AS TO SABBATH DESECRATION.

Rev. Mr. Hogan Preaches a Very Practical and Forceful Sermon.

Special to the Scranton Tribune. FOREST CITY, Jan. 15.—Last Sunday evening Rev. J. C. Hogan chose for his text "They watched Him whether He would heal on the Sabbath day, that they might accuse Him," Mark iii. 1.

Christ then illustrated the spirit of the Sabbath law. Christ is our example in Sabbath observance as in all things. He will furnish the means. How did He keep the Sabbath? It is safe to say no money could induce Him to open his shop on that day. We cannot think of Him keeping open store to sell milk or meat. He attended church. He went about doing good. We ought to give God one-seventh of our time. Our nature demands it. But today 3,145,000 people in this country are at work. Some of it may be necessary work, but a vast amount of it is unnecessary.

London with its five million of people allows no mail to be collected or distributed. The preacher then characterized the Sunday newspaper as the fountain of Sabbath desecration and the sewer of all news trash of the day. It is the dirtiest sheet printed. It is training an army of boys to be Sabbath violators. The man who advertises in a Sunday paper may be a deacon, but he desecrates the Sabbath just as much as if he kept open store. The speaker then said the congressman from our neighboring district is the biggest criminal in the crowd in this respect. He publishes a Sunday paper in violation of the laws of God and man. How can we expect the rabble to respect our laws when the law-maker themselves are not respectable?

The workingman is much abandoned on this subject. According to the politician and the money grabber, the workingman wants everything that is devilish; but the fact is the politician and the soulless corporation want seven days' work for six days' pay. But the workingman is no fool. On Friday, the speaker said that in 1883, when they desired to open the museums and theaters in England, a canvass was made and it was found that sixty-two labor organizations, with a membership of 45,482, were found in favor of open museums and theaters, and against such desecration, 2,413 labor organizations, with a membership of 501,705, went on record. After the sermon, Mr. Hogan read the following resolution to be presented to the Forest City borough council tonight, which was adopted by a large number of those present.

MONTROSE'S NEW ARMORY.

Changes in Old One Practically Give It a New Character.

Special to the Scranton Tribune.

MONTROSE, Pa., Jan. 15.—Company G, thanks to the energy of their captain, have now a well arranged and comfortable armory. Captain Alney took your reporter through the redited armory and he was surprised and gratified to see what a change had taken place. For years it has been little less than an excuse for a place of entertainments. The room was large and heated near the entrance by a stove on either side, but the janitor who were brave enough would go and sit through an entertainment and suffer from the cold and then suffer from a cold several days afterward.

All this is now changed. In place of stove, a large furnace makes steam that is sent through the room, and several radiators will keep the room warm. The gallery that extended across the building has been taken out and in its place there is a large meeting room for the company, and the captain's private room, which is large and beautifully arranged. The room, and the captain's room, the quartermaster and the first sergeant have well appointed rooms, besides a room for the janitor. The stage has also had some improvements, so that Montrose can now boast of a fine armory, and a much better place for entertainments than it has ever before had. Company G deserves to be congratulated on their good fortune in having for a leader and commander not only a brave and true officer, but a man who is able to plan and execute such improvements as has been done in this armory under his direction.

Blood Poisoning

Intense Suffering 11 Years.

Hood's Healed the Sore in Seven Weeks—A Perfect Cure.

"I will recommend Hood's Sarsaparilla as first-class. It has proved its merits to me. Twelve years ago my wife was picking raspberries when she scratched herself on a briar, the wound from which soon developed into a terrible sore, between her knee and ankle. Notwithstanding all we did for it, it continued discharging for eleven long years. We tried medical skill on every side, with no effect. About a year ago she read of Hood's Sarsaparilla and concluded to try the medicine, and while taking the first bottle she felt better and continued with it until today she is entirely well and better than ever. The sore was healed up in seven weeks. Her husband is perfectly sound. We attribute her cure entirely to Hood's Sarsaparilla." JACOB N. AUGHENBAUGH, Eters, York Co., Pa.
