BUILDING FOR THE BOARD OF TRADE

ed for the very decided silence when Mr. Dickson completed the reading of the report.

In presenting the report Mr. Dickson said that the committee had served through a business period of crisis and gloom, and though in a number of meetings it had considered the matter nothing could be done until the present plan was presented. It was an opportunity for accomplishing a long desired end and the report was offered for at least consideration and he hoped adoption. The location, he said, is excellent, with the route between the two proposed bridges and the trend of business moving in that direction. It was presented in the form of an addendum to the subscription.

Mr. Davidson stated that the plot was being sold to the board for its purchase price and the gentlemen associated with him would not make a penny on the consummation of the proposal.

IT IS A MOMENTOUS MATTER. Luther Keller and S. Goldsmith objected to immediate adoption of the report, the former alleging that those present were a small proportion of the total number of members and that it was really a momentous question in which caution should be exercised. Mr. Goldsmith argued that the board should not be obliged to occupy the whole of the two upper floors.

The apparent disposition to quibble over the report brought Mr. Dickson to his feet, and by his speech of ten minutes duration and the remarks of Captain May later, the meeting was influenced to make an affirmative decision. Mr. Dickson said:

This board is twenty-five years old and for fifteen years has been hoping that something would revive it and place it on a plane with similar organizations of other cities. Primarily the board served a purpose in raising credit among its members, but of late years what has held it together has been the spirit of patriotism. Now, with our efficient president and secretary, what is our opportunity? We have come to a crisis. I'm not a boaster nor a croaker, but when we can secure such a valuable property for $600 per foot on the land of Washington avenue, the old Presbyterian church parsonage for example, sells for $750 a foot, we would be foolish not to affirm this report.

The ball has been thrown to roll in Scranton. If every pound of coal is exhausted here in the next twenty years, our city will yet be the premier city of her class. Hence, it behooves us to move and move quickly. When we again be able to construct a building on the most favorable site in the city and secure the land at cost? Now is the accepted time and the day of action; after the details of the report if you will, but don't "throw it out of court."

CAPTAIN MAY'S REMARKS. Captain May relinquished the chair to Mr. Keller to occupy the floor for the first time since he has been president. He said the board's burden might be taken from its shoulders by money raised by others and the offer is so fair that he acquiesced for it only by supplying the following remarks, which few members responded "aye" and all retained from saying "no" when Mr. Dickson's motion to adopt the report was repeated by the chairman. At Mr. Keller's suggestion a rising vote was called and the response was unanimous.

After the meeting Mr. Davidson announced that $35,000 in subscriptions had been secured.

SNEAK THIEVES AT WORK. They invade the residence of Colonel E. H. Ripple.

The sneak thief again made his presence felt in the city. Some time Saturday morning a man walked boldly into the dining room of Colonel E. H. Ripple's residence at 513 Washington avenue and succeeded in carrying away various pieces of costly cut glass ware, china and bric-a-brac.

The members of the household were busy in another part of the house when the thief walked in the door which leads from the side porch to the dining room and coolly helped himself to the most available articles. He was evidently frightened off by some noise, for there were a great many things left which he might just as well have taken.

Of late the city has been infested with tramps and men of the sneak thief order, and too much precaution cannot be taken to keep all back doors locked.

A TRACK W-LKER MILLED. He stepped in front of a D. L. & W. Passenger Train.

An unknown man was instantly killed and frightfully mangled on the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western railroad at No. 6 last evening at 6 o'clock.

He was walking toward Scranton on the south bound track and seeing a train approach stepped on to the north bound track directly in front of the passenger train which arrives in this city at 6 p. m.

When the train passed his bleeding and dismembered body was found close to the track. It was taken to Letchworth's undertaking establishment, but nothing was found on it that would lead to identification. Today an inquest will be held.

BISHOP O'HARA TO COME HOME. He Will Probably Return to Scranton Today.

Reports of his great health continue to be of the most encouraging character. He is now able to take his meals with the family of his brother, Dr. O'Hara, and enjoys a ride occasionally.

DO NOT FAVOR IT. Select Council's Streets and Bridges Committee Against Competitive Plans.

The streets and bridges committee of select council last night decided to report adversely upon the resolution directing the city clerk to solicit competitive plans for the proposed bridges in order that the city engineer may be able to have an opportunity to consult the various methods of constructing bridges.

It was the sense of the meeting that the project was a good one and would have been quite expedient two or three months ago, but it would be perilous now for the reason that it might occasion indefinite delay in the construction of the bridges.

CRANFIELD'S BODY FOUND.

Telegram to That Effect Received Yesterday by Postmaster Vandellier.

The body of R. K. Cranfield, of this city, who committed suicide by drowning himself in Lake Cayuga, near Ithaca, N. Y., was received yesterday morning and a telegram received by Postmaster Vandellier which requested the friends of Cranfield to make arrangements for burial.

Postmaster Vandellier sent the telegram to Abraham Cook, of 223 Wyoming avenue, to whose care it mail addressed to Cranfield was directed.

Mr. Cook was seen last night and said that he in turn sent the message to F. W. Mason, of the West Side, a brother of Cranfield's deceased wife. At a late hour last night a definite had been agreed upon regarding the disposition of the body.

SOUTH SIDE.

Robert Scott Charged with an Awful Crime.

A most serious offense is laid at the door of Robert Scott, of Cherry street, an old man over 70 years of age. For a number of years Mr. Scott has lived on this side and was in all that time looked upon as a man of very moral character. He is of more than ordinary intelligence and has at various times contributed articles on current topics to the newspapers. During the late prohibition campaign in this state Mr. Scott sent an article to the newspapers attacking the prohibitionists and subsequently had it bound in pamphlet form, which he sold at the rate of 25 cents each.

He was employed as a gate tender at the South works of the Lackawanna Iron and Steel company, and it is stated that on Sunday afternoon he attacked three little girls, their ages being not over 13 years, into a shanty in the mill yard for the purpose of committing an assault on one of them. His purpose was thwarted by the arrival of two employes at the mill, John C. Weir, a laborer, and John McGill, another laborer. One of the girls is a daughter of Mrs. Hugh McCrea, of Fig street, the other two are the daughters of Mrs. T. J. O'Connor, of Cedar avenue. The children say that Scott gave them some pennies and was thus enabled to enter the shanty. The families are not inclined to prosecute, preferring to hush the matter.

Scott could not be found at his residence yesterday and he has been discharged from the mill by Superintendent Stanton.

BURGLARS AT WORK.

They Ransacked Twentieth Ward Houses Yesterday Morning.

Fully a dozen families in the upper end of the twentieth ward complain of having been visited by burglars early yesterday morning. The residence of Mrs. Shea, near Minooka's store, was broken into and goods to the value of $50 stolen.

The people in the neighborhood of Mrs. Shea's house who had left clothes out during the night are minus everything left on the premises. A string of tramps have been seen around the Twentieth ward for the past week and the robberies are charged to them. They are said to be quartered in Miller's field.

OFFICER I. F. JONES INJURED.

His Revolver Accidentally Discharged in His Pocket.

Police Officer I. F. Jones was accidentally shot at Wyoming avenue and Linden street.

He was about to go off duty and was standing talking to Officer George Jones and Officer Block. Officer George Jones tapped Officer I. F. Jones playfully on the shoulder and just then the latter's revolver, which was in his coat pocket, discharged.

The bullet pierced the officers' coat, tore and set fire to his trousers and took a piece off the top of his index finger of the right hand. He had the wound dressed and went to his home. His escape from more serious injury was most fortunate.

Caledonians Will Go to Wilkes-Barre. On Saturday the Wilkes-Barre Caledonian club will visit the annual games at Hanover park near Wilkes-Barre and the members of the local Caledonian club are making arrangements to attend in a body.

NEWS OF WEST SIDE

Farewell Concert to the American Quartette at Jackson Street Church.

NUMBERS THAT WERE RENDERED

Members of the Quartette Heard to Good Advantage—Party Will Leave for New York This Morning and Sail Tomorrow on the City of Berlin—Gospel Meetings to Be Held. Other News Notes.

A well pleased audience in the Jackson Street Baptist church last evening listened to the farewell concert of the American quartette, which is about to begin a tour of England and Wales under the direction of Professor Haydn Evans. The programme of ten numbers was enlarged by Miss Juli Allen, the violinist of the party, who, by her playing of the "Heart of the Mountain" and "The City of Berlin" with much effect. This, with the addition of other evening encore numbers, completed an evening's entertainment that was carefully varied and highly appreciated.

Miss Cordelia Freeman, the contralto of the party, was warmly greeted by friends, who knew her as the daughter of Rev. D. K. Freeman, former pastor of the Washington Street Presbyterian church. Her voice evinces much cultivation, but is rather on the order of a mezzo-soprano. She sang with excellent effect Mrs. Torry's "Waiting Heart," with violin obligato by Miss Juli Allen, and the "Heart of the Mountain" by Miss Freeman's voice was heard to best advantage. The number was Abt's "Harp of the Winds," and its blending of soprano and contralto effects was exceptionally felicitous. Miss Kaiser's singing of the "Heart of the Mountain" gave this gifted soprano abundant opportunity to display the resources of her voice. A particularly noticeable feature was its volume and register. Miss Kaiser's enunciation was exceptionally clear and her trills and runs were most beautiful. Mr. Burns and Mr. Anyl, always favorites in the city, were in superb voice, and the violin playing of Miss Allen has seldom been heard to such advantage.

The party this morning will take train for New York. They will make the outward voyage in the stanch Ionian of Boston's West End Line, Captain Watkins. The concert tour will be initiated at Cardiff and continue six weeks, including the principal cities in Wales and possibly several in England. During the tour Miss Kaiser will contribute letters to THE TRIBUNE describing the work and reception and interesting incidents of the journey. The City of Berlin will lift anchor at 9 o'clock tomorrow morning.

SODA WATER AND SODA CRACKERS.

Hard Tack on a Chain for Sunday Soda Customers.

"Judge Gantner's opinion virtually gives us permission to sell soda water on Sunday," said a central city druggist yesterday. "If it is legal to sell soda on the Sabbath as an accompaniment to a lunch there is nothing to prevent us from selling on Sunday and living within the pale of the law, for it is an easy matter to furnish a lunch."

"Before next Sunday you will see a lunch table in that bay window. Suspended above that lunch table will be chain and attached to that chain will be a lunch. For 5 cents you can have all the lunch you care to eat and a glass of soda besides. For 10 cents you will be furnished with a piece of cake and soda."

"What will your chained lunch consist of?" asked the reporter.

"Well, I think hardtack will be the most lasting," he replied.

This plan of meeting the peculiar demands of the law in the case of selling intoxicants has lived in Boston and it is claimed stood the test of law. The local druggist states that it is not so much to evade the law as to show up its absurdities, that he is starting a "hardtack" lunch as an adjunct to his soda-water fountain.

Test of New Neptune Steamer. Tests of the new Neptune steamer will be made tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock at Court House square and later from the river at M. Robinson's brewery. City officials and fire committees of councils will witness the tests.
