Prophesies that impetus would be Clara Heiser, of Bath, Pa., are the gueste given the social element to whirl and of Mrs. C. L. Auer, of North Garfield avewith the advent of the college men and the return of the young ladies from school, have fallen with a sharp and pronounced thud. For the past two weeks families have been scurrying Europe until the few who remain are beginning preparations to follow in flight. It is either too hot or else the available number of pleasure loving people is too small to warrant any large social affairs. When the throngs return Sept. 1 it is probable that a different state of things may exist. Many will be here to attend the tournament of the Carbondale Tennis club at Farview the last week in August and the Scranton tournament a few days later.

It is quite likely that a large number of women will attend the races of the Gentlemen's Driving club this after noon if the weather is favorable. Certainly the sport will be exciting from the fact that all the drivers will bewell known residents of the city whose paramount object is to beat their competitors and have the honor of winning. Neither professionalism nor prizes cut any figure in the affair— both are tabooed. Unfortunately the distributing of the invitations did not occur until Thursday and up to a late hour that night only 1,000 names had been furnished. Any proper person will be admitted to the park and given a seat in the grand stand, whether they possess an invitation or not,

The past week witnessed the close of the terms of many music classes. Following are among the recitals given: Professor Southworth's, at Young Men's Christian Association hall Monday afternoon; Professor Haydn Evans', at Stelle & Seeley's Monday evening; Professor Albin Korn's, at Powell's last night; Miss Clara Long's, at Clark's hall, South Main avenue, Thursday evening; Miss Anna Williams, at 108 Tenth street last night; Miss Gertrude Morris', at her residence on Pine street last evening.
