Yesterday morning the work of counting the ballots cast for congress man-at-large in the county as well as the votes cast for all candidates in this city and Carbondale was begun in the main court room, before Julge Archbald, by the clerks whose names were given yesterday. Clerk of the Courts Thomas and his assistants are counting the votes cast for all borough and township ofileials. The work of counting the vote for congressman at large was first taken up and it proceeded smoothly until the Third of Olyphant was reached. There were no returns from that ward to be obtained, and John F. Cummings, one of Prothonotary Pryor's assistants, was directed by the court to interview the election officers of that ward and bring the returns in this morning. A REQUEST FROM THE SEVENTH. Attorney E. C. Newcomb, representing James J. Paiden, the Independent Democratic candidate for school controller in the Seventh ward, asked the court to have the ballot box and elec-tion officers of the Third district of the Seventh ward brought into court. He alleged there had been irregularities in the counting of the vote in that district, and in support of his statement presented the affi tavit of Edward Conrell, one of the watchers at the polls.

Mr. Connell said that he kept an accurate occount of the number of votes cast and tallied the same as they were deposited by the voters, and that 219 Lackawanna avenue. ** | he kept an accurate count of the votes when they were taken from the ballotbox, and counted by the officers and that the whole number of votes cast for the office of School Controller was 231, exclusive of 8 votes rejected by the officers as "defective ballots.

HOW VOTES WERE COUNTED. Of the votes counted 143 were for John Devanuey and 87 for James Padden, yet the election officers counted ix votes that were cast for Padden as if they were cast for Devanney and in addition thereto they credited Devanney with two votes that were not cast for any office, and certified to court that the whole number of votes cost for east for Devanney and 81 for Padden.

the office was 223, of which 142 were After hearing the affidavit Judge Archbald directed that James Gurl, judge; M. F. Gilroy and Fred H. Winters, inspectors, and W. W. Ruane and Charles W. Eisele, clerks, be ordered to appear in court. When the district was reached in the count the matter was brought to the attention of the court again by Mr. Newcomb. The successful candidate for school controller, John Devauney, was represented by Attorney R. J. Beamish.

Then Gilroy recovered, but he smiled no more. In fact, he seemed

The judge also refused to interfere in the Twelfth ward, where Henry W Coyle, candidate for common council, alleged irregularities in the method of conducting the election and counting the votes, as nothing of a palpable nature was shown. A contest will be at once instituted by Mr. Coyle against Morgan Sweeney, who was returned The court will then be given

Professor Ware sant in his report on Sept. 1, and on Nov. 1 the commutes wrote to Little & O'Connor, of New York, notifying them that their design, known as No. 9, was under favorable consideration, and asking them to obtain esti-mates. They visited Egranton on the Stb. mates. They visited Scrauton on the Stb, and on the 17th sent an outline specification. Upon this they and the committee obtained separate estimates, and these proving satisfactory, on Dec. 30 the committee communicated with Professor Ware, advising him to notify Little & O'Connor that they had been appointed architects of the building, and to return to the other competitors the other drawings.

Owing, however, to his absence from town, this letter did not come to his hands until Jan. 16. The four premiums were awarded: No. 21—Messrs. Poole & Satton, of New-

SPRING PRUNING IN ORDER. Estimates Committee Is Now at Work

Clemons, Sanderson, Westpfahl, Davies & Co., of the estimates committee,did some great paring last evening. They started in to cut down the appropriations as asked for by the heads of departments and succeeded in lop-ping of $25,000. Every department suffered in proportion, and still when the work of pruning was completed all the heads of departments went home satisfied. A majority of the committee was determined to retrench and the minority simply stood from under and last night's arrangements are final. Following items were cut out or reduced: Assistant solicitor from $1,000 to $809: for purchase of engineers in-struments $400, stricken out; cleaning of sewers and drains reduced $500; em ployee to operate road roller, $600 to $200; clerk of assessors from $900 to $600; captain of police, $1,050 to $1,000; conveying persons to charitable institutions, from $300 to $100; printing po has been transacted for the past nine lice manuals $300 to $200; incidentals years, to the new quarters in the police $150 to $100.

The fire department suffered most, although Chief Ferber was well pleased when his chemical engine programme was permitted to stand. Here are a few of the items that were knocked out: Ten men to be known as call men, $1,200; a permanent man to be known as a "rover," $800; permanent engineer for Crystal's barn, for the purchase of six horses and for six permanent men; for heating Franklin engine company; $675 for the purchase of Nay Aug engine In the board of health department the $3,000 for purchase of lot was stricken out; the public library was re-duced $500 for the purchase of books, although Judge Hand spoke of the necessity for the increased appropriation, The mayor's, controller's, treasurer's, and city clerk's departments were not

TO ESCORT GALUSHA A. GROW.

Lieutenant-Governor Watres Congratulated Over Lackawanna's Splendid Vote.

A suggestion for an escorting delegation of leading Republicans of Pennsylvania, representing various interests, to accompany ex-Speaker Galusha A. Grow on the occasion of his being sworn in as a member of the house, was very favorably received yesterday. The idea, according to the Philadelphia Inquirer, originated in the Union league, where a number of members have under consideration a proposition to have a dozen or more active spirits in that organization go down to Washington to be present at the installation of that veteran Republican.

Republican Pennsylvania membera are trying to have the date of Mr. Grow's installation fixed for March 4, the thirty-first anniversary of his retirement from congress.

The Inquirer states further that Lieutenant Governor L. A. Watres, while in Philadelphia on Taursday, was congratulated upon the splendid vote given Mr. Grow in his section. Mr. Watres, so the article states, was one of the most enthusiastic champions of Mr. Grow's nomination for congressics, containing laboratory, lecture room and an equal space will be devoted to the study of chemistry. The remainsome friends who thought this nomination might in some way in-terfere with Mr. Watres' political chances for the future, both hailing from the same section of the state. There is talk of Mr. Watres being urged to become a candidate for the state senate against Senator M. E. Mc-Donald, the present Democrasic mem-ber from the Twentieth district. At the last election, 1890, McDonald polled 10,438; House, Republican, 8,895, and David, Prohibitionist, 779.

IT WILL BE OPENED TOMORROW

The Last Business at the Old Silkman Building Will Be Transacted Tonight at 7:30 O'Clock-Postal Employes to Have Magnificent Quarters in the New Federal Building.

Postmaster Vandling has made all the necessary preparations for transfer-ing the business of the Scranton postoffice from the Silkman building at Penn avenue and Spruce street, where the postal business of the government government building at Linden street and Washington avenue. All the clerks and carriers that could be spared from the old office were busy all day yesterday getting the new pos-tal quarters ready for occupancy tomorrow. Mr. Vandling was himself on the scene and everything that was done was supervised by him.

No business will be done at the old office after 7.39 o'clock this evening. The boxes will be closed at that hour and the mail that is in them will be taken to the new building. The mails will be received at the Penn avenue office up to midnight, and when the court house clock strikes the hour of twelve the last stroke of postal work will have been done in the old quarters.

THE BOXES RESERVED. Boxes the new building have been reserved for all those who used them in the old office. The new boxes are in three sizes and rent for $1.50, $1.25 and $1 per quarter, respectively. The boxes are, located to the right of the general delivery window and are very handsome as well as substantial. The general delivery is almost immediately in front of the main entrance on Washington avenue. Clerk David Jenkins has been supplied with very desirable quarters. Everything has been furnished that will facilitate his work and comfort. To the left of the general delivery is the stamp win-dow and just around a corner are located the offices for the money order and registry clerks, handsomely car-peted and supplied with elaborate oak turniture. The mail carrier's windows are to the right of the lock boxes. The carriers have been supplied with every convience imaginable. Their racks are of the most modern design and are built of polished oak. There will be a locker for each carrier for his personal belongings.

There will be only two entrances at the new postoffice by which persons can get into the working quarters of the postal force. One of these en-trances will be through Postmaster Vandling's private office and the other will be in the rear of the building.
The first business in the new building will be transacted tomorrow

Word in regard to extracts. No article that is used in cooking is more subject to dilution than flavoring extracts. For instance, a railion of Extract of Vanilla can be produced coating $16 to $15, or it can be reduced by the coating $15 to $18, or it can be reduced by the use of alcohol to a cost not exceeding $2 per gallon. An inferior vanilla bean can be bought for $2.0) a pound, whereas a strictly first-class bean of delicious flavor will bring $5 to $10 per pound. So you can see how very easy it is to have a bottle of vanilla or any other extract that can be sold for about the cost of the bottle, who exceed the beauty of the bottle. cost of the bottle lable and cork. But this is not the quality most good housewives wish to buy in fact, most of them will say "the best is none too good for me." Appreciating this fact, we have had put up by a thoroughly reliable party a line of Extracts that we can guarantee as being as FINE AS IT IS POS-SIBLE TO PRODUCE. There is one point in connection with diluted extracts which is julie apt to deceive. Upon drawing the cork from a bottle and ameling or tasting the contents, it may appear to be very sixong. when used this artificial strength entirely isappears and you imagine you forgot to out in any flavoring. You did not forget, but ou have used an extract that is built up by one other material than the true flavor and which quickly evaporates when uncorked. We have just received the first invoice of these extracts, the whole of which could be earted off on a wheelbarrow, and yet the hill amounts to $577. We have the different kinds as follows:

8-ounce Bottle, 55c. 4-ounce Bottle, 28c. 2-ounce Bottle, 15c.

These are all full-weight bottles, not what is ordinarily used and known to the trade as short-weight bottles, there being about onefourth difference in a full and short-weight bottles. We respectfully recommend these extracts if you want genuine flavors. We think you will be surprised at the difference in the results of this and that you have been using, even if you have been getting the best best you could.
