LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

(Under this heading short letters of interest will be published when accompanied, for publication by the writer's name. The Tribune will not be held responsible for opinions here expressed.)

Editor of the TRIBUNE:

DEAR SIR:—Having seen in your Saturday issue an article referring to the Moody tent campaign in which it was stated that there had been misrepresentations made, I would ask you to give space in your valuable paper to the following correction.

When correspondence was first had with Mr. Moody in regard to coming to the Wyoming and Lackawanna valleys, he made the following proposition: That if the churches would unite and purchase a tent seating from 2,000 to 3,000 persons, he would come and conduct an evangelistic campaign through the months of June, July, August and September. Rev. Mr. Swan, of Pittston, secured estimates as to the cost of the tent, and the matter was before the pastors of Scranton, Pittston and Wilkes-Barre, stating that it would be necessary to raise $2,000 to pay for the tent, and that Mr. Moody thought that the meetings would pay their own way after being started. The pastors of these three cities and neighboring towns heartily endorsed the movement, the Pastors' union of Scranton having endorsed it at three different times. Wilkes-Barre and Pittston have raised their portion of the money and carried on the meetings very successfully, and Scranton was asked to raise $1,500 as her share towards the cost of the equipment. Wilkes-Barre having raised $1,000 and Pittston $500.

The pastors of Scranton, with the exception of Dr. Robinson, have not taken up the matter of raising the money. I presume thinking the meetings were quite a way off, they not wishing them until September, but will undoubtedly raise the necessary funds on their return Sept. 1. Dr. Robinson's church raised over $700. The committee feel that their hands are tied. I presume, by the pastors not having raised the money before going away, but if they will only wait matters will turn out all right. In fact, a petition to Mr. Moody signed by a number of the leading pastors of Scranton urging him to come to Scranton personally in September, has been sent to him during the week.

The work in the lower end of the valley has been going on under the charge of workers appointed by Mr. Moody very successfully, two tents being employed seating nearly 3,000 each, and so far about 1,200 persons have professed conversion. Yours very truly,

CHARLES R. ANDREWS, Chairman Executive Committee, Aug. 4, 1894.

Sermon Delivered by Rev. D. C. Hughes at Jackson Street Baptist Church.

SUBJECT, THE MIND OF CHRIST

Dealt with the Subject in an Eloquent and Able Manner—Hyde Park Literary and Debating Society Will Reopen its Rooms in September. Merited Punishment of an Insult of Ladies—Thomas Gallagher's Funeral.

An eloquent discourse on "The Mind of Christ" was given yesterday morning in the Jackson Street Baptist church by the pastor, Rev. D. C. Hughes. He said:

"I was struck very forcibly with this expression. Apostle John said there has been nothing made that was made without the mind of Christ. It was this mind that planned all creation. How profound must be the depth of such a mind? What beauty did it not comprehend? Can we aspire to the mind of Christ? I took the phrase as we too often take it, without entering the essential. If there is anything disgusting to God it is vanity. For an angel to think of its own greatness. There is no place for him within the divine walls. It was vanity that led the archangel to say: 'I will be like thee.'"

"In the loneliness of mind, let each esteem others better than himself. Jesus took upon himself the form of a servant, and was made in the form of man. He humbled himself and became obedient to death. Even death on the cross. It was not Christ in his magnitudes, but in his lowliness. It was in this light that the apostle saw him, what hope could we have? When we compare the mind of Christ to the present, there is no comparison. Jesus came, meek and lowly in heart. You never heard a Christ-like voice manifest itself. Let that spirit be in you that was in Jesus. It would be a great thing to have an intellect like Christ."

"Satan has a magnificent intellect, but what has it availed him? Clear was never excelled as a general. Plato, Aristotle and Napoleon had marvelous intellects, but to what purpose when compared with Christ? To have that intellect which is not gotten by love, is to no effect. You and I are here to aspire to Christ, and that we may know something of the life of our Savior. He says, 'Learn of Me.' He, clothed in the manifestations of God, calls to us. He came as a slave, in the likeness of man, with the same physical construction. It was the slaves that carried on the vast commerce of Rome. They understood all forms of business. It was here that he humiliated himself. Jesus himself sanctified toil by toiling himself. And he became obedient unto death, even death at the cross. He said, 'I came to do the will of Him that sent me.' It is said that he was so unobedient. But let this now rest upon you, that we strive to live a Christ-like life from now onward."

DREW A REVOLVER

An Unknown Man Frequent Passenger on a Street Car. The occupants of an Eyon street and Taylor car, met with a thrilling experience about 3 o'clock yesterday. When the car had reached a point but a short distance below Bellevue, bound for Taylor, a man who was in a state of intoxication got off. In doing so he had occasion to pass by a young lady in one of the seats, and made an insulting remark to her.

Evidently he was not aware of the pugilistic qualities which a young man who was accompanying her possessed. As soon as the words were uttered, this young man sprang from his seat and drew the revolver a stinging blow, which felled him to the ground. He then proceeded to administer a further punishment to the prostrate insultee.

After doing this he drew from his pocket a revolver, but on hesitating to fire a shot, concluded not to use it. The young man brandished the weapon in the air and then replaced it in his pocket.

TO REOPEN IN SEPTEMBER.

A Prominent Literary Society Will Again Pursue Its Work.

The Hyde Park Literary and Debating society will reopen the rooms of the Wales Philosophical society on South Main avenue in September for its literary work. The society has had marked success, and now ranks as first among its kind in the city.

The lecture, "Island of Young Men Go to College," is expected by Professor George Howell, and Emerson Owen will be prevailed upon to give a repetition of "The Miser," which received such popular favor at the commencement exercises at the high school. Those desiring to become members of the society will please hand in their names as soon as possible. The membership is now about seventy-five.

THOMAS GALLAGHER BURIED.

The Services Were Conducted in St. Patrick's Church.

The funeral of Thomas Gallagher, of Scranton street, who died on Friday evening in St. Moses hospital, occurred at 2:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Services were conducted in St. Patrick's church by Rev. J. B. Wislizenus. The floral tributes were very beautiful, among them being two handsome pillows inscribed, "Thomas" and "Cousin." Many handsome casket bouquets were also presented. Interment was made in Dunmore Catholic cemetery. The flower bearers were: J. Carroll, T. Tierney and A. Tierney; pall bearers: Walter McNicholas, John Tierney, William McNicholas, Charles Carson, John Gallagher and Thomas Regan.

The proceeds will be divided between the choir and the class. Miss Mulley's class is working energetically to provide funds for a splendid picnic for the church.

The Methodist Episcopal church choir has arranged to run their first annual excursion on August 14 to Lake Winola. For some considerable time the members and conductors have given their services voluntarily, thus being the means of economizing a few hundreds of dollars annually while at the same time the excellence of the music has been guaranteed.

The house of Mrs. Catharine Parrell, 196 Wilbur street, was destroyed by fire on Saturday afternoon. In response to the call from box 75 the Liberty, Niagara and Excelsior hose companies attended, but the fire had gained too much headway before their arrival. The greater part of the furniture was removed. It is thought that the fire originated from a defect in the flue, as the flames were first discovered near the chimney in the second story.

Daniel Devine, of Oak street, was arrested last night by Lieutenant Spillman and Officer E. G. Jones consequent upon complaints of citizens. It appears that "Danny" is subject to hallucinations when he imagines that the whole world is set against him and he has at various times succeeded in establishing himself as a dangerous character. He will be examined today with a view to his being dispatched to the Poor farm where he previously resided for two years.

DR. BRUNDAGE SPEAKS

He is Endowed with Magnanimity and Forceful Eloquence.

HOW TO PERFORM GOD'S WILL

The Important Thing is Not What a Man Does, But What He Is—Difference Between Cowardice and God-Fearing Temerity—Obedience Should Be Unquestioning and Implicitly—The Living Christ Speaks to Us.

In the absence of the pastor, the pulpit of the Elm Park church yesterday afternoon and evening was occupied by Rev. W. M. Brundage, D. D., of the Trinity Methodist Episcopal church of Albany, N. Y.

Dr. Brundage is endowed with the rare gift of magnetism and sincere, forceful eloquence which elicits sympathy and attention from the auditorium. His two sermons of yesterday and the earnestness and thought which accompanied them won for him particular favor with his hearers.

In the evening he preached from St. John ii, 5, "Whosoever He saith unto you, do it," from which was drawn the lesson of doing God's will implicitly and without questioning. Dr. Brundage said:

"The most important thing is not what a man does, but what he is; and just what he is he will out in his life. If a man is rich he will do right. Obedience is what God is ever seeking to teach us. To obey is to be equal to all. It is to be a Christian is not to hold a certain creed—it is to perform a certain ritual. It is described best in the words of the text, 'Whosoever He saith unto you, do it.'"

It must be loving obedience, not servile, not imposed by fear. No service to the Christ is acceptable which does not spring from love: "Though I bestow all my goods to feed the poor, and though I give my body to be burned, and have not love, it profiteth me nothing." It must be entire obedience. There can be no reservation. "Whosoever shall keep the whole law and yet offend in one point he is guilty of all." It must be unquestioning obedience. The time to question is before the Christ has been chosen the Master and Lord of one's life. The obedience of the soul.

His not to make reply, His not to reason why, His but to do and die.

The obedience of the most of us is too half-hearted. We need more divine temper. Our over caution is most cowardly. Our Master's work in this world is sadly hampered because we do not obey. We know His will and we do it not. "More truth," we pray, and all truth that is not obeyed proves a curse rather than a blessing.

Other great commanders have blundered at Waterloo because he did not know of a simpler way and the battle was lost. Our Commander never blunders; we can trust His commands.

HOW WE KNOW HIS COMMANDS.

How do we know what he commands? From the Bible, from the teaching of human history, from the providential circumstances of our lives; more than this, from the inspiration of His spirit. Every one of us may be divinely inspired of our will. Inspiration did not come to an end one thousand eight hundred years ago. "If any man will do my will he shall know." The living Christ speaks to us today, not through dreams and visions and voices, but through our human consciousness—through our unselfish common sense. The conditions are always bearing witness; the divine voice is first perfect humility, being away from all self; and secondly, clear-eyed faith in the presence and power of God in our lives.
