

SCRANTON TRIBUNE F. E. WOOD, General Manager. PUBLISHED DAILY AND WEEKLY IN SCRANTON, PA., BY THE TRIBUNE PUBLISHING COMPANY.

THE SCRANTON TRIBUNE. SCRANTON, APRIL 24, 1894.

THE RECIPROCAL social pilgrimage which Scranton Elks will make tonight to the rendezvous of their Luzerne brethren will afford the latter an excellent chance to get even for past courtesies experienced while in Scranton; and they are just the persons to seize the opportunity and make the most of it.

The Ten Foot Privilege. The sum and substance of Judge Edwards' ruling in the mandamus case of John Jermyn against the city of Scranton is embodied in the sentence which says that the relator's proposed new hotel, with its two triple bay windows extending from the ground through at least five stories of the building, does not, in the court's judgment, "violate the instructions contained in his deed nor does it offend against the ordinance of the city of Scranton regulating the construction of buildings."

A Theatrical Test. Of permanent American theatrical organizations conducted on the principles of the well-trained stock company that known as the A. M. Palmer Home company, which will appear in this city Friday and Saturday, is perhaps the strongest and most carefully selected in existence today. Each member of its large cast has attained wide-spread renown as an artist of uncommon experience, aptitude and dramatic capability. In the case, for example, of Wilton Lackaye it can boast the services of an actor who, for his years, has probably created more memorable and diverse historic "parts" than any other Thespian on the stage; and each part has just escaped extraordinary greatness merely because of the actor's restless disposition which has ever denied him the twin essentials of steadiness and repose.

Another member of the Palmer company, E. M. Holland, is associated with many of the finest artistic triumphs that the metropolis has witnessed during this eventful generation. Those who have witnessed his masterly acting in an intense play like "Jim the Peasant," have received a mental impression which time does not efface. The productions conducted by this organization, for scrupulous fidelity to the best teachings of dramatic art and for that indefinable essence which we roughly designate as "quality," are masterpieces of stage craft, exhibiting in its highest possibilities a profession which is rarely nowadays seen at its best. Substantially from our stage the influence and the creations of the three organizations of which Mr. Palmer's is perhaps first—the other two being Augustin Daly's and Daniel Frohman's Lyceum company—and there would be little left upon which to build rosy hopes as to the future of the modern drama.

It has been said upon many occasions, sometimes jocosely but more often in real earnest, that Scrantonians are unable to appreciate a truly meritorious play produced by players who are masters of their art. The local appearance of the Palmer company will afford a fair and reasonable test of this uncomplimentary remark. No better or more uniformly excellent company will ever appear before a local audience than this; few plays will, considered as literature, be better deserving of a rendition than are the plays that these actors will present; and the surroundings of these performances will be in all respects appropriate and in strict keeping with the other details of excellence. Do we, then, need test the test?

From a perusal of the full text of the South Carolina supreme court's decision adverse to the dispensary law it is inferred that that statute, in addition to being illegal in all its details, was also unconstitutional on general principles. Populism and constitutions never did agree.

Judge Gordon of Philadelphia was none too severe when he recently expressed regret that he could not reach over into Jersey and punish an avacious Camden doctor of divinity who makes a business of marrying runaway minors. It is the misfortune of the ministry, as of the profession of medicine, that it sometimes is used as a cloak to screen most vicious and depraved purposes. In any other state than New Jersey, an evil like that under present consideration would receive short shrift; and even New Jersey, in justice to it said, has lately shown signs of a moral fermentation.

An Inane Fiction. It is of course only an April joke that Mr. Magee, of Allegheny, albeit a gentleman of ingenious political ideas, should entertain the serious design of inducing Galusha A. Grow to retire from congress at the expiration of his present term, in order that the two ensuing nominations for congress—at-large may go to Major McDowell, of Sharon, and ex-representative Huff, of Greensburg. The story bristles with bold and glaring improbabilities, as could be pointed out in detail, if it were worth the effort. Seriously, however, it is not Mr. Grow who is not elected by the biggest majority ever given to a Republican candidate in this commonwealth merely for the purpose of accommodating a few local leaders in a small northwestern section of Pennsylvania.

He was elected in this unprecedented manner because the people wanted him to represent them; because they desired his historic ability and ripe experience to be on their side in the great battle against free trade and hard times then waging in the house. So far as he has had opportunity to serve them he has served them well. Compared with the gentleman in whose behalf it is humorously proposed to retire Mr. Grow, the latter is as an eagle beside a magpie. It would be the most ridiculous of changes to ask Mr. Grow to remain at home in order that his colleague from Sharon might be spared the necessity of a frank fight in connection. This particular campaign fiction is the weakest lie yet sprung. EPHRAIM RIGGS is a name that smacks off barnyard melo-drama, but there was nothing rural in the polished manner in which a Germantown artisan bearing this cognomen the other day, before a large audience in Washington, exposed the moral cowardice of representatives like Bourke Cockran, Delzhoover and Billy Hines, who, after they had publicly denounced the Wilson bill, backed down and voted for it. That was a trick which will yet return to plague its sly and evasive authors.

The Injustice of Woman. In a letter to the New York Commercial-Advertiser, Louise Gardner, of Hempstead, L. I., throws a loaded bomb into the camp of those inconsistent advocates of what, in general, is called woman's progress who are, in individual cases, the last to give woman a chance. She says: "It is apparent to me that the women of the country are pretty nearly unanimous in their condemnation of Miss Pollard. I am ashamed of my sex when I think of this, for believe that it is the duty of the world to extend friendly aid to such unfortunate as Miss Pollard. Suppose her nature has been perverted, is she not entitled to a chance to reform? For ages the world has condemned the woman who sinned and has lifted up her male partner in sin. Let sinners be treated alike, regardless of sex. If this is not done then let woman be relegated to the position which she occupies in Turkey, India and China. Stop educating and ennobling her. It is not necessary to indorse misconduct like that of which Miss Pollard was guilty, in order to appreciate the force of the foregoing. If woman is to advance who ought to be the first to give her the opportunity? Her own sex, to be sure. Yet, what, throughout all the ages, has been so illogical, inflexible, even, as the injustice of woman to woman? Are those who plead for strict equality between the sexes ready to give up this long-cherished inequality? Or is their talk in many respects a profession which they do not propose to see materialize in practice?"

These questions are candidly asked in an honest thirst for light. CHRISTOPHER L. MAGEE, pleading editorially to save Don Cameron's scalp, inserts this delicate bit of humor into the discussion. In journalism and in politics, as in business, there is the class atmosphere, whose members are fertilized by the passing wind and burst in their season into blooming exhibitions, such as this subjective assault on Cameron, and nature must take its amazing course. It is generous in Mr. Magee to give nature this privilege. The returns from Lancaster demonstrate nature's gratitude.

AT THE Pie Counter. Also! feeding fame, that vanishes fast, Like blossoms exposed to a windy blast; The names of the "Colonel" and "Madeline," bright, To a certain extent are fading from sight; For now when they're paired 'tis in type that's smailized, And big, bold-face headlines are not utilized. Now doth the busy base bad crank Improve each shining day, With talk of "hits" and "errors" rank, That characterize the "play."

Does your wife practice economy? "Yes, indeed. She spends all I can make at bargain sales."—Philadelphia Record. Brown deals exclusively in the mysterious at present. Indeed: A prestigitator, I suppose. Not exactly. He sells sausages. Attorney—Have you formed an opinion as to the guilt or innocence of the prisoner? Jurymen—I am a railroad ticket agent, sir; and decline to answer questions. Frye—There goes a man who knows not fear. High—A base ball umpire, of course. Frye—No. He's member of a church music committee. Jack—I'm going into the perfumery business. Tom—Why in that? You don't know anything about it, do you? Jack—No; but if I fail, I'll be sure to come out a few cents ahead.—Detroit Free Press.

practiced. If the newspaper press should print the list of absentees on every important vote the difficulty of obtaining a quorum would be greatly diminished. Far Is Good Enough. Two Times. In Massachusetts distribution of new stock even at par is prevented by a law compelling the sale of such stock at auction. The shareholders of "the D. & H." will be sufficiently favored in obtaining this valuable stock at par, and the managers are right in insisting that the company's treasury shall not be drained to give them a still larger bonus.

The Wherefore of the Whereas. Pittsburg Commercial Gazette. There would be no disposition to make Don Cameron an issue if Don Cameron didn't show a disposition to make himself an issue. He is making strong statements concerning money matters and the state convention will be asked to indorse them.

It Points the Way. Troy Times. What has been done in Brooklyn, in Buffalo, in Lanesburg and in Albany, has been well done. It points the way to what can be and will be done in Troy. Nothing is more certain than the ultimate overthrow of bossism and Murphy "machines" rule here.

One Entry Condi tarily Predicted. New York Press. History will record it as an interesting circumstance that the period in American politics during which fitness for statecraft was measured by astrophysics and obstinacy ended on March 3, 1894.

We are Headquarters for Everything in Our Line. REFRIGERATORS WATER COOLERS ICE CREAM FREEZERS HAMMOCKS and BABY CARRIAGES A large line of New and Beautiful Goods, all suitable for gifts.

Coursen, Clemons & Co. 422 LACKA AVE. AYLESWORTH'S Meat Market The Finest in the City. The latest improved furnishing and apparatus for keeping meat, butter and eggs. 233 Wroning Ave.

FIRST MORTGAGE 6% BONDS OF THE FORTY FORT COAL COMPANY. A limited number of the above bonds are for sale at par and accrued interest by the following parties, from whom copies of the mortgage and full information can be obtained: E. W. Malligan, Cashier Second National Bank, Wilkes-Barre, Pa. W. L. Watson, Cashier First National Bank, Pittston, Pa. J. L. Polen, Cashier People's Savings Bank, Pittston, Pa. A. A. Bryden, President Miners' Savings Bank, Pittston, Pa. And by the Scranton Savings Bank and Trust Company, Trustee under the Mortgage.

T. H. Atherton, Counsel, WILKES-BARRE, PA.

WANT A Piano or Organ Cheap? LOOK AT THE LIST: An extra fine Henry P. Miller Square Piano... $175 A good Haines Brothers Square Piano... 150 A good Meyer Brothers square Piano... 99 A good Fifth & Bond Square Piano... 75 A good Parkersburg Square Piano... 59 A very good Boston Piano Co Walnut Upright... 100 A very good Wheelock Upright Piano... 125 A very good Eschinger Upright Piano... 150 A Mason & Hamlin, nearly new, high top, double reed... 200 An A. F. Chas. nearly new, high top, double reed... 200 A Chicago Cottage, nearly new, high top, double reed... 200 A Worcester, nearly new, high top, double reed... 200 A Standard, nearly new, high top, double reed... 200 A 2 number, nearly new, high top, double reed... 35 And about 20 other good second hand organs, $25 to $50. The above collection of Second-hand instruments are all in good order, fully guaranteed, the greatest bargain ever offered in the city. Call and see them. Installments or discount for cash.

GUERNSEY BROTHERS' NEW STORE, 224 WYOMING AVENUE, SCRANTON. Places and Organs at Wholesale and Retail, on Installments.

ASK YOUR GROCER AND INSIST UPON HIS FURNISHING YOU WITH DELICIOUS, MILD SUGAR CURED ABSOLUTELY PURE HAMS. EVERY HAM AND PAIL OF LARD BRANDED. THE TRADE SUPPLIED BY THE STOWERS PACKING CO., SCRANTON, PA.

SEED POTATOES ALL BEST VARIETIES. ONION SETS And all kinds GARDEN SEEDS in bulk and in packages. Pierce's Market FENN AVE.

present unforeseen. It is a cardinal truth in the business world, as in physics, that a disturbance in one place radiates to places far distant. It is fully as logical to expect the bituminous strike to hurt us as to help us. The country is in no situation to have its industrial conditions made worse. A strike at this time is an extra load on the staggering public; an additional difficulty in the general pathway to renewed prosperity.

SENATOR QUAY says he "does not anticipate any opposition to Mr. Grow's renomination." This is fortunate for the opposition. WRITING to Channey F. Black, President Cleveland almost plaintively proffers this admonition to David Bennett Hill: "Fidelity to party organization demands the subordination of individual advantages and wishes, and the putting aside of petty and ignoble jealousies and bickerings, when party principles and party integrity and party existence are at stake." This is the first public intimation Mr. Cleveland has made that he is getting frightened. But the information embodied therein the foregoing lines is enough to make up for all past taciturnity.

THE AMERICAN heart is no doubt entitled to beat several times faster each moment now that the English nobility has accorded conspicuous tokens of its inestimable favor to Champion James J. Corbett.

Of permanent American theatrical organizations conducted on the principles of the well-trained stock company that known as the A. M. Palmer Home company, which will appear in this city Friday and Saturday, is perhaps the strongest and most carefully selected in existence today. Each member of its large cast has attained wide-spread renown as an artist of uncommon experience, aptitude and dramatic capability. In the case, for example, of Wilton Lackaye it can boast the services of an actor who, for his years, has probably created more memorable and diverse historic "parts" than any other Thespian on the stage; and each part has just escaped extraordinary greatness merely because of the actor's restless disposition which has ever denied him the twin essentials of steadiness and repose.

Another member of the Palmer company, E. M. Holland, is associated with many of the finest artistic triumphs that the metropolis has witnessed during this eventful generation. Those who have witnessed his masterly acting in an intense play like "Jim the Peasant," have received a mental impression which time does not efface. The productions conducted by this organization, for scrupulous fidelity to the best teachings of dramatic art and for that indefinable essence which we roughly designate as "quality," are masterpieces of stage craft, exhibiting in its highest possibilities a profession which is rarely nowadays seen at its best. Substantially from our stage the influence and the creations of the three organizations of which Mr. Palmer's is perhaps first—the other two being Augustin Daly's and Daniel Frohman's Lyceum company—and there would be little left upon which to build rosy hopes as to the future of the modern drama.

It has been said upon many occasions, sometimes jocosely but more often in real earnest, that Scrantonians are unable to appreciate a truly meritorious play produced by players who are masters of their art. The local appearance of the Palmer company will afford a fair and reasonable test of this uncomplimentary remark. No better or more uniformly excellent company will ever appear before a local audience than this; few plays will, considered as literature, be better deserving of a rendition than are the plays that these actors will present; and the surroundings of these performances will be in all respects appropriate and in strict keeping with the other details of excellence. Do we, then, need test the test?

From a perusal of the full text of the South Carolina supreme court's decision adverse to the dispensary law it is inferred that that statute, in addition to being illegal in all its details, was also unconstitutional on general principles. Populism and constitutions never did agree.

Judge Gordon of Philadelphia was none too severe when he recently expressed regret that he could not reach over into Jersey and punish an avacious Camden doctor of divinity who makes a business of marrying runaway minors. It is the misfortune of the ministry, as of the profession of medicine, that it sometimes is used as a cloak to screen most vicious and depraved purposes. In any other state than New Jersey, an evil like that under present consideration would receive short shrift; and even New Jersey, in justice to it said, has lately shown signs of a moral fermentation.

An Inane Fiction. It is of course only an April joke that Mr. Magee, of Allegheny, albeit a gentleman of ingenious political ideas, should entertain the serious design of inducing Galusha A. Grow to retire from congress at the expiration of his present term, in order that the two ensuing nominations for congress—at-large may go to Major McDowell, of Sharon, and ex-representative Huff, of Greensburg. The story bristles with bold and glaring improbabilities, as could be pointed out in detail, if it were worth the effort. Seriously, however, it is not Mr. Grow who is not elected by the biggest majority ever given to a Republican candidate in this commonwealth merely for the purpose of accommodating a few local leaders in a small northwestern section of Pennsylvania.

He was elected in this unprecedented manner because the people wanted him to represent them; because they desired his historic ability and ripe experience to be on their side in the great battle against free trade and hard times then waging in the house. So far as he has had opportunity to serve them he has served them well. Compared with the gentleman in whose behalf it is humorously proposed to retire Mr. Grow, the latter is as an eagle beside a magpie. It would be the most ridiculous of changes to ask Mr. Grow to remain at home in order that his colleague from Sharon might be spared the necessity of a frank fight in connection. This particular campaign fiction is the weakest lie yet sprung. EPHRAIM RIGGS is a name that smacks off barnyard melo-drama, but there was nothing rural in the polished manner in which a Germantown artisan bearing this cognomen the other day, before a large audience in Washington, exposed the moral cowardice of representatives like Bourke Cockran, Delzhoover and Billy Hines, who, after they had publicly denounced the Wilson bill, backed down and voted for it. That was a trick which will yet return to plague its sly and evasive authors.

The Injustice of Woman. In a letter to the New York Commercial-Advertiser, Louise Gardner, of Hempstead, L. I., throws a loaded bomb into the camp of those inconsistent advocates of what, in general, is called woman's progress who are, in individual cases, the last to give woman a chance. She says: "It is apparent to me that the women of the country are pretty nearly unanimous in their condemnation of Miss Pollard. I am ashamed of my sex when I think of this, for believe that it is the duty of the world to extend friendly aid to such unfortunate as Miss Pollard. Suppose her nature has been perverted, is she not entitled to a chance to reform? For ages the world has condemned the woman who sinned and has lifted up her male partner in sin. Let sinners be treated alike, regardless of sex. If this is not done then let woman be relegated to the position which she occupies in Turkey, India and China. Stop educating and ennobling her. It is not necessary to indorse misconduct like that of which Miss Pollard was guilty, in order to appreciate the force of the foregoing. If woman is to advance who ought to be the first to give her the opportunity? Her own sex, to be sure. Yet, what, throughout all the ages, has been so illogical, inflexible, even, as the injustice of woman to woman? Are those who plead for strict equality between the sexes ready to give up this long-cherished inequality? Or is their talk in many respects a profession which they do not propose to see materialize in practice?"

These questions are candidly asked in an honest thirst for light. CHRISTOPHER L. MAGEE, pleading editorially to save Don Cameron's scalp, inserts this delicate bit of humor into the discussion. In journalism and in politics, as in business, there is the class atmosphere, whose members are fertilized by the passing wind and burst in their season into blooming exhibitions, such as this subjective assault on Cameron, and nature must take its amazing course. It is generous in Mr. Magee to give nature this privilege. The returns from Lancaster demonstrate nature's gratitude.

AT THE Pie Counter. Also! feeding fame, that vanishes fast, Like blossoms exposed to a windy blast; The names of the "Colonel" and "Madeline," bright, To a certain extent are fading from sight; For now when they're paired 'tis in type that's smailized, And big, bold-face headlines are not utilized. Now doth the busy base bad crank Improve each shining day, With talk of "hits" and "errors" rank, That characterize the "play."

Does your wife practice economy? "Yes, indeed. She spends all I can make at bargain sales."—Philadelphia Record. Brown deals exclusively in the mysterious at present. Indeed: A prestigitator, I suppose. Not exactly. He sells sausages. Attorney—Have you formed an opinion as to the guilt or innocence of the prisoner? Jurymen—I am a railroad ticket agent, sir; and decline to answer questions. Frye—There goes a man who knows not fear. High—A base ball umpire, of course. Frye—No. He's member of a church music committee. Jack—I'm going into the perfumery business. Tom—Why in that? You don't know anything about it, do you? Jack—No; but if I fail, I'll be sure to come out a few cents ahead.—Detroit Free Press.

practiced. If the newspaper press should print the list of absentees on every important vote the difficulty of obtaining a quorum would be greatly diminished. Far Is Good Enough. Two Times. In Massachusetts distribution of new stock even at par is prevented by a law compelling the sale of such stock at auction. The shareholders of "the D. & H." will be sufficiently favored in obtaining this valuable stock at par, and the managers are right in insisting that the company's treasury shall not be drained to give them a still larger bonus.

The Wherefore of the Whereas. Pittsburg Commercial Gazette. There would be no disposition to make Don Cameron an issue if Don Cameron didn't show a disposition to make himself an issue. He is making strong statements concerning money matters and the state convention will be asked to indorse them.

It Points the Way. Troy Times. What has been done in Brooklyn, in Buffalo, in Lanesburg and in Albany, has been well done. It points the way to what can be and will be done in Troy. Nothing is more certain than the ultimate overthrow of bossism and Murphy "machines" rule here.

One Entry Condi tarily Predicted. New York Press. History will record it as an interesting circumstance that the period in American politics during which fitness for statecraft was measured by astrophysics and obstinacy ended on March 3, 1894.

We are Headquarters for Everything in Our Line. REFRIGERATORS WATER COOLERS ICE CREAM FREEZERS HAMMOCKS and BABY CARRIAGES A large line of New and Beautiful Goods, all suitable for gifts.

Coursen, Clemons & Co. 422 LACKA AVE. AYLESWORTH'S Meat Market The Finest in the City. The latest improved furnishing and apparatus for keeping meat, butter and eggs. 233 Wroning Ave.

FIRST MORTGAGE 6% BONDS OF THE FORTY FORT COAL COMPANY. A limited number of the above bonds are for sale at par and accrued interest by the following parties, from whom copies of the mortgage and full information can be obtained: E. W. Malligan, Cashier Second National Bank, Wilkes-Barre, Pa. W. L. Watson, Cashier First National Bank, Pittston, Pa. J. L. Polen, Cashier People's Savings Bank, Pittston, Pa. A. A. Bryden, President Miners' Savings Bank, Pittston, Pa. And by the Scranton Savings Bank and Trust Company, Trustee under the Mortgage.

T. H. Atherton, Counsel, WILKES-BARRE, PA.

WANT A Piano or Organ Cheap? LOOK AT THE LIST: An extra fine Henry P. Miller Square Piano... $175 A good Haines Brothers Square Piano... 150 A good Meyer Brothers square Piano... 99 A good Fifth & Bond Square Piano... 75 A good Parkersburg Square Piano... 59 A very good Boston Piano Co Walnut Upright... 100 A very good Wheelock Upright Piano... 125 A very good Eschinger Upright Piano... 150 A Mason & Hamlin, nearly new, high top, double reed... 200 An A. F. Chas. nearly new, high top, double reed... 200 A Chicago Cottage, nearly new, high top, double reed... 200 A Worcester, nearly new, high top, double reed... 200 A Standard, nearly new, high top, double reed... 200 A 2 number, nearly new, high top, double reed... 35 And about 20 other good second hand organs, $25 to $50. The above collection of Second-hand instruments are all in good order, fully guaranteed, the greatest bargain ever offered in the city. Call and see them. Installments or discount for cash.

GUERNSEY BROTHERS' NEW STORE, 224 WYOMING AVENUE, SCRANTON. Places and Organs at Wholesale and Retail, on Installments.

ASK YOUR GROCER AND INSIST UPON HIS FURNISHING YOU WITH DELICIOUS, MILD SUGAR CURED ABSOLUTELY PURE HAMS. EVERY HAM AND PAIL OF LARD BRANDED. THE TRADE SUPPLIED BY THE STOWERS PACKING CO., SCRANTON, PA.

SEED POTATOES ALL BEST VARIETIES. ONION SETS And all kinds GARDEN SEEDS in bulk and in packages. Pierce's Market FENN AVE.

GOLDSMITH'S BAZAAR Wastes no Breath Upon the Desert Air IN TELLING YOU WHAT WE KNOW AND YOU KNOW ABOUT SHIRT WAISTS No article of wearing apparel for the ensuing six months will be so prevalent and universally worn. Millions have been and will be made and nearly every Dry Goods Store will keep them. But to get the proper fit, "there's the rub." We have made this branch a study, and not a single garment has been placed in stock before being thoroughly inspected as to fit and workmanship and at the same time to be supplied at prices within the reach of everybody.

SILK WAISTS SOME PLUMS IN Ladies' Capes and Jackets Having just closed out from a prominent manufacturer his entire sample line of the most Stylish Garments. You can get your pick much below the usual price. Goldsmith Brothers & Company.

Victors With the New Valves Out of Sight. . . . Our new Bicycles are now to be seen at our 314 Lackawanna avenue store.

J. D. WILLIAMS & BRO. 314 Lacka. Ave. FINE ENGRAVING Wedding Invitations, Announcements, Reception and Visiting Cards, Monograms, Menus and Dinner Cards, Reynolds Bros. Stationers and Engravers. 317 LACKAWANNA AVE. N. B. We are offering a new edition of the Book of Common Prayer, well bound in cloth. Two Copies for 25c. Single Copies, 13c.

Dr. Hill & Son Albany Dentists 107 and 104 TENN AVENUE. On the American Plan. Scranton's poorest and best equipped hotel. NOW OPEN TO THE PUBLIC. Heated by Steam, Electric Bells, Bath Tubs on each floor. Large, Well-lighted and Airy Rooms. Everything Complete. ALL THE MODERN IMPROVEMENTS. Office on second floor. Good sample room attached. P. J. CONWAY, Prop.

ENAMEL WARE For ONE WEEK we will sell Enamel Ware at the following unprecedented prices. Tea and Coffee Pots ONE-QUART, TWO-QUART, THREE-QUART, FOUR-QUART, FIVE-QUART, 40c. 47c. 55c. 60c. 70c. Also Dresden and Preserving Kettles, Sauce Pans and Pots, Wash Dishes and Tea Kettles at equally low prices.

FOOTE & SHEAR CO. Reliable Goods One Price Satisfaction Guaranteed 227 Lackawanna Avenue EVANS & POWELL, Proprietors.

CONWAY HOUSE Albany Dentists 107 and 104 TENN AVENUE. On the American Plan. Scranton's poorest and best equipped hotel. NOW OPEN TO THE PUBLIC. Heated by Steam, Electric Bells, Bath Tubs on each floor. Large, Well-lighted and Airy Rooms. Everything Complete. ALL THE MODERN IMPROVEMENTS. Office on second floor. Good sample room attached. P. J. CONWAY, Prop.

DO YOU REQUIRE ACCURATE TIME? WE HAVE IT. EDWIN G. LLOYD 428 Lack. Ave.

SEED POTATOES ALL BEST VARIETIES. ONION SETS And all kinds GARDEN SEEDS in bulk and in packages. Pierce's Market FENN AVE.