THE BLOODY FIGHT OVER A TRAIN

Fierce Struggle at North Yakima—Two Deputy Marshals and Several Tramps Wounded in an Effort to Regain Control of a Train—An Injunction Issued—Still Chasing the Missouri Pacific Train-Stealers.

TACOMA, Wash., May 10.

A FIGHT took place at North Yakima at 7:30 o'clock last evening between deputy United States marshals and Coxevites. Deputy Marshals Childers and Jolick, of Tacoma, were shot, the first in the leg and the latter through the bowels, and a bleeding to death internally. Twenty shots were fired, five of which were aimed at the deputy marshals, who received flesh wounds from revolver shots. A Seattle Coxevite known as "Buck," who was the leader of the crowd, had two fingers broken with a club.

The fight was the result of a determination on the part of the Coxevites not to leave a train which had been held there since 10 o'clock in the morning. The deputy marshals determined to recapture the train. The tramps swarmed over the cars and outnumbered the marshals. The officers gave up after two attempts to oust the tramps, and took the train back to Yakima, two miles from the scene of the fight, and side-tracked it.

The deputy marshals from Tappan responded to Childers' demands for reinforcements, and twenty-five more men went from Ellensburg. At 7 o'clock last evening the train was backed to the bridge over the Yakima river, a mile from the town, half the population followed. The Coxevites boarded the train to the number of 150 men. Childers says one of them attempted to set a brake. A deputy marshal ordered him to stop. On his refusal, the deputy pulled him away. The Coxevites began clubbing the deputy, and then shooting him. The tramps retreated, breaking a switch and pling rocks on the track, but afterwards removing them. During the light shots were thrown at the engineer and fireman in an attempt to dislodge them.

FOOD AND SHELTER DEMANDED.

The train was backed into Selah station after the fight, where it now is. A surgeon has gone from Yakima to attend to the wounded. "Adjutant" Fitting, of Seattle, went to Yakima from Ellensburg last night and demanded food and shelter for the army. The city council granted leave to sleep in the city hall last night, and the demand for food was also granted.

United States Marshal Frako has gone to the scene. All along the line the tramps are in an ugly mood. Thirty of them left Ellensburg last night to walk over the mountain to Wenatchee on the Great Northern road, where they hope to get transportation to Spokane and possibly to St. Paul.

SPokane, Wash., May 10.—Judge Hanford has issued an injunction restraining all persons from interfering with or trespassing upon property of the Great Northern Railroad company. Notice is given that any one so doing will be guilty of contempt of court and liable to immediate arrest.

TOPEKA, Kan., May 10.—The State Journal has information from Horace Greeley county, Kansas, saying that the Missouri Pacific train stolen by Coxevites reached that point at 11 o'clock this morning, having got past the obstruction at Cheyenne and obtained fuel and water for their engines. The sheriff of the county telegraphed to Governor Lewelling for assistance from the state, saying he is unable to muster sufficient force to arrest the Coxevites. The Missouri Pacific has obstructed this side of Horace and west of Selah.

ASHLAND, Kan., May 10.—The Coxevites' wild train was ditched about forty miles west of Salina. General Attorney Waggoner of the Missouri Pacific railway company with United States deputy marshals left Salina on a special train at about 11 o'clock to capture the party.

PILOT TO PEN THE TRAINS. MARQUETTE, Kan., May 10.—Supt. Shankland has ordered rails to be torn up just east of Scott City. The scheme is to pen the Commonwealters up between two obstructions.

SOUTH BEND, Ind., May 10.—Sullivan and his branch of the Randall band of Coxevites were met by police and escorted through this city to Island Park last night, furnished provisions, and ordered to move at 9 o'clock this morning. Randall, the leader of the band, who was arraigned at Laporte yesterday on the charge of conspiracy to commit larceny, was discharged from police custody on his promise to move his tramps, left there for New Carlisle, and is expected to arrive here late this afternoon.

DENVER, May 10.—The Salt Lake Coxevites, numbering 300 men, are marching eastward along the line of the Rio Grande and Western railroad toward the east, and have not yet attempted to seize a train. The railroad company keeps a train of empty sand cars running ahead of them ready to be ditched in order to block the progress of any train that might be stolen.

SHOT BY A PRISON GUARD.

Edward Woods Attempts to Kill I. L. Bookheimer and Receives a Bullet.

HUNTINGDON, Pa., May 10.—Edward Woods, who was sent to the Huntingdon industrial reformatory from Philadelphia, was shot and instantly killed this afternoon by I. L. Bookheimer, a cell house guard. Woods and Henry Waldron, also of Philadelphia, had been sentenced to the third grade by Bookheimer for misconduct and they threatened vengeance. They secured two heavy iron bars, which they secreted on their persons.

This afternoon they eluded the vigil-

Coxey's Movement Brings to Life the Old State's Rights Repile.

GORDON'S MISCHIEVOUS ADVICE

The Georgia Senator Thinks That Decentralization of the Government Would Remedy the Commonweal Evils—Spirit That Caused the Unpleasantness of 1881 is Growing Among the Fire-eating Southerners.

WASHINGTON, May 10.

A BILL to repeal the act of July 15, 1882, "to regulate the use of the capital grounds"—the law under which Coxey and his subordinates were recently arrested, tried and convicted—was introduced in the senate today by Mr. Allen, (Pop., Neb.), and referred to the judiciary committee.

A resolution was offered by Mr. Peffer, (Pop., Kan.), and went over till tomorrow, providing for a select committee of three to consider the present condition of the country with special reference to the prevailing business depression and the large number of unemployed people, and to report what legislation is necessary to afford relief.

The Allen-Coxey resolution was laid before the senate and Mr. Gordon, Georgia, spoke upon it. He looked upon the Coxey movement, he said, from a southern standpoint. It appeared to him to teach a lesson which senators might wisely and gravely ponder. The movement had its inspiration in paternalism—in that theory of government which it indulged in, would increase the large brood of similar movements and intensify the demands of that class of people for relief.

STATE'S RIGHTS THEORY. The remedies which he suggested for the present conditions of things were two—first to decentralize the general government and second to give the states power the states to deal with it, and second to decentralize the currency, repeal the 10 per cent. tax on state banks and enable the states to have currency supplied by their own citizens.

Mr. Teller, Colorado, took part in the discussion and argued the question involved as an important one. He disclaimed any desire to delay the passage of the tariff bill. On the contrary he thought that a speedy solution on the tariff question would be in the interest of all the people in the United States. There was great discontent among the people and a general desire among them to come to Washington for the purpose of influencing legislation. That, Mr. Teller declared, was a perfectly proper thing to do, and nobody ought to complain if it was done with proper decorum and decency. But after all it could be said that all the people who were discontented and distressed should attempt to come to the national capital, there might be a condition of things impossible to endure.

TELLER SCORES THE POLICE. Mr. Teller reviewed briefly the occurrence at the time of Coxey's arrest and spoke of the action of the police as most disgraceful. If the police had behaved with as much discretion and decency as a common law officer, there would have been no trouble at all. Coxey was not a wicked scheme; he had heard propositions in the senate that were not as serious as Coxey's. That scheme would not bring to the country the hundredth part of the relief which some legislation (alluding to the silver demonsting act) had brought to it.

Mr. Stewart, Nevada, spoke in support of the resolution and declaimed against the police and the police court for what he called their exhibition of party tyranny.

Senator Hays made a strong speech against it. He declared that he sympathized with the public duties a great deal more than those senators did who sought to make it an instrument for their own political purposes or their own reckless political ambition. He advised with equal vehemence, that senators would not try to do constitutional functions and be clamored out of their character as American legislators by any mob spirit, whether it found its utterance from a Coxey car or from the seat of the senator from Nevada (Mr. Stewart). The resolution went over without action and will come up no more.

TALK ON THE TARIFF. The tariff bill was then taken up and the progress made on it was to the extent of just one line.

In the course of the tariff discussion some little unpleasantness was developed on account of Mr. Voorhees' sharp answers to some questions from the Republican side of the chamber, Mr. Hays remarking that it was the first time that such a thing had happened in the parliamentary history of the country, as the treatment given by the chairman of the finance committee to courteous and proper inquiries.

Mr. Patton, the new senator from Michigan, was sworn in and the senate at 5:15 adjourned.
