MORE BODIES ARE UNEARTHED

The Remains of Michael Welsh Taken from Gaylord Mine.

FOUND IN A STANDING POSTURE

The Finding of the Second Body Creates Great Excitement at the Gaylord Shaft—Recognized Only by a Cord about His Waist—The Work of Exhuming Still Progresses Under Difficulties—A Rumor of the Third Find Last Night.

WILKES-BARRE, March 14.—AS SOON as it became known this morning that the second body had been found at the Gaylord mine the excitement became intense and crowds of people hurried to the place. The scene was one of desolation and gloom about the mine, the day was cold and unpleasant to those who loitered about the place anxious to know the latest that was going on.

When discovered by the rescue party the body was in a standing posture, with both arms across the forehead, indicating that he was trying to ward off some terrible blow, or to shut out the awful sight and thought of the fearful crash that was to him his death stroke. When taken from his awful position he was recognized only by a cord that he wore about his body, his face being purified to such an extent that identification was impossible.

FUNERAL OF MICHAEL WELSH. The funeral of Welsh took place this afternoon from St. Vincent Catholic church, Rev. Father Donahue officiating. After the ceremony the body was removed to the Welsh Hill cemetery for burial. The deceased left a wife and six children, four boys and two girls, the oldest being eleven years. They are in destitute circumstances, but are being cared for by friends for the present.

The afternoon shift of the rescuers came out of the mines tonight. They believe that they are nearing other bodies, as the odor is the place where they are working is almost unbearable. There is no truth in the report sent out that the third body had been found in the Gaylord mine. At 11 o'clock tonight everything appeared to be quiet at the shaft. It is more than probable, however, that one or more bodies may be discovered between this and tomorrow morning. The rescuers are working hard to complete the task before them.

WILKES-BARRE, Pa., March 15.—The workers in the Gaylord mine found another body at 1 o'clock this morning. At this hour, 3 a. m., it could not be recognized. The remains were placed in a rough box and will not be brought to the surface until six o'clock.

Governor Pattison and Party Arrive from the South. PHILADELPHIA, March 14.—When the Washington express rolled into the Broad street station tonight a weary and dust covered crowd of Democratic statesmen alighted from a private car. MR. TELLER ON SILVER TOPICS

He Contradicts Senator Sherman's Statements as to Idle Dullion.

THERE IS NOW NO IDLE SILVER

The Speaker Denies the Assumption That the Act of 1890 Left the Coinage of Silver to the Discretion of the Secretary of the Treasury—Mr. Allison's Motion to Reconsider the Vote Ordering the Bill to Third Reading is Lost.

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 14.—FIERCE the routine morning business the senate at 12:30 resumed consideration of the Bland silver coinage bill. Mr. Teller, Colorado, addressed the senate in support of the bill. He denied the assumption of Mr. Sherman and of other senators who had argued against the bill that the act of 1890 left the coinage of silver to the discretion of the secretary of the treasury, and he declared that the act was mandatory and that under it the secretary could coin as many silver dollars as he had issued treasury notes.

The Well Known Connoisseur of Professional Beauty Weds a Baltimore Belle.

BALTIMORE, Md., March 14.—A day of as beautiful weather and delightful sunshine as ever shone on any nuptial day traced the wedding of Louise H. ANTIDOTE DISCOVERED.

Pittsburg Physicians Resurrect a Laudanum Suicide by Injections of Permanganate of Potash.

PITTSBURG, March 14.—Last night George Dundear took laudanum with suicidal intent. Dundear was removed to the hospital. Notwithstanding the fact that the would-be suicide was blue in the face and his nervous system paralyzed, Drs. Morland and Gregg resolved to try the newly discovered antidote, permanganate of potash.

The doctors had no data to go on and could only use experimental doses of the remedy. With the fifth injection the morphia began to contract. Seven injections in all were made and then the patient was pronounced out of danger.

This is the first time that this treatment has been used in this city and possibly in the world outside of New York city. It was only the apparent hopelessness of the case that prompted the physicians to attempt the use of the new antidote.
