BOOMING THE PROPOSED BRIDGES

Enthusiastic Meeting Held in the Board of Trade Rooms-Mr. and Mrs. Swallow Entertain a Large Number of Friends at Reception. One Sleighing Accident Reported. American Mechanics Entertain. Breezy Budget of News Notes.

[The West Side office of the SCRANTON TRIBUNE is located at 128 South Main aveand communications will receive prompt attention. I

The West Side board of trade met at its rooms in Clark's building, in special session last evening, for consideration of the bridge question. Dr. M. J. Williams presided, and after a few preliminaries, Councilman J. Ellsworth Davies spoke at length on the subject of the bridges. He thought that the people did not want to defeat the bridges, for the time had come when they were a positive necessity.
When the point that the Linden street bridge would not serve the lower end of Hyde Park was raised, Councilman Davies explained that the Lackawanna avenue viaduct was soon to come and that the viaduct would mainly benefit the lower end of this side. With the Linden street bridge up, half the traffic of the North End would be brought to the West

Councilman Duhigg was also one of the speakers. Although he was a bridge man and advocated the proposed bridges at every opportunity which presented itself, he was an en-thusiastic supporter of the Lacka-wanna avenue viaduct, for he looked upon that railroad crossing as a death Councilman Thomas of the Fourth ward and Councilman Wil iams of the Fifth ward, both spoke in favor of the sentenced to pay a fine of $50 and costs bridges. After Chairman Williams by Julge Archbald on Monday in a had spoken on the subject City Encare of aggravated assault and battery gineer Phillips was granted the use of in which he was convicted, yesterday the floor. The city engineer promptly avoided the payment of the fine by takanswered all the high tax arguments of the anti-bridge men, by showing that the rate of taxation would not be Officer John Woelkers, paid the $25 flue any higher than at present. He showed plans for the viaduct and explained them. A committee was appointed to see the property holders and find out what their claims for damages were.

LUCKY CALLAHAN'S ESCAPE

Court Decided It Had No Jurisdiction to Try His Case and Directed a Verdict of Not Guilty-Could Not Agree on the Question of Costs-Miss Annie Dingman on Trial on Serious

After court opened yesterday mornng Thomas E. Reynolds, who was put on trial Monday on a charge of em-bracery, was recalled to the stand and resumed his testimony at the point where he left off when court adjourned

Monday afternoon. When his examination in chief was concluded Reynolds was subjected to a severe cross-questioning by District Attorney Kelly, but nothing that differred materially from his story in chief was elicited. He was allowed to leave the stand at 10.45, and then a portion of the testimony of Juror George L. Preston, taken at the preliminary examination, was offered in evidence for the purpose of contradicting his stery when on the witness stand for the prosecution Monday afternoon. The testi-mony was admitted and the defense

In the rebuttal the district attorney ffered in evidence portions of Ray nolds' testimony, taken on a former trial of the case, for the purpose of contradicting his testimony Monday afternoon with regard to his conversation with Monroe Carpenter at Olyphant. The presecution then rested.

THE CLOSING ARGUMENTS. Major Everett Warren made the closing argument to the jury for the de-fendant. It was one of the clear cut, exhaustive and convincing presentahave given the major such a commanding place among the pleaders of the Lackawanna bar. He was listened to with the closest attention. District Attorney Kelly made a forceful argument for the commonwealth, laboring to convince the jurors that Reynolds, in his talks with the jurors, was endeavoring to corrupt the well springs of justice. Judge Gunster's charge was fair and impartial. He told the jurors that they must find that Reynolis had talked with the jurors for the purpose of corrupting and prejudicing their minds before they could find him guilty. At 3 o'clock the jury retired and at 5 o'clock agreed upon a verdict.

As court had adjourned the verdict was sealed and will be brought into court this morning. It is the general belief that the verdict will read, "not guilty

The trial of John Gerski, Adam Mokleski and J. Kronick, charged with having assaulted A. Shulkoshi, was re-sumed in court room No. 2 before Judge Edwards yesterday morning. At 12 o'clock the case was given to the jury, and three hours later a verdict of not guilty was returned. The prosecutor was directed to pay one-half of the costs, and the defendants the other

HAD NO JURISDICTION. P. J. Callahan, a young man who resides in Pittston, was next arraigned charge of em Kinselle and J. W. Rendington who run an installment house, were the prosecutors. The allegation is that on Feb. 16 last, Callahan entered their employment as an agent. He procured goods to the amount of $227.50 that he did not account for and also collected $69 in cash for the firm but neglected to turn it over. Callaban's employers went on the stand and said he admitted having appropriated the goods and mozev. sistant District Attorney O'Neill and Attorney T. P. Hoban conducted the prosecution and Attorney Joseph Brien appeared for the defense,

After the testimony for the prosecu-tion was all in, Judge Edwards asked the attorneys for the commonwealth if they wanted to press for a conviction in this county. Attorney Hoban argued that while the actual embezziement was committed in Luzerne county, the intent was formed by Callahan when entered into an agreement in this city with Kinsella and Relding-That divided the offense between this city and Pittston and left them at liberty to elect whether they would try the case here or in Luzeras county. Attorney O'Brien argued that if an offense was committed, the whole transaction was committed in Luzerne county, and could not be tried here.

JUDGE EDWARD'S OPINION. Judge Edwards said he did not think the court had any jurisdiction in the matter as the offense was committed in Luzerne, and dir-cted a verdict of not guilty, but sent the jury out to pass upon the question of costs. After being out an hour the jury filed into court and the foreman said that it could not agree, as one of the jurors was opposed to placing any costs on the defendant. Judge Edwards said they should have no trouble in arriving at a verdict. The prisoner was escaping through a technicality and as the prose ecution was brought in good faith it might be unjust to place the costs on the prosecutors. As the county had done nothing he did not see the justice of making it pay the costs. He told the jury to retire again and seal its verdict when it agreed

Just before court adjourned for the day Special Officer Henry Burns was arraigned in No. 2 charged with aggra-vated assault and battery by Mrs. Annie Barron. It is charged that Burns, while serving a warrant in the defendant's house used unnecessary force, seriously injuring Mr. Barron.

On account of the absence of an important witness the case of J. K. Goodman, charged with aggravated assault and battery by Annie Sekofsky, went over until the next term.

PECULIAR MISS DINGMAN. Before Judge Gunster Miss Annie Dingman, a comely young woman, was put on trial charged by Mrs. Delilah Arnold with having improper relations with her husband, Absalom Arnold. It is claimed that two years ago Arnold deserted his wife and six children and took up his residence with Miss Dipgman. She gave birth to two children, of which at their birth she said he was the father. They both died. In December Arnold was tried . for his illicit relations with Miss Dingman but the jury returned him not gully and was soundly lectured by Judge Archbald for the manifest injustice of the verdict, the evidence considered. It is alleged that even since that trial Arnold has lived almost constantly at Miss Dingman's apartments on Fairview avenue.

Her parents are well-to-do people who reside on Hampton atreet. They are much grieved by her mad infatua-tion for Arnold. Miss Dingman is defended by Attorney George B. Taylor. Attorney D W. Connelly and H. L. Taylor assist the district attorney in conducting the prosecution.
