SEVEN THE JUDGES SMILED.

Mrs. Monaghan Placed With Her Husband in Sheriff's Care.

After all the prisoners had been sentenced Saturday morning, District Attorney Kelly called up John Monaghan for sentence.

Monaghan walked up very sheepishly before the judges and as soon as Judge Archibald saw the man he said: "Mr. Kelly we had better wait and take the verdict from the jury in this case."

Mr. Daniels took the verdict from the jury, and when it was read it evoked general laughter, even the tipstaves joining in the mirth, while the judges themselves were forced to smile.

Monaghan had been charged by his wife with assault and battery. The jury found the defendant not guilty and directed the prosecutor to pay half the costs.

The woman was called before the bar and with her husband she was committed to the sheriff's care till sentence was complied with.

GIFT TO PHILOSOPHICAL SOCIETY

A Generous Friend Gives the Society $1,000—Surprise Party on Friday Evening—Death of Miss Viola Johnson—Party of Merry Skaters at Seven—Board of Trade to Discuss the Bridge Question.

[The West Side office of the SCRANTON TRIBUNE is located at 135 South Main avenue, where subscriptions, advertisements and communications will receive prompt attention.]

The Welsh Philosophical society held its meeting as usual on Saturday evening. There was a very large attendance, and the meeting lacked none of its accustomed enthusiasm.

The program consisted of a deeply interesting debate, "Resolved That Electricity is the Motive Power of the Solar System." The affirmative was upheld by Eben P. Davis, and the negative, the gravitation theory, was defended by W. A. Price.

During the evening a letter was read to the society by ex-Mine Inspector William S. Davis, which included a check for $1,000, the name of the donor was requested to be kept secret and presentation was to be made known under the incognito of "A Warm Friend." Resolutions expressing the sincere thanks of the society to the donor for his magnificent gift were passed and a committee comprising the president, James A. Evans, Benjamin Hughes and W. S. Jones appointed to wait upon him with the same.

X. R. Evans and W. A. Price were appointed a committee to draw up the resolutions.

Disturbing Sunday Worship.

Officers from the Second precinct last evening arrested John Phillips, a youth who was disturbing the Salvation Army meeting. The West Side officers are daily receiving complaints from church people who claim that boys hang around the churches and disturb worship.

The arrest of young Phillips is to merely teach the boys a lesson.

Reception This Evening.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Swallow, of South Bromley avenue, will entertain this evening in honor of Mrs. Swallow's brother, Charles J. Helms.

The reception will be from 8 to 9 and dancing and other amusements will be invited. One hundred guests have been invited and Hyde Park's best society will be represented.

Arrested for Assault.

The defendants were given a hearing in the court of Alderman Andrews and committed to jail in default of bail.

Paragraphs of Genuine Interest.

A special meeting of the West Side board of trade will be held to-morrow evening, to which the public is cordially invited. The principal topic of discussion will be the proposed widening of the bridge question, and several members of council are expected to be present to talk on the question. It is hoped that the people may appreciate the fact and vote for the bridges. The viaduct will also be discussed.

The Robert Morris lodge of American Knights will be in session this evening at the officers of the order this evening in Co-operative hall on North Main avenue, commencing at 7 o'clock. All members are requested to be present.

The address by Prof. George Howell on "Should Young Men Go to College," which was to have been delivered before the Hyde Park Literary and Debating society this evening has been postponed for two weeks on account of the institution of the Ivorite lodge, in which many of the members are interested.

DUNMORE.

Dr. E. C. Robinson, of the Second Presbyterian church of Scranton, occupied the pulpit of the Dunmore Presbyterian church yesterday morning and preached a strong sermon, taking for his text, "Personal Holiness." He based his discourse on the I Chronicles, 38: 13 "For because you did it not at the first, the Lord our God made a breach upon us, for that we sought Him not after the due order." The sermon was especially applicable to young converts and the speaker took his lessons from God's covenant with the Israelites showing forth their incompetency that covenant and allowing the ark to leave their hands.

God's minute instructions regarding the handling of the ark are the subject of the wanderings and the utmost reverence in which He commanded it should be held were used to illustrate how holy Christians should become before they can attain a success for God's church in this world. In part Mr. Robinson said: "The King's Daughters of the Cedar Avenue M. E. Church extend to God wishes His covenant kept and the utmost reverence in which He wants it held. The organization which characterized all the wanderings of the ark show essential organization for Christian work. As Paul says, 'One member of the body cannot be alone without the co-operation of the other parts.' They all work together in unison with the main organization. No one should say that their work in the house of God is insignificant. No one should think that it does not matter whether we attend church or not, for we are each a member and our absence causes disorganization. When we make a confession of faith and come into the church we face at once the temptation to let others do the work while we stand back and do nothing. Our organization has any existence except in its members and it is impossible for us to delegate our responsibility and place it in the hands of any society, Sunday school or any other of the church's organization. The covenant of God is upon us, and we are bound to the manner in which the ark was bound to the shoulders of the Israelites show how we must bear it. It should be borne with noble pride and joy.

We see how essential personal holiness is in order to deal effectively with the holy work laid upon us, no matter how insignificant, and to operate as a part of the whole. With Christ with us we can do all things. All our work in Sunday school, society or church in general will be fruitless without Christ and this personal holiness. Let us realize that for our church duties, to be efficient, we are to be holy men, holy women and holy girls. Only then is success assured. Christ is one among ten thousand, and we should be so devoted to Him that we would be willing to obey his slightest command. If we love Him as we ought we will find ourselves holy. We ought to think of Him morning, noon and night, and the heart be always filled with love because of His goodness to us, so that it will not be an unpleasant duty for us to carry on our shoulders His covenant."

The Junior Christian Endeavor society will hold a social in the lecture room of the Presbyterian church Friday night.

Mrs. W. T. Messenger will leave to-morrow for Florida and other places of interest throughout the south.

The Republicans will nominate candidates for the borough election at Odd Fellows' hall tonight.

Editor T. P. Woodward, of the Pioneer, is visiting places of interest below the Mason and Dixon line.

Grant Herring, the recipient of Boss Harry's favor in the recent collectorship fight, has begun a still hunt for new headquarters. The other evening he was in Williamsport, figuring on getting office room in the federal building in that city.

The new collector seems to entertain a feeling of repugnance to Scranton, but it is the general belief hereabouts that he will be unable to remove the collectorship office from the handsome rooms specially fitted up for it in the new government building.

Hubert Sossong of Elm street died at his home on Saturday evening at 8 o'clock. Deceased was about 80 years of age and had lived here many years. Charles Anson, of Putnam street, has devoted his leisure time for the past fifteen years to the invention and construction of a steam engine. He has now completed his laborious undertaking, and the result of his toil can be seen at Tripp's shops in the shape of a new one-horse power engine. He has put over a particle of the work together himself. It is now in full working order and has been experimented with several times. In appearance it somewhat resembles the old Stephenson engine.

The grounds chosen by the base ball club will be removed, be located where the lumber yard of Mason & Snowden is situated. The location is favorably regarded by the people of the North End on account of its central position. The Providence street car line will take the spectators to within one block of the grounds.

ACQUIRING HABITS.

All Minds Are Not Constituted Alike.

Parents should make every effort to place within the reach of their children the greatest variety of reading. All minds are not constituted alike. Each child has its peculiar dislikes. What will interest, amuse and instruct one will prove wearisome to another. The boy or girl who has every object placed before him, in other words who has a complete library, is almost certain to be entertained thereby and early acquires habits of industry and a love of books and home.

Such a library is provided in the Encyclopaedia Britannica offered by the TRIBUNE. Do you realize that this is a reprint page for page of the great Edinburgh edition sold by Charles Scribner's sons at $5 a volume besides having nearly 2,000 pages of supplemental matter added to it and an entirely new line of maps—1890 issue? You have always wanted this great work but the price was and is, though Scribner's, $125. It is now within your means and on easy terms of payment. The offer must soon be withdrawn. Give your order now and do not wait till the closing day.

LOOKING FOR AN ASHLEY BOY.

Supposed to Have Been Kidnapped as an Organ Grinder.

Charles R. White, of the Wilkes-Barre Times, was in the city Saturday afternoon looking for 5-year-old Eddie Brotherton, who disappeared from his home in Ashley some days ago.

The supposition is that the lad was kidnapped by an organ grinder who for the past few days has been assembling the ears of Scrantonians with "Daisy Bell," "Two Little Girls in Blue" and "Do, Do, My Huckleberry, Do." The organ grinder's name is Rocco, and he was seen on the streets as late as Saturday afternoon. The police are looking for the boy.

Eddie has black eyes, dark hair and wears black corduroy knickerbockers. He has a dark coat and a fair complexion.
