IT WAS A QUIET BUSINESS-LIKE CONVENTION

was the reception of the report of the committee on credentials. It was read by Secretary Browning and its recommendations were summarily as follows: That the following persons be enrolled: Carbondale township, Northwest district—J. W. Osborne. Dunmore, Fourth ward—Patrick Derrig, LaPlante—Frank M. Chase. Lackawanna township, East district—Thomas Richards. Old Forge township—James Jones. Scranton, Third ward, First district—Joseph Stewart. Scranton, Fifth ward, First district—George Shoemaker. Scranton, Eighteenth ward—Charles F. Beckitt.

In the case where a tie vote existed the committee recommended that the following be accorded votes as set forth their names: Old Forge, Third district—John M. Thomas, 3/4 vote; Thomas Rogers, 1/4 vote; Chris Zimbach, 1 vote. Scranton, Second ward, Fifth district—Thomas Fidler, 1/2 vote; John Lemanan, 1/2 vote. Waverly—E. G. Carpenter, 1/2 vote; George E. Stephens, 1/2 vote.

PERMANENT ORGANIZATION.

All the delegates having responded to the call, Chairman Powell announced that it was in order to proceed to permanent organization. This was done by electing R. G. Brooks permanent chairman and the temporary secretaries, J. W. Browning, D. W. Davis and Emil Bonn, as permanent secretaries. Mr. Brooks was nominated by R. A. Zimmerman. He had no opposition, and the overwhelming vote was given to him by which he was elected. The selection of the secretaries was unanimous.

Mr. Brooks was greeted with cheers as he was escorted to the chair and introduced by Chairman Powell. He made a short, felicitous speech of thanks, and remarked that he was placed in an awkward position, as he had not prepared a nominating speech and intended to nominate somebody—he didn't care who. By placing him in the chair the convention had deprived itself of the pleasure of hearing the speech. He concluded by requesting the speakers to be brief and to the point, as there was considerable business to be transacted.

THE RESOLUTIONS.

Mr. Zimmerman, chairman of the committee on resolutions, then read that committee's report. He was frequently interrupted with applause and at the conclusion a rousing cheer was given. Following are the resolutions in full:

First—We affirm our devotion to the doctrine of a protective tariff as the cardinal principle of the Republicanism. By a protective tariff we mean a system that protects every product of American labor and admits free of duty into this country such articles only as we cannot ourselves produce, always excepting articles purely of luxury.

Second—We advocate the national financial policy that will give to each of the States the proper and legitimate place as a circulating medium, and impart to every dollar that bears the stamps of the government, gold, silver and paper, exactly the same purchasing power, interchangeable at the will of the holder, and receivable by the government for all purposes.

Third—We denounce and condemn the lately enacted tariff and revenue bill because it is sectional in its provisions, unjust and discriminating in its purpose, oppressive in its operation, disastrous to many branches of industry and beneficial only to trusts and monopolies.

Fourth—We condemn and exonerate the infamous pension policy inaugurated by Grover Cleveland, and defended by the Democratic press and party leaders. That policy suspends and reduces the pensions of brave fighting soldiers without giving them the opportunity of defense except by incurring the expense of appeal to the courts.

Fifth—We hold the Democratic party responsible for the prostration of the business interests of the country during the past year and a half; for the distress and suffering and privations of the working classes; for the reduction in the wages of labor; for the shrinkage of values, for the losses to invested capital, and for the incapacity to meet the obligations of the bonded and consequent increase of interest-bearing debt of the nation.

Sixth—We advocate and demand at the hands of the next legislature the enactment of a law providing for a wise system of permanent public road improvement under state supervision and at the expense of the commonwealth. Also the enactment of a law providing for a state board of arbitrators, whose duty it shall be to arbitrate differences arising between corporations and their employes.

Seventh—Once more we congratulate the citizens and taxpayers of Lackawanna county on the able, clean and economical administration of their affairs in the several departments of the county government under Republican officials, and pledge those this day nominated to a continuance of the high standard maintained in the past in excellence of administration of the county government.

Eighth—We heartily endorse the magnificent state ticket given to the party by the late Republican state convention, approval of the platform on which that ticket stands and pledge ourselves to do all that lies in our power to give each of the candidates an unprecedented majority in Lackawanna county.

We endorse the record made by Hon. Joseph A. Scranton as our representative in congress, and hereby recognize the efficient services he rendered his immediate constituents, the state and the nation, by his unflinching fidelity to the principles of the Republican party.

On motion of John M. Harris the resolutions were formally approved as read.

SCRANTON NOMINATED.

Chairman Brooks, having called for nominations for congressmen, Horace E. Hand was placed in nomination on the bench and placed in nomination the name of Hon. Joseph A. Scranton. In doing so Mr. Hand said:

I present to you today the name of a man who has been tried in the balance and not found wanting; a man who at the head of our ticket will lead it on to a splendid victory. We are approaching a crisis in the history of the Republican party. In a business crisis it would be foolish to set aside a tried and faithful employe. Why should not the same rule apply in politics? This congressional district with its diversified industries is second to none in the country, and should have representation corresponding to its importance. One of the requisites of success in congress is familiarity with the details of legislation which can only be secured by experience on the floor of the house. The man whose name I present for your consideration has had a remarkable career, and although handicapped by the fact that he was only returned every four years he has done wonderful service for his constituents.

Mr. Hand then went over in detail the services Mr. Scranton rendered the people of this district during his congressional career. The nomination was seconded by A. B. Bryson, of the West Side, John T. Watkins made the speech nominating John H. Fellows for congress. During the course of his remarks he said:

MR. WATKINS' REMARKS.

The man whom we will present for your consideration as a candidate for the nomination of congress for the next district is the Eloquent district of Pennsylvania, is one that has all of the best characteristics of the sturdy race from which it sprung. He has strong convictions in favor of the courage to uphold them under any and all circumstances. Personally brave, he dares to do what he conceives to be his duty at all times, without regard to person or thing. Incorruptible, no person, no corporation, no school district, no municipality has ever lost a court, nor dealer will, nor believe, but his trust that has been or may be placed in this man's hands. This man is not a god, nor do we claim for him any of the attributes of one. He is only an earnest, strong man, one of the best representatives of American manhood. Not that of the so-called aristocracy, but of the common people. The great common people in fact, our immortal Lincoln placed his trust and reposed such confidence.

There is one thing I can safely assure you of. He is only an earnest, strong man, you will, and ought to do so, he will be elected because the people have had enough of that rule which is called Democratic. You will always find him faithfully performing his duties and attending to the wants of his constituents at his post in Washington.

Gentlemen, this man, whose name I have the honor of presenting to you this afternoon is one among 10,000 who dare to do. Born and bred in our midst, educated in our public schools, we represent the free air of our Republican institutions with the very essence of American manhood permeating his entire system. He would make a grand representative, and his great confidence in his honesty does never shun the right. Just as his thoughts and open is his temper. Freely, without disguise he loves and will do his duty in the halls of congress. He is a man of the day and the age, and men are the fulfillment of his pledges, and in his bosom is the heaven on earth, where the duty sits enthroned with unrivaled influence. Every obligate passion, like wind and storm, fulfilling his word, exactly the same purchasing power, interchangeable at the will of the holder, and receivable by the government for all purposes.

The final result was: Scranton, 115; Fellows, 69. The convention neglected to make the nomination unanimous.

Nominations for judges were asked for an attorney, J. A. Zimmerman named John Archibald in a speech in which he called attention to the great popularity of Lackawanna's president judge and his acknowledged fitness for the position. In closing, he expressed the hope that Judge Archibald would be unanimously elected at the polls in November. The convention elected by ballot John R. Jones, and no other candidate being named, Judge Archibald was unanimously chosen.

Chairman Brooks called for nominees for sheriff, and Mayor W. L. Connel claimed the attention of the convention and nominated Frank Kellow. In doing so he said: "I believe it was the duty of the convention to nominate a man who would without doubt have the warm support of the members of the party and strike a chill to the hearts of the enemy. Such a man the Republican party would find in Frank H. Clemens, whom we have for the county of sheriff. John F. Reynolds, of Carbondale, seconded the nomination. W. S. Davis named George Orell, whom he termed "a fighter and a worker." The nomination was seconded by John T. Watkins. A vote resulted as follows: Clemens, 104; Orell, 83. Mayor Connel called for the ninety-fourth vote for Mr. Clemens, which was the number necessary for a choice.

DAVIES FOR TREASURER.

Four were placed in nomination for treasurer. John T. Williams in a neat speech, in which he called attention to the claims of the West Side for recognition, placed in nomination the name of Thomas D. Davies. Miles Hines and R. A. Zimmerman seconded the nomination. William K. Bek, of Moscow, was nominated by Charles Kloss, of the Twentieth ward. Robert Carter, of Carbondale, nominated Alex T. Simpson, of the North End, and William Franz was named by Frank Lettner.

Much to the surprise of all a nomination was made on the first ballot. When the last name was called the ballot stood Davies, 92; Bek, 49; Simpson, 30; Franz, 12. Just then John Hahn, of the Second district of the Eleventh ward, who had left the room returned and the polls not yet having been closed he was allowed to vote. When he shouted "Davies" and those who had been keeping tally said that this vote nominated Mr. Davies there was a round after round of applause and rousing cheers were given by the Hyde Park contingent with the assistance of the other Davies men.

The official vote was announced as follows: Davies, 93; Bek, 48; Simpson, 30; Franz, 12.

John F. Reynolds, of Carbondale, named John H. Thomas for a renomination for the office of clerk of the courts in one of the best speeches heard in the convention. He closed saying: "Carbondale, the Pioneer City and fostering mother of Lackawanna county, nominates John H. Thomas for clerk of the courts."

W. H. Reese, of this city, nominated W. G. Daniels for the same office, and W. S. Davis seconded the nomination of Byron E. Akery. In doing so Mr. Davis said that if the convention would nominate Mr. Akery, the county districts, of which he was the representative, would forgive what the convention had already done. The vote was: Thomas, 149; Daniels, 20; Akery, 18.

JOHN R. JONES FOR DISTRICT ATTORNEY.

One of the eloquent and forcible nominating speeches of the day was that of John M. Harris, in which he placed in nomination for district attorney John R. Jones. Mr. Harris in the course of his remarks said:

The office of district attorney of Lackawanna county demands a lawyer of tried professional experience and of admitted professional ability. In no calling of life are the demands of a sound and liberal education more exacting than in the profession of law. Mr. Jones began his professional career fifteen years ago in the office of Alexander Farham in the city of Wilkes-Barre, and later, in October, 1880, he entered the law office of Hon. R. W. Archibald, president judge of Lackawanna county. During his fifteen years' experience before the courts of this county, he has been engaged in some of the most important and difficult cases ever tried before the bar, and in each case he distinguished himself as an accurate, painstaking, diligent lawyer, and brilliant advocate.

It is here to respectfully ask this convention to name John R. Jones as its candidate for district attorney, because he is the people's choice. I beg of you to name him and he will be the district attorney of Lackawanna county, no matter whom the Democracy have nominated. Nominate him because more than any other he will strengthen the entire ticket. He will bring strength to the ticket from every section of the county. He will render a good account of himself to the strongholds of the Democracy in Archibald, in Olyphant, in Dickson City. And I venture to predict that Lackawanna and Old Forge townships, and the borough of Taylor, representing 1,500 Republican voters, will stand by him to a man.

G. W. Sitgreaves seconded Jones' nomination. Alderman Fuller nominated George M. Watson. In placing Mr. Watson's name before the convention he said, in substance: "As none but a lawyer can fill the office of district attorney and as one who is not duly qualified can not be admitted to the Lackawanna county bar, it is unnecessary to dwell upon the qualifications of the gentleman whom I am about to nominate. Mr. Watson was in early life a carpenter and assisted in the building of this temple of justice. While he had no influence, influence or power he had ambition and having been encouraged to follow the legal profession he took it up, passed an honorable examination and after being admitted to the bar made an honorable record for himself as a lawyer. He is an honest, large-hearted, broad-gauged man. If chosen he will not disappoint the court, the bar or the people."

W. Gaylord Thomas nominated A. J. Colborn and in addressing him said: "As none but a lawyer can fill the office of district attorney and as one who is not duly qualified can not be admitted to the Lackawanna county bar, it is unnecessary to dwell upon the qualifications of the gentleman whom I am about to nominate. Mr. Colborn is a man of the day and the age, and men are the fulfillment of his pledges, and in his bosom is the heaven on earth, where the duty sits enthroned with unrivaled influence. Municipal building, Washington avenue. Office hours from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m., except Saturdays, this office will be closed at noon.

Ever Upward, Ever Onward.

In fifteen short months Dr. E. Grever, the Philadelphia specialist, has taken a deeper hold on the confidence of the people of Scranton than any physician at present in the city. The reason for this is not hard to seek. The Doctor is all that he claims to be, and couples with his remarkable medical and surgical attainments all the energy and push of the successful business man. The results of this are seen in his large and handsome new office in the old Postoffice building, corner Penn avenue and Spruce street, where between office, reception room, laboratory, etc., he occupies space amounting to over 1,600 square feet.

The appointments in the new establishment are complete in every detail, and will fully meet the requirements of a practice which had far outgrown the limited space in the old office.

The $40,000 School House for Columbia avenue has been let and will be completed immediately. There are still a few lots left at a low price.

RECORDED OF DEEDS.

For recorder of deeds John W. Reese, of Taylor, was nominated by John M. Harris. Charles H. House, by S. S. Miller; H. House, by Harry Sauter; H. L. Halstead, by a Green Ridge delegate; George H. Shirer, by Captain Kellow.

The first ballot resulted as follows: House, 67; Reese, 40; Shirer, 34; House, 20; Halstead, 17. Messrs. House and Halstead withdrew their names and another ballot was proceeded with.

Many of the delegates, especially the upper valley contingent, left before the second ballot was begun and as a consequence only 157 votes were polled. Chairman Brooks, Mayor Connel, John M. Harris and several other delegates were present to catch the 6:15 train for Harrisburg, where they went to attend the State League of Republican clubs' convention. Alderman Fuller was substituted for Chairman Brooks.

The second ballot resulted in the selection of Harris by the following vote: House, 83; Reese, 74; Shirer, 0.

HOPKINS FOR REGISTER.

For register of wills William H. Hopkins was nominated by Rev. M. D. Fuller, and George H. Shirer was nominated by A. K. Detswiler. The ballot resulted as follows: Hopkins, 86; Shirer, 31.

Captain Kellow at this juncture introduced a resolution empowering the county committee to fill any vacancy that may occur on the county ticket by reason of death, resignation or any other cause. This was unanimously adopted.

On motion of W. H. Withers, the nomination of Clarence E. Pryor for county treasurer was made by acclamation. Then the battle for jury commissioner began. The following were placed in nomination, Charles A. Wiggins, Scranton; John A. Hilstead, Scranton; Thomas Jehu, Scranton; T. J. Matthews, Spring Brook; W. J. Schumblin, Olyphant; Philip C. Kellow, Scranton. The first ballot resulted as follows: Scherer, 29; Wiggins, 23; Matthews, 23; Schumblin, 10; Hilstead, 4; Jehu, 3.

There being no election the lowest three were dropped and another ballot ordered. It resulted as follows: Matthews, 31; Wiggins, 23; Scherer, 29. Scherer was dropped and the third ballot was taken.

T. J. MATTHEWS CHOSEN.

Not more than half the delegates voted, a great many being absent and others voting by proxy. There was a kick made against the proxy voting, but it was decided to allow it.

On motion of Will A. Raul, the candidates in conjunction with the chairman of the convention, were empowered to select the county committee.

A third ballot was then taken and it resulted in a tie, Matthews and Wiggins each securing 394 votes.

Mr. Stephens, of Carbondale township, changed his half vote from Wiggins to Matthews, and the latter was declared nominated. There was some objection to this mode of disposing of the election, but as the delegates were getting weary they declined to discuss the propriety of the proceedings, and when an appeal was made from the decision it was lost by a yell which betokened that the majority of the delegates were hungry.

It was 7:35 when the convention adjourned.
