AMUSEMENT NOTES.

Barney Ferguson and a clever company will present the laughing success, "McCarthy's Misadventures," at the Academy of Music on Thursday evening.

Mr. Ferguson's character has been changed somewhat in order to give him fuller scope for his many resources in this excellent production.

By the way, the company will have a host of friends in this city. Margaret Maxwell, a ministerial man of fame, who has had an eccentric character role written for him. Barney Reynolds and J. F. Wilson, whose excellent work here with "The City Directory" is well remembered, are the comedians who have a host of friends in this city.

MAYO ON FRIDAY EVENING. That beautiful legendary drama, "Davvy Crockett," with Frank Mayo in the title role, will be seen at the Academy Friday evening.

There is something so delightfully attractive about Mayo. His naturalness in portraying the marked traits of that actor on the stage today personating the heroes of the forest and mountains. He carries with him from the time of his entrance until the curtain descends on the "tag," the admiration of the entire audience.

HOYT'S A BRASS MONKEY. "A Brass Monkey," which will be presented at the Academy on Saturday evening, is a striking musical comedy.

Charles H. Hoyt's peculiar aptitude for pointing the arrow of truth with amiable satire, wherever it "shoots" is well known. He is not only not afraid of the material made use of so freely by him. It has been used time out of mind in one form or another, but it has remained for Mr. Hoyt to create a new force by combining the materials in a new way, and flavoring the dish with certain ideas of his own.

THE WOUND PROVED FATAL.

W. H. Schoenover Died Yesterday at Moses Taylor Hospital. W. H. Schoenover breathed his last at the Moses Taylor hospital yesterday afternoon at 4:45. A few days ago the attendant physicians were hopeful of his recovery, but his weakened condition was unequal to the task of recuperation.

Early Monday evening he began to sink and from that time on his life kept slowly ebbing away until the end came. At 9 o'clock last night the remains were removed to his father's home at Ash street and Penn avenue.

Schoenover is the young man who shot himself at the home of his father-in-law in Bellevue last Wednesday evening. The funeral will take place Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Services at the Penn Avenue Baptist church and interment in Forest Hill cemetery.

The West Side office of the SCRANTON TRIBUNE is located at 128 South Main avenue, where subscriptions, advertisements and communications will receive prompt attention.

A terrible accident befell Mrs. Mary Campbell, an aged lady residing on Grant avenue, at 7 o'clock yesterday morning. Mrs. Campbell resided with her daughter, and while the latter was in the back garden the old lady went to the stove to remove a vessel. In some unaccountable manner her clothing caught fire, and in an instant her form became enveloped in flames. The screams of the aged lady reached the ears of her daughter, who dropped her pen and frantically ran to her mother's assistance.

She endeavored to subdue the flames, but did not succeed until her mother was fatally burned. Mrs. Campbell lived but a few hours, during which time she suffered untold agony. Deceased is the mother of John Thomas and Patrick Campbell, of this city, and was about 80 years of age. Her tragic death caused great sorrow in the neighborhood. Funeral notice will appear later.

Board of Trade Meeting. A regular meeting of the West Side board of trade was held last evening in Clark's hall, at which the vindex matter was discussed. Chairman Davies stated that Lackawanna bill should be passed, and Mr. Hagon said that though the matter could be pushed to a successful termination. A motion was made to the effect that a petition be circulated through lower Jackson and Robinson streets, and Lackawanna avenue, to get the signatures of property holders for paying. H. D. Jones, referring to the paying of Hyde Park avenue, stated that he was sure that he could get the signatures of the people there, without any effort.

Under the lead of new business, Councilman T. Edgewood Davies agitated the paying of South Main avenue, from Oxford street to the city line. The matter was referred to the streets and bridges committee, to see the property owners and gain their favor. A special committee consisting of B. M. Jones, William R. Williams and William Farrell was appointed to try and procure the bond necessary for a public park. The widening of Swealand street, from the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western railroad to Main avenue, was considered. Mr. Lauer, who was present, stated that he thought options could easily be procured at this time on the necessary property. A committee was appointed to secure options consisting of A. M. Morse, T. H. Dale, and P. J. McCann. A vote of thanks was tendered to the West Side councilmen on account of their faithful services in assisting the fire department.

Miss Jennie Evans Buried. The funeral of Miss Jennie Evans, daughter of Mrs. Catharine Evans, of Decker's court, whose death occurred on Saturday evening last, took place yesterday afternoon from the family residence at 2:30. Rev. R. G. Jones, pastor of the summer avenue Presbyterian church, delivered a short service at the home, after which the remains were removed to the church, where the pastor conducted an impressive service, during which he spoke in high praise of the deceased as a devout Christian. The flowers consisted of a star and crescent, given by the members of the church, a pillow from her shopmates with the words "A Friend" written upon it and a basket of flowers from Miss Lizzie Joseph. The pall bearers were Messrs. Richards, Davies, Humphrey, Bruce, Price and Henry. Interment was made at the Washburn street cemetery.

TO CLOSE ON SUNDAY

Movement Afoot to Bring About More Lawful Sabbath Observance.

PASTOR'S UNION MAKES PLANS

If Moral Suasion Will Not Induce Proprietors to Close Their Places, the Law Will Be Enforced in Extreme Cases—Line of Work Mapped by Committee's Report—City Divided Into Districts.

A special meeting of the Pastors' Union of Scranton was held yesterday at the Young Men's Christian association hall to hear a report of a special committee which had been appointed to arrange an immediate plan for the closing of places doing business on Sunday in violation of the law. This committee is composed of Rev. George E. Guilt, of the Providence Presbyterian church; Rev. C. E. Robinson, of the Second Presbyterian church; Rev. D. C. Hughes, of the Jackson Street Baptist church; Rev. F. A. Donly, district secretary of the American Sabbath union; and Mrs. J. H. Simpson, president of the Women's Christian Temperance union.

The committee reported that the work of the union in regard to Sunday closing should not be in the nature of a crusade, but that moral suasion should be used to induce proprietors of places, offensive to the community on Sunday, to abandon business on that day. Kindly Christian measures should be used to bring this about, and the law resorted to only in extreme cases.

THE PLAN SUGGESTED. A detailed plan was suggested by the committee including a general canvass of the city for the purpose of ascertaining every case of violation of the law and seeking first a general closing-up movement by April 1. They suggested the appointing of an executive committee of five persons to direct the canvass with power to enforce the law with those who do not comply with the request to close April 1.

Rev. F. A. Donly of Green Ridge, was appointed chairman and the other members to be appointed was left to the discretion of Rev. Warren G. Partridge, president of the Pastors' union. The city will be divided into thirteen districts and a sub-committee assigned to each district to make a canvass.

BYVOE'S CO-OPERATION. The union has forwarded to the mayor a communication petitioning him to lend his co-operation to the movement. A unanimous adoption was made of the report, and plans were perfected for the printing and circulating it among the sub-committees.

Rev. Warren G. Partridge presided over the meeting, which was largely attended by the ministers and prominent laymen, and church women of the city. Rev. James McLeod offered the opening prayer, and Rev. C. E. Robinson pronounced the benediction.

GROUND FOR BALL PARK SECURED. Work on Grand Stand and Fence Will Begin on Thursday. The base ball men met Manager H. H. Archer, of the Scranton Traction company, yesterday, and from him learned that the company could do nothing in a financial way toward assisting the base ball association in fitting up a ball park.

Directors of the association announced last evening that a plot of land comprising three and three-quarter acres of land had been leased from the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western company. It is located on the opposite side of the Providence road from the Traction company's power house. The contract for the grand stand, bleachers and fence will be awarded today and work on them begun Thursday. The grounds have been secured for one year with the privilege of four at a rental of $300 a year.

All players will report here on April 10, and while in the city during the season will have to report at the park each day at 10 a. m. for practice. The officers of the club for the year are: Alex Dorn, president; W. L. Betts, secretary; Walter Price, treasurer; Martin Swift, manager.

An office for the association has been opened at room 7, Arcade.

HUSTLING JOHN KERNELL

He and His Associates Entertain a Large Audience. John Kernell, the well known Irish humorist, was at the Academy of Music last evening in "The Hustler," a farce comedy which has become associated with Mr. Kernell's name. The company was made the same as the one that presented "The Hustler" here earlier in the season.

One of the most entertaining features of the entertainment was the work of James F. Cook and James P. Smith as "The Two Millionaire Tramps." Their acrobatic feats were wonderful and elicited great applause. Miss Mamie Mayo presented "Theresa," a young girl who sang with speciality in "1902" very well. Mr. Kernell's witticisms were much appreciated by the audience. "The Hustler" seems to keep quite up to date and well up at the front of shows of the farce comedy order.

A VERY WISE RULE.

To Be Enforced by the Scranton Traction Company. On and after next Monday street cars operated on Lackawanna avenue and the other avenues of the city will stop only at intersections and then at the first crossing.

This step has been under advisement some time by the management, and it has finally decided to take it. In relation to the matter J. H. Gormley, superintendent of transportation, said yesterday: "The proper maintenance of our schedule and the safety of the public demand that stopping of cars every two or three feet be prohibited. The crossing is the natural stopping place. Patrons of the system are safer there than in the middle of the square and the loss of time on all our roads is caused by delays incident to this practice."

He Approximates the Requirements. Washington Post. Hon. Josiah Quincy is now eligible for a place on the civil service commission.

Voluntary Homeless. Washington Post. That Chicago jury evidently suspected Dr. Cronin of having committed suicide.

TELEGRAPH POLE ACROSS TRACK

Fell on the Delaware and Hudson Railroad Yesterday—Father-Winters Edifies a Large Audience—Peter Robling, Jr., for Clerk—Gate and Gate Posts Sink Out of Sight—James Scott Breaks His Arm.

A telegraph pole, in some unaccountable manner, broke from its moorings and fell across the tracks of the Delaware and Hudson railroad company at the same point, exactly where the broken rail was discovered about a week ago. It fell at a right angle with the tracks. Had it not been promptly removed the fast express, due at the Steel Works depot a little before 1 o'clock, would have run upon it. County Surveyor A. B. Dunning was at work in the neighborhood taking measurements on South Washington avenue, and with his two assistants moved the obstruction.

Eloquent Sermon at St. John's. Every seat in St. John's church was occupied last night and the congregation was well repaid by an eloquent sermon on "Faith Without Good Works" by Rev. P. G. Winters, of Plymouth. Father Winters is a young man yet, but his powers of speech reflect great ability. The syllabus of last night's sermon comprehends the duties of Catholics relative to the exercise of the greatest of all Christian virtues, charity. Catholics, who on the surface lead pious lives to merit eternal salvation, must perform good works. Every syllable that dropped from the speaker's lips was clear and resonant, and the sermon made a lasting impression upon the auditors.

Fractured His Forearm. James Scott, aged 12, fell upon his arm when returning from school yesterday afternoon, and had his forearm fractured a little above the wrist. He was engaged in a harmless game with some playmates and stumbled when running. He is a son of Patrick Scott, of Pig street. Dr. Manley was called and set the bone. This little fellow was resting comfortably last evening.

For Clerk of Common Council. Peter Robling, Jr., is making a thorough canvass for the clerkship of the common council. He is a popular young man and a hard fighter. He is averse to talking about his chances of success, but his friends say that he has a surprise in store.

Another Cave-in. A cave-in eleven feet deep and about six feet in diameter happened yesterday in front of the premises of a man named Gallagher, living between Cherry and Pig streets on Irving avenue. It took the gate posts and gate to the bottom. The rodents were terrorized, thinking every minute would find them engulfed.

Scholarship for a School. School Director Grif T. Davis, of Greenwood, was empowered by the Lackawanna township school board to employ an additional teacher for No. 4 school, of which Professor T. J. Coyle, of Breck street, is principal. There is a scramble for the position.

Personals. Mrs. C. G. Boland is not entirely out of danger, but she is gaining strength almost imperceptibly, and her physicians feel certain that the crisis has passed.

John Charles Miller, of Cedar avenue, was out of doors yesterday for the first time since Dec. 1.

Abraham Steinmetz, after a lengthy siege with pleuro-pneumonia, was on the streets yesterday.

Miss Katie Hopkings, of Pittston avenue, is recovering from her late serious illness. Her many friends will be glad to learn that she will soon be about again.

Martin Healey, of Dunmore, paid a visit to South Side friends yesterday.

Shorter Paragraphs. The funeral of Patrick Reilly will be held tomorrow morning from the family residence on Pittston avenue. The remains will be taken to St. John's church at 10 o'clock, where a requiem mass will be celebrated. Interment will be made in Hyde Park Catholic cemetery.

Company A, Patriotic Guards, which were formed in this city, have elected the following officers: Captain, Geo. W. Wemyer; first lieutenant, Fred Erhardt; second lieutenant, Jacob F. Mantz. The other officers will be elected at the next meeting.

William Brown, of Cedar avenue, is about to begin the erection of a dwelling house on Gibson street.

The Patriotic Order Sons of America elected Eugene Tannier and Charles Kellerman instead of Fred Schwenk and Fred Kerechoff, resigned, respectively recoring and corresponding secretaries.

The Scranton Athletic club has completed arrangements for its annual outing to Fairview Tuesday, July 11.

This Happy Chance Will Soon Pass Away. The question is frequently asked, What does it require to constitute a successfully educated man or woman? Some one has answered this question by saying, "An educated person is one who knows how and when to act." Our amateur operators have often thought of the education at a different sort of college from that of Harvard, Yale, or the University of Michigan. He availed himself of the means within his reach. And this is true of every man that has made a success. THE TRIBUNE has practically endowed a university. It has brought within the reach of its readers a college as complete as any in the country, namely, that great reservoir of human knowledge in all the ages, past and present.
