LIARS PUT IN CLASSES

Evangelist Moody Describes the Peculiarities of Each.

THE PLEASURES OF THE WORLD

What Mr. Moody Thinks of Card Playing, Theater Going, Etc.—Services That Will Be Held on Sunday. Brief Synopsis of Mr. Moody's Talk Last Night in the Elm Park Church.

At the Moody services yesterday at the Elm Park church the edifice was taxed to its utmost seating capacity. In the evening and the afternoon audiences completely filled the auditorium and main gallery, and was distributed over a portion of the rear hall.

In the evening Mr. Moody treated of the pleasures of the world. He described the birth of the spirit in man. He said: "If I asked you if Jesus of Nazareth taught the truth you'd all vote 'yes.' Just as important a question is 'have you been born again of the spirit from above?' Christ taught that there is one way to enter the kingdom of God and that is to be born of the spirit. Trinity, redemption and justification are not clearly understood until one has been born of the spirit.

Going to church or being a sister or brother of an ardent one don't make you a Christian; villains go to church to hide their rascality. It's like saying a prayer and not praying. Why, when I was a little boy it was saying, 'Now I lay me, and my brother kicked me from the bed, I'd swear at him. Christianity, the new birth, is now making vows, crying over funeral sermons and the like. You might as well say a dead man has life as to say that a man has a heart and has not Christ. If a photographer came in to this city to take pictures of people's hearts he wouldn't find a customer. You couldn't hire 'em to submit to it. The picture of man's heart is defiled. Will any deny it? Get the heart right and the foot, eye, hand and life will be right—a new life, a new spirit born again.

can't conceive a greater pleasure than to receive God's nature. All things of Heaven are heavenly. There's a mighty truth in the fable of the crane, which, after listening to the story of the swan about heaven, didn't want to go into God's kingdom because in Heaven there was no snails to eat.

If God can save the vilest drunkard or harlot who walks the streets of Scranton tonight, don't you think he could save you? Let your heart be willing and let the spirit come.

ABOUT WORLDLY PLEASURES

At the afternoon service Mr. Moody's remarks struck a particularly popular vein from the fact that he dwelt upon card playing, theater-going and other customs considered within the realm of worldly things. His opinion is that whatever pleasures one undertakes, those pleasures are proper if one has the grace of God with him; but in view of God having provided so many better things, he doubted if any one enthused with the pleasures of the world would enter into the so-called worldly pleasures.

After announcing "Overcoming Life" as his subject he said that material birth is not sufficient; one must be born of the spirit. The fact that the most worthy Biblical characters fell through the weakness of their supposed strongest points is applicable to men of today. "The man who overcometh his own faith is greater than him who taketh a city." In battle many a life has been lost through under-estimating the strength of the enemy, and the observation is true of the lust, jealousy, covetousness, temper and other weaknesses of mankind. Mr. Moody averred that the surest cure for these sinful characteristics is an open confession and apology to the person injured.

CLASSIFICATION OF LIARS

He divided liars into the following classes: Political, social, business, fashionable, white and black liars, whose cure he guaranteed if they followed the prescription for covetousness, jealousy, etc. The medicine is so unpalatable that the disease will stop out of respect for the cure.

"These border Christians," he said, "people who try to live both worldly and Christian lives, get more clabbing than any other class; they have the respect of neither Christian nor worldly people. I have of the white necktie smoker, but I don't smoke because I would lose my self-respect and lose my chances of being able to influence others; I don't know one playing card from another for the same reason. I've been asked why I don't go to the theater; because I'd rather eat dirt, because I can find better things to do. I only asked me why I was opposed to theater-going, but admitted that she had never heard me preach against it. I don't preach against these things, but I do preach that any man who follows these practices while feeling that he might do something better is guilty of sin.

"If you can play progressive euchre with the grace of God play it; if you cannot do this then give it up. If you overcome the world or shall it overcome you? Everything grows, sin grows; now are you getting a victory over desires within or the world without? If any question develops in your mind between the world and Christ, give the latter the benefit of the doubt. "He that overcometh shall inherit all things." Even persecution and ridicule should not sway you from the right."

The services in the West Side Gospel tent last evening were well attended. The meeting opened with a song service at 7.30 o'clock, after which Rev. L. C. Floyd, D.D., pastor of the Simpson Methodist Episcopal church, offered prayer. Mr. Bliss spoke on Christ healing the withered man.

The following are the announcements of the meetings which will be held on Sunday in connection with the Moody campaign: At 3.30 p. m. E. W. Bliss will speak in the gospel tent on the West Side. The subject of the address will be "The Three Appearing." At 4 o'clock Mr. Moody will address a meeting of women in the Elm Park church. This meeting has been announced to be held at 4.30 o'clock, but it has been necessary to change the time to 4.

At 7.30 p. m. Mr. Bliss will speak in the gospel tent, West Side. His subject will be "Two Men." At 7.30 p. m. Mr. Moody will speak in the Frothingham theater to men only. His subject will be, by request, "Sawing and Roasting."

At 7.45 the Penn Avenue Baptist church and the Second Presbyterian church will unite with the Elm Park church in the Elm Park church, in a service which will be addressed by the Rev. Warren G. Partridge, of the Penn Avenue Baptist church. Everybody is cordially invited to attend this union service.

There will be no services held today, and up to the present time it has not yet been decided to hold any on Monday. But on Tuesday and Wednesday Mr. Moody will speak in the Elm Park church at 8 o'clock on "The Holy Spirit." From 4 o'clock until 5 he will conduct a prayer meeting. Pastors of churches in outlying towns are requested to give notice to their congregations of the Bible readings next Tuesday and Wednesday.

WANTED TO SHAKE HER HUSBAND.

Mrs. Ike Asked the Poor Board to Assist Her to Do So.

The meeting of the poor board yesterday was for a while on the breezy line. Mr. Gibbons made a number of speeches, with the result that his views were adopted in each case that came before the board for deliberation.

The first one was the case of Mary Judge, whose parents live in Dunmore. Last May the girl took the grip and the sickness unbalanced her mind. Her parents sent her to a private institution in Philadelphia. After four weeks' confinement she appeared to regain her reason and was sent home, but was not long at home until symptoms of dementia again began to develop. She was sent back to Philadelphia where she is at present.

Colonel H. M. Boies became interested and appeared with an intercession, asking the board to take charge of the case, and, when the board agreed to do so and was about to make an order for her admittance to the insane department of the Hillside home, Colonel Boies thought that it would be a more beneficial step for this girl if she were sent to Danville, where she would be better taken care of. Mr. Gibbons objected to sending the girl to Danville, stating that the facilities at the home were fully as sufficient as at Danville. After a short discussion, the case was referred to a committee of three with power to act.

The usual number of applications for relief were heard and granted. Mrs. Josephine Ike appeared and wanted transportation to Stroudsburg. After some questioning, which she replied to in a very sharp manner, Secretary Lynett asked her if she wanted a ticket for her husband too, she replied, "No, no, I want to shake him."

The report of Superintendent G. W. Beemer, of the Hillside home, for the month of August showed that the 151 males and 104 female paupers and forty-seven insane paupers are kept at the home. The report of Assistant Physician E. F. Evans was a tabulated statement of the number of cases attended to during the month.

WOES OF A PEDAGOGUE.

Mischivous Boys Show No Respect for an Instructor.

Herman Rutlinberg, of 409 Raymond court, conducts a private day school at his residence, at which he strives to teach the young boys in the neighborhood. His pupils, named Ledy and Walsh, amuse themselves by curving stones at the windows of the school and the expense required to replace broken window panes after the boys have tired themselves pelting makes a big hole in the income of the professor as well as in the window lights.

He went to Alderman Fuller's office yesterday afternoon and had a warrant sworn out for the arrest of the boys.

MISS CHASE AT THE FROTHINGHAM.

Did Not Score a Success in Her Play, 1896

Hettie Bernard Chase and her company gave "1896" at the Frothingham last night, and the result was a very high order. The living pictures, which were seen for the first time in this city, were well produced, but were marred by the experience in shifting them on the stage.

This afternoon "The Little Coquette" will be given and tonight "1896" will be seen again.

The Scranton Business College.

If any had doubts as to the success of the business college, said doubts were dispelled by the opening on Monday last. Double the number of prominent citizens had entered on that day, some came on Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, and many others arranged to enter next week.

The usual order has splendid classes in shorthand in both sessions. He has already proven himself to be the instructor he was advertised to be. Ability soon makes itself apparent. James J. Hamilton, esq., delivered an interesting lecture on commercial law before the students yesterday afternoon. The school is now in splendid working order, but voters are invited to call and see it and the building, even though you are not interested in a business education. Visitors will be welcomed at all hours of the day.

Travelling on Air. J. F. Aldrich, of Oneida, N. Y., was yesterday exhibiting a road vehicle with pneumatic tires, of which he is the manufacturer. A number of prominent citizens and newspaper men were treated to a ride in a trap running on pneumatic tires. Today he will exhibit his vehicles at the Driving park.

GUARDIANS OF HEALTH

Dr. Allen Presented a Thoughtful Report for Their Consideration.

PLACES WHERE DANGER LURKS

The Wooden Pavé in Front of the Markets on Penn Avenue is to Be Deodorized Daily—Next Friday the Members of the Board Will Go to Elmhurst to Examine the Reservoirs and Water Shed.

The board of health had a most interesting meeting yesterday afternoon. When the routine preliminary business had been passed Sanitary Officer Burke explained that it was the order of Health Officer Allen to him to swear out a warrant and serve it on Michael Hand, proprietor of the Meadow Brook brewery, for dumping into the Starford Meadow brook refuse from the brewery, polluting the stream and becoming accessory to maintaining a nuisance. The warrant was sworn out accordingly and was about to be served the day Mr. Hand was thrown from his carriage and injured. Since then the nuisance has been abated. The following report was submitted by Health Officer Allen:

During the month of August the work of the health department has been satisfactory as possible. The councils are doing everything to facilitate matters and if property holders in certain districts of the city would show a little willingness to correct some bad conditions themselves, it would be all the better.

The little Lackawanna river, I am happy to say, is deodorizing and disinfecting the sewage of the city in its usual style, notwithstanding the long drought, but where would we be if the mine pumps should stop running for a few days? Councilman Roche is earnestly advocating in council the erection of a city market house, a consummation most devoutly to be wished. There certainly is a crying need for such a structure. Scranton is behind little towns of 10,000 inhabitants all over the state.

A STRIKE AT WOODEN PAVES. Should this material lower Penn avenue might become less unclean, though not decent while the rotten old blocks remain. I can't but think that the removal from the horse ambulances is now a thing of the past, as covered metallic cans serve to do the work perfectly.

I would suggest to the board that postal card blanks be furnished to physicians and midwives, especially the latter, as I am informed they have charge of most of the cases and seldom report. The birth rate should be graded. The nuisance at Deacon street can be easily corrected by connecting with a private sewer which empties into the river. The street commissioner declines doing this as the street is not graded. The nuisance at Deacon street can be easily corrected by connecting with a private sewer which empties into the river. The street commissioner declines doing this as the street is not graded.

The mortality for the month of August showed a total of 139 deaths as against 161 in July. So far this year 1,030 deaths have occurred. Births for the month amounted to 172, and contagious diseases to 21.

OUR WATER SUPPLY.

A communication from City Clerk Martin T. Lavelle relating to the water supply was read. The sanitary committee of council sent a recommendation to the board that the city water be analyzed once a month and the result submitted to the committee. This met with favor, but Colonel Ripple explained that at a very conservative calculation the expense of such would be at least $15 for each reservoir, of which there are five, making a total of $75 per month, and there is no appropriation to cover this expense.

By motion it was decided to notify councils to make an appropriation necessary. Health Officer Allen reported that West Lackawanna avenue was suffering from lack of sanitation and general uncleanness, and he added that if the street commissioner were instructed to flush it twice a week, there might be some relief obtained. The suggestion was put into effect by motion.

Some time ago the property owners living along Sanderson creek in Green Ridge, who had been using the creek at the basin for all their sewage, were notified to desist, and at the same time an effort was made to make provision whereby they could connect with a private sewer. The arrangements fell through and the families were ordered to cease using the creek, as the stuff was carried to the doors of people living below it, making life almost intolerable in that vicinity.

In compliance with the suggestion in the report of Dr. Allen in regard to disinfecting Penn avenue between Lackawanna avenue and Center street, on motion of Colonel Ripple the board resolved to purchase a street sprinkler and with it sprinkle the market place each day with water saturated with deodorizing disinfectant.

The members will visit the reservoirs and watersheds at Elmhurst next Friday, leaving in carriages at 8 o'clock a. m.
