CITY NOTES.

The funeral of Mrs. John A. McNamara, of Providence, will take place this afternoon.

The men's league of the Penn Avenue Baptist church will hold their regular monthly meeting this evening at 7:30.

A marriage license was granted by Clerk of the Courts Thomas yesterday to Warner M. Gribble and Martha M. Baldwin, of Fulton, Oswego county, N. Y.

As soon as the snow ceased falling yesterday the county commissioners put a force of men at work under Janitor James Stone who cleaned the snow off of all the walks about the court house.

ETHEL FULLER AT WONDERLAND.

She Makes an Excellent Showing in the Society Play, Stricken Blind.

At Wonderland last night Miss Ethel Fuller, in making her first appearance, was given a hearty welcome by a large audience. Manager Davis secured Miss Fuller to assume the leading role in several dramas, and if the standard of her work last evening be sustained throughout the engagement, Wonderland's audiences will be treated to remarkably good entertainments.

Miss Fuller as Kate Medland in the society play, "Stricken Blind," gives evidence of ability of more than ordinary merit. Her methods are natural and strong and she is bound to become a great favorite during her stay in the city.

In "Stricken Blind" the several members of the Wonderland stock company are seen to excellent advantage, especially V. D. Corbett, Gus Hosmer and J. O. Hall.

"Stricken Blind" will be repeated at Wonderland this and tomorrow evenings and afternoons. The attraction on Thursday, Friday and Saturday will be "Under the Gaslight."

WORKING FOR THE BRIDGES.

A Condemning Ordinance to Be Introduced Next Thursday.

John E. Roche of the special committee of councils on the erection of bridges was in the city hall yesterday and as a result of his visit City Solicitor Torrey is preparing an ordinance for the condemnation of that portion of the Flat estate necessary for the proposed new approach to the Pittston avenue bridge. This ordinance will be presented to councils at Thursday night's meeting.

The bond ordinance will not be introduced at this session of councils, but the approaches and the ground necessary for the abutments will all be obtained. This is a preliminary that is absolutely necessary, for according to a recent decision of the court, the issue of bonds before acquiring the abutments would nullify the bond issue.

The best place in the city for meals to order on short notice and at all hours. Also lunches of all kinds always on hand.

War of Words at Green Ridge, Saloon Remonstrance Meeting.

REV. F. S. BALLENTINE SPOKE

He Takes Exception to the Spirit of the Meeting—C. L. Hawley Talks to the Point—Scripture Misquoted by W. W. Lathrop—Not a Lot of "Noddies" to Fight—A Petition Remonstrating Against Saloons.

In response to a general call for a meeting of Thirtieth ward citizens to protest against the re-granting of a liquor license to John Horn, 1339 Dickson avenue, and three new licenses, a good sized audience gathered in the Asbury Methodist Episcopal church last night. The features of the meeting were a number of religious speeches which had little, if any, bearing on the purpose of the meeting and the speech of Rev. Frank Schnell Ballentine.

The latter's talk was to the effect that too much hisser and too little business were evidenced, and brought down hisses from one portion of the house and faint applause from the other.

The meeting was opened by A. G. Thomson. Those who spoke were Rev. W. J. Ford, W. W. Lathrop, Miner C. Carr, C. L. Hawley, R. W. Kellow, J. L. Haugl and Rev. F. S. Ballentine. With the possible exception of Mr. Hawley and Rev. Ballentine, one uninitiated would infer that the gathering came together for the purpose of expressing individual views on religion and prohibition generally.

MR. HAWLEY'S PRACTICAL TALK.

Mr. Hawley really opened the meeting by an outspoken talk, free from Bible quotations, but replete with practical ideas which seemed to meet the approval of a goodly portion of the audience.

There was a climax of excitement when Rev. Mr. Ballentine took exception, apparently, to the meaning of Mr. Hawley's remarks, and in substance told the audience they were on the wrong track, and that his views as to how the saloon evil should be eliminated from Green Ridge.

Mr. Hawley introduced his remarks by saying that there would be "a little plain language from truthful James." The gentleman who had preceded him, he said, had been too delicate in their ideas, yet he didn't want the audience to be like the farmer who prayed for rain, and when a deluge came said, "Oh, Lord, this is not what I wanted; I only wished a wishy-washy, drizzly, drizzly sort of a rain."

There was no use in making matters; the audience should cure the evil by going to its fountain-head—the ballot. The Thirtieth ward has had a yearly remonstrance excitement for twenty-five years, which would continue for twenty-five years to come, unless the beginning of the evil was cured, the same as a doctor cures diseases—at its source.

The audience really, he said, had no more business to suppress the saloon element in Green Ridge than it had at Pine Brook or any other locality. Yet, said Mr. Hawley, I will sign by name to the remonstrance.

PROPOSITIONS PRESENTED.

He presented four propositions and challenged contradiction: First, John Horn and his business are no worse than the license he holds; second, the license is no worse than the law which allows it; third, the law is no worse than the legislature which makes it; fourth, the legislature is no worse than the men who compose it. The voters cast ballots twice a year to keep the saloons going, and most of a year to remonstrate against their own ballots. They remonstrate to forget what they have done.

The sentiments expressed by Mr. Hawley brought forth the plaudits of his hearers and everybody seemed enthused.

Just then it came time for Rev. Mr. Ballentine's turn, and that gentleman threw off all superfluous sentiments and got down to a plain business discourse for which the religious politico element was unprepared and which, though the only practical talk of the evening, was greeted at one point with hisses and ended with no evidence of approval.

Mr. Ballentine said that the enemies that had to fight were among the most influential citizens of the ward, men who knew more about religion or politics than many who had quoted Scripture in the meeting. Among those gentlemen is one of the brightest lawyers of the state or county; another is a member of one of the most successful legal firms in the city, one of the building committees which constructed the church where last night's meeting was held, one of the, if not the, leading members of that church; another lived on a block from the meeting and was a member of the Presbyterian church; another lived in a house on Sanderson avenue, the most costly in the city.

"These men," he said, "are not 'noddies.' They are of the most intelligent, brightest and successful of the citizens of Scranton. They, and the granting of the licenses which they recommended, must be met in a business way. No 'wishy-washy' tactics, such as heard at the meeting will thwart their purpose."

SHOULD FOLLOW E. B. STURGES.

The speaker said that E. B. Sturges, who is now abroad, had in the past kept the saloon evil out of the ward. In his absence the citizens should follow his example. Mr. Sturges wanted in a business way, spent money if necessary, and paid money for a house-to-house canvass. He also used his personal influence.

The meeting had been captured, he said, by prohibitionists, who would attract the evil instead of driving it away. Putting the outside part of the question in the background, the present purpose of the citizens was to fight the license applicant for.

The meeting should get down to business and not make a big noise and consider its mission ended. An organization should be effected and agents paid if necessary to do the work.

At this point someone hissed; the signal was taken up and hisses and groans, suppressed but evident, came from different parts of the audience.

Rev. Mr. Ballentine paused a moment, but, unaffected by the rebuff, said:

"Yes, you can hiss, but I am here to talk common sense; I can't be put down by hisses, but can stand as long as you can hiss. My talk is not of the 'wishy-washy' sort."

MR. LATHROP'S SITUATION.

Then it was time for a rap to be given Mr. Lathrop, who had misquoted the Bible in his remarks. He had said, "I was unto him that putteth the bottle to his lips that maketh him drunken."

Mr. Ballentine took exception to this and remarked that the text had been misquoted for the purpose of argu-

THEY'RE NOT ALL DEAD

Three Foolish South Siders Duped by Green Goods Operators.

BIG WAD OF GOOD MONEY DROPPED

All They Got in Exchange Was a Box Containing Fragments of Plain White Paper—George and Charles Engle and Jacob Walz Were the Young Fellows Who Had the Password and Were Duped.

For many months "green goods" circulators have been freely distributed on the South Side. Attention has been called to the matter from time to time by all the papers of the city, and it was generally supposed that everyone was aware of the fact that the circulators were but snares to trap the unwary.

But such does not happen to have been the case. The foolish ones are not all dead, and New York "green goods" or counterfeit men can yet catch verdant youths in Scranton. This was demonstrated last week when South Siders clubbed together in response to one of the dancy circulars, and between them raised $340 for the purpose of becoming rich quick. Now their $340 is gone, and they have nothing but an experience.

FORMED A COMBINATION.

The names of the men who were duped are George and Charles Engle, of Cherry street, and Jacob Walz, of Willow street. They were, according to the circular, to receive $5,300 for $30, and the trio formed a combination to capture the prize that meant so much to them. Individually they had not the money but they constituted themselves a corporation and collectively were enabled to put up the requisite amount of good money.

George Engle contributed $50, his brother Charles contributed $100, and Walz put up the balance, or $112. One of the angles who gave the game away after having been duped in New York last week charged a man named Ronald with abetting them in their efforts.

It appears that George Engle was made the head of the tri-umvirate and was also chosen treasurer. George acknowledged to an officer that he tried to "do" his partners, but he was "done" instead. He had all the fun and while he lost some money he was not as heavy a loser as the other two who were captives.

George Engle went to New York last Wednesday without the knowledge of his brother or Walz. He had no difficulty in reaching his destination. One of his passwords was "Joseph" and the other was "973" and after using them he was on his way to the city where the confidence men who made him feel at home. He was shown samples of the counterfeit he was to get, and they being in reality genuine, he was easily duped and gladly parted with his Scranton money.

TOOK EVERYTHING IN.

He imagined everything was in proper order. He took the box containing, as he supposed, the key to wealth, and himself irresponsibly, as he claimed yesterday on a warrant sworn out by Jacob Engle, a peddler who resides on South Washington avenue.

Felt claims that on Saturday a number of boys followed him, calling names and throwing missiles at him. One of them, which he says was thrown by O'Hara, struck him in the mouth, inflicting an ugly cut.

The boy, who is 14 years of age, was held in $200 bail to keep the peace and directed to pay the costs.

A DISORDERLY ITALIAN REPORT.

A Young American Girl Found With a Crowd of Dagos.

Sergeant Williams and squad raided the disorderly Italian resort at 975 Jackson street, Hyde Park, early yesterday morning.

Antonio Litens, the proprietor, was committed to await the grand jury in default of $500 bail; Nellie Conners, an American girl and an old offender, was sent to jail for being present; Michael George, Michael Fanelle, Andrew Orson and Michael Greco, were each fined $5.

CAMPION STOLE THE RINGS.

He Did Not Deny Miss Phoebe Schoerer's Charges in Police Court.

The man who stole two rings belonging to Miss Phoebe Schoerer was examined before Alderman Wright yesterday. He gave his name as William Campion, 1526 Cedar avenue, and said he was born at Bristol, England.

Miss Schoerer was present and made a statement which Campion did not contradict. He was remanded to jail in default of $500 bail.

CONTRACT FOR THE BOULEVARD.

It Has Been Awarded to Malar & Lewis of New York.

The contract for constructing the seven and one-fourth mile Boulevard between this city and Elmhurst, New York, was awarded to Malar & Lewis, of New York.

Work will begin on it as soon as the weather permits, and the contract specifies that it shall be completed by Aug. 1.

CONTRACTORS SUE THE CITY.

Say That a Balance of $5,000 Is Due to Them.

Hayes, Farman & Co. yesterday began an action against the city to recover $5,000 they say is due them by the city. The suit is to the use of B. H. Throop.

The contractors say the $5,000 is a balance of principal and interest due them for the construction of the Third district main sewer.

High School and Building Committees Make Some Recommendations.

REPUBLICAN MEMBERS IN CAUCUS

C. H. Von Storch Nominated for Chairman and E. D. Fellows Named for Secretary—Democrats Will Place No Candidate in Nomination for Chairman—Mr. Jennings' Views.

The board of control met last evening. President Langstaff presided. It was the first regular meeting of the board he has attended for some time on account of his recent illness.

The high school committee recommended the payment of the following bills: Lackawanna Store Association, $1.65; M. Norton, $1.15; Frank Carucci, $2.1; C. Schroeder, $3; Edmund Bartl, $20.5; J. E. Snyder, $35; W. B. Ware, $20.75, and further recommended that the question of making the new high school building fire proof be laid over to the next meeting, to give the members time for consideration. The additional cost would be from $20,000 to $37,000.

Mr. Thompson, of the building committee, reported favorably on a number of bills that were offered. The committee made the following recommendations:

That the sum of $20,000 or as much thereof as may be necessary be appropriated for the construction of No. 27.

That the heating and ventilation of No. 27 be thrown open to competition, mechanical ventilation to be used.

That Bernard O'Malley be appointed janitor at No. 7 vice John O'Malley, resigned.

The recommendations were adopted and the board adjourned sine die, and Secretary Fellows, who is a notary public, administered the oath of office to the committee that were elected last Tuesday.

REPUBLICANS IN CAUCUS.

After the board had adjourned the Republican members held a caucus at which every member was present. Mr. Langstaff was made chairman of the caucus and Mr. Mitchell was chosen teller.

There were two candidates for the presidency. Mr. Mitchell nominated Mr. Von Storch and it was seconded by Mr. Carson. Mr. Schreifer nominated Mr. Watson. The vote resulted: Von Storch, 8; Watson, 3. On motion of Mr. Schreifer the nomination of Mr. Von Storch was made unanimous. Mr. Worman nominated Mr. Fellows for secretary and there was no opposition.

The Democratic members of the board did not caucus. They are all satisfied with Mr. Von Storch. Mr. Jennings expressed the sentiments of the minority when speaking to a TRIBUNE reporter last evening, he said:

"In case Mr. Von Storch is nominated, we will have no candidate in opposition. During his year of service he has shown himself liberal and fair-minded, and he possesses our entire confidence."

Scranton's Busy Interests.

THE TRIBUNE will soon publish a carefully compiled and classified list of the leading wholesale, banking, manufacturing and professional interests of Scranton and vicinity. The edition will be bound in book form, beautifully illustrated with photographic views of our public buildings, business blocks, streets, etc., together with portraits of leading citizens. No similar work has ever given an equal representation of Scranton's many industries. It will be an invaluable exposition of our business resources. Sent to persons outside the city, copies of this handsome work will attract newcomers and be an unequalled advertisement of the city. The circulation is on a plan that cannot fail of good results to those concerned as well as the city at large. Representatives of THE TRIBUNE will call upon you, and show you names are inscribed in the edition and explain its nature more fully.

Those desiring views of their residences in this edition will please leave notice at the office.
