

BASE BALL

Providence Takes the First Games of the Series from Scranton

BY A VERY NARROW MARGIN

Rainy Weather Prevents the Playing of All Other Scheduled Eastern League Games—Standing of the Clubs—National and State League Summaries—Base Ball, Bicycle and General Sporting Miscellany.

RAIN interfered with the playing of scheduled Eastern league games in every city of the circuit with exception of the game on the home grounds. Providence was the winner in this game and thus widened the gap already existing between it and its next nearest competitor for championship. The following table gives the percentages of the clubs, the number of games won and lost by each and their standing in the league:

HOLES IN THE BATS.

Scranton Could Not Hit the Sphere at the Right Time. Scranton lost another game at the park because a hit could not be made when it meant runs. It was in the ninth inning, the score was 6 to 5 in favor of Providence and Scranton had three men on bases. Rogers was the batsman and the 111 spectators urged him in many different ways to hit it hard.

He did so, but the blow was delivered in such a way that the ball went into the air and came down directly in the hands of centerfielder Murray. A variety of groans followed, and the 111 enthusiasts dispersed.

That was not the only opportunity we had of winning the game. If Hess had not dropped a fly in the field; if Lehane had spurted a little when running from first to second in the eighth, or had Hess been able to find the ball in the same inning, the result would have been different.

Scranton could not bat with anything like timeliness as sixteen men left on bases eloquently demonstrated. Delaney did some splendid work with the stick. He made a hit every time he went to bat having a total of four singles and a double.

The first four innings were played with vim and spirit. Then the rain began to fall and after it had ceased to some extent play was resumed. Delaney, however, had lost control of the ball and the Providence boys found him for seven singles in the fifth inning. He also gave a base of balls. Six runs for Providence was the result. They did not score afterwards but they had enough. Detailed score:

CYCLING GOSSIP.

Lenz, who is cycling the world a-whelm, has just been heard of again from Potosi. At his present rate of progress he is not likely to reach Constantinople before the end of the year.

A man with a head for figures has estimated that there are at least 800,000 bicycles in use in this country, and at an average cost of $100 each they would represent an outlay of $80,000,000.

It is reported that Willis Troy, who Zimmerman raced in Brussels, stopped the mayor of the city at the gate and refused to let him go through as a dead-head. The story goes on to say that the mayor finally paid up.

Hyslop, the Canadian champion, will compete in the national circuit races at Springfield this week. Hyslop has been riding very fast lately, and feels that he will be able to lower the colors of Johnson, Sanger and Tyler at Springfield.

Ziegler, the California cyclist, who recently carried off a majority of the races at the League American Wheelmen championship meet in Denver, is only 18 years of age. He will come east next month and try to lower all records from one to ten miles.

An interesting question among cyclist at present is whether the League American Wheelmen will take hold of professional cycling next season. Among many of the leading men in the league the feeling seems to be in favor of such a course. The departure of the League of American Wheelmen from the strictly amateur ruling this season is the adoption of class B is regarded as a direct leaning toward a branch that has hitherto been refused recognition.
