WHY HESITATE? Do Not Foolishly Wait Until the Closing Day.

From the number of names added daily to the long list of subscribers to the Encyclopedia Britannica, it is fair to conclude that there are many yet to come.

Why hesitate longer to call and give your order? The regular price at which it is offered together with the liberal terms of payment, presents the possibility of any one pleading poverty as an excuse for not furnishing himself or his family with this incomparable educational work.

You can afford a fund of knowledge which is absolutely unavailable from any other source—twenty five large volumes, over 22,000 pages and about 10,000 illustrations—a history of each and every country, ancient or modern; a history of each state in the union, together with the latest map of that country or state; the life of every great man or woman who has shaped history; explained; all the arts and sciences explained and illustrated; the history, nature and habits, with illustrations, of every creature in the animal creation, from humble bee to a buffalo, to gether with the description of every plant and flower in the vegetable kingdom.

The president of Yale college has said that it would require 3,000 volumes from the world's publications to procure all this information. With the proper use of the alphabetical contents and marginal references and index it becomes the most convenient and complete library in the home with but few books. You must have seen a friend's books as hundreds have been provided with them, and they can be seen at any time at 437 Spruce street. On receipt of $4.50 the entire set will be delivered—the balance in easy monthly payments.

The offer must soon be withdrawn. But a short time remains in which to avail yourself of the price and easy terms of payment, which means the securing of the work.

NEWS FROM WEST SIDE

Happenings of a Day That Will Interest Hyde Park Readers.

BROWNIES GIVE GOOD EXHIBITION

Mears' Hall Was Crowded and Many Novel Features Were Introduced.

Two Young Men Arrested on Suspicion—To Be Treated for Cancer—Timely Warning to Newspaper Thieves—Brief Items.

[The West Side office of the SCRANTON TRIBUNE is located at 125 South Main street, where subscriptions, advertisements and communications will receive prompt attention.]

Despite the low temperature and deep snow Mears' hall was crowded last evening at the presentation of the "Brownies" given by the members of the Young Men's Christian Association.

The program, including piano selections by Professor George Carr and vocal selections by Mrs. B. T. Jayne, were rendered. The "Brownies" gave an excellent exhibition, the costumes were unique and the acts full of vigor. The "parallel bar" set by George Cartright and John Armstrong was well given. During the evening several lectures on the best methods of treating cancer were introduced. The performance was pleasing throughout.

Arrested on Suspicion. Arthur Gregory, of Forty street, and Owen Finnegan, of Elward street, were arrested on suspicion yesterday afternoon as two of the men who participated in the robbery of the store of Joseph A. Mears on South Main avenue. Sergeant Williams and Officer Tom Jones, who have been looking up the mystery, obtained a clew and yesterday afternoon visited the homes of these young men. A pair of shoes found at Finnegan's was identical as having been among the stolen articles, and several articles were found at Gregory's home. Finnegan was incarcerated in the West Side station house and Gregory was taken to the municipal building to await trial.

Went to Elkhurst. R. F. Post drove a merry crowd of young folks in his large sleigh to Elkhurst yesterday where an enjoyable evening was spent. Refreshments were served at midnight. Among those who went were Misses Myrtle Spragg, Rachel Powell, Lena Staples, Myrtle Jones, Marie Rosar, Myrtle Fraunfeiler, Margaret Evans, Lou Deppon, Jennie Pease, and Will Davis. Will Johns, Ben Evans, Thomas Evans, E. G. Jones, Albert Carson, David Owens, Tom Phillips, Clarence Litarups, Bert Dymon, and John Thomas.

Hugh Quinan Buried. The funeral of Hugh Quinan, who was found dead in bed on Wednesday morning, occurred from the family residence on West Lackawanna avenue yesterday morning. The remains were conveyed to St. Patrick's church, where a high mass of requiem was celebrated. The interment was made at the Hyde Park Catholic cemetery.

Will Be Treated for Cancer. Dr. M. J. Williams, of South Main avenue, left yesterday morning for Jefferson University hospital, Philadelphia, to be present at an operation of a critical nature which was to be performed upon the person of Mrs. H. S. Brown of North Sumner avenue yesterday. Mrs. Brown has been suffering from cancer for some time and is in a precarious condition.

Timely Warning. There is a gang of young men who work at the Bridge mine who are in the habit of sneaking papers off the stacks of homes while passing to work morning. Several subscribers of the TRIBUNE who have been missing their papers have been keeping a watch of late and have seen the persons do the act. Some of them are young men well known in the vicinity, and their names will not be published at this time. Young men take warning and don't tamper with what belongs to others.

Shorter Paragraphs. Rev. E. J. Morris, of Wilkes-Barre, will preach at the Plymouth Congregational church tomorrow at 10:30 a. m. and 7 p. m.

Miss Laura Jones of Elward street, is the guest of Misses Lottie and Rachael Powell, of North Lincoln avenue.

William Penn Morgan, general mine superintendent of the Lackawanna Iron and Steel company, and son, William Morgan, and John I. Williams, of Thomas Morgan, all of this side, were in Plymouth on Thursday.

A social was held in the Stinson Methodist church last evening for the elderly people of the church. A pleasant time was had. Cake and coffee were served.

The Welsh Philanthropic society will meet this evening in their rooms on South Main avenue. An interesting program will be rendered.

An interesting meeting of the Young People's Literary and D. D. society of the First Welsh Baptist church was held last evening. Rev. W. S. Jones presided.

Today at THE TRIBUNE business office hundreds of handsomely bound standard sets of the best authors will be on special exhibition. All are invited to call and examine them.

DUNMORE.

On to reform is the cry which resounds from north to south and from east to west in this lively borough.

Conservation now exists in the ranks of the ring Democrats and their entire front will be concentrated on Tuesday next. Their leader is no more the confident man that has dictated borough affairs for the past year and has issued his would-be vindication to the public in the shape of a long-winded letter which is remarkable for the amount of praise it bestows upon himself and the more than generous amount of eulogy he heaps upon his adversaries. It lacks confidence and that doubtful "if" is prominently presented. It is more like the protests of one under the whip of public censure, wishing to throw his misdoings on the shoulders of some one else, than the defense of one seeking a borough office. In fact it sounds very much like the pitiful wail of a dying sheep and has a tendency to arouse pity. But the reformer won't work, and next Tuesday will prove the fact.

Do not depend upon borrowing your neighbors' tribunes, but subscribe for yourself. Speak to the carrier about it or leave your order at the headquarters at the "corners." THE TRIBUNE is doing its utmost to give the citizens of the borough a good news department, and the present demand shows fully

ENUNCIATION IN SINGING.

There is a Marked Deficiency in This Respect Among Most Vocalists.

Is there any substantial reason why a singer should not pronounce the text of a song well? A writer in THE ETIQUETTE says: Personally I do not believe there is, though professors of singing have tried to convince me that in many cases the difficulties are insuperable. The whole trouble, it seems to me, is with the position of the larynx. I am not a teacher of singing, and I do not presume to instruct those who are teachers. I merely offer as a suggestion and fruitful subject of study the possibility of overcoming all laryngeal obstacles to a clear and intelligible pronunciation of the vowels. I am aware that the subject is receiving attention. I know that some teachers think they have solved the problem. I sincerely hope they have, but I have not yet met with the practical results of the solution. My duties bring me into the presence of many public singers, young and old, and I reiterate that the state of the art of pronunciation among our native singers is most disappointing.

For some reason these vocalists seem to have little or no knowledge of the accepted methods of modifying those vowel sounds which are diametrically opposed to the position of the larynx in certain registers—as, for instance, the u sound in the upper or the ee sound in the lower register. They do not modify; they radically change. And they are so careless and slovenly with their consonants that the words become wholly unintelligible. It is extremely common to hear a tenor pronounce "day" "duh," if it chances to come on a note above his middle register. Now, when the letter d is not clearly enunciated, the word becomes "uh," which is simply gibberish.

If it is possible for a German to enunciate distinctly, it is possible for an American. Our language presents no greater difficulties to the singer than that of the fatherland. Yet it was always a delight to me to mark how clearly the German text fell from the lips of such good singers as Fischer and Lehmann. The same admirable clearness of diction is a notable feature of the singing of Jean de Reszke. I suspect that our deficiency in this matter is largely due to the insufficient training of our singers, who are not willing to sacrifice the necessary years to a complete mastery of all parts of their art. But I suspect also that some vocal teachers do not give as much attention to this matter as they might.

A Nursery Comfort. Baby must have his morning bath. He is such a mite that a good sized kerchief would seem to be all sufficient to accommodate his lordship, but mamma knows better than this. The little fellow is too full of life and vitality to put up with any such limitations. He demands a broad surface, so broad that the lay which mother love most willingly supplies must be well cared for or the pretty morning robe which she delights in will soon have its beauty completely spoiled. So, to comfortably aid the drying off process, Golden Days suggests the big apron, made of flannel soft and fine.

Seams and hem are feather stitched and when tied silks are used in giving this bit of ornamentation ribbon strings matching the embroidery silks are run within the casing at the waist. Some times a piece several inches in width is turned up at the bottom of the apron thus furnishing a long, narrow receptacle, into which mother may drop any tiny articles not in use at the moment.

Into this big, warm apron, baby can be cuddled snugly until he is thoroughly dried off. It protects him from drafts and may indeed be dubbed a nursery comfort.

The Circular Bath Cape. This very comfortable garment for driving or for walking is, as its name indicates, cut in one piece. The collar

People Gratefully Mysterified. Well, isn't that funny! Do we really go over and make questions similar to the above asked by the hundreds of people who write daily on the Myrtle Street 218 Penn avenue. The new management have left nothing undone to make the spring a popular resort for ladies, children, families and parties who want to spend a few minutes in harmless amusement. The patronage has increased daily since the opening. The children are still taking advantage of the free rides on Saturday mornings. This is their last chance today, however, as the offer is then withdrawn. Ladies need have no hesitation in coming at any time as the attractions are constant and attentive to the welfare of the patrons. It is a novelty you cannot afford to miss. Something so different from what you have ever seen and is positively harmless, being only an illusion.

SOUTH SIDE.

Miss Manda Westpahl, Miss Emma Heckel, Miss Yette Art, Miss Kate Lewert and A. P. Westpahl, J. P. Schener, Jacob Schoff and John Schunk drove over to Archbald last evening.

A. C. Myers was in Forest City and Carbonade yesterday, returning last evening. He stated that it took a train on the D. & H. two hours to go from Forest City to Carbonade, a distance of six miles.

Many saloon-keepers are seriously considering whether or not it is profitable to take out a license during the coming year. Many of them have already decided in the negative.

Richard Grimes has been appointed a substitute mail carrier and has filed his bond with Postmaster Vandling. He will retain his position with the street car company for some time to come.

Rev. J. Suter will conduct a series of song and gospel meetings at "The Rooms," tomorrow evening, at 3:45 o'clock. All young women are earnestly requested to come and help sing for fifteen minutes.

A chart-cutting class will be opened next Thursday afternoon under a competent teacher. Those wishing to enter this class must notify the secretary at once.

The rooms being open from 9 a. m. to 9 p. m., the secretary and reception committee are glad to see all who wish to spend an hour, in conversation, playing games, music or in reading. Daily papers, magazines and books are always ready for use in the library and reading room.

Today at THE TRIBUNE business office hundreds of handsomely bound standard sets of the best authors will be on special exhibition. All are invited to call and examine them.
