Last evening a devotional meeting was held at the Second Presbyterian church, led by Mrs. A. M. Welles, of Wilkes-Barre. Large numbers of delegates and members of the society were present, and the meeting was a social hour in the church basement in order to give delegates who otherwise would hardly meet in the daytime a chance of becoming acquainted.

BOARD OF CHARITIES MEETING.

Memberships are Being Subscribed For--Work to Be Given to Twenty-five Men.

There were present at last night's meeting of the directors of the Board of Associated Charities, Col. E. H. Rippe, T. J. Moore, Luther Keller, P. J. Hume, T. J. Kelly, Secretary and Mrs. W. B. Duggan, an encouraging feature of the session was the favorable reports given of the efforts to increase the membership of the organization. During the past week thirty-five names were added to the roll, thirty of whom were year and one life subscribers. The yearly membership fee is $1 and life membership, $50.

A communication from the Charity Musical company, which is considerably interested in the matter, was read, and the company would give an entertainment in Music hall, the proceeds to go to the fund for the relief of the poor, and the assistance of the Associated Charities in giving the proper newspaper mention was desired. News of these present news anything about the Charity Musical company, and therefore the members were urged to give the scheme their approval. Finally the matter was disposed of by Mr. Keller moving that it be referred to President Rippe and Secretary Israel, who will investigate before extending sanction to the well-meaning intention of the amateur performers.

Secretary Israel read a letter received from the Economy Furniture company, stating that as no one had called for prize No. 8, offered at their recent promenade concert, its equivalent value $50, was accordingly donated to the use of the Associated Charities. A $50 check accompanied the letter. On motion of Mr. Rippe a vote of thanks was extended the Economy Furniture company for their liberal donation. Similar action was also taken in recognition of the kindness of Charles M. Harris, the Penn avenue druggist, who furnished free of charge the medicines required by the charities in the treatment of the afflicted poor during the winter.

On motion of Mr. Rippe a decision was made to prepare for publication a complete list of the yearly and life members of the organization. The secretary was also empowered to employ an assistant whenever his duties became too onerous. Mr. Israel thought, however, that this was unnecessary.

The report of the special auditing committee appointed at last meeting was read and approved, as was also the report of the agent, Mrs. Duggan, who was empowered to give employment to twenty-five persons during the coming week, and $100 was appropriated to the employment fund.

AN ENJOYABLE ENTERTAINMENT.

Given Last Night by the Ancient Order of Hibernians.

The Ancient Order of Hibernians, Board of Erie, gave a pleasant entertainment in their hall at 431 Lackawanna avenue last evening. President C. T. Boland made the opening address, after which Miss Charles gave a recitation, Michael Donnegan sang a song and then ex-Judge P. P. Smith delivered the address of the evening. It was an eloquent effort and drew forth frequent rounds of applause.

A recitation by Miss Mamie Boland was well received. Miss Julia Allen also recited and in response to an encore sang a pleasing solo. Mr. Donnegan sang another song and was heartily applauded. He was followed by Miss Mamie Boland in another recitation, which the young lady did herself credit.

The next number on the program was filled by the Columbia quartette, composed of Larry Kretzick, Sol Morgan, Ambrose Morgan and Herbert June. They did it finely and were compelled to respond to an encore. Mr. Kretzick was requested to sing alone. He complied and was himself compelled to respond to two encores, his last effort consisting of a laughable imitation of famous voices.

The entertainment was witnessed by a large audience and was a pronounced success. The chairman of arrangements was John S. McCabe, who was ably assisted by John McElhale, of Danmore. At the close President Boland thanked those present for their hearty appreciation of the program, and retired out, and stated that in the future, entertainments of a similar character would be a more frequent feature.

TRACTION COMPANY'S PLANS.

Work to Be Commenced on Improvements Stopped During Winter. As soon as the weather permits the Scranton Traction company will repair the tracks upon which work was stopped during the winter months, string overhead wires, build crossovers and do everything in condition to operate the lines.

FOR THE COUNTRY STUDENTS.

County Superintendent Taylor Has Arranged for Series of Examinations--When to Be Held.

Efforts are now being made in several counties in this state to systematize the work in ungraded schools. It is held that the country schools contain many of the brightest students, and that if these students if properly directed, may accomplish quite as much in the common branches as the graded schools are doing.

To this end a carefully prepared course of study, outlining the work for eight years has been introduced, and monthly examination questions have been sent during the past year to all the schools of the county.

Central examinations for pupils in county schools based on the work of the seventh and eighth years of the course will be held on Saturday, May 19, 1894 as follows:

- 1. At Olyphant, Central building, by Principals W. J. Cummings, M. J. Lloyd, John A. Myles and Garret & Keenan.
2. At Jersey, graded school, by Principals E. D. Howard, R. N. Davis and R. H. Moran.
3. At Carbondale, Yarrington school, by Principals E. A. White, E. A. Malone and Kate Gethins.
4. At Moscow, graded school, by Principals W. A. Deas, W. W. Justice and Dr. H. B. Deane, Miss Cassie McElaine and Miss Jennie Cannon.
5. At Waverly, graded school, by Principals F. L. Haysen, F. H. Green and G. A. Gray.
6. At Taylor, Miss McKeen's school, by Principals F. R. Coyne, James F. Foley and Thomas Joyce.

Questions will be sent to the chairman of each committee to be opened by the committee on the day of examination. All pupils in the county schools who have completed or nearly completed the common branches are urged to attend at the most convenient center. Certificates of rank, signed by the examining committee and the county superintendent will be given to all pupils who take the examination.

It is made up for the term, which will begin May 28. Deputy Probationary Examiners yesterday completed the trial list for the three weeks' term of common pleas court, beginning May 28. Thirty cases are set down for each week as usual.

For the first week among the cases for trial are those of Joseph Fellows and C. Smith vs. E. E. Hume and J. H. Fellows, ejectment; Luther Foster vs. Nancy Foster, divorce; John Ward vs. Mary J. Ward, divorce; John J. Jennings vs. Lehigh Valley Railroad company, trespass. Second week--Traverse of the inquisition in the matter of the habitual drunkenness of Dr. A. E. Berr; A. H. Winger vs. Dr. A. E. Berr, trespass; return of third week--Charles Hutcheson vs. J. J. Albright, dispute over coal property near Carbondale.

INJUNCTION IS DISSOLVED.

Judge Lynch's Decision in the Wilson Road Controversy.

Judge Lynch, of Wilkes-Barre, yesterday dissolved the injunction in the case of the Lackawanna Valley Street Railway company against the Carbondale and Forest City Passenger Rail way company.

There is a dispute between these corporations, each claiming the right to lay tracks on what is known as the Wilson road in Filling township. Judge Lynch, when presiding in court in this city two weeks ago, listened to arguments for and against making permanent a preliminary injunction that had been granted restraining the Carbondale company from laying a track on Wilson road.

SEWER FOR GREEN RIDGE.

Secretary Briggs of the Board of Health, acting under instructions from that body, has prepared a communication to council, requesting that the proposed extension of the fourteenth sewer district, between Martin and Lackawanna streets, be completed as soon as possible. The communication will be presented at the next meeting of the city fathers.

Dr. E. Green, the Philadelphia specialist, who returned from a recent southern trip, and may be consulted at his parlors, No. 31 Spruce street, Scranton, Temple Court building, upon all acute and chronic diseases of men, women and children. It has been noted about by one or more persons that Dr. Green publishes the names of his cured patients. This is not so. Everything is strictly secret and confidential, and no one knows that another is being treated. The doctor has always made this principle a lasting and sovereign one, and feels that it is due to every patient. Office hours, daily, 9 a. m. to 6 p. m.; Sunday, 9 to 2.

A Sacred Concert.

A SACRED concert will be given at Trinity Lutheran church Thursday evening, April 26th. Leading vocalists will participate and every arrangement has been made to present a musical program of the highest order. Tickets, 50c.

CLAIM SELF DEFENSE

That is What Joseph Judge and Andrew Smith Are Endeavoring to Prove.

TOMULINAS A VERY BAD MAN

That is the Way Ex-Judge Stanton Points Him--Both of the Defendants Went on the Stand and Swore That Joseph Tomulinas and Charles Block Made a Vicious and Unprovoked Assault Upon Them.

All of yesterday was consumed hearing evidence in the case of Joseph Judge and Andrew Smith, who are on trial before Judge Edwards in the main court room, charged with having murdered Joseph Tomulinas to Smith's house on Blair avenue, Park Place, on the night of Jan. 27.

Mrs. Smith, wife of Andrew Smith, sat near her husband all day and watched the progress of the trial with much apparent interest. She is a comely looking young woman and when she went on the stand to testify in her husband's behalf proved that she had both spirit and intelligence.

Both of the defendants were on the stand yesterday afternoon. Their testimony was to the effect that the killing was done in self defense. Smith is a small man, 31 years of age, and has been in this country three years. He appears to realize more clearly than his companion the terrible position they are placed in.

Judge, or Jurichski, as he was called before his name was Americanized, is a man of medium size and athletic build. He sat in court yesterday as unmoved as a granite statue until he was called to the stand, when he developed an exalted temperament and the interpreter found it difficult to carry his flow of speech so that his version of the crime might be intelligently translated for the benefit of the jurors.

PROVED A BAD WITNESS

The commonwealth made out a strong case of unjustifiable homicide until it called Anthony Lukofski to the stand. He was in Smith's house on the night of the trouble and took a hand in the row which preceded the striking of Tomulinas with an ax. Lukofski told a story that made it appear that the killing was done in self defense and exulting started, of counsel for the defense, remarked with much apparent satisfaction after Lukofski left the stand that he was glad the commonwealth had at last produced a witness who told the true story of what occurred at Smith's on the night of Jan. 27.

The cross examination of Anthony Aluminas was completed after court opened yesterday morning and then Coroner J. A. Kelley was called to the stand. He testified the condition of Tomulinas' skull and brain as developed by the post mortem examination. Mr. Kelley wanted to know if the wound was necessarily fatal to which question District Attorney Kelly interposed an objection. After listening to argument on the question Judge Edwards decided to admit it stating that he would instruct the jury on that point.

Mr. Stanton thereupon declined to ask the question. A slight rest was taken and then the witness returned to the stand. Enoch Pieter testified seeing Tomulinas hit with an ax by Judge. When the wounded man fell Smith kicked him. The next day witness told Judge and Smith that they should be ashamed of themselves for having struck Tomulinas with an ax. Smith answered that the jurist man got what he deserved, and had the right to hit with an ax.

Anthony Lukofski was the next witness called. He was in Smith's house when the trouble began and heard Judge and Smith that they should be ashamed of themselves for having struck Tomulinas with an ax. Smith answered that the jurist man got what he deserved, and had the right to hit with an ax.

BEST CROSS MURDER.

As soon as he said that, the witness declared that Tomulinas, Block and a man named Wislosky struck Judge with a tea-pot, a glass and a chair on the head, which caused him to bleed. He rushed upstairs, followed by the men, who attempted to force their way into his room. Finding that retreat was impossible, Judge rushed down stairs and out of the house, taking refuge in a summer kitchen.

There Block found him and going to Tomulinas told him where Judge was. They left the house to take Judge out of the country to kill him, as they expressed it. A few minutes later Smith and Tomulinas returned to the house struggling. They were followed by Judge with an ax in his hand. Tomulinas said "let us kill them all" and he struck Judge on the head with a club. The latter retailed by hitting Tomulinas with the ax. When Judge struck a blow on the head from the club held by Tomulinas. Witness deposed that Smith kicked the injured man after he fell to the ground.

Mary Lukavavitch, of Pittston, an aunt of the murdered man, in whose honor the celebration was held at Smith's house on the night of the murder, testified to seeing the blow struck by Judge with the ax, but witnessed none of the extraordinary circumstances described by Lukofski. After Tomulinas fell she began to bemoan him as dead. Smith told her to be quiet as the devil would have got Tomulinas in any event. That closed the testimony on the part of the prosecution and ex-Judge Stanton opened for the defense.

PLEA OF SELF DEFENSE.

In his opening address to the jury Mr. Stanton said he expected to be able to show the jury that the killing was done in self defense. Tomulinas, he declared, was a very ferocious and quarrelsome character and was on mischief bent, as his actions and words would prove, on the night he received the blow which resulted in his death. That blow had been struck to protect Judge from further ill usage at the hands of Tomulinas. Frank Schurman, who was the first witness called, and swore that the fight was precipitated by Joseph Tomulinas and Charley Block, who declared they would kill Judge and went to drag him from the shanty for that purpose.

Mary Barnett described the condition of Judge's wounds and the appearance of his clothes after the fight. She said she was covered with blood and his clothing badly torn.

Andrew Smith, one of the defendants, was then sworn. He said that on the night of Jan. 27 he was seated in a room on the second floor of his house playing cards with Joseph Judge, when Tomulinas invited them down stairs to drink some beer. They accepted the invitation and about 11 o'clock the party was reinforced by the arrival of Michael Marchalona and Charles and Anthony Katherinas. Prior to their arrival there had been no trouble of any kind. Charley Block and Joseph Tomulinas took offense at the arrival of the strangers and Block attacked Tomulinas to kill them and he would be responsible. Tomulinas got a club and Smith advised the visitors to leave the house in order to avoid trouble. They obeyed, but as they were leaving Tomulinas struck them.

JUDGE AS A PEACEMAKER.

Judge protested against treating the visitors in that way and Tomulinas hit him with a tea-pot, Wislosky with a beer glass and Block with a chair. Judge fled to the apartments above, followed by the three men. In a few minutes he came down again and went into the shanty. When Block sometime later discovered where Judge was, he urged Tomulinas to go and kill him.

The two men made an effort to get into the shanty, and falling in that began to tear off the boards from the side so as to get at Judge. Witness protested against such conduct and threatened to call the police. Tomulinas then attacked him and he retired into the house, pursued by his assailant. Tomulinas struck him on the left side of the head with a club, causing blood to spurt from his right ear.

Judge entered the house at that point and Tomulinas attacked him with the club and Judge hit him with the ax. Tomulinas then attempted to grab witness, but he kicked him and shoved him away. The injured man then fell to the ground. Block was not in the house at that time, but when he learned what had occurred he grabbed witness and threw him twice to the floor. Witness then picked up a table knife and sprang into a corner. Block hit him with a club and he dropped the knife, whereupon Block and several other men took hold of him and laid him on a hot stove, burning him badly. Michael Marchalona and Charles and Anthony Katherinas were called, but their testimony threw no light on the tragedy.

JUDGE SAYS HE USED THE AX.

Joseph Judge, the other defendant, was next called to the stand, and with dramatic gestures told the story of the trouble, admitting that he hit Tomulinas twice with the ax, once on the shoulder and next on the head. He claimed, however, that he was forced to do so to protect himself. After listening to this story court adjourned for the day.

TO MOVE FOR EQUAL SUFFRAGE.

Committee Appointed to Bring the Question to the Attention of the State Legislature.

The equal suffrage branch of the Woman's Christian Temperance union held a largely attended meeting at the Spruce street rooms yesterday afternoon. It was reported that Mrs. Squires, of Carbondale, president of the County union, would be present and deliver an address, but she was unable to be there, much to the disappointment of those who came to hear her. However, the ladies made the most of the occasion by discussing the equal suffrage question in an informal way. Mrs. C. D. Simpson presided.

Mrs. Yost read an article from the pen of Mrs. Mary A. Livermore touching upon the work in the state of New York. This was followed by a general discussion as to how to best bring the equal suffrage question before the Pennsylvania legislature. Some favored petitions, while others seemed to think that the state and county organizations should be the first to move in the matter. The result was the appointment of a committee of three to formulate some definite plan of action.

Those named by the president to serve on the committee were Mrs. Roberts, of the Hyde Park union, Miss Loeck, of the Providence union, and Mrs. D. B. Hend, of the Scranton union.

The fact that many intelligent women display no interest in the effort to secure equal suffrage was commented upon. Mrs. Roberts said, it is because they have never given the subject thought. One of the members confessed that when she joined the Woman's Christian Temperance union she was very much opposed to the woman suffrage idea, but after carefully reading her Bible she found that equal suffrage was divinely sanctioned from Genesis to Revelation, and consequently she became a convert to the cause.

"Every mother," this lady said, "wants a chance to vote for 'God, home and native land,' if she will but stop to think what the privilege implies."

The meeting was closed by all joining in singing "Blest Be the Tie That Binds."

New military goods are received daily at Miss Fuller's, 514 Spruce street. They are trimmed by experienced trimmers and are beautiful to behold.
