election at Hereford, Lincolnshire, is proceeding with the greatest activity. Lord Willoughby de Eresby, the Conservative candidate, attended over twenty meetings held yesterday in various places in spite of the fact that some of the roads were covered with snow to the depth of eight feet.

NEW FREE SILVER COINAGE BILL

Mr. Cockran, of New York, Speaking for His Democratic Associates, Said That What the Country Wants is Not Academic Contributions to Tariff Literature, but Speedy Action on the Wilson Bill.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—The house of representatives gave another remarkable demonstration today of its inability to transact public business against the will of an active and hostile minority. After a session of nearly four hours spent in an attempt to reach a vote on a report of the committee on rules, it was realized that, in the absence of some forty or fifty Democratic members, and with the Republicans, to a man, declining to vote, it was impossible to make any progress, and there was nothing left but to adjourn.

THE HOUSE DEMOCRATIC CAUCUS.

After Prolonged Discussion They Agree to Push the Wilson Bill Through Without Delay.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—It was 8:05 o'clock tonight when Chairman Holman rapped the Democratic caucus to order. One hundred and forty seven members answered to their names, an unusually large attendance. Speaker Crisp declared that it was the duty of the Democratic members to stand together in support of the tariff measure reported by the committee on ways and means. He said that President Cleveland and the Democratic majority in congress had been elected for the purpose of carrying out the will of the people expressed at the polls in 1892 upon the Chicago platform and he urged united action by the majority. "If any man objects to the provisions of the bill," he said, "let him state his objections on the floor in open debate and then if he cannot support the bill, vote against it."

He protested against the policy of tearing the measure to pieces in caucus and closed by offering a resolution pledging the majority to a support of the bill. The speaker was loudly applauded as took his seat. General Sickles, of New York, followed in the same strain. Mr. Sperry, of Connecticut, outlined his objections to the bill. Bourke Cockran then pointed out what he deemed to be the undesirable features of the proposed legislation. Mr. Outwater, of Ohio, followed in the same line as Speaker Crisp.

Mr. Sibley, of Pennsylvania, pointed out some of the matters in which the bill did not go far enough to suit him, and how he would like to have it amended. John D. Witt Warner and Mr. Dan, of New Jersey, spoke, and the Mr. McKeeler of Pennsylvania, offered a resolution that the committee on ways and means be requested to report all internal revenue measures in a separate bill, which was afterward withdrawn and Speaker Crisp's resolution that it is the duty of every Democratic member of the house to attend its daily sessions and "new hereby express the opinion that those members who are absent owe it to their party and to those of us who are here to immediately return in order that pressing public business may be attended to."

ABBE FRICOT WAS MURDERED.

His Body Found Forced Into the Well in His Garden.

LONDON, Jan. 5.—A dispatch to the Standard says: Abbe Fricot, cure of Entrammes, near Laval, the capital of the department of Mayenne, has been murdered. His absence was noted and his body was found by the vicar in a well in the Abbe's garden. The murder must have been committed Tuesday, and it is thought a hard struggle occurred between the abbe and his murderer before the latter succeeded in throwing him into the well. The well is shallow and there are evidences that the murderer used a long prop to keep the abbe down. The sides of the well are splattered with blood and the marks on the corpse made by the prop show that the abbe made a force struggle.

SEVERAL NOTABLE DEATHS.

Mrs. Pait, Bishop of Burgos, France. The Duchess of Argyll, at Inverary Castle, Scotland. At Vienna, Baron Karl von Hasenauer, a noted architect, aged 60. Colonel James Corcoran, a well known lumberman, at Maney, Pa. At Brooklyn, N. Y., Harry Kennedy, the noted song writer and ventriloquist, aged 45. At London, Baron Crowe, aged 81, one of the richest noblemen in England, who died in throwing himself into the sea.

WASHINGTON NEWS BRIEVITIES.

Congressman Cummings proposes to have vessels loaned to the states that have a naval militia. Secretary Morton is surprised at the public misapprehension as to his position toward the agricultural experiment stations. Congressman Sibley, of the Erie (Pa.) district, has arranged to divide his salary between the farmers' granges of his district. Thomas J. Lynch, the Democrat who is expected to hold the late Mr. Blaine's home city in the Democratic column (now that it is in for the first time in twenty-five years), has been appointed postmaster at Augusta, Me.

WOMEN ACTIVE IN POLITICS.

The Countess of Ancaster Makes Speeches in Her Son's Canvass.

LONDON, Jan. 5.—The political campaign preparatory to the coming election at Hereford, Lincolnshire, is proceeding with the greatest activity. Lord Willoughby de Eresby, the Conservative candidate, attended over twenty meetings held yesterday in various places in spite of the fact that some of the roads were covered with snow to the depth of eight feet.

INTERVIEWED THE POPE.

Bishop Spalding Learns Nothing to Confirm Rumors of Satoli's Return.

ROME, Jan. 5.—In an interview Bishop Spalding, of Peoria, Ill., said, referring to his audience with the pope, that "after an exhaustive exposition of his ideas as to the direction of diocesan affairs, the pope referred to the general situation of the Catholic church, but did not touch upon Catholic questions in the United States." Regarding the rumors that Mgr. Satoli was about to return from America, Bishop Spalding said that he had heard nothing in Rome or at the Vatican which would tend to confirm such reports. Bishop Spalding will remain in Rome for several weeks.

MORE SENSATIONAL TESTIMONY.

Frank Bardeen Accuses Coughlin of Being One of Three Men Who Were in Carpenter's Wagon.

CHICAGO, Jan. 5.—Again something new and startling broke in upon the trial of Dan Coughlin and upset all arrangements for continuing the reception of testimony against one of Dr. Cronin's alleged murderers. Persons interested in the case had been prepared for sudden and startling developments during the morning session, when Mrs. Susie Horton, a new witness against Coughlin, was called. Judge Wing, however, protested against the pool-looking woman in the witness chair, telling her story, so Mrs. Horton was withdrawn until Monday.

REPUBLICAN PROGRAMME UNDECEID.

The Republican minority of the committee are not, however, to be restrained by these considerations of a prompt disposal of the bill. It is the purpose of each of these gentlemen to be heard in set speeches during the progress of the discussion. Beyond the fact that Mr. Burrows will open and that Mr. Reed will close the debate on the Republican side, no further programme has been arranged.

GERMANY'S BRISK EXPORT TRADE.

Its Increase Partly Attributable to the World's Fair Showing.

LONDON, Jan. 5.—The correspondent of the Times at Berlin, commenting upon the slight increase of Germany's export trade displayed by the annual report of the German chamber of commerce, says: "The increases, slight as it is, is the more remarkable, as the exports of England, Germany's most dangerous rival, show a slight decrease." The correspondent says that the brilliant success Germany achieved at the World's fair at Chicago undoubtedly contributed to improve German trade.

SALVARDIS STOLEN AS EVER.

Indignant as to His Fate When Told He Must Hang.

BETHLEHEM, Jan. 5.—Charles Salvardis, the murderer of Policeman Martin, whose case was argued yesterday before the board of pardons and to whom a pardon was refused, was informed of his fate this afternoon by the sheriff. The prisoner had nothing to say and seemed as indifferent as usual. Over 1,000 applications for presses to witness the execution on Jan. 23 have been received.

TWELVE MILLIONS WERE STOLEN.

Enormous Total of Frauds on the Banca Romana of Italy.

LONDON, Jan. 5.—Signor Antonio Monzella was arraigned today at Bow Street Police court, charged with being connected with the Banca Romana frauds. Counsel for the prosecution said that the bank's stockholders are entitled to $12,000,000 and that the prisoner was formerly the chief government director of the Banca Romana.

SEVEN PER CENT. AS USUAL.

The Rate of Dividend of the Delaware and Hudson Company.

NEW YORK, Jan. 5.—The directors of the Delaware and Hudson Canal company today decided that the rate of dividends for the ensuing year should be seven per cent., the same as in 1893. The question did not come up of giving the stockholders rights on extra stock to be issued to take up $4,500,000 bonds maturing Oct. 1, 1894.

BANK OF ENGLAND'S ASSETS.

Rumor That Inquiry Regarding Them Was to Be Made in Parliament.

LONDON, Jan. 5.—Much stir was created in financial circles here today by the announcement that William Hunter, Liberal member of parliament for North Aberdein, intended to put a lengthy question this afternoon to the chancellor of the exchequer, Sir William Vernon Harcourt, regarding the Bank of England's advances to the Barings and to stock brokers and inquiring as to the quality of the assets generally of the Bank of England. Mr. Hunter was noticed in the house

VAULT ENTERED FOR DIAMONDS

Very Sensational Attempted Theft of Goods in the Stroudsburg Cemetery.

STROUBSBURG, Pa., Jan. 5.—One of the most daring and sensational feats of grave robbers ever undertaken in Monroe county came to light this morning, when visitors to the cemetery here discovered that an attempt had been made to enter the imposing family vault of Colonel E. E. Norton. This vault, which is one of the most notable pieces of masonry in the Stroudsburg burying ground, is built of heavy limestone, with granite facings. It is thirty-five feet high and twenty feet wide, and cost $20,000. It was specially designed to keep out intruders, and was considered invulnerable against possible attack. Massive steel bars guarded its entrance, and the inner apartments were so arranged, it was thought, as to baffles the hardest efforts of possible despoilers.

NORTON MAUSOLEUM FORCED OPEN

Grave Robbers With Dynamite and Crowbars Invade the Massive Tomb of Colonel E. E. Norton, Attracted by the Belief That Diamonds and Other Jewels Had Been Interred Beside the Remains of Mrs. Norton—No Booty Secured.

Holes had been drilled in the stone, however, and dynamite charges exploded, shattering the masonry and permitting the door to be forced open by means of crowbars. Once inside, the ghoul had expected, it is supposed, to discover valuable jewelry upon the remains of the colonel's wife, lately deceased. It had been generally believed that when the body of Mrs. Norton was placed in the vault, handsome family jewels were placed beside it. In this hope they forced the outer door and drew the casket from its resting place down to the floor of the vault, where it was opened and searched.

THE GHOULS BAFFLED.

A careful scrutiny revealed that their quest had been a vain one. No valuables were found, and the intruders got nothing. The noise of the explosion, however, brought residents in the vicinity of the cemetery to the spot and frightened the thieves away. The casket yet lay on the floor, where the robbers had left it, with the glass broken; and beside it lay the bars and other implements whereby the thieves had gained entrance. There is no clue to the identity of the ghoul. The appearance of the vault indicates that the outrage was the work of professionals. Much skill was manifested in the blowing open of the door. A reward will be paid for information leading to the capture of the miscreants.

SHE CAPTURED THE BURGLAR.

When She Seized Him with the Family Plunder She Held On.

NEW YORK, Jan. 5.—Fannie Schneider, aged 15, pretty, with rosy cheeks and big black eyes, lives with her parents 110 Roosevelt street. She was alone in the house last night, her parents having gone to an entertainment. The little housekeeper left the room for a few minutes in order to take some clothes to the sidewalk. When she returned she saw a man leaving the apartments, having in his arms a seal skin sack, a camel's hair shawl and other clothing belonging to various members of the family. With the cry of "Thief!" Fannie made a dash for the man, who started down stairs three steps at a time. The girl was at his heels and was faster than he. She flung herself upon the thief and threw her arms about his body, shouting for help. The thief lost his footing, and man, girl and clothing rolled in a heap to the bottom of the stairs. Then in answer to the girl's cries Jacob Schneider, a boy cousin to Fannie, came to her assistance. The thief struggled desperately and would doubtless have escaped from his small captors but for the timely arrival of help in the person of Detective Webb, of the Old street station, who was passing and heard the noise. Webb rushed in and had the thief in subjection in a jiffy, and marched him to the station house.

TO MAKE AN AGGRESSIVE CAMPAIGN.

Senator Quay Considers Regarding Congressmen-at-Large.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 5.—Senator Quay and his son Richard arrived here last evening and today most of the Republican politicians of the city called upon the senator. It is generally thought that he has taken advantage of his visit to consult with his lieutenants in this city upon the coming campaign for congressmen-at-large. Senator Quay is credited with the wish that the campaign shall be an aggressive one and that as large a party vote as possible shall be brought out. The object in making such an active campaign on a by election is for the moral effect the casting of a large vote will have upon state and national politics.

CORBETT STILL DOUBTS MITCHELL.

He Says the Englishman Will Wriggle Out of the Fight.

JACKSONVILLE, Jan. 5.—When he saw the despatch from Charlie Mitchell objecting to Brady's handwork in the signing of the agreement this morning, Jim Corbett waxed wrath. "It is only another of Mitchell's quibbles," said he. "I tell you he will not fight if he can possibly find a loophole to get out of it. He says that he will violate no law in fighting in Florida. That is right. We can fight without violation of the law. If he means to fight, all he has to do is to

THREE INJURED IN A RUNAWAY.

Baron Von Dreiner, Who Exhibited Krupp's Guns at the Fair, Hit.

BETHLEHEM, Jan. 5.—While out driving this evening Baron Von Dreiner, who had charge of Krupp's exhibition at the World's fair, his host, Lieutenant Jacques, chief of ordinance at the Bethlehem Iron works, and Manuel White were seriously injured in a runaway. Their horses took fright near a grade crossing of the Jersey Central railroad and overturned the carriage. Baron Von Dreiner was cut about the legs and arms. Lieut. Jacques escaped with cuts and bruises about the face and Mr. White suffered frightful scalp wounds. The latter was carried quite a distance. All are under care of surgeons.

TO REDUCE JUDGE LONG'S PENSION.

Unless He Shows He Requires the Assistance of Another in Walking, the Sum Will Be Cut.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—Commissioner Lechner, of pension bureau has sent the following notice to Judge Charles D. Long, of Michigan: "I have to advise you that it appears from medical evidence on file in this bureau that you are not disabled from the effects of loss of left arm above the elbow, and you are not disabled to the same degree as to require the regular and constant personal aid and attendance of another person so as to entitle you to $72 per month. Said rate will, therefore, be reduced to $50 per month, unless satisfactory evidence shall be furnished to show that you are so disabled as to require the regular and constant personal aid and attendance of another person. "Under the provisions of the act of congress of Dec. 21, 1893, you may, if you believe that the said disability entitles you to the rate of $72 per month, within thirty days from this date, file with the joint committee on the joint committee of the railroad managers met this afternoon to act upon an agreement for the formation of a pool on all dead freight, live stock dressed beef and traffic east of Chicago. Such an agreement was drawn up and adopted by the joint committee of the two associations some time ago, and was later acted upon by the presidents of both associations. This was adopted this afternoon, as all the roads are in favor of it.

TRUNK LINE ROADS IN A POOL.

A Chance Now to Test the Legality of Inter-State Commerce Act.

NEW YORK, Jan. 5.—The presidents of the railroads in the Frank Line and the Central Traffic associations met this afternoon to act upon an agreement for the formation of a pool on all dead freight, live stock dressed beef and traffic east of Chicago. Such an agreement was drawn up and adopted by the joint committee of the two associations some time ago, and was later acted upon by the presidents of both associations. This was adopted this afternoon, as all the roads are in favor of it.

IT IS PLAINLY A VIOLATION OF THE INTERSTATE COMMERCE LAW.

That is what the railroad managers are after. They want to bring the matter to an issue and have the question settled once for all. The adoption of the pool agreement assures a legal fight over the constitutionality of the interstate commerce law. Perhaps, when the receivers of the Erie road ask permission of the court to enter the agreement, the question will be precipitated.

SPARKS FROM THE TELEGRAPH.

Police of New York have given $2,000 to relieve the poor.

With a shot gun, John E. Alfriend, a Lee county (Va.) farmer, blew his brains out. Republican editors of New York will organize under Chauncey M. Depew's leadership. The boom for McKinley will be launched at the banquet of the Ohio society in New York Feb. 17. Clipping of gold coin jailed Ralph Wilcox and Mrs. James Wilcox, his sister-in-law, at Chicago. A New York syndicate has bought the old Blinnston cats, at Narragansett Pier, and will erect a new hotel. Postmaster Cline, at Shandon, Butler county, O., has been arrested for appropriating money order funds. Chasing three burglars, a Chicago policeman seriously wounded Stephen Conway, but the others escaped. Asleep in a caboose, D. J. Cushman and William Morrill were killed in a wreck at Warsaw, the cars running away. Fighting for a woman's hand, L. W. Fowler, of Spring Hill, Ky., shot P. C. Yonson, who in turn fatally stabbed Fowler. Found short $30,000 in his accounts, Treasurer F. A. Nelson, of Brunswick, Ga., was removed from office and has fled. Russel Sage says: "The report that Mr. Pierce or any other man will be appointed receiver for the Missouri Pacific is absolutely false."
