NEWS FROM WEST SIDE

Chicken Thieves Are Operating on an Extensive Scale.

THEY VISIT FEENEY'S HENNERY

He Pursued Them with a Revolver but Was Unable to Make a Capture. Disgraceful Brawl on Washburn Street—Marriage at St. Patrick's Church—Mrs. John H. Robert's Party—Personals and Jottings.

[The West Side office of the SCRANTON TRIBUNE is located at 1400 Jackson street, where subscriptions, advertisements and communications will receive prompt attention.]

Chicken thieves have been visiting the hen coops on this side quite frequently of late. Their hours are generally so late that every effort to catch them has failed. The chicken yard of Special Officer Patrick Feeney was visited by thieves about 12:30 o'clock yesterday morning. Mrs. Feeney had just returned from the home of her daughter next door, when on looking out the back window, she discovered a man in the back yard. She acquainted her husband of what she had seen and he grasped his revolver and gave chase to the intruder. Mr. Feeney fired two shots, none of which took effect. When he visited the chicken coop, six of his fowls lay there dead, and near them were two strange birds. An effort was made to capture the men, but to no avail. The owner of the two other hens has not been found.

Wedding at St. Patrick's Church. A very pretty wedding took place yesterday morning in St. Patrick's church on Jackson street. The principals in the ceremony, which took place promptly at 9:30 o'clock, were Michael McCarthy and Miss Mary A. Kelly, both well known young people of the West Side. The bride was Miss Alice McCarthy, and the groom was attended by Thomas J. Kelly. The bride wore a beautiful dress of emerald broad cloth with champagne silk, and a very pretty hat. The bridesmaid also presented a charming appearance; her dress was of brown and rose broadcloth and her hat of brown and rose straw. After the ceremony they were driven to the home of the bride on Washburn street, where a wedding breakfast was served, after which Mr. and Mrs. McCarthy was driven to the Central Railroad of New Jersey depot; they took the 8:10 train to spend their honeymoon at various places. On their return they will go housekeeping.

A Drunken Brawl. A disgraceful scene was enacted on Washburn street, at the corner of Garfield avenue, at a late hour on Monday night, the participants of which were about fifteen men who had been imbibing rather freely at the opening of a hotel. The hotel was filled with men and a discussion took place, which, aided by the drink, resulted in blows. Others pitched in and they adjourned to the road, where a free fight took place. Many are now nursing bruised heads, black eyes and other indications of the brawl.

PLAISANCE DANCERS OUT OF SIGHT They Did Their Act in the Wings to the Disappointment of Audiences. The "Night Owls Beauty Show" was seen at the Academy of Music last night by a good sized audience. The evening entertainment opened with a skit entitled, "Society Crushed," which was followed by some clever specialties. Delmore and Wilson, a good sketch team, who have been seen in this city before, amused the audience with their antics and the juggling of "The Only Sparrow," assisted by Miss Palmer, was properly awarded by enthusiastic applause. Professor Macca's canine hipodrome and boxing dogs were an amusing and interesting feature. The performance closed with a burlesque called "Liberty's Reception to Uncle Sam," in which the Plaisance dancers were supposed to appear. When the time came for the Plaisance people to dance, a tall, shapely maiden, who represented one of the commissioners, and the audience with the other characters of the burlesque. "I have brought the famous Plaisance Dancers with me. Come, we will see them," and the entire company disappeared in the wings. For ten minutes the audience watched the antics of a man who was caricaturing a honoree with an ax and then the company reappeared expressing much satisfaction at the performance of the "Plaisance Dancers." This evening the "Night Owls" will be seen again at the Academy.

BIG BILL PAID BY COUNTY.

Long Standing Claim with the State is Settled. County Treasurer Powell yesterday transmitted to Attorney General Hensler checks to the amount of $14,509.39 in settlement of a judgment obtained by the state some time ago in a suit against this county. The suit was the result of a distribution of state taxes illegally collected prior to the division of the county. The money had to be refunded after the division of the county, and in the refunding Lackawanna was given its proportionate share of the taxes collected when the whole territory was Luzerne. The supreme court decided that the entire amount should have been paid to Luzerne, and Lackawanna is now refunding the amount received.

COUNCILS ACTION SUSTAINED.

Court Quashes the Appeal of H. S. Frank of Carbondale. Judge Archbald in an opinion handed down yesterday quashed the appeal of H. S. SCHOOLS AND SCHOOL TEACHERS.

Miss Alice Evans, of School No. 14, is on the sick list and unable to teach. She is being substituted for by Miss Margaret Jamison. The regular monthly meeting of school principals was held in the board of control rooms Monday afternoon. After day and other educational topics were discussed. Rumor has it that one of the most popular of the lady teachers is about to abandon the profession for the pleasure of presiding over a household of her own. The wedding is down to the list of the most popular of the lady teachers who have never attended school and whose parents wish them to enter the primary department before the close of the present term, most do so this week, otherwise it will be too late. According to returns made to the board of health there are in all our schools 3,106 pupils who were vaccinated prior to 1893; 104 were vaccinated during the past year; 7,088 were never vaccinated. This gives a total enrollment of 10,294. The annexation of Bellevue will necessitate the erection by the board of control of another school building to take the place of the one burned last month ago. The new structure may not be erected on the old site, as the best possible location for the children in that section will be selected.

He is a good lawyer and an excellent judge and has favorably impressed the lawyers of the Lackawanna bar by his manner of trying cases. New Bicycles. A new bicycle worth $75 will be sold for $25. The machine is guaranteed and is a rare bargain. Machine may be seen at the Tribune office.

IT IS WANTED ON THIS SIDE

The Officers Elected—Committee Appointed to Have the Iron Works Brought to This City—Personal Mention—Park Commissioners Prepared to Give Employment to Idle Men—Other Items of News.

The board of trade held its regular meeting last night, and it was decided that the Honesdale Iron works would come to this side. Mr. Moore reported that the committee visited the plant of the Honesdale Iron works and found the works earning money. The recommendation of the committee was that the board of trade appoint a committee of its members to bring the industry to Scranton, with the expressed understanding that the location be on the South Side. Under no circumstances would any co-operation be given, unless the site would be on the South Side. Some were in favor of bringing the plant to Scranton, whether or not it would come to the South Side, but the sense of the members was that unless it would come here no help would be accorded to it. A committee to forward the object of the meeting consisting of Stephen S. Sprink, Michael Miller and Michael P. Judge was appointed by the chair, John T. Brown was proposed for membership. A ballot was taken on the officers resulting in the election of John Scheuer, jr., president; Christian Storr, vice-president; Michael Miller, treasurer, and M. J. O'Toole, secretary.

A VERY BRILLIANT CONCERT.

Given at the Y. M. C. A. Hall by Victor Herbert Last Night. The Victor Herbert concert at the Young Men's Christian association hall last evening deserved a much larger audience, but those that were present represented the musical culture of the city. The first number on the programme was a concerto by Gottschman, but very few bars had been played when all knew that Mr. Herbert was a master hand on the cello. He was enthusiastically applauded, but did not respond to the demand for an encore. His own composition, "Boroneo," was a most beautiful number and warmly received. In response to the applause after this number, Mr. Herbert played the concert with "Tramperer" by Schumann, and "Tarantella" by Cosman, and those who missed this opportunity of hearing him, lost a rare treat. The singing of Miss Jean Slee was highly enjoyed. She possesses a voice of great power and sings with good effect. Her first solo was "The King of Thule," and in response to an encore sang the familiar, but ever popular song, "Daddy." In her rendition of "Beauty's Eyes" she was accompanied at the cello by Mr. Herbert. Miss Elsie Winton displayed decided ability with the violin, and made a most charming appearance on the platform. Under her delicate touch the strings responded to the strokes of the bow in beautiful melodies and bewitching variations. Mrs. B. T. Jayne sang "The Tempest" by Dudley Buck, and the "Maiden Song" by Vogtke. On the latter she was most delightfully accompanied on the violin by Miss Winton. Miss Slee and Miss Winton were presented during the evening with bouquets of flowers. Professor Kuff and Miss Clara Reynolds were the accompanists and did excellent work. The concert was given under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid society of the Asbury Methodist Episcopal church of Green Ridge.

He takes a ten-mile run every morning at 4 o'clock, skips the rope 1,000 without stopping, and puts himself through other necessary exercises. He is in fine condition, having reduced his weight to 190 pounds. His opponent, the unknown, has arrived in this city from Buffalo, where he also trained hard. The unknown will enter the ring at 1:35 pounds and is said to be a very clever man and the bout between the two will doubtless be a lively one.
