William Drysdale, a Well Known Shoemaker, Dies by Shooting Three Bullets Into His Body. In a back yard, just behind his shop, a few minutes before 8 o'clock yesterday evening, William Drysdale, a well known shoemaker of Taylor, committed suicide by shooting himself three times in the left breast. The deed was done with a small caliber weapon, and although two of the bullets went through his heart, the other one taking effect but an inch below, the unfortunate man lived a half hour, but did not recover consciousness. He was removed to the station, where Dr. Pyne and Dr. Houser were summoned. Drysdale was beyond medical aid and expired without uttering a word after his act. Drysdale, in his gloomy moods, often said he would end his life. He boarded with Thomas R. Nicholas on Main street, where his remains were finally taken. He had been drinking heavily for the past two weeks. While at his shop Saturday morning shots were heard in that vicinity. Drysdale was found behind the shop in a greatly excited condition, and he admitted that his enemies were after him and meant to take his life. The revolver was taken from him. Robert Moore met Drysdale after he left the Davis drug store last evening and did not suspect that he was bent on self-destruction. When Mr. Moore parted with him Drysdale said he had three pistol shots rang out. He had gone to a coal house in the rear, leaned against the side of it and ended his life. About eight months ago he was waylaid at night by an unknown assailant and terribly beaten with a blackjack. Since then, whenever he gave himself up to drink, his actions have been queer. The act which ended his life yesterday was not unexpected. As far as is known he had not a relative in his country. His parents were Scotch, and he was about 35 years of age. Seven years ago he took up his residence in Taylor and did a thriving business at his trade. One laudable trait was his fondness for little children. He was troubled with melancholy, and the only way he resorted to for relief from his morbid feelings was the liquor habit. Although uneducated his mind was a storehouse of historical events, and he was gifted with a talent for mimicry that he often used for the amusement of his companions.

MAAN WITH NINE LIVES Holleran's Exciting Experience With a Railroad Train. Michael Holleran, of the Twentieth ward, while on his way to work Saturday morning, had a thrilling experience and a miraculous escape from death. He is employed as blacksmith at Rendham, and was walking on the railroad tracks of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western. Below Taylor he was struck by the 6:30 south bound passenger train, and hurled ahead on the track. The engine struck him again and landed him down a steep bank into the river. He walked to Taylor and was driven home. Dr. Manly was called, and found him free from serious injury. No bones were broken, but he was severely shaken up. TO NEW YORK AND RETURN. THE MOODY MEETINGS The Rain Had Little Effect on the Attendance. IN TWO SECTIONS OF THE CITY

Evangelist Schievera Takes Mr. Bliss' Place on the West Side and the Latter Begins in Providence—Singer Weeden Is With the Former, and an Immense Choir Leads the North End Singing. Details of the Services in the Two Tents. Evangelist Frederick Schievera made his first appearance in the West Side gospel tent yesterday afternoon, and continued the work of E. W. Bliss, who had nightly preached to large crowds. Mr. Schievera was welcomed by an immense throng, who surged in the entrance until every seat in the capacious tent had been filled. The singing was led by W. Weeden, who is assisting Mr. Schievera in the services. He is a young man and has a great influence over the singers. As a singer he possesses a remarkably sweet and expressive voice. Miss Stella Stubbloine presided at the organ. About thirty minutes were spent in singing the sweet gospel hymns. Rev. D. C. Hughes offered an earnest prayer. Mr. Schievera stated that he believed there was as much accomplished by singing as preaching, and that Mr. Sankey's singing had as much to do with his conversion as Mr. Moody's preaching. Mr. Weeden then rendered a beautiful solo, entitled "I Shall Be Satisfied." Rev. T. J. Collins, pastor of the Scranton Street Baptist church, gave a very earnest appeal to God for the success of the campaign. Mr. Schievera read a portion of the Scripture from Corinthians II, 6. He emphasized a statement that there is to be no Schievera conversions, but God's conversions. He said the biggest revival that ever struck this town was coming now. Mr. Schievera is a remarkable speaker. He talks with a peculiar confidence, and is very convincing. In recounting his reminiscences he stated that when he was in Chicago he announced that in order to procure a crowd for the tent he would give every baby a gattle with a tin whistle on the end. He said he had a musical crowd. A GIFTED SPEAKER. Mr. Schievera's talk was very interesting and the people are in ecstasies over his remarks. He is a very distinguished looking young man. His pathos has the effect of making hearts move. At the close of his discourse Dr. Pearce, of Elm Park church, offered a prayer. The meeting closed with singing. Despite the heavy rainfall last evening, the tent was filled. The same evangelist, who was displayed in the afternoon session, was evidenced by the people who had lost none of their enthusiasm from the inspiring words of Evangelist Schievera. The meeting opened with singing, after which Rev. L. C. Floyd, D. D., led in prayer. The choir was under the leadership of Professor William W. Jones. Mr. Schievera announced that on Thursday evening a meeting for women would be held in the Jackson Street Baptist church, and to men in the tent. Meetings will be held for men and women every evening of the week in the tent. W. Weeden, the sweet tenor, rendered a beautiful selection. The text of Mr. Schievera's discourse was taken from Matthew 6:30. He preached an eloquent sermon, interspersed with many amusing and pathetic anecdotes, and held the rapt attention of the congregation during his discourse. The ability of Mr. Schievera as an evangelist was well displayed and public opinion says he is a remarkable speaker.

Meetings of Evangelist Bliss in the North End. A preliminary meeting was held in the North Main Avenue Baptist church yesterday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock, where E. W. Bliss addressed the workers and singers who serve at the tent during this stay in this end. Mr. Bliss Clark, who is in charge of the workers and singers, introduced Mr. Bliss, who in planning the work in this end of the city was given a different new than twenty years ago, when he first started. The main difficulty is in getting Christians to help in the work, as they expect the evangelist to do all the labor by a special power he is supposed to possess. The evangelist is nothing but an ordinary man acting as the agent of God, and must rely largely on the aid of others to be able to bring souls to Christ. The worker must have courage, and not be afraid to speak about Christ to all those who are around him, and must not hesitate in doing anything he may think is his duty. Mr. Clark distributed the badges to those who were in charge of the workers in the different churches. All the churches in the North End were represented except the Puritan Congregational church, which, through an oversight, was not notified. THE TENT WAS FILLED. A very large crowd gathered at the tent last evening notwithstanding the rain that was falling at the time of opening. The meeting was opened by a praise service led by a choir of many voices. Rev. George E. Guild, of the Presbyterian church, and Rev. W. G. Watkins, of the North Main Avenue Baptist church, led in prayer. Mr. Bliss read a portion of the scriptures from the tenth chapter of Paul's Epistle to the Romans, during the course of which he remarked that all a man requires to be saved is to believe and call on the name of the Lord. He said: "The gospel is the only thing in the world that does not wear out and can not be compared with any good thing in the world, for wherever the gospel goes it brings joy in the place of sorrow and laughter in the place of tears. This way to find the worth of it is not by what others say, but by trying it for yourself." Owing to the heavy downpour of rain at this Mr. Bliss' remarks could not be plainly heard, so the meeting was turned into a praise service. The Rev. H. Hawkins, R. S. Jones, D. W. G. Watkins, M. D. Falter, D. M. Kinter, D. A. Evans and George Guild were on the platform. A short preliminary prayer meeting for the workers will be held in the North Main Avenue Baptist church every evening at 7:15 o'clock. A workers are requested to be at the tent early tonight in order to be assigned their positions in their different blocks. RESULT OF MOODY MEETINGS. Sixty Converts Give Their Profession of Faith. A very interesting meeting was held yesterday afternoon at the Young Men's Christian association rooms, where special arrangements had been made for the reception of the young converts of the recent Moody evangelistic services. The association male choruses rendered several glees and part songs, after which General Secretary Mahy gave an excellent address on the necessary things in Christian life. Upwards of 100 young men in the city, some prominent in various circles, have shown a thorough reformation, and yesterday sixty of the number gave their testimony expressing their determination to live earnest Christian lives.

SQUIER NEVER SAID IT. An Alleged Opinion Regarding District Attorney Kelly Which Has Absolutely No Justification.

In yesterday's Elmira Telegram, underneath a portrait of John P. Kelly, the present district attorney, who is again the Democratic candidate, appears the following: "It is not only a matter of pleasure to the Democracy of the county, but it is actually a matter of satisfaction to the people of the county, to learn that Hon. John P. Kelly has consented to serve them for three years longer in the office of district attorney. County Auditor R. T. Squier is a Republican, and after auditing the accounts, he reduces the county to a few weeks ago said: 'District Attorney Kelly is saving the people of this county thousands of dollars annually. He is the most conscientious official in the court house. His accounts are in perfect order and every item thoroughly accounted for and explained. Although it is not known to the people and may not be appreciated if known, he has actually cut his own salary down about $3,000 a year. How many officials would do this? It was the habit of his predecessor in the office, who was charged with various counts, to make an indictment of each one, and thus collect on every count. Mr. Kelly has not done this. He reduces the county to one indictment and only charges the county once, while his predecessor charged three and four times. Mr. Kelly has a conscience, and it is a matter of credit to the Democracy of this county, that means a great deal.'"

County Auditor Squier, when seen by a TRIBUNE reporter this afternoon, promptly denied ever having expressed such an opinion of Mr. Kelly's administration of the district attorney's office. "As a matter of fact," he said, "I have not yet begun to audit the district attorney's accounts, and officially I know nothing of Mr. Kelly's performance of his duties. I have never been asked by anyone to give my opinion of Mr. Kelly's administration of the district attorney's office, and if I had, I certainly should not have drawn such a comparison as the one ascribed to me, for I have no knowledge that the facts will warrant it." "To make my denial of the purported interview with me more emphatic, I want to say that I never was questioned on the subject, never entertained the opinions ascribed to me, and never expressed them. If in the course of the performance of my official duties there ever arises an occasion for such an opinion of Mr. Kelly's administration of the district attorney's office, I shall make it known through proper channels."

WEST SIDE. Two Inebriates on a Car Kick a Woman.

What could be well termed an outrage occurred on the 9:30 Washburn street car on Saturday evening. Two drunken men boarded the car and carried on to the rules of the Traction company regarding no smoking on closed cars persisted in smoking and used vile language to the disgust of the passengers. The young conductor told the men to desist, but as he was unable to eject them, the slanderous hurrahs continued. As Mrs. Stevens, a well known lady who resides on North Sumner avenue, was leaving the car, one of the men with the leer of a lunatic put out his foot as if to trip her, and she received a blow on the head. The man who kicked Mrs. Stevens received a severe injury to his head, and was confined to her home with illness yesterday. Arrests will probably be made.

When Mr. Brazille asked the owner of the dog to shoot it, he was willing but his wife objected. Brazille notified Officer Coeman and he went to the house and told Mrs. Dimler to produce the dog.
