AFFRAY OF BEING SHOT.

Cause of a Young Man's Suicide in the Capitol Grounds. WASHINGTON, May 30.--The body of the young man who committed suicide in the Capitol grounds Friday night has been identified as that of George König by his 14-year-old brother John. The two boys had lived in Waverly, a suburb of Baltimore, since the death of their parents, some years ago. The elder had joined Company H, Fourth regiment of the militia of Maryland, but during the winter he was on the work part of the time and fell behind in his dues.

Someone told him he would be court-martialed and perhaps shot, because of his debt. Frightened and worried, the sensitive fellow wrote a letter to his captain, saying that he was penniless, and begging that the discharge be delayed as long as possible. On Friday night König came to Washington, made his way to the Capitol grounds, and after tearing the lining out of his hat and destroying everything that might lead to his identification, shot himself through the heart.

IRISH NATIONAL PARTY.

Will Come Into Possession of a Fund Left By Parnell.

PARIS, May 30.--The representatives of the United Press is informed upon the subject that the Irish National party will, in all likelihood, very soon come into possession of the fund deposited in Paris by the late Charles S. Parnell and his fellow trustees of the Irish Parliamentary fund. The recent efforts of Messrs. Moore and company, the Paris bank with whom the fund is deposited, to settle the question as to the disposition of the fund, failed because the beneficiaries quarrelled over the division of the money.

Now it is asserted all of them, including Mrs. Parnell, have agreed to sink their differences, and judgment in the case will be given by the Seine tribunal, a document giving mutual consent to the release of the funds having been finally drafted and approved by all concerned.

NORTHWEST FLOODS.

Overflow of the Fraser River Causes Great Devastation. VANCOUVER, B. C., May 30.--The overflow of the Fraser river is causing great destruction and loss of life. The surrounding valleys have been submerged, houses and outbuildings of ranchers have been swept away, and where but a few days ago were fields of growing grain, is now a waste of water. Many herds of cattle and flocks of sheep have been drowned. Whole villages on the banks of the stream are floating. So far eight lives are known to have been lost.

At Morris steamers are sailing in water where a week ago were farms. Farmers, fearing to remain longer, are taking passage on steamers and bringing their families here.

THEIR COAL EXHAUSTED.

Several Industries at Hollidaysburg Obligated to Suspend Work. HOLLIDAYSBURG, Pa., May 30.--The extensive paper mills and book bindery of the Bare Paper company at Roaring Springs, this county, the rolling mill at Danville and the works of the Hollidaysburg Iron and Nail company closed down today for a lack of coal. These are some of the largest works in this section of the country, and if a supply of soft coal is not soon obtained there will not be a single manufacturing industry in this section running.

Lake Cay's postmaster says that not a bass in the lake has died. Floods have left the Schuylkill canal in very bad condition from one end to the other. Williamsport lumbermen will reclaim 75,000,000 feet of logs caught above Columbia dam. Four young men and three young women graduated from the Spring City High school last night. Forty cartons of eggs (about 3,700,000) damaged by floods, are in the cold storage house at Rogersford. Downingtown has at last granted the Pennsylvania Traction Company a right of way through the borough. Mrs. Fenbold, an insane fugitive from Milton, was finally discovered and escorted in an apple tree near Sunbury. A hundred Lancastrians organized a Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, with Major B. Frank Brausen as president. To prevent contamination of the Schuylkill just above Reading, the city water board recommends the purchase of six farms, at a cost of $75,000. Lycoming county commissioners intend to build a new iron bridge across the river from Market street, Williamsport, above the Reading railroad tracks. Major B. E. Bean, of Pawling, and his old army comrades are going to take a Chesapeake steamer across to Maryland and Virginia battlefields, where they fought the rebels.

HONORS TO THE BRAVE

National Day of Mourning Appropriately Observed in the City.

SOLDIERS GRAVES BEDECKED

Impressive Ceremonies Held in All of the Cemeteries of the City Where Union Soldiers Are Sleeping--Parade in the Afternoon--Patriotic Entertainments Held in the Evening by G. A. R. Posts.

MEMORIAL DAY DAWNED DARK AND STORMY, BUT THE MEMBERS OF THE GRAND ARMY POSTS OF SCRANTON WERE ASIR EARLY IN THE MORNING, INTENT ON A MISSION OF TENDERNESS AND LOVE IN MEMORY OF THEIR DEPARTED COMRADES.

The various cemeteries were visited early in the day, and the graves of the sleeping soldiers strewn with flowers in spite of the falling rain. The tender service was in most instances accompanied by elaborate and beautiful ceremony that could not fail to stir the heart of every patriotic on-looker.

In the afternoon there was a parade in which a large procession marched through the principal streets of the city, the pageant being witnessed by many hundreds of citizens. Business generally was suspended out of respect to the day, the people turning out to witness the scenes attendant upon the patriotic demonstration. In the evening entertainments were given at the Frothingham theater and Young Men's Christian association hall, Colonel Archie Baxter, of Emma, N. Y., speaking to the members of Colonel Ezra H. Griffin Post, as the former, while Charles W. Dawson and A. J. Colborn delivered patriotic addresses in Young Men's Christian association hall, the entertainment at that place being under the auspices of Colonel Monies Post.

Notwithstanding the disagreeable weather a large assembly gathered at the Hyde Park cemetery to honor the memory of the union dead buried there. The services began at the cathedral where three masses were celebrated and an appropriate sermon preached by Rev. J. A. O'Reilly.

At the close of mass a procession formed under the leadership of Mrs. A. Maloney and marched down Wyoming avenue, followed by the Phil Sheridan Rifles, commanded by P. C. Vaughn. After them came the St. Peter's cadets, followed by carriages in which rode Rev. P. J. McManis, Rev. J. A. O'Reilly and the cathedral choir members.

GRIFFIN MEN IN CHARGE. A detail from Ezra S. Griffin post No. 139 G. A. R., had charge of the decorating of the graves and the ceremonies at the cemetery. The detail was under the command of Aloes Moroy, and consisted of William McDonald, Henry W. Loftis, H. B. Atherton, George Wicker, Thomas Jenkins, D. Jones, John Powell, Francis J. Thomas, Frank Collins, Samuel Vanhook, Joshua B. Thomas, Thomas Madigan and S. F. Orms. A detail from the Sons of Veterans was also present under command of William Leber.

The exercises opened with the reading of the death roll by the officer of the day, after which Rev. J. A. O'Reilly benedicted. The choir sang "The Benediction." Rev. J. A. O'Reilly read the prayer in the G. A. R. ritual, and then Rev. P. J. McManis delivered an eulogy befitting the time and occasion. The address abounded in patriotic thought and closed as follows:

The results of that war we enjoy. Up to this our country was engaged in war every twenty-five years. We have lived in peace over thirty years since. The last war showed what our people could do, and how poor, poor, we were to test our strength, and our unity. Our government is the model which all patriotic people are trying to imitate. We are not, what we have, as a people we owe to those who maintained our rights and preserved our union. We feel grateful to our defenders. The greatest compliment and the greatest praise that you can give a man is to imitate him. Our obligation, this praise we give to the veterans living and dead by offering them to the present and future boys and men of our beloved country. Especially to the boys of the present, who are to be the men of the future, we say imitate the veterans of the civil war--imitate them in their self sacrifice to duty and in their loyalty to law, and no enemy, domestic or foreign, will be able to overthrow our glorious government which depends for its preservation on the patriotism of its people.

When the speaker had ended the dead were saluted by the comrades, and the choir sang "The Soldiers' Requiem." The benediction was pronounced by Rev. J. A. O'Reilly. The Sons of Veterans' bugler sounded the call, and then the choir sang in union, "My Country," after which the graves were decorated.

AT WASHINGTON STREET CEMETERY. The exercises at the Washburn Street cemetery was in charge of Commander S. B. Mott, of Lieutenant Ezra S. Griffin Post, No. 139, but on account of the storm the programs was not fully carried out. Rev. A. W. Cooper, pastor of the Hampton Street M. E. church, offered the opening prayer and gave the oration. He said among the things:

Thoughts of the hardships and sufferings endured and the sacrifices made by the loyal Union soldier, inspire within me a gratitude akin to reverence, so that before no other body of men do I so gladly stand with uncovered head. In union with the loyal and true sons of this republic, we are gathered to do honor to our country's soldier dead. And we do well. We live in an age of unparalleled activity. Our hearts can brook no slow pace. Our grandfathers were content with coach and four. Their swift means of communication was the steam man's horse. Our fathers harnessed teams to their carriages in the level reaches, and sent their messages by telegraph.

We send the iron horse across the mountain, harness the lightning to our cars and talk without regard to distances. We have outwitted the storm king and now disclose his wily plot ere yet he has the time to execute it. Like a fugitive car on a down grade, gaining swift and moving progress.
