NEAR AT HAND. Foy's, Interest Your Fathers and Mothers Immediately.

The closing day for the sale of the Encyclopedia Britannica, now being offered to the readers of THE TRIBUNE is near at hand.

The special arrangements made with the publishers have enabled THE TRIBUNE to place within the reach of everyone this great library.

It has been truly said that success depends upon an education. And as it is impossible to procure the Encyclopedia Britannica, the greatest self-educator and acknowledged authority on all subjects the world has ever produced, when it can be had for the small saving of 10 cents a day?

In this age of education and progress the best positions are secured by the fittest and in social life, one without an education is like a ship without a rudder.

Fathers and mothers—interest your sons in this work. It will be far more gratifying to you to see them perusing the pages of knowledge than to know they are spending their time and money in the saloons.

Boys—interest your fathers and mothers and ask them to procure it for you before it is too late. Do not be obliged to sweep the crosswalks through life for the schoolmate who from a studious application of books will have risen above you.

"Where there's a will there's a way." THE TRIBUNE supplies the "way." All that remains for you to do is to screw up your "will," and your library will be supplied by the most interesting and instructive literature the most eminent writers have been able to produce.

The offer will remain open but a short time. Don't fail to call at THE TRIBUNE Encyclopedia Headquarters, 437 Spruce street, and examine the books.

FOOD BEFORE SLEEP. An Eminent Physician Says Digestion Requires No Interval of Rest.

Many persons, says Dr. W. T. Cathell, an eminent physician, though not actually sick, keep below par in strength and general tone, and I am of the opinion that fasting during the long intervals between supper and breakfast, and especially the complete emptiness of the stomach during sleep, adds greatly to the amount of emaciation, sleeplessness and general weakness we so often meet.

All beings except man are governed by natural instinct, and every being with a stomach, except man, eats before sleep, and even the human infant, guided by the same instinct, sucks frequently day and night, and if its stomach is empty for any prolonged period it cries long and loud.

Digestion requires no interval of rest, and if the amount of food during the twenty-four hours is, in quantity and quality, not beyond the physiological limit it makes no harmful difference to the stomach how few or how short are the intervals between eating; but it does make a vast difference in the weak and emaciated one's welfare to have a modicum of food in the stomach during the time of sleep, that instead of being consumed by bodily action it may during the interval improve the lowered system, and I am fully satisfied that were the weakly, the emaciated and the sleepless to rightly take a light lunch or meal of simple, nutritious food before going to bed for a prolonged period nine in ten of them would be thereby lifted into a better standard of health.

Aluminum for Flash Lights. The use of aluminum as a substitute for magnesium for the production of flash light is growing in favor among photographers. Its chief advantages are its higher activity and its freedom from objectionable odors on ignition.

The commercial aluminum powder can be used if all the grease is removed by the application of heat. The consequence of allowing the grease to remain is that the powder adheres in lumps, and a large proportion of it escapes ignition when blown through the lens.

Another advantage possessed by aluminum over magnesium is its resistance to oxidation when in fine powder. The mixture recommended by Prof. Glassenapp for photographic work is composed of Aluminum powder .317 parts by weight, sulphide of antimony 13.8 parts by weight, potassium chlorate 64.5 parts by weight. In preparing the mixture the same precautions must be taken as with magnesium.

WELCOME WORDS TO WOMEN.

Many times women call on their family physicians, suffering, as they do, from dyspepsia, another from liver or kidney disease, another with pain here or there, and in this way they are all only symptoms caused by some womb disorder.

The sufferer gets no better, but probably worse, by reason of the delay, wrong treatment and consequent complications. A proper medicine like Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, directed to the cause would have promptly cured the disease.

Mrs. HENRY TAPPAN, of Reynolds, Jefferson Co., writes: "For two years I was a sufferer. A part of this time had to be carried from my bed. Was racked with pain, had hysteria, was very nervous, no appetite and completely discouraged. A few bottles of Favorite Prescription effected a perfect cure." Sold by all dealers in medicines.

A Pleasant Reflection

"'Tis knowledge that makes woman a success." This Shakespeare wrote 200 years ago. Had he lived in these days, when women compete with the stronger sex in the broad-winning race of life, he would not have believed his stanza complete without this important addition:

"'Tis virtue that doth make them most admired; 'Tis modesty that makes them seem divine."

Accident of birth may make one young woman a shop girl and her playmate, born at the other end of the street, a college graduate and a society belle. They were equals in childhood; they are separated now by several strata of society. But appraise each at her own intrinsic worth, and what is the only element of real superiority which the rich girl possesses over the poor one?

It Is Education; It Is Knowledge. Herein only is the rich girl superior. Here only is she a more important factor in life and of more value to herself and to society than her less fortunate contemporary.

Even this distinction need no longer exist; for no girl with strength and ambition but can save ten cents a day and obtain THE TRIBUNE
