MAKING A GALLANT FIGHT

Attorney John R. Jones' Candidacy for District Attorney Gaining Strength Daily.

HIS PAST SERVICES ARE APPRECIATED

Brief Sketch of the Career of Mr. Jones—He Is a Native of This County—His Distinguished Services for the Republican Party in Various Capacities. What He Has Done for the Public—The Splendid Fight He Made Against Toll Roads—Tributes That Members of the Lackawannna Bar Pay to His Ability as a Lawyer and His Character as a Man.

Attorney John R. Jones who seeks the Republican nomination for district attorney, has made a gallant fight since the moment he entered the lists. Dashing and magnetic, with a pleasing personality he has won friends and gained strength from the moment he first announced his candidacy. His popularity with the masses is demonstrated by the large number of clubs throughout the county that have unqualifiedly endorsed his candidacy.

Mr Jones isa native of Lackawanna county and is known from one end of it to the other He was born at Archbald on May 27, 1856, and after receiving a common school education at that place pursued his studies at Keystone Academy and Wyoming Seminary. Mr. Jones began his law studies at Harvard, Sept. 28, 1876, and graduated with the degree of LL. B. three years later. In the meanwhile, and after he had been but two years a student of the famous university at Cambridge, on March 28, 1878, Mr. Jones was admitted to practice his chosen profession at Middlesex, Mass. After his graduation e began practicing his profession near the scenes of his boyhood. He entered the office of Attorney Alexander Farnham at Wilkes-Barre in September, 1879, having during June been admitted to practice in all the Luzerne county courts. However, Mr. Jones' legal talents became best known in Lackawanna county after he had entered the law office of Judge R. W. Archbald in Scranton, Oct. 8, 1880 He was admitted to the Lackawanna bar the same day. He remained with Judge Archbald until that gentleman was elected to the bench in 1884.

Mr. Jones is now a member of the supreme court of Pennsylvania, the United States circuit court, the Pennsylvania Western district court, and the supreme court of the United States. The announcement of John R. Jones' candidacy for the district attorney nomination is in a measure typical of the man; it was done openly but without any blazonry or trumpeting, fearlessly but without effrontery, confidently but without egotism. The candidacy of Mr. Jones being the effect of a successful career, it may not be out of place to mention one particular case conducted by him which attracted particular attention throughout the states and which may be mentioned as one of the causes of Mr. Jones' prominence in the legal world. We refer to the famous trial of Augustina Nolli, who was indicted for murder and tried for his life during the week commencing October 16, 1893. In conducting the defense Mr. Jones demonstrated his astuteness as a tactician, magnetism as an orator and his ability as a lawyer. The defense took desperate chances, but through the skill and ability of Mr. Jones the jury was convinced to bring in a verdict of murder in the second degree. It was the popular opinion of lawyers present at the trial that a verdict of murder in the first degree was warranted by the crime.

Mr. Jones also made a splendid record in the case of the commonwealth against Paul Hydo, who was in 1889 indicted for murder. Mr. Jones has been identified with the Republican party since his residence in this county, and has been a delegate to many conventions and nearly always made nominating speeches. He nominated R. W. Archbald for judge in 1884, Joseph A. Scranton for congress in 1885, and Hon. J. B. Van Berger for county treasurer on the same day. He was secretary of the 1884 convention and did assiduous and excellent service as a member of the Republican county committee the same year. Michael Gilroy at the Fourth district convention, held in Carbondale several years ago, was also nominated by Mr. Jones. As a member of the Republican state convention of 1885 Mr. Jones did splendid service. In the state convention of June 26, 1886, he was honored by an election to the position of vice president and made a speech seconding the nomination of E. S. Osborne for congressman-at-large. He also had a conspicuous part in the state conventions of August, 1887, and in 1889. As director and officer of the Blakely poor district, Mr. Jones did such commendable work and took such an active interest in all that pertained to poor laws, that two years ago he was elected vice president of the Poor association of Pennsylvania.

What by many is looked upon as Mr. Jones' most distinguished service to the public was the five years' fight he made in the county and supreme courts against the toll gates on the Carbondale and Providence turnpike. The fight was a desperate one, but Mr. Jones was successful and the toll gates were abolished. Such is a very brief sketch of the gentleman who presents himself as a candidate for the Republican nomination for district attorney.

What Some of the Leaders of the Lackawanna Bar Say About John R. Jones, Esq.

Among the members of his profession Mr. Jones is very popular and is held in high esteem for undoubted and unquestioned legal ability and acumen. Below are appended the opinions of members of the Lackawanna bar who, without reference to their political beliefs, unhesitatingly pay tribute to Mr. Jones' ability as a lawyer:

Horace E. Hand, Esq.: "I have been acquainted with John R. Jones for the past ten years; have always found him very accommodating, and consider him a lawyer of excellent ability."

I. H. Burns, Esq., ex City Solicitor: "I have a great deal of personal regard for John R. Jones. He is a clear advocate, a wise counselor and a good orator."

Milo J. Wilson, Esq.: "John R. Jones is kind, courteous and a lawyer of good ability."

John M. Harris, Esq.: "I know of no member of the Lackawanna Bar, whose standard of what constitutes a first-class lawyer is higher than that of John R. Jones, Esq., and I have known him as a practicing lawyer intimately for ten years, and I never saw him engaged in any legal matter, whether trivial or of great consequence, where he for a moment lost sight of this standard."

L. M. Bunnell, Esq.: "John R. Jones is a member of the Lackawanna Bar too well known to need any introduction or commendation from me. He has won for himself during his short practice a standing among his fellows of the legal fraternity an enviable position at the bar, being well equipped by education and intelligence, by his qualities of heart and mind, he adorns the profession he has chosen. As a lawyer he is earnest, honest and painstaking, and when engaged his client gets his best effort whether he can pay a large or small fee. The poor or oppressed will not look in vain for a friend in Mr. Jones. His love for justice will prompt him to do right. In fact, he fills the bill for District Attorney, and hence will confer an honor upon the party that will place him there."

Charles De Pont Breck, Esq.: "I have known John R. Jones for a number of years and believe him to be a man of unblemished integrity and a good lawyer."

"Hon. Thomas J. Duggan: "I consider John R. Jones one of the ablest of the young members of the bar. He is well qualified to fill any office to which he may aspire."

Hon. M. F. Sando: "I have known John R. Jones, Esq., for twelve years. I know him to be a hard-working and pains-taking lawyer."

C. B. Gardner, Esq.: "I have known John R. Jones, Esq., since his admission to the bar. He is a man of undoubted ability, and as a lawyer is courteous, able and always has his cases well prepared."

P. W. Stokes, Esq.: "John R. Jones is an able attorney and a staunch Republican."

E. C. Newcomb, Esq.: "Have known John R. Jones a good many years and consider him a good lawyer and a gentleman of the highest integrity. His relations with his fellow lawyers are uniformly agreeable and pleasant."

T. P. Hoban, Esq.: "There is no question about John R. Jones' ability as a lawyer. He is an assiduous student and well known to the people of the county."

Anthony Baumann, Esq.: "John R. Jones, Esq., if elected District Attorney, would undoubtedly make a polite, obliging and able officer."

M. A. McGinley, Esq.: "I consider John R. Jones, Esq., a good lawyer in every respect."

Frank T. Okell, Esq.: "I have known John R. Jones well for a number of years, and consider him one of the ablest and most brilliant members of the Bar of Lackawanna county. He is well fitted to discharge the duties of any public office."

John F. Murphy, Esq.: "I have known John R. Jones for about six years, and from my acquaintance with him I have found that he is well versed in the law and a careful and studious lawyer. To the younger lawyers he is courteous and always ready to advise them when they have a case that puzzles them."

Chas. E. Oliver, Esq.: "I consider it a fortunate circumstance which associated me intimately with John R. Jones as a student at law in his office during the first two years of my professional life. As an eloquent and aggressive advocate, the name of John R. Jones is familiar far beyond the limits of Lackawanna county, but it is behind the scenes in the privacy of the office that the truest estimate of a lawyer may be made. There Mr. Jones was always busy and beset by the almost innumerable annoyances incident to a large general practice, yet always pleasant and never too busy to do a favor. His sympathetic professional habits added to his well known natural ability as a criminal lawyer, qualifies him, in my opinion, as the ideal officer to uphold the dignity of the Commonwealth. Doubtless there are many members of the bar who could fill the office with credit to themselves and their constituents, but in John R. Jones any opposing candidate will find an antagonist worthy of his best steel."

NEWS OF WEST SIDE

Interesting Woman's Meeting Held in the Simpson M. E. Church.

AT THE EVENING SERVICES

Gospel Tent Was Crowded—Impressive Services by E. W. Bliss—Death of Miss Norma Mathias, a Popular Young Lady—Meeting of the Hyde Park Choral Society This Evening. Personal Mention and NeWs Notes.

A women's meeting of the Moody campaign was held at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon in the Simpson Methodist Episcopal church. A short time previous to this a large number of the ladies congregated at the home of Mrs. Roberts on North Sumner avenue, where an hour of prayer and thanksgiving was held. The auditorium of the church was crowded. The meeting opened with a song service, after which Revs. L. C. Floyd and T. J. Collins prayed. Mr. Bliss took for his text Mark, xiv, 8. His discourse was very interesting. At its close Rev. D. C Hughes gave a touching account of his conversion through the influence of his mother.

The evening service was opened with song after which Rev. D. C. Hughes gave an earnest prayer, making a plea to the people to accept God. Mrs. Dora Metzgar, the sweet contralto, sang an excellent solo entitled, "That Beautiful Land on High." This was followed by a prayer. Mr. Bliss announced that another afternoon service would be held at 3 o'clock today in the Simpson Methodist Episcopal church. This will be the last afternoon service to be held this week. A 9 o'clock service will be held on Sunday morning in the Elm Park church. At 7 30 in the evening he will preach to men only at the tent. Tickets were distributed throughout the audience for the meeting for men on Sunday evening. Mr. Bliss was surprised at the number of people who congregated in the tent last evening. Not a seat could be found vacant. Rev. L. C. Floyd read a portion of the Scripture from Isaiah, 55. Mr. Bliss took as text the eighteenth verse of Psalm 68. His remarks were eloquent and convincing, and created a deep impression on his audience.

MILLICK HAD A PERMIT.

Flashed It on His Prosecutors When Arraigned Before Alderman Morgan.

Jacob Millick has charge of the grass plot in front of Mr. Heiser's property on South Main avenue and takes great interest in keeping it in fine condition. He has of late been much annoyed by cows that have taken a great fancy to the quality of the grass. To rid himself of the nuisance he established a pound and in it placed the cows that were committing depredations and demanded $1 for their release.

The owners of the animals objected to Mr. Mellick impounding them, claiming he had no authority to do so. He was arraigned by before Alderman Morgan yesterday and produced a permit from Mayor Connell authorizing him to keep a pound.

The many friends of Miss Norma Mathias, daughter of Daniel Mathias, were shocked yesterday to hear of her death, which occurred at the family home on Price street. For some months Miss Mathias suffered from lung trouble, which lately became of very alarming nature. She was 22 years of age and much esteemed. She was prominent in society. The funeral announcement will appear later.

SOUTH SIDE.

Suspicion That John Heffron Was Murdered at Woonsocket.

The body of John Heffron was shipped to this city and arrived at 12 30 yesterday. A TRIBUNE reporter interviewed the dead man's brother-in-law, Patrick Campbell, who stated positively that Heffron was the victim of foul play.

This theory he based upon the manner that the body was mutilated and the fact that Heffron had always been a sober, industrious young man. The chief of police of Woonsocket promises to investigate the case and send on any particulars he may learn.

The funeral will be held this morning from the family home 1101 Stone avenue. The body has reached that stage of decomposition that it cannot be brought to the church. Prayer will be said at the house and interment will be made in Hyde Park cemetery.
