

Pipe Valves Fittings

THE SCRANTON SUPPLY AND MACHINERY CO.

Norrmann & Moore
FIRE INSURANCE
120 Wyoming Avenue

Lackawanna
THE
Laundry
608 Penn Ave. A. B. WARMAN.

MEARS & HAGEN
Offer for This Week
A new line of 40-inch all wool Bourette Stripe Cheviots, made to sell for 75c; 7 yards will cost you $2.03, or only 29c per yard.

Carpets, Wall Papers, Window Shades,

Draperies, Mattings, Rugs, etc.

WILLIAMS & McANULTY,
127 Wyoming Ave.

STREET BEGGARS DISCHARGED.
Mayor Connell Deals Leniently with Misdemeanor Children.

EDEN MUSEE'S EXCELLENT SHOW.
One of the Finest Variety Bills Ever Produced.

DRAMA AT WONDERLAND THEATRE.
A Wife's Triumph Well Produced and Received.

THE THREE CHILDREN arrested for begging on the streets were brought before Mayor Connell last evening for a hearing.

THE TURKEY dinner to be served at the Young Women's Christian association to business men, Thursday, Jan. 19, promises to be an attractive affair on previous occasions.

A handsome switch board was placed in the new telephone exchange yesterday and Mr. O'Brien stated that the company would be found in its new quarters not later than April 1.

THE GREAT people of this country who accomplish so much in the affairs of life have the peculiar fashion of executing whatever may come to them in the line of action on the spot.

MUSIC BOXES exclusively. Best made. Play any desired number of tunes.

THE SCRANTON TRIBUNE art portfolio cost only 5 cents for each part. Bring in your coupons.

D. P. ATHERTON CHOSEN

He Is Elected to the Office of Secretary of the Scranton Board of Trade.

HE HAD A MAJORITY OF EIGHT

The Voting Was Spirited—T. H. Dale and F. L. Hitchcock Tellers—Atherton Had Forty-Three Votes and Kingsbury Thirty-Five—Names of Those Who Voted—List of Absentees from Meeting.

D. P. Atherton was elected secretary of the Scranton board of trade last evening.

The voting was spirited, and when the tellers, T. H. Dale and F. L. Hitchcock, had completed their labor of counting the ballots, it was shown that Mr. Atherton had received 43 votes and Mr. Kingsbury 35.

Those present and voting were: D. P. Atherton, H. M. Bates, John E. Barrett, Henry Babin, Jr., George D. Brown, Moses Brown, A. J. Casey, G. H. Colby, C. B. Connelly, H. A. Conroy, E. G. Coorsen, W. P. Connell, F. L. Crane, T. H. Dale, A. W. Dickson, J. M. Everhart, J. H. Fellows, A. R. Foote, I. A. Finch, R. J. Foster, S. Goldsmith, W. S. Gould, P. H. Gilliland, W. L. Henwood, B. A. Hill, Samuel Hines, J. W. Howarth, F. L. Hitchcock, M. H. Holtz, S. P. Hull, G. A. Jessup, O. L. Johnson, C. D. Jones, George Keller, Luther Keller, M. J. Kelly, T. J. Kelly, J. M. Kemmerer, W. D. Kennedy, S. G. Kerr, E. P. Kingsbury, H. W. Kingsbury, J. A. Lansing, Joseph Love, B. W. Lucas, F. W. Martin, L. T. Matter, E. J. Matthews, W. A. May, J. C. Moffitt, Thomas Moore, Richard O'Brien, R. S. Page, W. H. Peck, J. W. Peck, W. H. Perkins, J. H. Phelps, F. L. Phillips, C. H. Pond, J. T. Porter, F. E. Platt, W. H. Pearce, David Peckham, C. B. Rush, Charles Sablenger, George Sanderson, W. T. Smith, J. H. Steel, E. C. Spaulding, J. L. Stelle, U. C. Schonmacker, T. C. VonStorch, Everett Warren, L. A. Waters, W. H. Watson, T. D. Wats, F. R. White, Ebenzer Williams, L. J. Williams, C. S. Woolworth.

LIST OF ABSENTEES.

There were equally as many members of the board absent as there were present. The list includes: H. Archer, H. J. Anderson, John Bonora, R. G. Brooks, W. D. Boyer, E. A. Bartl, William Carlucci, G. L. Dickson, G. W. Fritze, E. L. Fuller, M. Goldsmith, J. H. Gunster, W. E. Hallstead, D. B. Hand, Alfred Hand, Dr. G. A. Hill, A. E. Hunt, John Jermyn, W. H. Jessup, J. H. Kingsley, Victor Koch, W. J. Kano, J. A. Luen, William McLave, B. B. Meagher, A. C. Nettleton, Simon Rice, W. H. Richmond, E. H. Rippe, August Robinson, Conrad Schroeder, C. D. Simpson, Samuel Sander, W. H. Taylor, W. A. Thayer, J. H. Watkins, W. Winton, B. P. Yost.

SECRETARY KINGSBURY'S REPORT.

It is an Able Document Calculated to Do Good.

Prior to the election of officers at the meeting of the board of trade last evening, Secretary Kingsbury read his annual report. It was an admirable document. It touched on every thing pertaining in any way to the progress of the city, its manufactures, and the advantages it possessed for manufacturers seeking a location. It was a voluminous document, and it elicited the admiration of even the men who had decided to vote against Mr. Kingsbury for re-election. Many of the members pronounced it the best report in the history of the organization, and a confidence that its publication and circulation would work the city incalculable good was general.

The various committees had nothing of importance to report. Mr. Hines complimented Treasurer Dickson's report. Mr. Pains informed the members that an ordinance taxing poles had been introduced in council and he urged every member to use his influence with the council. It was a verbal report. The motion to receive had no second, but prevailed just the same.

Other business transacted was as follows: Col. H. M. Bates elected to succeed himself as trustee of the public library for a term of five years; the membership of B. L. Richards transferred to A. R. Foote; resolutions from the Reading board of trade and the Fishberg chamber of commerce referred to the committee on legislation; although the first motion, made by A. Dickson, was that they should be referred to Andrew Carnegie; W. T. Smith and Luther Keller elected delegates and Captain May and T. H. Dale, alternates, to attend the meeting of the final board of trade which convenes at the Shoreham in Washington, Jan. 23; unanimous adoption of Mr. Kemmerer's resolution indorsing action of council in bonding the city for bridges and asking for citizens to ratify the action on Feb. 29, and the defeat of Colonel Hitchcock's motion to reduce the March assessment from $15 to $10.

STREET BEGGARS DISCHARGED.

Mayor Connell Deals Leniently with Misdemeanor Children.

The three children arrested for begging on the streets were brought before Mayor Connell last evening for a hearing.

The turkey dinner to be served at the Young Women's Christian association to business men, Thursday, Jan. 19, promises to be an attractive affair on previous occasions.

A handsome switch board was placed in the new telephone exchange yesterday and Mr. O'Brien stated that the company would be found in its new quarters not later than April 1.

The great people of this country who accomplish so much in the affairs of life have the peculiar fashion of executing whatever may come to them in the line of action on the spot.

MUSIC BOXES exclusively. Best made. Play any desired number of tunes.

THE SCRANTON TRIBUNE art portfolio cost only 5 cents for each part. Bring in your coupons.

THROUGH THE HEART

August Ehrhart Becomes Dispondent and Fires a Bullet Into His Body.

HIS LOVE AFFAIRS WENT WRONG

A Thirty-Eight Caliber Ball Imbedded in the Flesh of the Heart and Left Lung—He Lived After it and Became Conscious, but Would Not Explain His Action—Love Affair is Believed to Be the Cause.

At 12:45 o'clock yesterday afternoon August Ehrhart, a German, until recently employed as a baker at Ziedler's bakery on Franklin avenue shot himself, the bullet going through the heart and left lung.

The bullet was committed in the hallway at 328 Franklin avenue.

Deputy Sheriff Craig heard the shot fired and rushing into the house found Ehrhart lying in the hallway bleeding profusely from a wound just above the left temple. He was on the floor, and a 38 calibre American Ball Room revolver. One chamber was empty three contained loaded cartridges and an empty shell was in the other. Sergeant Davis and Officer Gorrittz were summoned and the man was taken to the Lackawanna hospital.

His hands and face grew cold at once and perspiration covered his face, and death was expected momentarily, but at midnight he was still alive and conscious. When questioned as to his motives for attempting suicide, he stated that he had suffered and had troubles that he would not explain. Further than this, he would not speak.

WOMAN IN THE CASE.

It is thought, however, that he was despondent over a love affair and took his life in consequence. In his coat pocket the hospital authorities found a cabinet photograph of a lady, and they had no more than found it before a messenger came there inquiring for the photograph.

The messenger stated that the picture was taken from its own upstairs in the house where Ehrhart attempted his life. A TRIBUNE reporter called at the house on Franklin avenue during the afternoon but could find nobody home. The neighbors did not know who lived upstairs at 328 except that it was a widow.

Ehrhart was always a steady man and was never known to become intoxicated until within the past few days. Saturday afternoon last he was discharged from Ziedler's bakery on account of his habits and has not been seen since until yesterday when he met one of Ziedler's men, and his going good by, told him that within an hour he would be dead.

TIPSTAFF RITTER COMPLAINED.

Court Did Not Think There Was Sufficient Reason for Interfering.

Yesterday morning the jury in the case of Mrs. Mary Rose against Judge Handley fled into court and handed in a verdict in favor of the defendant. A similar verdict was returned when the case was tried in this court.

Tipstaff Jacob Ritter privately informed Judge Archbald of what he believed was improper conduct on the part of Attorney Soper on Saturday night, but the judge did not think the grievance was such as to require any interference on the part of the court.

An applicant will be made for a new trial by Mr. Soper, and one of the reasons that will be cited why it should be granted is that Mr. Ritter prejudiced the jurors against the plaintiff by relating to them the particulars of his trouble with Attorney Soper.

REPUBLICAN CLUB ROOMS OPEN.

Members Invited to Make the Place a Second Home.

The Central Republican club held a regular meeting in its handsome new quarters in the Price building on Washington avenue last evening and transacted business pertaining to the welfare of the club.

The members of the executive committee wish to announce that the club rooms will be open every evening, and also announce to the members who were not present at last evening's meeting that they are invited to make use of the rooms in their own homes. It is the intention of the club to make the rooms a place where the members can spend an evening enjoyably whenever they so desire.

TO GUARD AGAINST ACCIDENT.

General Manager Archer to Put a New Rule in Force.

General Manager Archer informed a reporter for THE TRIBUNE yesterday afternoon that Superintendent Gormley had been instructed to put a new rule in force on all cars running on Lackawanna avenue.

For some time past the general manager has noticed that persons getting off on the avenue are very liable to accident, and to guard against it all conductors will be instructed to let passengers off on the opposite side from approaching cars. The intention being to keep the heads nearest the double track closed at all times. While the new rule may be confusing for a time, its enforcement will no doubt result in the saving of life.

A COMMISSIONER APPOINTED.

He Will Require into the Sanity of James Godwin.

Mrs. Mary MacDonnell yesterday petitioned the court to appoint a commission to inquire into the sanity of her brother-in-law, James Godwin. She says he has been insane for the last twelve years and is incapable of managing his estate. Court appointed Attorney C. B. Gardner to act as commissioner in the case.

James Godwin recently became wealthy through the death of his brother John, of South Washington avenue, who left him the greater part of his property. The estate of James Godwin is now valued at $50,000.

Officers Pass Resolutions. At a meeting of the officers of the Third regiment, National Guard of Pennsylvania, the following preamble and resolutions were adopted.

Whereas, It has pleased Almighty God to remove from our midst our fellow officer, Lieutenant L. S. Seeley, of Company D, be it

Resolved, That in the death of Lieutenant Seeley the officers of the regiment have lost a genuine comrade and true friend; and the regiment a valued and faithful officer.

Resolved, That our heartfelt sympathies are hereby extended to the members of the bereaved family in their affliction.

Resolved, That these resolutions be published in the daily papers and a copy be transmitted to the family of the deceased.

MAJOR W. G. FULLON,
CAPTAIN MONTROSE BARNARD,
LIEUTENANT L. T. MATTES,
Committee

OSCAR WILDE'S DRAMA

Lady Windermere's Fan Given a Brilliant Production at the Academy.

A CLEVERLY CONSTRUCTED PLAY

Most of the Interest Centers Upon the Stinging shafts of Cynicism Uttered by the Aesthetic Oscar's Society Men—The Romance of the Piece of a Familiar Type—Story of the Englishman's Play.

Since the days when Oscar Wilde exhibited his shrinking knees, encained in plush breeches; since he shocked the world by his amorous and rather indecent devotion to the sunflower; since Sir Arthur Sullivan castigated him as Burdett's opera "Patience," the world has regarded him as a freak. Now that he has put before the public a play that is remarkable for the stinging cynicism of its dialogue, he is regarded as more of a freak than ever. By all the laws of precedent Oscar Wilde should not have done any more startling than attending afternoon teas and receptions.

By his first dramatic work, "Lady Windermere's Fan," which was produced at the Academy of Music last evening, the aesthetic broke away from the environments of freedom and appeared as a dramatist—and, too, one of the cleverest of his age.

STORY OF THE PLAY.

The story Oscar Wilde tells in "Lady Windermere's Fan" is about a very good young wife who discovers that her very young husband is paying large sums of money to a woman who owns a rather shady reputation who is, in reality, the wife's fan in the eyes of the young wife, having deserted her husband and child twenty years before.

The large sums paid to her are the innocent contributions of the young husband who, out of devotion to his wife, who believes her mother to be dead, would like to rehabilitate the waywardly and avoid her. When in a moment of innocent rage and humiliation over the presence of the suspected woman in her house, the wife is preparing to fly to the protection of a man who has long pestered her with his attentions, she is saved from the fatal step by the aforesaid woman with a word.

The woman who is the wife's fan in the eyes of the young wife, is, in fact, the wife's mother, who has been with the reputation of the nobleman as they face each other after the discovery, and, announcing that she took Lady Windermere's fan by mistake when she was leaving that lady's home a little while before, gathered together the facts, and in the instant of the moment when all eyes are fixed upon the woman with the reputation, Lady Windermere, who has been concealed behind a curtain, takes advantage of the opportunity and escapes, and her honor is saved.

Wilde's story is a very cleverly constructed play. The woman with the reputation is, in fact, the wife's mother, who has been with the reputation of the nobleman as they face each other after the discovery, and, announcing that she took Lady Windermere's fan by mistake when she was leaving that lady's home a little while before, gathered together the facts, and in the instant of the moment when all eyes are fixed upon the woman with the reputation, Lady Windermere, who has been concealed behind a curtain, takes advantage of the opportunity and escapes, and her honor is saved.

The woman who is the wife's fan in the eyes of the young wife, is, in fact, the wife's mother, who has been with the reputation of the nobleman as they face each other after the discovery, and, announcing that she took Lady Windermere's fan by mistake when she was leaving that lady's home a little while before, gathered together the facts, and in the instant of the moment when all eyes are fixed upon the woman with the reputation, Lady Windermere, who has been concealed behind a curtain, takes advantage of the opportunity and escapes, and her honor is saved.

The woman who is the wife's fan in the eyes of the young wife, is, in fact, the wife's mother, who has been with the reputation of the nobleman as they face each other after the discovery, and, announcing that she took Lady Windermere's fan by mistake when she was leaving that lady's home a little while before, gathered together the facts, and in the instant of the moment when all eyes are fixed upon the woman with the reputation, Lady Windermere, who has been concealed behind a curtain, takes advantage of the opportunity and escapes, and her honor is saved.

The woman who is the wife's fan in the eyes of the young wife, is, in fact, the wife's mother, who has been with the reputation of the nobleman as they face each other after the discovery, and, announcing that she took Lady Windermere's fan by mistake when she was leaving that lady's home a little while before, gathered together the facts, and in the instant of the moment when all eyes are fixed upon the woman with the reputation, Lady Windermere, who has been concealed behind a curtain, takes advantage of the opportunity and escapes, and her honor is saved.

The woman who is the wife's fan in the eyes of the young wife, is, in fact, the wife's mother, who has been with the reputation of the nobleman as they face each other after the discovery, and, announcing that she took Lady Windermere's fan by mistake when she was leaving that lady's home a little while before, gathered together the facts, and in the instant of the moment when all eyes are fixed upon the woman with the reputation, Lady Windermere, who has been concealed behind a curtain, takes advantage of the opportunity and escapes, and her honor is saved.

The woman who is the wife's fan in the eyes of the young wife, is, in fact, the wife's mother, who has been with the reputation of the nobleman as they face each other after the discovery, and, announcing that she took Lady Windermere's fan by mistake when she was leaving that lady's home a little while before, gathered together the facts, and in the instant of the moment when all eyes are fixed upon the woman with the reputation, Lady Windermere, who has been concealed behind a curtain, takes advantage of the opportunity and escapes, and her honor is saved.

The woman who is the wife's fan in the eyes of the young wife, is, in fact, the wife's mother, who has been with the reputation of the nobleman as they face each other after the discovery, and, announcing that she took Lady Windermere's fan by mistake when she was leaving that lady's home a little while before, gathered together the facts, and in the instant of the moment when all eyes are fixed upon the woman with the reputation, Lady Windermere, who has been concealed behind a curtain, takes advantage of the opportunity and escapes, and her honor is saved.

The woman who is the wife's fan in the eyes of the young wife, is, in fact, the wife's mother, who has been with the reputation of the nobleman as they face each other after the discovery, and, announcing that she took Lady Windermere's fan by mistake when she was leaving that lady's home a little while before, gathered together the facts, and in the instant of the moment when all eyes are fixed upon the woman with the reputation, Lady Windermere, who has been concealed behind a curtain, takes advantage of the opportunity and escapes, and her honor is saved.

The woman who is the wife's fan in the eyes of the young wife, is, in fact, the wife's mother, who has been with the reputation of the nobleman as they face each other after the discovery, and, announcing that she took Lady Windermere's fan by mistake when she was leaving that lady's home a little while before, gathered together the facts, and in the instant of the moment when all eyes are fixed upon the woman with the reputation, Lady Windermere, who has been concealed behind a curtain, takes advantage of the opportunity and escapes, and her honor is saved.

The woman who is the wife's fan in the eyes of the young wife, is, in fact, the wife's mother, who has been with the reputation of the nobleman as they face each other after the discovery, and, announcing that she took Lady Windermere's fan by mistake when she was leaving that lady's home a little while before, gathered together the facts, and in the instant of the moment when all eyes are fixed upon the woman with the reputation, Lady Windermere, who has been concealed behind a curtain, takes advantage of the opportunity and escapes, and her honor is saved.

The woman who is the wife's fan in the eyes of the young wife, is, in fact, the wife's mother, who has been with the reputation of the nobleman as they face each other after the discovery, and, announcing that she took Lady Windermere's fan by mistake when she was leaving that lady's home a little while before, gathered together the facts, and in the instant of the moment when all eyes are fixed upon the woman with the reputation, Lady Windermere, who has been concealed behind a curtain, takes advantage of the opportunity and escapes, and her honor is saved.

The woman who is the wife's fan in the eyes of the young wife, is, in fact, the wife's mother, who has been with the reputation of the nobleman as they face each other after the discovery, and, announcing that she took Lady Windermere's fan by mistake when she was leaving that lady's home a little while before, gathered together the facts, and in the instant of the moment when all eyes are fixed upon the woman with the reputation, Lady Windermere, who has been concealed behind a curtain, takes advantage of the opportunity and escapes, and her honor is saved.

The woman who is the wife's fan in the eyes of the young wife, is, in fact, the wife's mother, who has been with the reputation of the nobleman as they face each other after the discovery, and, announcing that she took Lady Windermere's fan by mistake when she was leaving that lady's home a little while before, gathered together the facts, and in the instant of the moment when all eyes are fixed upon the woman with the reputation, Lady Windermere, who has been concealed behind a curtain, takes advantage of the opportunity and escapes, and her honor is saved.

The woman who is the wife's fan in the eyes of the young wife, is, in fact, the wife's mother, who has been with the reputation of the nobleman as they face each other after the discovery, and, announcing that she took Lady Windermere's fan by mistake when she was leaving that lady's home a little while before, gathered together the facts, and in the instant of the moment when all eyes are fixed upon the woman with the reputation, Lady Windermere, who has been concealed behind a curtain, takes advantage of the opportunity and escapes, and her honor is saved.

The woman who is the wife's fan in the eyes of the young wife, is, in fact, the wife's mother, who has been with the reputation of the nobleman as they face each other after the discovery, and, announcing that she took Lady Windermere's fan by mistake when she was leaving that lady's home a little while before, gathered together the facts, and in the instant of the moment when all eyes are fixed upon the woman with the reputation, Lady Windermere, who has been concealed behind a curtain, takes advantage of the opportunity and escapes, and her honor is saved.

The woman who is the wife's fan in the eyes of the young wife, is, in fact, the wife's mother, who has been with the reputation of the nobleman as they face each other after the discovery, and, announcing that she took Lady Windermere's fan by mistake when she was leaving that lady's home a little while before, gathered together the facts, and in the instant of the moment when all eyes are fixed upon the woman with the reputation, Lady Windermere, who has been concealed behind a curtain, takes advantage of the opportunity and escapes, and her honor is saved.

The woman who is the wife's fan in the eyes of the young wife, is, in fact, the wife's mother, who has been with the reputation of the nobleman as they face each other after the discovery, and, announcing that she took Lady Windermere's fan by mistake when she was leaving that lady's home a little while before, gathered together the facts, and in the instant of the moment when all eyes are fixed upon the woman with the reputation, Lady Windermere, who has been concealed behind a curtain, takes advantage of the opportunity and escapes, and her honor is saved.

The woman who is the wife's fan in the eyes of the young wife, is, in fact, the wife's mother, who has been with the reputation of the nobleman as they face each other after the discovery, and, announcing that she took Lady Windermere's fan by mistake when she was leaving that lady's home a little while before, gathered together the facts, and in the instant of the moment when all eyes are fixed upon the woman with the reputation, Lady Windermere, who has been concealed behind a curtain, takes advantage of the opportunity and escapes, and her honor is saved.

The woman who is the wife's fan in the eyes of the young wife, is, in fact, the wife's mother, who has been with the reputation of the nobleman as they face each other after the discovery, and, announcing that she took Lady Windermere's fan by mistake when she was leaving that lady's home a little while before, gathered together the facts, and in the instant of the moment when all eyes are fixed upon the woman with the reputation, Lady Windermere, who has been concealed behind a curtain, takes advantage of the opportunity and escapes, and her honor is saved.

The woman who is the wife's fan in the eyes of the young wife, is, in fact, the wife's mother, who has been with the reputation of the nobleman as they face each other after the discovery, and, announcing that she took Lady Windermere's fan by mistake when she was leaving that lady's home a little while before, gathered together the facts, and in the instant of the moment when all eyes are fixed upon the woman with the reputation, Lady Windermere, who has been concealed behind a curtain, takes advantage of the opportunity and escapes, and her honor is saved.

The woman who is the wife's fan in the eyes of the young wife, is, in fact, the wife's mother, who has been with the reputation of the nobleman as they face each other after the discovery, and, announcing that she took Lady Windermere's fan by mistake when she was leaving that lady's home a little while before, gathered together the facts, and in the instant of the moment when all eyes are fixed upon the woman with the reputation, Lady Windermere, who has been concealed behind a curtain, takes advantage of the opportunity and escapes, and her honor is saved.

The woman who is the wife's fan in the eyes of the young wife, is, in fact, the wife's mother, who has been with the reputation of the nobleman as they face each other after the discovery, and, announcing that she took Lady Windermere's fan by mistake when she was leaving that lady's home a little while before, gathered together the facts, and in the instant of the moment when all eyes are fixed upon the woman with the reputation, Lady Windermere, who has been concealed behind a curtain, takes advantage of the opportunity and escapes, and her honor is saved.

BURKE WANTS DAMAGE

He Is a Cripple by Reason of the Negligence of the D. & H. C. Co.

HE DESCRIBES THE ACCIDENT

Patrick Burke, a young man who resides at Dickson City, is the plaintiff in a trespass suit against the Delaware and Hudson Canal Company that was called for trial before Judge Archbald in court room No. 1 yesterday afternoon. On July 29, 1893, Mr. Burke sustained injuries in the Dickson shaft at Green Ridge, operated by the Delaware and Hudson Canal company. As a result of the accident his right leg is crippled and he says he never will be able to do any more than to walk. He is now a cripple.

Patrick Burke, a young man who resides at Dickson City, is the plaintiff in a trespass suit against the Delaware and Hudson Canal Company that was called for trial before Judge Archbald in court room No. 1 yesterday afternoon. On July 29, 1893, Mr. Burke sustained injuries in the Dickson shaft at Green Ridge, operated by the Delaware and Hudson Canal company. As a result of the accident his right leg is crippled and he says he never will be able to do any more than to walk. He is now a cripple.

Patrick Burke, a young man who resides at Dickson City, is the plaintiff in a trespass suit against the Delaware and Hudson Canal Company that was called for trial before Judge Archbald in court room No. 1 yesterday afternoon. On July 29, 1893, Mr. Burke sustained injuries in the Dickson shaft at Green Ridge, operated by the Delaware and Hudson Canal company. As a result of the accident his right leg is crippled and he says he never will be able to do any more than to walk. He is now a cripple.

Patrick Burke, a young man who resides at Dickson City, is the plaintiff in a trespass suit against the Delaware and Hudson Canal Company that was called for trial before Judge Archbald in court room No. 1 yesterday afternoon. On July 29, 1893, Mr. Burke sustained injuries in the Dickson shaft at Green Ridge, operated by the Delaware and Hudson Canal company. As a result of the accident his right leg is crippled and he says he never will be able to do any more than to walk. He is now a cripple.

Patrick Burke, a young man who resides at Dickson City, is the plaintiff in a trespass suit against the Delaware and Hudson Canal Company that was called for trial before Judge Archbald in court room No. 1 yesterday afternoon. On July 29, 1893, Mr. Burke sustained injuries in the Dickson shaft at Green Ridge, operated by the Delaware and Hudson Canal company. As a result of the accident his right leg is crippled and he says he never will be able to do any more than to walk. He is now a cripple.

Patrick Burke, a young man who resides at Dickson City, is the plaintiff in a trespass suit against the Delaware and Hudson Canal Company that was called for trial before Judge Archbald in court room No. 1 yesterday afternoon. On July 29, 1893, Mr. Burke sustained injuries in the Dickson shaft at Green Ridge, operated by the Delaware and Hudson Canal company. As a result of the accident his right leg is crippled and he says he never will be able to do any more than to walk. He is now a cripple.

Patrick Burke, a young man who resides at Dickson City, is the plaintiff in a trespass suit against the Delaware and Hudson Canal Company that was called for trial before Judge Archbald in court room No. 1 yesterday afternoon. On July 29, 1893, Mr. Burke sustained injuries in the Dickson shaft at Green Ridge, operated by the Delaware and Hudson Canal company. As a result of the accident his right leg is crippled and he says he never will be able to do any more than to walk. He is now a cripple.

Patrick Burke, a young man who resides at Dickson City, is the plaintiff in a trespass suit against the Delaware and Hudson Canal Company that was called for trial before Judge Archbald in court room No. 1 yesterday afternoon. On July 29, 1893, Mr. Burke sustained injuries in the Dickson shaft at Green Ridge, operated by the Delaware and Hudson Canal company. As a result of the accident his right leg is crippled and he says he never will be able to do any more than to walk. He is now a cripple.

Patrick Burke, a young man who resides at Dickson City, is the plaintiff in a trespass suit against the Delaware and Hudson Canal Company that was called for trial before Judge Archbald in court room No. 1 yesterday afternoon. On July 29, 1893, Mr. Burke sustained injuries in the Dickson shaft at Green Ridge, operated by the Delaware and Hudson Canal company. As a result of the accident his right leg is crippled and he says he never will be able to do any more than to walk. He is now a cripple.

Patrick Burke, a young man who resides at Dickson City, is the plaintiff in a trespass suit against the Delaware and Hudson Canal Company that was called for trial before Judge Archbald in court room No. 1 yesterday afternoon. On July 29, 1893, Mr. Burke sustained injuries in the Dickson shaft at Green Ridge, operated by the Delaware and Hudson Canal company. As a result of the accident his right leg is crippled and he says he never will be able to do any more than to walk. He is now a cripple.

Patrick Burke, a young man who resides at Dickson City, is the plaintiff in a trespass suit against the Delaware and Hudson Canal Company that was called for trial before Judge Archbald in court room No. 1 yesterday afternoon. On July 29, 1893, Mr. Burke sustained injuries in the Dickson shaft at Green Ridge, operated by the Delaware and Hudson Canal company. As a result of the accident his right leg is crippled and he says he never will be able to do any more than to walk. He is now a cripple.

Patrick Burke, a young man who resides at Dickson City, is the plaintiff in a trespass suit against the Delaware and Hudson Canal Company that was called for trial before Judge Archbald in court room No. 1 yesterday afternoon. On July 29, 1893, Mr. Burke sustained injuries in the Dickson shaft at Green Ridge, operated by the Delaware and Hudson Canal company. As a result of the accident his right leg is crippled and he says he never will be able to do any more than to walk. He is now a cripple.

Patrick Burke, a young man who resides at Dickson City, is the plaintiff in a trespass suit against the Delaware and Hudson Canal Company that was called for trial before Judge Archbald in court room No. 1 yesterday afternoon. On July 29, 1893, Mr. Burke sustained injuries in the Dickson shaft at Green Ridge, operated by the Delaware and Hudson Canal company. As a result of the accident his right leg is crippled and he says he never will be able to do any more than to walk. He is now a cripple.

Patrick Burke, a young man who resides at Dickson City, is the plaintiff in a trespass suit against the Delaware and Hudson Canal Company that was called for trial before Judge Archbald in court room No. 1 yesterday afternoon. On July 29, 1893, Mr. Burke sustained injuries in the Dickson shaft at Green Ridge, operated by the Delaware and Hudson Canal company. As a result of the accident his right leg is crippled and he says he never will be able to do any more than to walk. He is now a cripple.

Patrick Burke, a young man who resides at Dickson City, is the plaintiff in a trespass suit against the Delaware and Hudson Canal Company that was called for trial before Judge Archbald in court room No. 1 yesterday afternoon. On July 29, 1893, Mr. Burke sustained injuries in the Dickson shaft at Green Ridge, operated by the Delaware and Hudson Canal company. As a result of the accident his right leg is crippled and he says he never will be able to do any more than to walk. He is now a cripple.