Rain Prevented All Scheduled Eastern League Games Saturday.

STANDING OF THE VARIOUS CLUBS

Providence Will Have a Goodly Margin Over All Clubs When the Eastern League Season Ends—National and State League Games Played Saturday—General Sporting Miscellany.

RAIN prevented all the Eastern league games scheduled to be played Saturday. A glance at the subjoined table of averages will show that Providence will have a commanding lead for second place followed by Erie, Springfield and Buffalo are having a hard time at present in deciding which will occupy fourth place, with the former leading by one point. Both of these clubs are hard pushed by Wilkes-Barre, which club is only four points behind the latter of the two. The remaining positions are held by Scranton and Tonawanda respectively, and the season will doubtless finish without any change so far as these clubs are concerned.

The following table gives the percentages of the clubs, number of games won and lost by each and their standing in the league race:

Club	Won	Lost	Per Ct.
Providence	34	3	.917
Erie	23	10	.697
Springfield	23	11	.676
Buffalo	21	13	.615
Wilkes-Barre	20	14	.588
Scranton	19	15	.559
Tonawanda	18	16	.529

PASSED BALLS.

Comely is sore over the fact that he let Hogan go. The little outsider is doing great work for the Brock team.

McGraw received a present of a pair of diamond set sleeve buttons from an ardent admirer the other day.

Johnson, the crack pitcher of the St. Joseph team, Neb., is in Pittsburgh, where he will join the Philadelphia, his release having been purchased by that club.

The New York Sun says that Meekin has the better fielding average and has also lost fewer games than Kieble, but the latter is considered the better pitcher.

The Scranton club returned from their trip Saturday and will meet the Providence club at the park today. They will play on the home ground every day this week.

The stockholders of the Scranton club held a meeting Saturday and struck a balance on its account for the season. It was discovered that they had cleared $5,000 during the season.

Cincinnati wants the Baltimore to play double games in that city on the coming western trip, but Manager Hanlon has no idea of trying his men untried as early at this stage of the race and refuses.

The Providence team are to play a picked team in Bridgeport on Sept. 19. The picked team will be captained by James H. O'Rourke, formerly of the New York, Boston and Washington.

Den Bronthers is troubled with a very sore finger on his right hand, caused by a thrown ball in one of the Cleveland games, and he is unable to grip his bat tightly. This interferes somewhat with his batting work.

Leo Smith will not be seen at short again this season. His hand was severely injured in a game recently and Manager Shill will place him on the bench unless there should be an urgent necessity for him to cover right field.

The Bostoners are very weak just now in their batteries. Both New York and Baltimore have a decided advantage over the champions in this respect, and as the race has turned into a driving finish between the three leaders both clubs should easily beat them out.

The Baltimore have nineteen more games to play than the Cubs of these in with Chicago on the home grounds this afternoon. Hanlon and his men will leave Baltimore to-night for Louisville, where they will play three games. Three games follow in Cincinnati and then come five in Pittsburgh. Two of these are the postponed games of Decoration Day.

The present race for the Eastern League pennant bids fair to be the most closely and hotly contested in the history of the national game. While I have every confidence in the ability and integrity of my official staff of umpires, I shall expect every man to make an extra effort to do good work. The fact that three clubs are fighting hard for the coveted prize is a matter that does not and should affect our work or concern us in the least as officials in umpiring all games you must, and I am sure you will, ignore the question as to who the contestants are, and strive only to do good, clean, honest work, without the slightest fear or favor.

TRACK WAS SLOW AND MUDDY.

Rain Also Interfered with the Attendance on Saturday.

The rain played havoc with the attendance at Saturday's races of the Gentlemen's Driving club and also spoiled the attractions of the ear by causing numerous scratches and making it difficult to see the start and finish of the races.

The management begins to think that interest in the races is not what it should be and will make a bid for more general public patronage by enforcing rules against slow and unpunctual drivers and possibly by soliciting the attendance of non-professional drivers and horses from out of town.

The road race developed an event of uncertainty when Horace, owned by Dr. Wentz, won the first heat. The following heats were won easily by H. T.

The first heat of the 250 class included a spirited contest in the home stretch between Maud L. and Little Asia, the former winning by a length. Pet Hand made a strong bid for first position in the second heat but could not be kept in hand.

In the 3-minute class Frank S. Gava, Mr. Shelly's Beauty a royal sprint in the second heat, and the mare's win furnished one of the best finishes of the day.

Duke and Mollie were the only starters in the 240 class. The first heat was won by a scant length and the last heat quite handsily by the mare.

Following are the summaries:

Road race to sulkes—
Horace, Dr. Wentz.....1 3 2
George, John Fritz.....4 4 4
Beauty, M. J. Payne.....3 3 3

THE RAIN INTERFERED.

Tournament of the Scranton Lawn Club Will Be Continued Today.

The tournament of the Scranton Lawn club will be continued today on the Platt place grounds, beginning at 10 o'clock.

The second day's play was begun Saturday morning, but had to be abandoned owing to the rain. Johnson won by default from Lathrop. In the doubles, Johnson and Fuller defeated Torrey and Chittenden 6-2 and 6-4; Torrey and Moon won from Kirkpatrick and Snyder, 6-0 and 6-3.

The present score, aside from Saturday's games, is as follows:

Preliminary—Loveland-Chittenden, 6-3, 6-4; Johnson-Loveland, 6-4, 6-2; Lathrop-Maud L., ch. f., S. S. Seaman, 6-3, 6-3; 6-4; Kingsbury-Jones, 6-3, 2-6, 6-1; Torrance-Kingsbury, 6-1, 6-2; E. Torrey-Oreard, 6-3, 6-5; F. Fuller-R. Warriner, 6-6, 6-3; 6-9; H. Kirkpatrick-Moon, 6-3; 6-2; Blair-Walker, 6-3, 6-0.

DOUBLES.

Brooke and Hunt-Bellin and Moffat, 6-3, 4-6, 6-2; E. Torrey and Chittenden-Oreard and Lathrop, 6-4, 6-2; Kirkpatrick and Snyder-Jessup and Warriner, 6-4, 6-0; 7-5; Kingsbury and Sandersou-L. Fuller and W. Torrey, 6-3, 5-6, 6-1.

In today's doubles Johnson and Fuller will play the winners of the Brooks and Hunt, Archibald and Knapp sets, Torrance and Moon will play the winners of the Kingsbury and Sandersou-Jones and Loveland sets. If Johnson and Fuller and Torrance and Moon meet in the finals extremely sharp play, ing will be witnessed.

WHEEL WHIRRS.

E. M. Higley, of Somersworth, N. Y., has invented a bicycle which promises to double the speed of the fastest bicycle. It is a double wheel, in which the front wheel is connected with the rear wheel by a double wheel, which acts on the outer wheel, and it is steered by the action of the body of the rider.

Sait was recently brought against the California Midwinter International Exposition by several racing men. It is claimed that through Charles Wells, William Terrill and Harry F. Terrill the company offered prizes for a bicycle meet held on the grounds, but that the prizes were forthcoming after the races. A verdict of $145 was rendered in favor of the wheeler.

The mayor and park commissioners of Brooklyn have decided to forbid bicyclists the use of the path in Prospect park. They ran over too many people.

GENERAL SPORTING NOTES.

Johnnie Murphy, of Boston, who is matched to fight Billy Plimmer at the Olympic club at New Orleans Sept. 24, is in Baltimore accompanied by his trainer and manager, James Conry, and is occupying training quarters at Jake Kilrain's hotel.

Only one tennis match was played at Hamilton, Ont., Saturday. The final in the men's doubles, in which E. P. Fisher, of New York, after winning almost every thing else, was beaten, with R. Moreton, of Hamilton, as partner, by E. A. Avery, of Detroit, and A. F. Fuller, of Boston.

One Laugh on Us.

The Republicans on the state and Lockawanna county tickets are as tough looking as their portraits in the SCRANTON TRIBUNE Saturday would make them, they are a sorry lot. But they are not.

CONCRETE ROADS.

There is not a rural town within board distance of a great city which could not slight expense assure itself all the city boarders that it could accommodate by the simple process of systematically and intelligently improving and beautifying its roads. If it were to appoint a town committee with power to employ experts, or to obtain expert advice, and to carry out the suggestions thus obtained in road improvement, the mere public advertisement of that proceeding would attract boarders from all directions. The expense would not be great. In nearly every case the gravel or cracked stone necessary for the construction of a serviceable, well drained road can be obtained within moderate distances.

There is, for example, in some parts of Orange county, in New York state, a kind of soft red sandstone to be found in great abundance, which crumbles readily under the wheels and makes a hard, firm road-bed, which is never dusty and never muddy, which is resistant to the horse's feet and most agreeable to ride over. Ordinary gravel can be used with almost equally good results. The main thing is to secure something like scientific knowledge in the construction of the road and in the mixture of materials. The scientific idea is anybody can make a road by shoveling dirt into the middle of it. From the gutter, or what is the same thing in a wholesale form, hauling it there by means of a "scraper," must be abandoned at the outset, and not only abandoned but prohibited until it is done to reform will be possible.—Century.

An Eminent Mode of Burial.

Of all the modes of burial ever practiced by creatures in the shape of human beings the method of the Queensland nomads is certainly the most uncouth. After drying the corpse in the sun and knocking out its teeth for keepsakes, they deposit it on a framework of rough poles and bury it under a few armfuls of rushes and old kangaroo skins, leaving the bush wolves to sing its requiem.

No member of the dead man's tribe will within a mile of his grave for fear of being haunted by the spooks making the burial place their midnight rendezvous. The metaphysical opinions of the Australian aborigines prove, indeed, that savages can be afflicted with an abundance of superstitions without betraying a trace of anything deserving the name of religious sentiment.

They believe in evil spirits whistling in the blasts of the storm wind, and try to exercise them by spitting in the direction of the sky; but for the conceptions of the deity, of future existence, of reprobation, atonement and conscience, their language has not even a definite word. From somewhere in the land of their forefathers—eastern Asia, perhaps—they have imported a notion faintly resembling the Buddhist doctrine of metempsychosis, and believe that animals may be reborn as men, and that as human beings of a higher rank.

A Fish with Teeth on His Tongue.

The biggest of fresh water fishes, the "arapaima" of the Amazon, in South America, which grows to six feet in length, has teeth on its tongue, so that the teeth of the Amazon are as sharp as such. Some kinds of trout also have the same peculiarity. Fishes that swallow their prey entire have their teeth supported on flexible bases as to bend backward but not forward, in order that their victims shall not escape after they have been once seized. In the case of these voracious sharks, such as would make a mouthful of you without blinking, seventy feet in length.

Pleanty of their teeth have been found which are five inches long, whereas the biggest of the teeth belonging to sharks that exist at the present time are only a half inch long. Speaking of extinct creatures reminds me to say that all of the early birds—those of early geological times, that is—had teeth, with which they captured the early worms of the same period. Being descended from reptiles it is natural that they should possess a dental equipment, but when they ceased to be carnivorous they had no teeth any longer.—Interview in Washington Star.

Where Her Prayer Ended.

Little Fanny, five years old, was spending a week at her grandmother's, when word came of the arrival in her home of a baby brother. That night, as grandmother was putting her to bed, she noticed that the child did not mention the new comer in her prayers. She had asked God to bless her grandmother A—and her grandmother H—and both grandfathers by name, and the angel came by name, and last her dear father and mother and darling little sister Bell, even the old house dog and the old barn cat.

"Why, Fanny," said the aggrieved old lady, after the re-echoing "Amen" had signified that Fanny's petitions were over, "you have not asked God to bless the dear baby brother."

"No," cried the child; "I have not. Bell can do the praying for him."—Well Awake.

Hygiene.

It is useful to have a note of the first appearance of a word in our language. At the end of the first volume of the third edition of Southey's "Letters Written During a Journey in Spain," occurs a translation of the "Kites of the Royal College of Surgery at Madrid," compiled by Carlos III, 1787. Here we first find the second person singular "shall be of physiology and hygiene." To this word the following note is attached, "I do not understand this word, perhaps it means the doctrine of health." Southey was a great reader, and had a verbal memory to be envied. It is obvious that he had never met with hygiene before.—Notes and Queries.

When the Earth Was Young.

When the earth was young, says Dr. Ball, astronomer royal for Ireland, it went round so fast that the day was only three hours long. The earth was liquid then, and as it spun around and around, it flattened and sped, and as the sun caused ever increasing tides upon its surface, it at last burst in two. The smaller part became the moon, which has been going around the earth ever since at an increasing distance. The influence of the moon now rises tides in the earth, and while there was any liquid to operate on in the moon, the earth returned the compliment.—New York Telegram.

John R. Farr, who has represented the First Lackawanna representative district in the last two legislatures, is a candidate for re-election. His district embraces about one-half of the city of Scranton, and has an admirable representative in young Farr. He is always on the progressive side, and has a clear head on legislative questions. He has a clean record, and on questions touching the public education he is indisputably the leader in the house. The act of the last session, making it compulsory on school directors throughout the state to furnish free text books to the public school children was one of Mr. Farr's chief measures, and it is through his efforts that the compulsory education bill, which passed two legislatures only to be vetoed by Governor Pattison, will doubtless pass a third time, and be signed if Scranton retains Mr. Farr as its representative. His retirement would be a loss to the legislature and remove a zealous friend of public education from the place where he can do the most good. The Republicans of the First Scranton district should re-elect Mr. Farr to the position which he has filled for two terms, and whereby he has proved himself a useful and valuable member, not only for Lackawanna county, but for the entire state.
