WILKES-BARRE IN THE DISTANCE

The Report of Inspector General McKibbin Shows That Many Companies All Below the Standard—A Fine Showing Made by A and D—The Scranton Regiment Excelled Only by the Eighth—Ninth Regiment Out of Sight; in Other Words Not In It.

HARRISBURG, Pa., April 8.

THE report of Inspector General McKibbin will be embraced in the forthcoming report of the National Guard for 1893. He says, among other things, that at the spring inspections several companies were found below the standard and recommended for reorganization. He adds that no recommendations of this sort will be made hereafter and that such companies will be recommended for disbandment. During the inspection at the regimental encampment he says, arms and equipments gave evidence of unusually careful attention, the men were neat and clean and a marked improvement in discipline was manifest. He refers to the inefficiency of battalion commanders in a number of cases and says that owing to this inefficiency some regiments are not marked as high in battalion drill as the knowledge of their officers and men would warrant. He adds: "It is to be hoped that in the future company officers will refuse to elect field officers whose incompetency brings low ratings to good companies. Regimental commanders should require their battalion commanders to conduct schools for officers, the attendance at which should be obligatory, and their captains to conduct schools for non-commissioned officers."

SECOND BRIGADE IS SLACK

The report states that sentinel duty is not receiving the attention which importance warrants in some organizations, especially in the Second brigade. He recommends that the books and papers used in guard duty in the United States army be prepared and used. He also recommends that a board of officers be convened to consider the subject of new knapsack. He is further of the opinion that there should be a more uniform system of bookkeeping, especially in financial accounts, and that an auditor ought to be employed. General McKibbin thinks the duties and powers of officers commanding battalions should be settled in orders. It is recommended that there be an inspection of the naval battalion on shore as well as on board ship.

THIRD BRIGADE LEADS

The inspector general indicates that the figure of efficiency of the entire division is 81.01. The Third brigade leads with 85.70; First brigade, 79.97, and Second brigade, 77.79. In the cavalry branch the government troops stand at the head with 89.20; Sherman troop, 80.05 and First troop, 81.01. In the artillery battery A has 89.80, Battery B, 78.04, and Battery C, 77.31. The regiments in their order stand as follows:

Eleventh regiment, 92.80; Thirteenth, 86.41; First, 85.70; Second, 85.14; Fourth, 82.90; Seventh, 81.00; Fifteenth, 79.58; Tenth, 78.90; State Fencibles, 78.53; Eighteenth regiment, 75.25; Sixteenth, 75.08; Fifth, 74.89; Sixth, 74.57; Ninth, 74.04; Fourteenth, 69.54; and Third, 68.49.

The leading company is Company D, Eighth regiment (City Grays, at Harrisburg) with 93.5. The second is Company A, Thirteenth regiment, whose rating is 96.8; third, Company D, Thirteenth regiment, 95.8.

PREPARING A RECEPTION.

Washington Authorities Have No Doubt as to Coxey's Followers.

WASHINGTON, April 8.—The burlesque features of the Coxey tramp march on Washington appear, as more or less trustworthy accounts reach the capital that bodies of men called into existence by the Coxey manifesto and the publicity given it, are actually likely to arrive here within the next few days.

Some fifteen years ago a demonstration of a similar kind was attempted by an Illinois labor agitator or "walking delegate," General John A. Logan suggested, and General Rumbaugh, then commissioner of internal revenue, carried out a plan which at that time relieved anxiety as to what was credibly reported to be a plan in contemplation of making a sudden descent upon the open vaults of the treasury during business hours, overawing the guard, and "looting" the contents. All the numerous old army men in the various departments were formed into companies with designated pieces of assembly. Army revolvers were served to them, and a number of Winchester rifles were kept in readiness for use in emergency. By one or two trial alarms it was demonstrated that 300 veterans fully armed could be concentrated at any given point in the treasury building at a few minutes' notice. A revival of this plan may be suggested if the prospect of disturbance becomes greater than now seems apparent.

LITERALLY ROASTED HIM.

Inhuman Outrage, Perpetrated Upon Henry Winnell, of Sharon.

SHARON, Pa., April 8.—At 1 o'clock yesterday morning masked burglars forced an entrance to the home of Henry Winnell, who resides alone one mile south of this city. After knocking Winnell senseless, the robbers ransacked the house. They then entered his room and clothing with oil and set fire to it.

The victims legs and body were literally roasted. He is in an extremely precarious condition. The outrage was not discovered until 10 o'clock yesterday morning. Nellie Morris, his American Consul at Bradford, England, Reports That There is a Demand for United States Wool.

WASHINGTON, April 8.—

The American consul at Bradford, England, reports to the department of state that an endless amount of gossip has been caused there during the last six weeks by the offering for sale of large quantities of American wool. Several lots of Ohio wool, aggregating 59,000 pounds, were reported among the purchases. One Bradford firm which bought 5,000 pounds of the various grades from 23 to 25 cents per pound, said the wool gave perfect satisfaction, so much so, in fact, that they were holding it for higher prices.

WASHINGTON, April 8.—

The American consul at Bradford, England, reports that there is a demand for United States wool. He says that the American skin wools were especially adapted for hosiery yarns and equal to the finest English crossbreds, the only thing that has kept their price down being in his opinion the fact that American manufacturers have not as fully mastered the manipulation of the skin or pulled wools which are taken from the sheep after death. As a general thing the price of American wools of all grades are not practically the same as of the similar English grades.

WASHINGTON, April 8.—

There are other important matters pending in the senate. Among these is the Chinese treaty which Mr. Morgan is anxious to get out of the way. But little headway was made Saturday, the discussion being largely upon the question how the treaty should be considered. This contest will probably be renewed tomorrow as soon as Mr. Hill finishes his speech, and whether the senate decides to discuss the treaty in open session or in accordance with the established precedents, there is every indication of a debate ranging over three or four days at least.

There are millions in it. The greatest gold strike of the age in Colorado. Colorado Springs, Col., April 8.—The greatest gold strike of the year at Cripple Creek is reported in the Coloradoan. The vein is eight feet wide. The lowest assay shows 47 to the ton. A half ton assayed at $119 to the ton. Several feet will run half that amount. Quartz streaks three to four inches wide give as high as $1,000 to $1,500. The mine has been opened for two years, but attention was called away from it, and its richness was not dreamed of.

Bernard J. Knoblauch, a prominent clothier of Ashland, has disappeared, and his friends have been unable to find any trace of him.

William V. Sroyer, tax collector, of Richmond township, Berks county, has disappeared, and it is said is short several hundred dollars in his accounts.

Charles A. Smith, the young enlisted soldier who was brought from the United States recruiting office in Philadelphia on Wednesday to Pottstown to answer a charge of breach of promise preferred by Miss Laura A. Edell, has settled the affair by marrying the prosecutrix.

The low prices to which eggs have dropped remind farmers in the Schuylkill valley of the times before the war. In some sections of Berks county ducksters are offering eggs at eight cents a dozen. This, it is believed, is the lowest price they have attained for nearly thirty-five years.

John Walker observed his 95th birthday anniversary Friday, and is the oldest citizen of Berks county going there before it became the county seat in 1812. He was the inventor of the process of burning lime with coal, but never took out letters, was born in Sibley township April 9, 1799.

John M. Graham, of Allegheny, whose mind has been unbalanced since the death of a favorite daughter a year ago, wandered from his home yesterday. He was found by his sons at the "Unfading Cemetery," where he was digging at his daughter's grave. Graham was taken home, where physicians pronounced him insane.
