

Have You Seen the

BROOKLYN BRIDGE

YET?

It is well worth seeing, bringing to mind some of the artistic features of the World's Fair. The bridge is made of Castile Soap. It is a pure White Castile, and is a floating Soap, made only from pure vegetable oils. We are selling it at the unheard of price,

2 Cakes for 5c.

We are enabled to put the Soap on sale at this low price by special arrangement with the manufacturer, who is anxious to introduce it to the trade in Scranton!

It is already having a big sale, and we may have to pull the bridge down in a few days in order to supply the demands; therefore, if you wish to have a look at it make your visit as early as possible. Bring the children with you; such a sight is always welcome to the little ones.

Fires broke out in A. M. Place's store at Mayfield Sunday morning at 3 a. m. Mr. and Mrs. Place were away visiting and the only person who was in the building at the time was the clerk, who was sleeping in the living rooms over the store. He narrowly escaped suffocation and would have perished only for the quick assistance of the citizens pulling him out. As far as we can learn only $1,500 insurance on the goods and nothing on the building. The Mayfield Hose company was on hand, but the water did not have much effect on account of the start the fire had. J. J. Chennoy, Pittston; J. W. Shear, J. W. Freedom from Freckles.

and from all such disfigurements and blemishes, follows the use of the Carlsbad Sprudel Salt. It clears and freshens the skin wonderfully, takes away that dull and mottled look that comes from stomach derangements. Besides being a purgative and an eliminative, the Sprudel is a decided alterative or blood-purifier. It is the prescribed remedy, even in chronic and stubborn cases of eczema and such disorders. The blood, the liver, the stomach, the kidneys—all are put into a thoroughly healthy condition by the Sprudel Spring, and just as well here as if you were on the spot. Remember that the only genuine imported Sprudel Water or Salt has the seal of the city of Carlsbad, and the signature of "Eisner & Mandelsson Co., Agts., New York," on every bottle.

AN UNMASCULINE GOWN. It is of Serpentine Green Serge and Velvet and is Extremely Handsome. The objections to a fashion of dress for women here nearly approaching the masculine style are mainly sentimental ones, and that is why they are so hard to overcome. A demure founded upon apparent reason may be logically proved to be wrong, but to fight a sentimental theory is like contending with the wind. If the persons who disapprove of trousers costumes for women possess that most uncommon of attributes—common sense—they will say honestly: "We acknowledge that the ordinary style of dress for women at present is inconceivable and hampering in all occupations, but we maintain that it is more dignified and reserved than trousers, and we think of the latter because they are ugly, unbecoming and ungraceful. Women are the beautiful half of humanity, and we like to have them appear such just so far as is possible, for there are none too many beautiful things in the world at the best." However, personal liberty is better when beauty, and whether women wish to dress in trousers or skirts they should not be molested nor made afraid. Each individual best knows what garments suit her means, position and occupation and should be left to decide the matter for herself without interference. The adoption of the divided skirt or knickerbockers by no means argues the use of cigarettes, swear words and intoxicants, although these indulgences are equally meritorious in men and women. A woman of perfect propriety and refinement of mind may dispense with petticoats, since their absence merely proves that either she is engaged in some peculiarly arduous employment or that her artistic perceptions are atrophied, neither of which facts indicates a moral blemish. A sketch is given of an entirely unmasculine gown of serpentine green serge, finished at the bottom with rows of stitching. The corsage is of velvet to match, dotted with white. The draped flange fronts of skirt fall over white revers of white silk. The wide belt is also of white silk. JAMES CHOLEY.
