Crowded Audiences Attended the Laurel Hil Park Musical Festival.

DR. PARRY ON LOCAL TALENT

Scranton Music Is Highly Praised. Bauer's Band Gets Three Hundred Dollars-Bellevue Boys Carry The Trophy-Mrs. D. B. Thomas' Ladies' Choir Again Successful. Three Thousand Attended Last Night-Festival a Success.

Old Sol favored the Laurel Hill festival with his genial smile yesterday and dispelled the fears of the patrons that the success of the gathering would be marred by a continuance of the rain which came down so heavily during the early hours of the morning and lowered the hopes of the patrons to a corresponding degree.

The committee worked most energetically to insure the anccess of the festival. Substantial seats were erected which together with the chairs provided for reserved seats accommodated over 3 000 eisteddfodians. The spa-cious platform covered with an immense awning afforded all the spectators an excellent view of the performers. The duties of the conductor of the afternoon session were most ably discharged by J. W. Parson Price, of New

The session was opened by the rendi-tion of "The Star Spangled Banner" by the competing school choirs, led by Mr. Prize, after which he explained that the president, Benjamin Hughes, of Washburn street, was unable to at-tend, and introduced William J. Lewis, of Catasanqua, who was accorded a cordial reception, and in a brief address stated that he had come 100 miles to see one of the most prominent children of the noble old institution— Dr. Parry—who was present as musical adjudicator. After passing a glowing tribute upon the doctor's accomplishments he declared the eisteddfod open. LADIES' CHOIR COMPETITION.

The Ladies' choir competition created great interest, the contestants being Mrs. D. B. Thomas' choir and Mrs. Kate Crossin-O'Brien choir, led by Mrs. W. J. Powell. The test pieces were "The Bridal of the Birds" and "My True Love Hath My Heart." Dr. Parry in giving his adjudication declared that he was charmed with the excellence of the singing. The first choir had beautiful voices, neat precision, clear enumeration, sweet elasticity of voices. Balancing of parts was excellent and the intonation perfect. Of the second choir, he said, the total tonality and blending was not up to standard of the first choir and did not show the variety in quality of voices or the same care in training. He therefore awarded the prize, $100 to the first choir led by Mrs. D. B. Thomas, of South Main avenue The next contest was the double quartette rendition of "The Sea Hath Its Charms," by Pinsuti in which the following participated: Miss Lydia Sailor and party, of Soranton: David Elias and party, of Plymouth, and John T. Watkins and party, of Hyde Park. In delivering his adjudication, Dr. Parry warmly commended the massive choruses usually chosen as best pieces in Wales. In the present competition delicacy rather than vigor was required. The prize was awarded to David Elias and party, of Plymonth, and a cheek for $40 was accordingly handed to the successful conductor.

WATKINS WON THE PRIZE. In the baritone solo, "The Toreador's Song," five competitors appeared, viz: T. C. Lewis, of Wilkes-Barre; William Evans, Evan Myles, David Bynon, John T. Watkins, of Scranton. Dr. Parry gave a lengthy adjudication and showered praise upon John T. Wat-kins in awarding him the prize of $12. The concluding competition was "The Star Spangled Banner," by school choirs, the conductor to be under 16 years of age. The following competed: The Bellevue choir, conducted by Eddie Davis (13); the Fourth

Ward school choir, conducted by John H. Thomas (14) and another choir from the same school, conducted by Morgan Hawkins (13). The first choir made an innovation by waving minia-ture star spangled banners. Intense interest was aroused in the competition, and in giving his adjudication Dr Parry stated that he was pleased to see the boy conductors and the excellent manner in which they performed their duties. The prize was awarded to the Bellevue choir.

The evening meeting opened with a much increased audience, three thousand people crowding the seats. The president of the evening session. Oliver Williams, of Catasauqua, delivered a stirring oration on "Music" which was listened to with absorbing atten-

Master Morgan DeFoye, of Freeland, Pa., was the only competitor in the cornet solo contest and was awarded the prize of $12. The test piece was "The Secret," by Hazel.
Llaw Herbert and Dan Thomas, of Shamokin, gave the old Welsh duet, "Betty Wynn," for which an encore was loudly demanded and responded to.

The competition in the dust, "The Two Bards" (by Parsons Price), prize $16-drew forth six parties. Dr. Parry declared William Evans and David Abrahams, of Hyde Park, the winners and described the competition as the keenest of the day. Dr. Parry in delivering the adjudica-tion complimented Parsons Price, the composer of the duet upon the beauty of the music and urged that Welshman should set a premium upon the produc-tions of their fellow-countrymen.

BAND COMPETITION. Although several brass bands had entered the competition on Zampa's overture. Bauer's band was the only one to appear and were awarded the prize of $300. Dr. Parry, in making his adjudication, delivered a warm eulogium upon the young and gifted conductor and highly recommended the artistic style, phrasing, tempo, and the prayer also was rendered in a manner truly devotional. The claronet solo was warmly praised.

The Jermyn Brass band had a walkover in the contest for the best rendi-tion of the "Hallelejah Chorus," for which a prize of $100 had been offered. The adjudicator expressed the sentiments of many interested in the festival that it was extremely regrettable that despite the handsome prizes of-fered but one band entered in each contraction will be the great choral com-petition, subject, "The Hunting Song," Mendelscohn, prize $600. Contestants on Welsh and English recitations will meet at 9 a. m. st Liberty hall, Washington avenue. Contestants on soprano, contralto and tenor solos will have a preliminary examination at 8 a. m. over Powell's music store, Wyoming avenue. Three sessions of the festival will be held today, viz.: 10 a. m., 2.30 p. m. and 7 p. m.

M'DONALD WAS HOT.

Cooled Under the Eloquence of Engineer Healey and Decided Not Use His Gun.

Surveyor Healey and corps of the city engineer's department were yes-terday given the alternative of leaving the vicinity of Uriah McDonald's property on North Main avenue, near Leggett's creek, or being shot. After a cer tain display of diplomacy on the part of Mr. Healey neither alternative was resorted to. Previous to awarding the contract for the construction of a stone culvert in place of the bridge over Leggets' creek on North Main avenue, stakes were located there by the city engineers. Contractor Julius Maier notified the department Wednesday that the stakes had been pulled from the ground by Uriah McDonald, an abutting property owner. When Mr. Healey and his assistants visited the spot yesterday McDonald admitted the act and said he would shoot any particular en-gineer or number of engineers who placed so much as a foot upon the spot where the stakes were located. He claimed an encroachment upon his property. The corps had been prepared for Mr. McDonald's indignant attitude and by persuasive argument and a copy of measurement the irate man was convinced of the falsity of his position. Mr. Healey's pleading occupied one hour and forty-seven minutes to prove to Mr. McDonald that the city had the right to build the bridge and to build it according to original plan and measurement. Work upon the structure will begin today and will entail at least a day's cessation of traffic at that point. A false construction will be made and travel will be uninterrupted during the two months of building.

W. H. STANTON NAMED FOR JUDGE

Martin Jordan Was Turned Down for Senator and Promptly Balled the Party, Declaring That It Was No Good Anyway-Other Candidates Who Will Uphold the People's Party Banner in the County This Fall.

It was not a large convention that the People's party of the county held yesterday in the hall at 419 Lackawanna avenue, but it was made up of earnest men who believe that the Peo-ple's party is the only political organization that appeals strongly to the workingman for his support.

The meeting was enlivened by the remarks of Martin Jordan, who was defeated for the senatorial nomination. He declared that the party was no better than either of the old political divisions; that it held conventions at which no one but a slated candidate could be nominated; that he voted the People's party ticket at the last election for which he was heartily sorry and of which act he would not be guilty sgain. After insinuating that he could tell some deep, dark, damnable stories about the inner workings of the party if he chose to do so, he bade the dele gates good afternoon

GETTING DOWN TO BUSINESS. The convention was called to order nt 10 o'clock yesterday and a tem-porary organization formed by the election of J. J. Morgan as chairman and Peter Frank and A. C. Houck as secretaries. The following committees were then approved: Permanent organization—John Maher M. J. Coleman and John Drummond. Resolutions—John Grey, A. L. Wilsey, and W. E. Moses.

Membership — Martin Jordan, John Stagerwalt, John Regan.

Short addresses were delivered by M J. Coleman, Charles Andrews John Groy, John Goebel and Mr. Sickler, of Greenfield. The convention then adjourned until 2 p. m.

At that hour the body re-assembled and Chairman Morgan explained that the convention was not held in the court house, because that was the entrenchment of the enemy, and it is probable that the convention would have been filled with "ringers" if held there, as was the recent People's party convention held in Chicago.

He read a communication stating that J. T. Ailman, People's candidate for governor, will be in the city next Monday night and inviting all mem hers of the party to unite in giving him a reception. The temporary organization was made permanent and then Mr. Grey read the report of the committee on resolutions which stated that it is impossible under existing conditions to get legislation favorable to the laboring man. The position of both the Democratic and Republican parties on the tariff was condemned, better legislation for the laboring man was demanded and "an injury to one is the concern of all" was put forward as the motto of the body. The resolutions

THE CANDIDATES NAMED. Chairman Morgan then called for nominations and the following county ticket was named: Congress, Attorney Cornelius Smith; judge, Attorney W. H. Stanton; sheriff, Thomas O'Boyle, tressurer, August Wahler; prothono-tary, William York; district attorney, John B. Collings; recorder of deeds, J. J. Siekler, Greenfield; elerk of the courts, John Gray; register of wills, John Swilinsky, Olyphant; jury com-missioner, W. E. Moses, Priceburg All of these nominations were made by acclamation.

Candidates Stanton, Gray, Sickler and Moses were brought before the convention and made speeches accepting the honors thrust on them and thanking the convention. The chair-man of the convention and candidates were empowered to name a chairman of the county committee and that committee was authorized to fill any vaeancy that may occur in the county ticket. Thomas Gilroy made a speech requesting workmen to stand together for their rights and not to be lured away by false lights, and then the convention passed a resolution offered by Albert Butterman thanking Mr. Pullman for the services he rendered the country in opening the eyes of the American people to the necessity of government control of railroads. The resolution, with the thanks of the convention, will be sent to Mr. Pullman.

The county convention adjourned at this point and immediately reassembled as a senatorial convention, Albert Butler being selected as chairman. JORDAN TURNED DOWN

Thomas Gilroy nominated Martin Jordan for senator and John J. Morgan did the same service for A. J. Atkinson, president of the local painters' union. Atkinson received 21 and Jordan 4 The latter openly charged that he had been unfairly treated and that a slate had been prepared against him. The senatorial convention adjourned and on motion of M. J. Coleman it was decided to allow the county committee to select the four candidates for legislature in the county.
