PURE CRYSTAL WATER TAKEN BY SURPRISE

Board of Health and Sanitary Committee Inspect Reservoirs. BUT ONE CAUSE FOR COMPLAINT

This Was Found at Justus, Where the Offal from a Slaughter House Flows Into a Creek That Feeds the Reservoir—Superintendent Fish Promises to Remove This Trouble—Will Visit Elmhurst Monday.

The board of health, health officers and members of council, accompanied by press representatives made an inspection yesterday of the water supply and reservoirs of the Providence Gas and Water company.

The first stop was made at No. 1 reservoir in Chinchilla. The occasional glints of sunlight from between heavy clouds exposed the pobby bottom of the basin, revealing the crystal clearness of the water. The surrounding woods were neat and well appointed.

Principally at No. 1 and No. 2 reservoirs and the space of land between them, the company has laid out in improvements the past year, $150,000.

The journey was again resumed and the next stop was made at No. 3 reservoir, the fountain head, at Justus. The drive along the country road was delightful, buckwheat fields and orchards were in full and a familiar sight was the farmer harvesting.

Colonel Ripple and Dr. Allen performed the functions of landlords and acquired themselves finely. After luncheon Dr. Allen passed around the cigars and the water sheds above the reservoir were examined.

The slaughter house of S. E. Ackerly stands on a little hillside and the runoff from it sometimes gets into a small creek, part of which empties into the reservoir.

After traveling along the borders of Mud creek the members of the board of health collected together and held an informal meeting relative to fixing a time for inspecting the dams of the Scranton Gas and Water company at Elmhurst.

Many Patients Admitted to St. Luke's Dalton Home This Season. SORT OF CHARITY WHICH PAYS

Several Urgent Cases Among the In-mates, Who Included All Nationalities and Religions—Excellent Results Reported—The Men's Guild Proposes to Build a Permanent Home and Increase Its Field of Usefulness.

The St. Luke's Summer home, at Dalton, has, after a very successful and beneficial work, been closed for this season.

The home, which is situated two miles from the village of Dalton, is in the midst of a charming region eminently adapted in its surroundings to please the eye and cheer the mind of invalids, who generally, after a long illness, welcome with rapture the change from the city to the free and open country life.

The home was under the management of the Men's guild of St. Luke's church which was ably represented in the courteous and energetic guild master, A. D. Holland.

The St. Luke's hospital impressed the visitors as being perfect in its appointments. The important work which it has done is a commendation in itself.

The House of the Good Shepherd was awarded the warmest praise of the members. Colonel Boies explained to the reporter that they inspected the building thoroughly.

CITY INSTITUTIONS ARE INSPECTED

The State Board of Charities Is in the City.

Three members of the state board of public charities—Colonel H. M. Boies, of Scranton; Dr. J. W. C. O'Neal, of Gettysburg, and Secretary C. Biddle, of Philadelphia, yesterday visited the county jail, hospitals and other charitable institutions in the city.

The following institutions were visited: The county jail, Lackawanna hospital, Oral school, Green Ridge; St. Joseph's Foundling home, St. Patrick's Orphan asylum, Home of the Good Shepherd and Home for the Friendless.

The jail was found in good order and the only matter criticized were the double beds in one cell, which was strongly objected to by the prisoners.

The St. Luke's hospital impressed the visitors as being perfect in its appointments. The important work which it has done is a commendation in itself.

The House of the Good Shepherd was awarded the warmest praise of the members. Colonel Boies explained to the reporter that they inspected the building thoroughly.
