DALZELL AND FREE RAILS

He Defeats Johnson's Amendment Concerning Steel on Free List.

AFTER A MOST EXCITING DEBATE

The Pittsburg Orator Continued His Remarks Specifying Certain Discrepancies Between the Theory and Practice of His Antagonist—Mr. Johnson Briefly Replied, Denying the Allegations in Detail, and Deprecating Dragging Personalities into Tariff Debate.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19. THERE was a larger number of members present when the house met this morning than for some time past. The usual crowd was in the gallery. At 11:10 the house went into committee of the whole to consider the Wilson bill.

Mr. Dalzell, Pennsylvania, then took up the line of attack against Mr. Johnson, Ohio, on which he was engaged when the house took a recess yesterday evening.

Mr. Dalzell summarized his charges against Mr. Johnson as being:

First—That he has misstated the facts before the committee.

Second—That he was anxious to have steel rails put on the free list, while he was still protected by the United States patents.

Third—That he forced his employees into receiving their wages in one-third cash and two-thirds in scrip.

Fourth—That he had made a statement on the floor of the house in regard to the redemption of these certificates which was untrue.

Fifth—That he privately altered the stenographer's notes and inserted in the record a statement he did not make on the floor, which was true, and eliminated a statement he did make on the floor which was untrue.

QUEER TRANSACTIONS.

Again referring to the question of scrip, he asserted this scrip was hawked about the streets of Johnstown, and that it was bought up by a relative of Johnson at the rate of one cent for each dollar. The statement of Mr. Johnson that he paid better wages than the other mills, Mr. Dalzell characterized as untrue. He had direct evidence from a person who was in a position to know, that the wages paid at the Johnson mill were not higher than at the other mills. He asserted that Mr. Johnson was in sympathy with English manufacturers that he had at his mill an English engine, made in Manchester, and imported from there, together with the men to run it. And the president of the mill was an Englishman named Moxam, who had been naturalized, and who openly announced his intention of returning to England to live.

Mr. Johnson had made charges against trusts, said Mr. Dalzell, which he would like to reply to at some length. He was unable to do so at this time, but he knew there was a trust composed of English and Belgian manufacturers, formed for the purpose of seizing the American market, Mr. Dalzell counted upon Mr. Johnson's antagonism to steel rail trusts, and to Mr. Carnegie in particular, and said that the platform of the free traders was "anything to abuse Carnegie." And the gentleman from Ohio, said Mr. Dalzell, had hurled abuse at the "robber-barons" and at Mr. Carnegie. But Mr. Dalzell thought Mr. Carnegie and Mr. Johnson were very much alike in several respects; they were both "robber-barons," and both had got rich in the same way; but their resemblance ceased.

The philanthropic "robber baron" who would not vote to put money in the pockets of his stockholders, took advantage of the rigors of winter to drive a dicker with his employees, and had paid them one-third in cash and two-thirds in scrip, and that while Johnstown had scarcely recovered from the awful calamity which had recently overtaken her. [Republican applause.]

NOT A PHILANTHROPIST.

Mr. Johnson disclaimed any intention of resting as a philanthropist, but he had urged that steel rails should be placed upon the free list, because there was a pool to raise the price of steel rails. He had notified the champion of the steel rail trusts, Mr. Dalzell, that he proposed to offer this amendment putting rails on the free list so that he might be prepared to speak against it, and he said that Mr. Dalzell had come here armed with pins to stick into him, but he would have to bring heavier cannon to bear to make any impression on him. He deprecated the fact that personal charges had been brought into the debate, but he would answer them briefly.

In reply to the charge that he was a monopolist, Mr. Johnson laughingly pleaded guilty. As to the charge that he was engaged in the manufacture of a class of steel rails which would not be affected by putting steel rails on the free list, that he would still be protected by his patents, Mr. Johnson said that all the patents he held were not on the manufacture of steel rails, but many of them were on machinery. He had twenty or thirty patents on steel rail manufacturing, but the remainder of seventy or eighty were "bifid," patents issued to sustain other patents. He acknowledged that he had tried to monopolize the business by means of his patents, but the courts had not sustained them.

On the subject of scrip, Mr. Johnson said it was a question of closing the mills altogether or paying party in scrip, and he chose the latter. In his opinion, it was better to do that than to close the mill as was done at Sparrows Point, and as was advocated by the steel rail trust. It would be time enough to complain of that issue of scrip when his company failed to redeem it. In regard to alteration of the record he explained that when the subject was discussed before he had replied to Mr. Dalzell's questions without being prepared, and when he had gone home and looked up the matter he found that the scrip had been re-

ALL WANT TO GET THE BONDS

Many Offers from Eastern Capitalists Range from $50 to $200.

MR. CARLISLE IS SUMMONED

The Judiciary Committee Wishes to Hear His Reasons—Getting the Issue All Ready—The Plates Prepared for ex-Secretary Foster Will Be Used—The West Yet to Hear From. But the Bonds Will Be Taken.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19. SECRETARY CARLISLE'S mail today brought in a number of additional offers to take the 5 per cent bonds to be issued by the government on the first of February. The offers varied in amounts, one of them being as low as $50. The prices offered were regarded generally as good. One, it is said, reached $200. Treasury officials expect a great many more offers before long, as they say that times enough has not yet elapsed for the circular offering to take hold. The offers today, it is said, come entirely from the east and included firms and persons in Philadelphia, Boston and New York. The offers as they are received are collated in proper form in the divisions of loans and currency, where they will remain until they are opened Feb. 1.

FINISHING TOUCHES ON PLATES.

The experts of the bureau of printing and engraving are engaged in putting the finishing touches upon the plates from which the new issue of bonds will be printed. When ex-Secretary Charles Foster was contemplating a bond issue shortly before the close of the Harrison administration he ordered plates to be engraved, and these will be used for the forthcoming bonds. They were nearly finished before Mr. A. 1893, and more work was done upon them early in the Cleveland administration. Since that time they have lain idle in the bureau against such a contingency as Secretary Carlisle's order of Wednesday. It is necessary to change the dates on the plates and to make other alterations in the script on the body of the bonds, but otherwise the designs ordered by Secretary Foster will be used. There is not differ materially from the patterns of former bond issues. At the bottom will be a foot note stating that they are issued under the act of Jan. 14, 1875.

The report that Will H. Low, the well-known New York artist, who was recently appointed to a position in the department by Secretary Carlisle at a salary of $9,000 per annum, was engaged to design the bonds, is contradicted by Mr. Claude Johnson, the chief of the bureau. Chief Johnson said today that the first batch of bonds will be printed next week, but the day of their appearance or other details, he said, had not been decided.

The resolution denying the authority of the secretary of the treasury to issue bonds for any other purpose than the redemption of the greenbacks, introduced by Mr. Bailey and reported favorably by the subcommittee, was discussed in the house judiciary committee today at some length, and further consideration was then postponed until next Wednesday, the regular meeting day of the committee.

Mr. Carlisle is to be invited before the committee at that time to explain his decision. There is little doubt that the majority of the committee disbelieves in Mr. Carlisle's authority to issue bonds, but there is no probability of action by the house on the subject even should the committee report the resolutions favorably, a thing which in itself is doubtful.

HE WANTS CARLISLE ENJOINED.

Secretary Hayes, of Knights of Labor, Opposes Issuance of Bonds.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 19.—The Knights of Labor, after consultation among their officers present at a meeting last night, sent the following dispatch to J. B. Sovereign, general master workman, Dan Moines, Ia.:

Secure counsel and go before the United States Supreme court immediately. Enter injunction proceedings against Carlisle, restraining him from issuing $50,000,000 of bonds. The interest of the people upon whom the burden of all taxation to pay the interest and principal of these bonds fall, require that you should immediately take legal steps to prevent the secretary of the treasury from incurring any further debt while the resources of the government, if properly applied, are sufficient to meet all lawful demands. (Signed.) JOHN W. HAYES, Secretary-Treasurer Knights of Labor.

Today the following telegram was received by Secretary Hayes:

Des MOINES, Iowa, Jan. 19.—John W. Hayes, Philadelphia, has submitted to counsel. If there is reasonable ground on which to force standing in court, injunction proceedings will begin at once. (Signed.) General Master Workman.

EARTH SWALLOWS 100 PEOPLE.

Mongolians Destroyed by Earthquakes with Their Herds and Flocks.

SHANGHAI, Jan. 19.—Terrible death and destruction has been caused by earthquakes in the province of Urga, Mongolia.

One hundred of the native nomadic population, with their flocks and herds of horses, were swallowed up or otherwise destroyed.

LEE AND HIS SURRENDER TO GRANT.

Told Newly from a Confederate Standpoint by a Participant.

BALTIMORE, Jan. 19.—Not since the foundation of the Maryland Confederate society has there been such a notable gathering at their annual banquet as was disclosed at the Carrollton hotel tonight. The occasion was one of the greatest in historic interest to all living participants in the civil war.

The lecture, which preceded the banquet, was notable because, for the first time, the story of Lee and surrender was told from the Confederate standpoint and no better orator could have been selected. Colonel Charles Marshall, C. S. A., one of the most prominent members of the Baltimore bar, was witness of the closing scene at Wilkes-Barre, Md., at Appomattox. As the military secretary of General Lee he accompanied his chief at the meeting with General Grant to arrange the terms upon which the army of Northern Virginia was to be surrendered. Colonel Marshall was adjutant general as well as his military secretary.

HE SOLD HIS LIFE DEARLY.

And Being a Negro Was Lured in the Usual Southern Way.

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 19.—Some time ago the corn crib on Charles Reed's place was burned and he concluded it was set on fire. Suspicion pointed to a negro as being the guilty party. It was proposed to give a job to the negro's house and give him a severe beating. The mob was organized and Wednesday night they cautiously approached the cabin of the negro and attempted to take him by surprise.

He heard them coming, however, and prepared to meet them. Just as the negro threw up the window and thrust a double barreled shot gun through the opening, blazed away. One man, named Roberts, an employe, was killed outright, and a son of the proprietor, Mr. Reed, was badly wounded. After firing had stopped the negro escaped, but he was twice wounded and finally captured. Yesterday morning his body was found hanging to a tree on the plantation.

AIDED HIS WIFE'S ELOPEMENT.

But Not Aware of It When He Bada Her Adieu.

LEWISBURG, Jan. 19.—Last night Mark Halfpenny, a gentleman of high social relations and interested in the woolen mills here, and having a wife and family, eloped with Mrs. Alvin Angstadt, the wife of a prominent town and after taking supper at Cooner's hotel, bought tickets and had their baggage checked for Cleveland, O.

Mr. Angstadt took his wife's trunk to the depot and bade her good bye, believing that she intended visiting relatives at Balesburg. Halfpenny had often visited at Angstadt's house, and the three had often passed the evening playing cards. Angstadt is now almost distracted with grief and has telegraphed to the chief of police of Lewisburg to arrest the couple when they call for their baggage.

A NEW TRAFFIC ARRANGEMENT.

New York, Susquehanna and Western's New Outlet from Wilkes-Barre.

NEW YORK, Jan. 19.—The New York, Susquehanna and Western Railroad company closed a traffic alliance with the Wilkes-Barre and Eastern railroad which extends from Wilkes-Barre to Stroudsburg, where it forms a connection with the Susquehanna and Potomac.

By means of this alliance the Susquehanna will have a direct line between New York and Wilkes-Barre and the anthracite regions, affording it direct connection with the Lehigh Valley, Jersey Central and the Delaware and Hudson canal systems. The route will be open for freight traffic Jan. 22, and is expected that passenger service will be put on at an early day.

SPRINGING GROUND THE TROUBLE.

Examination Into the Cause of the Susquehanna Bridge Accident.

ENGLISHTOWN, N. J., Jan. 19.—Coroner Volk of Hoboken, with twelve jurors, made an examination of the wreckage and the trail of the Susquehanna railroad this afternoon. From all that can be learned the trestle bridge, which collapsed last night, was in a desperate plight with the bridge and Sanford, is thought to have been sufficiently strong.

The springing condition of the ground in addition to quicksand, which prevails in large quantities, are the only accountable causes for the accident. Every one of those who were at work upon the trestle bridge has been accounted for, so that the actual number killed is three.

SPARKS FROM THE WIRES.

For thirty minutes Mount Jefferson, of Oregon, belched forth black smoke and steam.

Pleasanton, Kan., chose Mrs. Ann Austin mayor by eight majority, women casting 157 votes.

Laura Schirmer-Marjesson, the prima donna, is very ill at New York and sings in her delirium.

In a furious quarrel in a St. Louis street, William Hayward, colored, was stabbed by Jennie Loggins.

The International Bricklayers' and Masons union have elected William Klein, of New York city, president.

With chloroform and prussic acid H. B. O'Dell, a Chicago real estate man, ended his life at Fort Huron, Mich.

In a desperate fight with officers at Mercer, Va., two bandits named Mallon were killed, with Sheriff Hall.

Oxalic acid, swallowed by Henry Telekan, a Tomba prisoner, at New York, brought him to a horrible death.

Aggrieved by the rivalry of John P. Morris in the detective business, James McCame put a bullet through his heart.

On charges of robbing his wife's jewelry store of $18,000 worth of stock, Lyouas Lager, of New York, was arrested.

For trying to blow up the Nelson monument at Montreal, Henry Herdier and two companions were fined $25 each.

Foreign agents with New York branches had any number of inquiries from all parts of Europe about the new bonds.

John Hardy was hanged at Welch, W. Va., for the murder of Thomas Drew. The killing took place over a game of dice.

Three shots were fired at Mrs. William Givens, of Atlanta, while asleep, and her husband was injured by the shooting.

Bravery of Miss Margaret Addison saved Sergeant Brown, of the British warship Gannet, who fell overboard in Esquimaut harbor.

The Montgomery made 18.85 knots on her trial trip without tidal corrections. Her contractors will earn a premium of $30,000.

Colorado's adjourn will dismiss every official and adjourn in order to compel the house also to adjourn, leaving Governor Waite in a quandary.

Putting a brick through the window of Harrington & Freeman's jewelry store at Boston, a thief grasped $3,000 worth of diamond rings and escaped.

HILL DECLARES HE IS CONTENT

Perfectly Satisfied with His Victory in the Hornblower Case.

WILL NOT OPPOSE NOMINATIONS

Vacancies in New York State Will Be Filled Very Soon—Poucher Is Next on the List—Likely to Be Confirmed as United States District Attorney Soon—Fault of Doyle, of Buffalo Happy When the Machine Was Beaten.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19. THE action of Senator Murphy in reporting favorably yesterday afternoon the nomination of Valantine Fleckenstein for collector of internal revenue for the Twenty-eighth New York district is taken as an indication that the New York senators will not be factious in their opposition to the generally of New York appointments, even though they may not have been consulted in the selections.

But it is understood that Senator Hill continues to antagonize the nomination of General P. C. Doyle for collector of customs at Buffalo on political grounds. The senator is said to hold that General Doyle voted the straight Republican ticket last fall, and that he went even further and "rubbed it in" on the senator by sending congratulatory telegrams to friends in Washington upon the defeat of the Democratic ticket.

WILL BE CONFIRMED.

William A. Poucher, it is said, is opposed on other and personal grounds, but his friends here now think that he will be confirmed as district attorney within a few weeks. After the senate has shown a disposition to confirm some of the New York nominations, the president will send a fresh list to the senate. Among them will be collectors of internal revenue for New York and Brooklyn and several judicial appointments for the state generally.

New York Democrats who are in hopes of getting a hand into the public crib need not feel discouraged by the attitude of New York's senator. Now that Senator Hill has taught Mr. Cleveland a lesson in the Hornblower matter he is not disposed to interfere with the filling of smaller offices. No opposition will be raised in the senate to the confirmation of men who are fit to fill the places they are named for.

PLAYED CARDS BEFORE HANGING.

Indifferent Manner in Which a Murderer Spent His Last Hours.

CANON, N. D., Jan. 19.—Albert F. Bomberger, the fiend who in cold blood murdered the father and mother and assaulted the elder daughter, was hanged at 1:30 this afternoon. The fall broke his neck, giving him an instantaneous death. The execution took place upon a gallows within an enclosure located about three-quarters of a mile from the court house.

Bomberger spent his last night on earth in the auditor's office playing cards. He also wrote two letters, one to his mother, and the other a sort of an address to the public. At 12:45 o'clock the sheriff appeared and read the death warrant to which Bomberger listened with self possession, although pale and nervous.

MR. CHILDS' CONDITION IMPROVED.

A Constant Stream of Inquirers at His House and Office.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 19.—The condition of Mr. George W. Childs continues favorable throughout today, and tonight his physicians report him as much improved. No one is allowed to see Mr. Childs.

A constant stream of people was at his house today inquiring for him and many telegrams from different parts of the country were received at the Ledger office from prominent men seeking information regarding Mr. Child's condition and expressing their sympathy for him in his illness.

CORPSE AROSE BEFORE MOURNERS.

Councillor Revived Just Before the Coffin Lid Was Screwed Down.

LONDON, Jan. 19.—Thousands of persons gathered in the country at the funeral of Trent today to attend the funeral of Town Councillor Charles Wileman. When members of the family were called to take a last look at Wileman's face before the coffin lid would be screwed down, two persons said they saw signs of life.

Physicians who were summoned pronounced Wileman alive. The funeral services were suspended and the crowd was dismissed. Wileman was taken from the coffin and he is now under treatment.

RIVAL DEMOCRATS JUBILANT.

Nomination Papers Recommended for All Their State Candidates.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 19.—The Pennsylvania Democracy met at their headquarters, 1,006 Chestnut street, Michael J. Ryan presiding. A report was received from the finance committee, showing subscriptions amounting to over $2,000 in the first two days of the committee's work.

It was resolved to recommend nomination papers for candidates be filed in every ward, so that there will be complete tickets in every ward and division for the elector to vote for.

HAWAII'S REPRESENTATIVE AWAY.

Not Among the Other Charge D'Affaires at the State Dinner.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—Joseph in diplomatic circles is busy today over an incident of the state dinner at the white house last night. In the published lists of invited guests as printed in the newspapers, the name of Secretary Hastings, who, in the absence of Minister Thurston, is Charge D'Affaires of the Hawaiian legation, was included.

Mr. Hastings was not among the guests present at the dinner, and it is now learned, that he received no invitation. This omission, whether accidental or intentional, excited comment, because both the secretaries of legation of Korea and Columbia were conspicuous among the list of guests, which, in fact, included the head of every legation now in Washington, except the Hawaiian legation.

THE PRODUCTION OF PIG IRON.

Statement Showing the Output for the Last Two Years Compared.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 19.—The bulletin of the American Iron and Steel association, says: The total production of pig iron in 1893 was 7,134,502 gross tons against 9,157,000 tons in 1892. The total production of Bessemer steel ingots in 1893 was 3,123,534 gross tons against 4,165,435 tons in 1892.

The total production of Bessemer steel rails in 1893, except a comparatively small quantity of standard and street rails made from purchased blooms, was 1,636,353 gross tons, against 1,458,732 in 1892.

HAWAII'S NEW CONSTITUTION.

The Republican Government Will Be Like Our Own, with President and Two Houses of Congress.

HONOLULU, Jan. 19, via San Francisco, Jan. 19, per Monowai.—There is no important change in public affairs on the island since the advice carried by the Australia. Strong remonstrances have been addressed to Minister Willis by President Dole in regard to his "menacing attitude toward the provisional government."

It is privately learned that a new constitution is all ready to be promulgated at the proper time. Chinese laborers are to be imported until Japan is ready to continue the supply on satisfactory terms. It seems to be definitely ascertained that for several weeks and prior to Thurston's visit, the provisional government has been working out a form of constitution for the independent Hawaiian republic which is now substantially settled upon.

Its form is like those of the states of the union with the president and vice president and upper and lower houses of the legislature. For voters of the lower house, the chief qualification is the ability to read and write the English language which will exclude more of the Japanese. In this house the natives and half-white vote will greatly predominate. For the upper house will be required in voters a considerable educational and property qualification, sufficient to procure a predominance of intelligent white citizens, who will also control the choice of executive. Certain special powers will be conferred upon the executive and upper house, acting in concert, which will enable them when well agreed to prevent the obstruction of necessary legislation by the lower house.

DUVAL CLUB LEASES A RAILWAY.

Fight Sure to Come Off Without Governor Mitchell's Interference.

ATLANTA, Ga., Jan. 19.—A special from Jacksonville says the Duval Athletic club has leased the railway to Mayport, Fla., for Jan. 25. In case the governor stops the fight at the arena the location on Jan. 24, and the battle will be fought to a finish on Jan. 25. Both men are training hard and the town is full of sports. Mitchell is growing in favor in the betting.

NATIONAL GUARD INSPECTIONS.

To Be Held in Armories During the Next Three Months.

HARRISBURG, Jan. 19.—An order was issued from National guard headquarters tonight directing inspections to be held in the armories during February, March and April, at such times and places as the brigade commanders may designate.

Special attention will be given to armories and condition of state property.

EVENTS AT THE NATION'S CAPITAL.

Captain Pickens of the cruiser Charleston is soon to be relieved.

Ambassador MacVeigh will sail for Rome the last of this month.

Eike Conrad is in Washington seeking the Tyrone postmastership.

A loss of $750,000 in gold was shown in the treasury, the figure being $692,777,847.

The number of offers received at the treasury department by bond, was surprisingly large.

Mr. Henderson, Iowa, offered as an amendment to the agricultural schedule of the Wilson bill, the corresponding claims in the McKinley law.

The house elections committee has decided in favor of Settle, Rep., the sitting member in the contested case from the Fifth North Carolina district.

The proposition to consolidate Oklahoma and the Indian territory, and admit them as one state is being pressed by its advocate upon the attention of the house committee.

BUREAU OF FOREIGN AFFAIRS.

A field of ice stretching twenty miles seaward blocks the port of Olesaa.

Prussia's deficit for the coming year is estimated at $10,000,000, which will be met by a loan.

Smith & Wesson, the American revolver manufacturers, lost their suit at Brussels against Liege manufacturers, charged with counterfeiting their trade mark.

An appeal of Armenians to the United States government for protection against the Kurds has been communicated to Turkey's sultan by United States Minister Farroll.

WEATHER FORECAST.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—Forecast for Saturday: For eastern Pennsylvania, increasing cloudiness, probably snow or rain Saturday afternoon or night, east winds, slight changes in temperature.
