Candidates' Moral Replies. Editor of THE TRIBUNE:

Sam—In the issue of Monday morning appearing an article from the Dunmore correspondent in regard to the laudable way being had at my expense, touching the coming election, on the 20th inst. Although I take very little interest in the politics of the Republic, I am glad to see the coming of a new administration, and I am glad to see the coming of a new administration, and I am glad to see the coming of a new administration.

In the first place, I think it no sacrifice to give myself the chance to be re-elected by my fellow citizens. It is well known to James Young, who is now the chairman of the Republican party in the borough, that by his scheming Mr. Gibbons is the Republican nominee or rather candidate for tax collector and it is well known that he, as well as the majority of said voters, are Democrats. I ran as an independent candidate in the triangular battle. If your correspondent had the voters that I have no chance whatever to be elected, then he will have accomplished his purpose, for these hundreds would probably remain at home on election day instead of going to the polls and, were enough, I would be left behind. Two years ago I ran for the same position against Mr. Boland, and if James Young told me the truth that day, I would have been elected had it been a secret ballot then as it now is; for he said to me that Mr. Gibbons, one of the aspirants for the position, was running for the polls that day and found out that I was running ahead and Mr. Dwyer's party were called upon to give him up and vote for Mr. Boland. This caused the result of the election to give Mr. Dwyer about $40 and to give me $80, and Mr. Boland $60.

Realizing that this was a hard fight between Mr. Gibbons and Mr. Boland, I think that is a very good chance for me to come out victor if my friends will just come to the polls on the 20th and perform their duty as citizens and not be misled by such statements as your correspondent reported on Monday, Feb. 5. I assure you all who may be interested in this election, that I am running solely and honestly for the position, and not against the interest of either of the other gentlemen any far as it may be to benefit myself.

J. H. MOFFAT, 423 Elm street, Dunmore.

Wants Better Light. Sir—Meridian street taxpayers want to know why they can't have one light at least at the intersection of Meridian street and Luzerne avenue. There is no place in more need of a light than this spot. We are asked to vote for bridges and vote for parks, that we have been asking for a light that is a necessity and can't get one. If you want our vote on the bridges give us a light, and that, before election. No promises. We have been traveling in the dark the last seven years on promises. The long-suffering taxpayers of our vicinity do not intend to vote for any bridges until they get some benefit themselves. For the past several years they never received any benefits from the city until what they paid for, according to contract, and we think we are entitled to one light, at least.

Many a curious eye is turned toward the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western tracks every day when Engine 17, the new compound, comes along with its train. It is the peculiarity of the exhaust that attracts attention, and which is only half the number heard on ordinary locomotives. There is something strange looking about the huge machine as it moves along, seemingly without an effort. The steam going first to the second cylinder is of course not heard, as in the case in the ordinary type when both cylinders exhaust into the outer air.
