DR. ALLEN'S PROTEST

Says the Chickens About Mulberry Street Do Not Sing in the Same Key.

FULL TEXT OF HIS COMPLAINT

It Proves That the Doctor Has a Musical Ear—Can Find No Solution for the Problem—Recommends That Council Take Some Action Concerning the Wykoff Pave on Penn Avenue. Other Board of Health Business.

The board of health held the first meeting of July yesterday afternoon at its rooms in the municipal building, Dr. Bentley, the president, called the meeting to order and the session which followed was nothing if not interesting.

Dr. W. E. Allen, health officer of the board, when called upon for his report arose with a sly twinkle in his gray eyes. Dr. Allen's report is always looked forward to with pleasurable anticipations for the side splitting humor that prevails there. His report of yesterday is herewith given:

To the board of health, Scranton, Pa. Sir:—During the month of June forty special complaints were made to the board of health, and all have been attended to satisfactorily, excepting the one matter of chickens. These birds have been a source of much trouble to the people of some parts of the city and likewise to the board of health. They are complained of for various reasons, the principal ones being the objectionable aroma from their environment, so to speak; the insects, commonly known as lice, which are so numerous and friendly in their immediate vicinity, and last but not least, the noise of their voices, which they send up hither to heaven "from early even till dewy morn," making sleep impossible and life a burden. If they only sung in tune it would not be so bad, but they do not. Among the hundreds of these vocalists in the neighborhood of Mulberry street, no two, or three, or four sing on the same pitch, from the quivering high soprano to the tenors of rather limited experience and the croaking old rooster who tucks up his tail in the morning. This certainty is terrible, but what can be done about it? I have considered the matter carefully and have about given up. I will leave the solution of the difficulty to the board.

WYKOFF PAVEMENT CONDEMNED. The most disgusting and I think dangerous nuisance existing in the Wykoff pavement, so called, on Penn avenue and Spruce street. The odor from these rotten old blocks that have been saturated with everything oily from the time they were put down is certainly dangerous as well as disagreeable. There can be no species of germ left out, and in my opinion as a chemist, and of the whole neighborhood unsafe. I would suggest that council be impetioned to pass an ordinance requiring the removal of the rotten wood and fill.

Scranton street and Ninth street, below Robinson street, are suffering greatly from the want of sewers. The gutters at times receive the contents of water closets on every lot, it would be impossible to stop it. This, I think, should be urged upon council. Common's court, Decker's court and Big street remain in the same condition.

The report was accepted and placed on file. Secretary Briggs's report showed the mortality of the month of June to have been 113; marriages, 221; births, 95. The total deaths in the city for the first half of the current year are 738.

Seventy cases of contagious diseases were reported, as follows: Measles, 55; scarlet fever, 7; diphtheria, 6; case each of typhoid, scarlet fever, and whooping cough.

The report of Superintendent H. W. Loftin of the garbage crematory advised that during the month of June the amount of stuff burned is as follows: Barrels and cans, 2,541; dogs, 10; cats, 7; logs, 1. Thirty-two tons of coal were used for the month.

The report of Food Inspector Richard Thomas was of the same stereotyped form as the past monthly editions of that kind, and especially of the fact that he has made 532 official visits and so forth.

WHAT DID DUGGAN DO TO HIM? At this juncture James Duggan, of the North End, chimed in. James is a scavenger by profession and looks like a scoundrel. Whether he ever kissed the bi-rany stone or not is not quite clear, but his language would indicate that by some hook or crook he was endowed with the "gift of the gab." He made a very vicious charge against Food Inspector Thomas, alleging that Mr. Thomas had gone so far as to instruct heads of families in the North End not to give any garbage to Duggan or, in fact, to any of the collectors of offal. He also said that Mr. Thomas was derelict in attending to cases of contagious diseases, inasmuch as that he was lazy in placarding the houses where these diseases were, often neglecting to post notices until the patients were recovered. Duggan said that Dr. Ross, of Park Place, reported a dozen cases of measles and Mr. Thomas did not placard the houses until the children were well.

Secretary Briggs lifted the charge from the shoulder of Mr. Thomas with the statement that during the past two months there were only four cases of measles reported by Dr. Ross and that in each case the receipts of Mr. Thomas were in his possession showing that placards had been taken out.

Colonel E. H. Rippele made a motion that in order to justify Mr. Thomas, the sanitary officer be instructed to visit the houses of the people whose families were afflicted with measles as reported by Dr. Ross and learn from them if Mr. Thomas attended strictly to his duty. Duggan supplemented his attack on Mr. Thomas with the charge that a man named John Morris, a hotel-keeper of Providence, who rents a house owned by Mr. Thomas, paying therefor $55 a month, refused to surrender any garbage, and Duggan alleged that Mr. Thomas was the cause of it, saying that he was in the habit of going among his friends and urging them to burn their garbage or throw it in the manure pile, and not pay a monthly fee to garbage collectors for carting it away.

Mr. Thomas stood up to contradict Duggan, and after a spasm of giggling he managed to get off the following sentences: "My yard is perfectly clean and I invite any person to come and examine my little garden, and if he can find a handful of garbage I will make him a present of a cigar, a good cigar. We do not have much garbage. My little family sometimes buys a head of cabbage, or two."

This succinct argument was met in silence.

Colonel Rippele made a motion that the collectors of garbage be instructed to give notice where they can be reached by telephone, so that they may be communicated with when complaints are sent to the secretary or any member of the board regarding the act of collection of garbage at any place.

The discussion of the garbage question was again opened by Mr. Duggan. He was bolting over with wrath and wanted to say anything and everything against Food Inspector Thomas, but Colonel Rippele shut him off. The plans for the erection of a retaining wall at the garbage crematory were examined by the board and City Engineer Phillips came into the room for the purpose of explaining the plans more fully to the members of the board. The erection of the wall will cost, according to the estimate, $492.50. On motion of Colonel Rippele the city engineer was authorized to advertise for bids.

The election of officers was next in order and it resulted in the choosing of the present competent corps for another term. The salary of Health Officer Allen was fixed at $600 per year, and of Secretary Briggs at $390.

HOSPITAL IS OVERCROWDED.

Seven Patients Were Brought to It Yesterday.

The Lackawanna hospital is crowded to overflowing; there were seven patients brought there yesterday, but the officials were only able to accommodate four, owing to the overcrowded condition.

The cases brought in yesterday were not of a serious nature at all, except that of William E. Atchell. He had been repairing the porch of his house and in some unaccountable way slipped off and seriously injured his spine. He was brought to the hospital where his condition was said last night to be rather critical.

MARCY SUIT TAKES NEW FORM.

Brings an Action in Trespass to Recover $250,000 for Coal That Has Been Mined.

Following in the wake of the famous injunction case at the Lawrence Iron and Steel company against the Scranton Gas and Water company comes the stupendous trespass suit for $250,000 of William H. Marcy, of Carbondale, against the Hillside Coal and Iron company. The declaration was filed yesterday in the office of Frothingham Fryer, Attorney Joseph O'Brien, of this city; R. D. Evans, John T. Lenahan and Edwin S. Obara, of Wilkes-Barre, represent Marcy, and the law firm of Willard, Warren and Knapp are in behalf of the defendant coal company. The case will be tried during the first week of the September term of court at Scranton.

In 1874 in Luzerne county at the commissioners' sale of unneeded lands, Marcy bought a tract of 192 acres of land in Carbondale township. That was before the land was known to be underlain with veins of coal, and therefore the value of it was not placed at a very high figure. However, the company owning the land maintained that it was an improper proceeding on the part of the commissioners to set up for sale the property as unneeded land, alleging that the tract was entitled to classification as coal property.

Not until 1889 did Marcy bring suit to dispose the Hillside Coal and Iron company. Then he began an action under the right and title conferred upon him in his deed of purchase.

Owing to the indisposition of E. N. Willard at the time the case was continued from the June term. It has been placed on the docket where it will be reached in September.

The declaration filed yesterday sets forth that the defendant company, in the period from Nov. 20, 1889 to the date of the present suit, retained as profits and revenues from the land in this tract a sum aggregating $30,000, and also that by opening a mine on the property removed approximately 400,000 tons of coal, rated at 50 cents a ton, altogether $200,000.

The suit in ejectment began in 1889, will determine the question of damages in the trespass suit began yesterday.

VERDICT OF CORONER'S JURY.

Apoplexy Caused the Death of Edward Laughey.

The death of Edward Laughey, of Oliphant, who was found dead near the Hillside home, where he was a patient, was investigated by Coroner Kelly and jury yesterday.

A verdict of death from apoplexy was rendered from the evidence that the deceased was an epileptic and from the result of the post mortem examination, in which the coroner was assisted by Dr. L. Kelly. The facts bore the marks of many scratches which were decided to have been caused by the rolling about of Laughey before he died.

ABSCISS CAUSED HIS DEATH.

George Lutz, of O'Connor Court, Died After an Operation.

George Lutz, a young man 17 years of age, died at his home on O'Connor court, Daugherty, after an operation had been performed for the purpose of removing an abscess from his side.

The funeral of Mr. Lutz will take place tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock. Interment will be made in Hyde Park Catholic cemetery.

POINTS IN POLITICS.

There is talk of District Attorney John M. Gorman, of Nanticoke, going into the Luzerne congressional fight against Hines, but this has nothing to do with it. Gorman is out for Judge Hines' sake, and thinks he is going to get 'em. As to Hines, his doom will come at the polls.

It is announced that ex-United States Senator Charles R. Buckalew is to be nominated as the candidate for congress in the Seventeenth district. This district embraces the counties of Columbia, Montour and Northumberland, and is at present represented by Simon F. Wolcott. Buckalew, however, is generally regarded as a back number and would be the ideal Democratic candidate from the Republican standpoint.

It comes out that Henry C. McCormick, of Williamsport, has the promise of attorney generalship in Hastings' cabinet if he can pull Representative A. C. Hopkins through the sixteenth district convention this year, against ex-senator Horace B. Ficker, of Tioga. Ficker, however, already has the Tioga and Lycoming conference and cannot be defeated except through treachery. The rumor that he will be probably false.

NEW BUILDING AT HOME

It Was Inspected Yesterday by Members of the Poor Board.

ONE OF THE BEST IN THE STATE

Contract for Remodelling the Old Women's Building Awarded to John Benore & Son and Hunt & Connell. When Completed It Will Be Used as a Home for Old and Infirm Men. Structures a Credit to the City.

A special meeting of the poor board was held yesterday afternoon at the Hillside home, overlooking the picturesque Newton valley, which just now wears its most becoming garb. After the meeting the members inspected the new women's building, which is the most complete of the kind in the state.

The meeting was called to order by President W. L. Langstaff; the other directors present being: Mrs. Frances B. Swan, and Messrs. Gibbons, Williams, Shotton and Murphy. The question of awarding the contract for the remodeling of the building formerly used by women was the matter that engaged the attention of the board. The bids were received at the last meeting but were referred to the home committee to ascertain if the district could not have the building remodelled better and cheaper by having the work done by the day and employing such inmates of the home as could be utilized on the work.

BONDEN AWARDED CONTRACT

After fully considering the matter the home committee and Architect Amsden came to the conclusion that the district would not make anything by undertaking the reconstruction of the building itself, and so reported to the meeting yesterday.

Mr. Gibbons inclined to the belief that it would be cheaper for the district to have the work done by the day and employ as much of its own help as possible, until he heard Architect Amsden's opinion and those of the members of the home committee. He then agreed with the other members to have the work done by contract and John Benore & Son being the lowest bidder were awarded the contract for $8,300. The contract for steam and gas fitting, plumbing, etc., was awarded to Hunt & Connell for $2,490. Work on the remodelling of the building will commence at once and it will probably be ready for occupancy by winter.

NEW BUILDING INSPECTED.

After the business meeting adjourned the members proceeded to the new women's building and inspected it. It was first occupied last Monday. The building is an imposing brick structure with stone trimmings, and is the first one that greets the eye as the visitor approaches the farm. It is fireproof, has low firebricks and steel girders forming the floors, and the walls are also of hollow firebrick. All of the floors are covered with slate tiles.

The very latest sanitary ideas were employed in its construction, and it is as nearly a perfect building for the use of old and infirm women as could be imagined. The dormitories are well lighted, cheerful and comfortable. The building is 60x100 feet in size, with a wing 20x20 feet, and is three stories in height. Its total cost was about $30,000.

The new building and its appointments met the entire approval of the members, who proceeded to make a general inspection of the other building, which they found neat and well kept, showing that Mr. Benore and his wife, who is in charge of the institution, give unceasing care and attention to the proper management of the home and the care of the 300 inmates they have in charge.

NEW MEN'S BUILDING.

The building which is about to be remodelled will, when completed, be used as a home for old and infirm men. At present the men are quartered in a frame building, which was the first building at the farm used as an almshouse, and in the first floor of the insane building.

The plans contemplate a thorough change in the interior of the building and also a radical change in the exterior. When completed it will bear favorable comparison with the administrative building, women's building and insane buildings. It is doubtful if there is another city in the country of the size of Scranton that so well and humanely cares for its insane as does Scranton.

The work of tearing out partitions, grading about the building and laying foundations for the additions will be done by the inmates under the direction of Superintendent Benner.

CAUGHT On the Fly.

June is generally supposed to be the most popular month to wed, and there is a belief that a greater number of them make their debut during June than any other month in the year. The facts do not bear out this assertion. During June, 129 marriage licenses were granted by the clerk of the courts of this county. Exactly the same number was granted in September and October last. March has the lowest record, having only 62 to its credit, while February is next lowest with 76. January was the most popular month during the year that ended with June, 121 licenses having been issued during that month. In June of last year 122 licenses were issued. During the year which ended June 30, 1894, there was a total of 1,394 marriage licenses granted by Clerk of the Courts Thomas.

The Presbyterians of Wyalusing, Bradford county, recently removed to its new church edifice in the central part of the village. The bell, which is one of the largest in Northeastern Pennsylvania, has been removed to the new structure. It was manufactured in 1884 by Jones & Hitchcock, of Troy, N. Y., and weighs without fittings, over 1,200 pounds. In connection with the removal of this old landmark, it may not be amiss to state that the church bell which first broke the silence of the upper Susquehanna valley, was the one used in the Moravian mission, in the Indian village, Friedenshaten, ten miles below Wyalusing in the year 1762 or a little later, it having been brought from Bethlehem, Pa., and conveyed through an unsettled region on horseback and by canoes the entire distance.

The Eaton Express says that some of the "new" pretzels introduced by the firm, met with a considerable resistance, as it were, of the refreshments served at evening gatherings. Young men who find fault at home if the pie is burned or the bread a little hard will sit and munch mouth-chocking pretzels as though they were happy, when they are really aching to get themselves to a saloon to counteract those salt and hisstringents.

A tramp became sick at Lewistown, Pa., with a mild attack of small pox and the board of health isolated the case and bled another tramp to take care of him. As a matter of course, No. 2 went near to see how No. 1 was getting along, and according to tramp No. 2, in a few days No. 1 died. The board of health notified tramp No. 2 to bury No. 1 and prevent his bill for the same. Tramp No. 2 followed his directions and presented a bill for $15, which was promptly paid. It has since transpired that Tramp No. 1 was only sick a few days, and that the scheme was concocted by both to beat the hospital and presented a bill for $15, which was promptly paid.
