PERSONAL. John Barley, of Allentown, was here yesterday. D. W. Payne, of Elmira, is at the Westminister. Dr. M. J. Millock, of Bluebrook, Ont., is at the Wyoming. Rev. M. J. Keller, of Pittston, was in the city yesterday afternoon. Mrs. S. L. Brown, of Wilkes-Barre, is visiting friends at Green Ridge. Miss Lucy Vannan, of Carbondale, called on friends in this city yesterday afternoon. A cablegram received yesterday afternoon announces the safe arrival in good health of Mrs. Clarence D. Simpson, at Southampton. P. H. Dudley, of New York, will lecture on steel rails before the Scranton Esquimaux club at Albright library Saturday night at 8 o'clock. Clarence L. Dean, press agent for the Barum and Bailey Greatest Show on Earth, is in the city today. Mr. Dean says that although the management has been looking forward to a much smaller business than usual this year, on account of the talk of business depression and hard times, nothing of the kind has been so far encountered. The business has been large and the audience enthusiastic. The show made a tremendous hit in New York, where it stayed five weeks at the Madison Square garden. The ethnological congress, illustrating the costumes, native music, dances, implements of warfare and customs of people in all parts of the earth, and showing a large number of races and tribes that were gathered on the famous Midway pleasure in Chicago last summer, is regarded by the public, Mr. Dean says, as the most enterprising novelty the show has ever brought on. The Barum and Bailey date in Scranton next week is Thursday.

AUCTION SALE OF BOXES. It Will Be Conducted This Afternoon by Press Club. The auction of boxes for "A Dangler of Dixie" at the Frothingham next Monday and Tuesday evenings, will be conducted this afternoon at 4:30 o'clock by the Press club, for whose benefit the play is to be given. It is quite probable that the bidding will be brisk, as the author of the play, Daniel L. Hart, of Wilkes-Barre, is well known in this city, and the drama will be produced by a competent company, chosen from Charles Frohman's actors. All the scenery for the production has been painted especially to Mr. Hart's order, and the large Frothingham stage will give ample opportunity for scenic effects, symbolic of the South, in which section the plot is laid. A dress rehearsal of the play takes place at Wilkes-Barre tonight.

Scranton's Business Interests. THE TRIBUNE will soon publish a carefully compiled and classified list of the leading wholesale, banking, manufacturing and professional interests of Scranton and vicinity. The edition will be bound in book form, beautifully illustrated with photographs, views of our public buildings, business blocks, streets, etc., together with portraits of leading citizens. No similar work has ever given an equal representation of Scranton's many industries. It will be an invaluable exposition of our business resources. Sent to persons outside the city, copies of this handsome work will attract new comers and be an unequalled advertisement of the city. The circulation is on a plan that cannot fail of good results to those concerned as well as the city at large. Representatives of THE TRIBUNE will call upon those whose names are desired in this edition and explain its nature more fully. Those desiring views of their residences in this edition will please have notice at the office.

NEWS OF WEST SIDE Ribbon Social at the Jackson Street Baptist Church.

GIVEN BY THE YOUNG PEOPLE Young People's Literary and Debating Society Reviews Its Winter's Work. Works of the Greatest Authors Discussed—Party at the Home of Mrs. W. H. Williams—Journey of Company F to Honesdale.

(The West Side office of the SCRANTON TRIBUNE is located at 1040 Jackson street, where subscriptions, advertisements and communications will receive prompt attention.) Classes No. 6 and 10 in the Sunday school of the Jackson Street Baptist church gave a most successful ribbon social in the church last evening. The entertainment was opened with remarks by the pastor, Rev. D. C. Hughes. Then followed a solo by William J. Davis. Daniel Phillips gave a recitation and a very fine solo was rendered by Mrs. Mary J. B. Williams. Miss Martha Nicholls, a young lady of talent, recited a solo in a pleasing manner. A recitation was rendered by Miss Emily Evans, and a solo by Miss Alva Bedloe closed the performance. Upon entering the scene of festivities, each person, especially the young people, was presented with a ribbon bearing a number. During the social, the young gentlemen were supplied to seek their fair companions for the evening by finding the lady whose number corresponded with his own, and of course take her to supper. This afforded a great deal of amusement. The teachers of the classes are, John Harris and John Howe, and the following comprise its members: No. 6, Misses Maggie Thomas, Clara James, Jennie Harris, Alice Thomas, Ann Reese, Maria Pearce, Katie Coons, Etta Hurlow and Jennie Abbot; No. 10, Misses Alva Bedloe, Mary Nicholls, Agnes Davies, Kittie Eaton and Maggie Morgan.

A Successful Review. Large indeed was the audience which assembled at the First Welsh Baptist church last evening to witness the closing exercises of the Young People's Literary and Debating society of the church. Rev. W. S. Jones, the pastor, presided. The object of the session was to give a review of the authors the society had studied during the winter course. Among them were Shakespeare, Goldsmith, Lord Byron, Longfellow, Holmes, John G. Whittier, Tennyson and George Elliot. The entertainment was of a very interesting nature. Solos were sung by several members and recitations were given. Some read papers or essays from the writers they had studied. Among these was a critical paper on George Elliot by Constance E. E. Robinson. J. J. Davis spoke briefly on Holmes, and Miss Emily Evans, daughter of School Controller Evans, gave a very excellent description of the work of Tennyson. Following the entertainment was a social, at which a most enjoyable time was had. This closes the season of the Young People's society until fall, when the work will be renewed. It has a large attendance, and the manner in which the members acquitted themselves last evening shows the great benefit to be derived therefrom.

Told to a Few Lines. Mrs. W. H. Williams, of Thirteenth street, entertained many of her friends at her home last evening. The house was brilliantly illuminated and the fragrance of the floral decorations was prevalent. Those present enjoyed themselves a social dinner for many hours, after which refreshments were served. Company F presented a fine appearance as they marched to the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western depot yesterday afternoon to attend the Kirm at Honesdale. A Lezore street car and its occupants nearly met with disaster yesterday afternoon on the Delaware street switch. It was at the point where the car went over the embankment some time ago, and a repetition of the accident has been placed there recently. Thomas G. Thomas and Arthur Davis, both of North Garfield avenue, spent yesterday in Elmira. John R. Edwards, of Price street, is in a very low condition with congestion of the lungs. Mrs. Henry S. Evans, of Wilkes-Barre, has returned home after a visit with friends on this side. Charles and Jacob Langstaff, of Buffalo, were among West Side visitors yesterday. The prayer service of the Washburn Street Protestant church was conducted in St. David's hall last evening. Miss Caroline Dutweiler, of Staunton, has returned from a visit with relatives here. Miss Clara Sears, of Bridgeport, Conn., who has been visiting friends here for some time past, has returned home. Alfred Long, of Wilkes-Barre, was on this side yesterday. Robert Morris Lodge, Order of Iovites, will run an excursion to Lake Ariel on June 7.

MISS LESTER AS THE DANCING GIRL. Seen to Good Advantage in Her Last Night at Academy. "Annette, the Dancing Girl," was produced by Minnie Lester and company at the Academy of Music last evening in a splendid manner. The outbursts of applause were frequent and hearty. In the second act Miss Lester danced a waltz in a very graceful manner, and in the third Frank McNair entertained with his specialties. This afternoon for a matinee "The Rose of Killarney" will be seen. It is a charming Irish play. During the progress of the piece the maypole dance will be given. For tonight "The Silver Ledge" is billed.

MONUMENT ASSOCIATION MEETS. The Plan of Campaign Committee Reports Its Report. The ways and means committee of the Phil Sheridan Monument association, met in the board of trade rooms last night and the matter of formulating the best plans to advance the interests of the society was debated. The first order of business after the previous meeting's minutes were read and adopted, was the report of the plan of campaign committee. John E. Roche is chairman of it and made an explanation before submitting the report. He stated that while the report of committee was not an elaborate one, nevertheless the members of the committee did much work. The report advocated forming local organizations in every community in Lackawanna county to assist in the general plan of raising funds. The ways and means committee will be enlarged from time to time by addition of members. The meeting adjourned to assemble every Wednesday evening hereafter until further ordered.

QUARRELING IN THE CORRIDOR. Two Women Became Involved in a Dispute in Court House. Just before court convened yesterday afternoon two women in the corridor in front of the main room became involved in a dispute as to the merits of the case against William Wood. Their conduct became very boisterous, and finally they threatened to beat each other.

The dispute occasioned considerable excitement in the corridor, and a large crowd assembled before the dispute ended.

GOWNS FOR LITTLE GIRLS. Other Fashions For Both Sexes of the Rising Generation.

This season's hats for little girls are large and mainly trimmed with flowers and ribbons. They are seen in all colors and a sufficiently wide assortment of shades. Some of the prettiest are in light or mixed straw and chip, trimmed with bunches of field flowers—poppies, daisies and cornflowers grouped together and sometimes combined with buttercups and grasses. All red straws trimmed with poppies and red ribbon are also seen. Red is a beautiful color and always looks well on children.

A neat suit for a little boy is of black velvet bound with braid. It has a short jacket, with square corners open in front over a frilled lawn waist either all white or trimmed with color, having a wide collar and turned back cuffs. The breeches are tight and fasten at the knee with a black ribbon and steel buckle in the old-fashioned way.

A variety of dainty baby caps are shown for warm weather wear. They are of the usual close head shape, trying under the chin, but are composed of extremely open embroidery without a lining, and are therefore cool and comfortable. There are also a number of beautiful little packets of this winter goods, artificial and natural flower buds, and a particularly attractive one was of black pink roses.

Long leggings of black, brown, tan and velvet leather are still worn by little boys. Shoes for both boys and girls are square toed and spring heeled, which is a very sensible feature. "Cord" shoes, with no steel in the sole, are especially popular for very little girls and are no more easily torn than the high colored ones. Patent leather shoes are made for children, but it is an unadvisable use of material and seems too stiff and formal for the wear of little people, who never well dress unless they are wholly and comfortably dressed.

A hatch is given of a shawl given for a little girl. It has a box bodied skirt and bodice and blue shawl with a shoulder puff. It is finished at the neck with a matching collar and is trimmed with velvet buttons. The Fat, the Red, the "Blow." All the facts are not told yet. A party of young men and women who had evidently been enjoying a day's outing arrived at the Chambers street ferry, with the intention of crossing over to the Jersey side of the river. Having some few minutes to wait one of their number explained to the "group" in the boat and got your weight machines, and resolved to have a little fun at the expense of any one of his friends who had not seen the joke before. Taking a cent from his pocket and asked the crowd if they had seen any one could get weighed by blowing down the slot. No one had seen or heard of it, so he practically demonstrated how easy it was. Getting on the platform he placed his mouth to the slot and deliberately inhaled the cent which he had previously placed in his mouth. The machine of course did the rest. One of the party, a fat, red faced fellow, anxious to get weighed for a little while, attempted to perform the same trick, and getting on the platform, inhaled his lungs to their utmost capacity, gazed his mouth to the slot, with a watch-like company expressing, like for all the was worth, but to no purpose, except to afford merriment to the crowd who were by this time in the joke. His futile attempts convinced the on-lookers, and after five or six terrific attempts he gave up the job, only to learn how he had been fooled. Then he went home by himself.—New York Commercial Advertiser. An Apostolic Interpretation. Dr. Glass, of Popular Bluff, one of the "standards" of the Methodist conference, who has officiated at the birth, baptism, marriage and final exit of more men and women under thirty years of age than any reverend doctor in southern Missouri, tells a good story of an old brother preacher up at Grandy. On one occasion this old brother was called on to conclude the doctor's sermon. His theology was a little "off," so was his grammar, but his earnestness, piety and purity of heart was undoubted. He could run the gamut in a single sentence, from double bass to pinnissimo shrieks, and to preserve the cadence of his periods he used the "holy grunt." He never, in the course of his long and useful life, perpetrated an intentional pun, yet the one he got off in Grandy church has made him famous. "Yes," concluded the old brother, "yes, my beloved brethren and sisters, for forty-five years I have lived on the Lord's side, and now, ah, I have got one foot in the grave, ah, and the other is all but, ah." To this day he cannot account for the smile that rippled over the faces of his congregation at the comical picture he painted in his speech conjured up, of an old gentleman living on the Lord's side, with one foot in the grave and the other all butter.—St. Louis Republic.

NOTES OF SOUTH SIDE Suits Against the Minoaka Rioter: Heard in Alderman Wright's Office.

GIVE BAIL TO ANSWER IN COURT The Case Will Come Before the Grand Jury Next Week—Water Mains to be Laid to Connell Park by the End of the Week—His Bondaman Delivers Him Up—Other News in Shorter Paragraphs.

The suits growing out of the action of the mob in Minoaka on St. Patrick's Day, when car 204 on the Minoaka and Greenwood line slightly injured two young children, who fell ahead of it in attempting to cross the track, were called for a hearing yesterday afternoon in Alderman Wright's court. Myles J. Varley, charged with assault by Alderman J. J. Burke, waived a hearing before the grand jury in the sum of $300 to appear before the grand jury. Patrick Walsh became his bondsman, Michael Flaherty and Mark Sullivan asked for a hearing. They were charged in the warrant with tumultuous affray. Conductor Philip Foran says that Flaherty stood alongside the street car track and was very pronounced in his argument to the excited crowd advocating lynch law. He importuned his hearers to get a rope and string the street car employes up to the nearest telegraph pole. P. P. O'Flaherty said he heard Flaherty shout to lynch the motorman and conductor. Neither of these witnesses saw Sullivan near the scene. John T. Brown was sworn and testified that he saw and heard both Flaherty and Sullivan on that day and that such was indeed the case. They are then bound over to the grand jury in the sum of $500 each. John Louis qualified as Flaherty's bondsman, and Sullivan became his own recognizance.

Water Mains to Connell Park. The work of laying the water mains to Connell park was begun yesterday in rain by Contractor Peter Mullins, who expects to have it finished by the end of the week. The pipes will be laid from the Pittston avenue main up Gibbons street to the second alley above Stone avenue. There it will enter the park and branch off to the four corners. When everything is completed so that the water can run into the water to irrigate the flower beds and other growth, it is expected that the park already cultivated will blossom and in full freshness. The need of water at the park was greatly felt during the recent swelter weather. The hot sun scorched the plants and shrubbery to a great extent and threatened to destroy them altogether.

Sheriff's Paragraphs. The excursion committee of the Scranton Athletic club met at Germania hall last night and completed arrangements for the club's excursion to Fairview on June 1. E. J. Melnyre, of Pittston avenue, whose shin was fractured last week, is getting well rapidly and will be able to go to school in a week. Thomas Lydon, the bondsman of Michael Coyne, of Minoaka, who is charged with assaulting Mrs. Martin Coyne, of the same place, surrendered to the sheriff yesterday and was taken to the county jail. Lydon feared that Coyne would skip the town, as he appeared to be making preparations to depart on a boat journey. Charles H. Kuester, bookkeeper at the Meadow Brook store, is in Allentown standing for the Old Fellows convention. John Heston, of Company D, and Morgan Jones, of Company C, went to Honesdale yesterday with the Thirtieth regiment. E. J. Melnyre, of Moosic, visited South Side friends yesterday. A new doctor, P. G. Barrett, has opened an office at 1725 Pittston avenue.

The funeral of Luginus Weaver, of Stone avenue, will take place this morning with a high mass of requiem in St. Mary's church at 9 o'clock. S. S. Barnes and wife returned yesterday from Honesdale, where they had been visiting friends. Miss Minnie Heston and Frank Krayer were married in the Hickory Street Episcopalian church Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock by Rev. August Lange. The ceremony was witnessed by a large number of friends of the young couple.

CHANGE OF TIME TABLE. It Will Go Into Effect on the Central Railroad of New Jersey on May 20. The following time table will go into effect on the Central Railroad of New Jersey on May 20: Train No. 10 will leave Scranton at 9:20 a. m.; will arrive at Danville at 10:30 a. m.; will arrive at Wilkes-Barre at 11:30 a. m. Train No. 15—Central Flyer—will leave Scranton at 12:50 p. m.; will arrive at Danville at 2:15 p. m.; will arrive at Wilkes-Barre at 3:15 p. m. Train No. 704, Sunday, will leave Scranton at 2:15 p. m.; will arrive at Danville at 3:15 p. m.; will arrive at Wilkes-Barre at 4:15 p. m. Train No. 13 will arrive at Wilkes-Barre at 6:30 p. m.; Scranton at 10:05 p. m. All trains will leave March Chank and stations east at the same time as at present.

Cases Heard in Police Court. Jefferson and Henry Rodney, brothers and farmers from Spring Brook township and civil war veterans, fell from grace Tuesday night and while intoxicated and annoying pedestrians on Cedar avenue they were arrested. They pleaded guilty and were fined $1 each by Alderman Fuller in yesterday's police court. Robert Fritchard, aged 32 years, a carpenter living at 217 Breaker street, was intoxicated and fell from a Delaware and Hudson train at the Green Ridge depot Tuesday night. He was fined $4. Michael Murphy, of Hazleton, Daniel Doyle, of Trewitt's ward, Timothy Mahon, of Pittston, and Patrick Ryan, of this city, all of whom were arrested for drunkenness and begging on Lackawanna avenue, were discharged for lack of evidence.

JENKINS WAIVES A HEARING. He Will Answer Mr. Dony's Charges at Court.

W. T. Jenkins, the Lackawanna avenue saloon keeper, charged by Rev. F. A. Dony with selling liquor last Sunday, waived a hearing at Alderman Post's office yesterday afternoon and furnished bail in the sum of $200 for his appearance at court. Ex-Sheriff Robinson was the surety. The case of Druggist Ryan, also charged by Mr. Dony with keeping his place of business open on the Sabbath, was continued until tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock.
