An alarm of fire which sounded from box 39 at the corner of Washburn street and Summer avenue at 9.15 clock yesterday morning was caused by a slight blaze in St. Mark's Lutheran church on Fourteenth street. A resident passing in that vicinity noticed smoke issning from one of the windows and promptly sent in an alarm. The Franklin and Columbia engine companies responded quickly and the fire was extinguished in a short time. The fire originated in the flue which carries the heat from the furnace in the cellar to the room above. It is thought that the stove became overheated, causing the flue to become too hot. Chief Ferber, in consultation with a TRIBUNE reporter, stated that the arrangement of these pipes was bad, there being nothing to prevent its taking fire, as the tin work was placed against the joist under the flooring. A part of the flooring near where the fire occurred is badly burned, and the car-pet is damaged by water. No services were held in the church yesterday.

Rev Mr. Blair's Sermon.

A large audience was present at the Washburn Street Presbyterian church at 10.30 o'clock vesterday morning, when an interesting discourse was de-livered by Rev. W. T. Blair, a former resident of this valley, but now paster of a church in Cooperstown, N. Y. Mr. Blair took as his text, Isaiah, xi, S. saying. 'The grass withereth, the flower fadeth: but the word of our God shall stand forever." He said: "There is great power in preaching by placing one truth in contrast with another. This peculiarity is not only found among the writers of the Old but of the New Testament, Our Lord and Saviour was very much given to placing his remarks in that way, "Heaven and earth shall piss away, but my word shall not." We need no more to illustrate this fact. Truth is eternal and lives forever and ever. Pontius Pilate asked Jesus what truth was. Printe has not sunk into oblivion, but is degraded in the eyes of man Jesus Carist is the personification of goodness and life. The Greek raligion occupied the whole life of man as a study. They had to go to the boly strine of the great Prophet; but here there are hundreds of men and women, who cannot read and write, but in whose hearts the word of God awakens the same love, the same raptures, and the same joy, the same ambition to do the higner and nobler works of Gol.

The disappearance of Martin Early, proprietor of the Scales hotel, under mysterious circumstances gives rise to many apprehensions among his many friends. Foul play is suspected, as Mr. Early was in the habit of earrying large sums of money on his person. The suspense and anxiety of his friends to learn anything definite of his whereabouts is great. The general theory that he was foully dealt with is discounted by the fact that he was seen to board a Jersey Central train bound

The improved bicycle power pedal recently patented by W. J. Devers, of West Market street, is an ingenious piece of mechanism. The peculiarity and advantage of this patent is such that it increases the motive power than the process of the patent is such that it increases the motive power than the process of the process where the power can be most advantageously applied, by extending the stroke and length of the pedal, and decreasing the length of the pedal and stroke on the back-ward and upward motion. Consequently there is a gain of power and speed. In making the uniform adjustment of the length of the stroke, a very ingenious combination of the eccentric circle and sliding block is used. Expert bicyclists who have seen it are unanimous in pronouncing it one of the most useful things of the age. Mr. Devers is a veteran patentes, having obtained already four different patents. His greatest inventions have been a weather strip, a railroad safety

German Catholics Hold a Meeting in SL Mary's Hall on River Street.

REV. P. C. CHRIST'S ADDRESS

He Comments on the Editorial in Last Monday's Tribune with Regard to the Deckilnick License-Refers to It as an Ingenious Effort. Resolutions Passed-Other News of the Day Briefly Told.

A second meeting to voice the indignation that the German Catholics of Scranton feel against the granting of a hotel license to William Deckilnisk, at the corner of South Main avenue and Luzerne street, scross the street from St. John's German Catholic church, was held last night in St. Mary's Hall, on River street. The hall was crowded. The meeting was called to order by the chairman, Andrew Kloss, who spoke in German. He told of what his people did for the civil and religious advancement of Seranton, particularly on the West Side, where a handful of them located ten years ago and in that short period built up a respectable community and erected a splendid church and a convent and school for the religious and secular training of the youth, to make them useful American citizens. The second speaker, Michael Kramer, spoke also in the German tongue and followed in the same vein as the chair-

Father Stopper read a set of resolutions which were unanimously approved by the audience. They are substantially the same resolutions that were adopted at the meeting a week last night in St. John's church, which were published the following morning IN THE TRIBUNE.

The speaker of the evening was Rev. C. Christ, pastor of St. Mary's German Catholic church on River street. He took for his theme an editorial in last Monday's TRIBUNE relative to the Deckilnick lieense. After reading the entire editorial utterances, he complimented what he called its ingenuity, but declared in substance that the fight against that license would be prosecuted as a warning for the future. Father Christ indulged in a playful dissection of THE TRIBUNE'S editorial and added that these fragments would constitute the subject of his evening discourse. Any action on the part of the Germans in watching for an opportunity to re-port a violation of the law by Deckilnick would be looked upon as spite action and for that reason would lose its Slight Blaze on Prospect Avenue. An alarm was sounded from box 57 Saturday about 9 o'clock. Whenever a fire breaks out in that vicinity very great uneasiness is felt, as the neigh-borhood is thickly populated and the houses are built close together. The William Connell Hose company responded and the fire was located in an onthouse in the rear of the property of Michael Langan on Prospect avenue The fire was not out in a few minutes after the arrival of the fire company.

arrangements are not completed; but the foneral, it is believed, will occur Wednesday morning. Harry Hank, the well known and widely respected business manager of L D. Power's drng store, is suffering from a large gash on his left hand caused by the bursting of a bottl-which he held in his hand. He had filled the bottle with medicine and was in the act of putting a cork in it. The splintered glass inflicted a deep cut that required a few stitches to sew up. Peter Keib died at his home 722 Pittston avenue, Saturday afternoon, after a lingering illness of consump tion. He was much respected in the community and .leaves a large circle of mourning friends.
