

RISE OF WELSH NATIONALITY

Archbishop Howell, of Wrexham, Contributes an eloquent Communication.

INTELLECTUAL LIFE OF WALES

It has been greatly stimulated during recent years by the development of a sentiment favorable to a strong National Individuality - But this sentiment is not hostile to the integrity of the British Empire.

Among the influences which have contributed to the revival of national feeling in Wales may be mentioned the natural reaction from the long and persistent repression of the patriotic instincts of the Welsh people...

But far more than any of the influences combined must be ascribed to the extension of political privileges to the great mass of the people of Wales.

With the passing of the act of 1869, there came a great change in the attitude of the Welsh people as had almost ever been known in the history of any nation of modern times.
