VERDICT FOR COLLINS

Jury Says He Was Damaged to the Extent of Five Hundred Dollars.

INTERESTING EJECTMENT SUIT

Brought by Martha B. Phillips Against Cornelius Ruddy, of Phelps Street. Testimony of James Ruddy Creates a Sensation—Davies-Kearney Jury Wanted to Be Discharged—Suit on Trial Where Culp is the Cause of Action.

The trespass suit of Henry Collins against the Carbonado Traction company, was given to the jury yesterday morning and in the afternoon a verdict was returned awarding $300 damages to Mr. Collins. When court opened yesterday morning the arguments to take the case from the jury were resumed by Attorney S. B. Price, of counsel for the defendant company. Major Everett Warren and Attorney I. H. Burns, counsel for the plaintiff, opposed the motion. Their position was sustained by Judge Searle who decided to allow the case to go to the jury. Closing arguments were made by Attorney J. C. Burr for the defendant and Attorney I. H. Burns for the plaintiff. After the case had been given to the jury the ejectment suit of Martha B. Phillips against Cornelius Ruddy was called for trial before Judge Searle. Attorney T. F. Wells appeared for the plaintiff and Attorneys A. A. Chase and James Mahon for the defendant.

HISTORY OF THE SUIT. Mr. Ruddy resides on Phelps street and has in his possession a strip of land that is claimed by the plaintiff. In 1865 Mr. Ruddy purchased from the Phelps estate the property on which he resides. In the rear of this property was a strip of land running back to a creek which was 37 by 88 feet in size. This was fenced and filled by Mr. Ruddy for a number of years, and the claim of possession from the fact that he used it as his property and had all such right over it for upward of twenty-one years.

It is held by the plaintiff that Mr. Ruddy merely occupied the land by her grace and that he knew he possessed no title to it. When the stand on the Ruddy admitted that two years ago he offered to purchase the land from the plaintiff. His brother, James Ruddy, created somewhat of a sensation by going on the stand and swearing that he had fenced in the land and had possession of it for a time. Attorney A. A. Chase thereupon withdrew from the case as attorney, and went upon the stand and testified that yesterday morning James Ruddy made an entirely different statement of facts to him. It was on the strength of that statement that he was placed on the stand for the plaintiff's testimony for the plaintiff was still being heard when court adjourned.

ASKED TO BE DISCHARGED. The suit of Thomas Davis against D. F. Kearney to recover $300 he claims is due him as commissions for the sale of whiskey, occupied the greater portion of yesterday morning. It went to the jury about noon time. At 4.30 o'clock the jury asked to be discharged, but Judge Gunster refused to grant their request.

An appeal from the decision of Alderman Fuller in the case of Alexander Maslowekey against D. J. Gallagher was next called up for deposition before Judge Gunster. Attorney J. F. Soraggi appeared for the plaintiff, and Attorney E. C. Newcomb for the defense.

After the evidence for the plaintiff was heard Judge Gunster granted a non suit on the ground that the case had no standing in court, as the defendant from whose decision an appeal had been taken, had no jurisdiction in the case, as it involved a question of title to land.

Non suits were granted in the cases of Riebard and John Evans against the New York and Scranton Coal company, limited, because the plaintiff failed to put in an appearance.

ACTION ABOUT CULM.

Late in the afternoon the action of Isaac E. LaBar against the Greenwood Coal company was called for trial before Judge Gunster. Attorney S. B. Price, who represents the plaintiff, stated in his opening remarks to the jury that in 1890 Mr. LaBar purchased from E. N. Willard, of this city, and Abram Nesbitt, of Wilkes-Barre, trustees of the Lackawanna and Susquehanna Iron and Coal company, a culm pile on lands located near Moosic for $500.

Some time later Mr. LaBar discovered that the Greenwood Coal company had been taking a portion of the culm and he sued to recover the price of the culm. The amount is fixed at from 4,000 to 5,000 tons. The defendant company is represented by Major Everett Warren and denies that Mr. LaBar is the owner of the culm in question.

In the case of James Devers against Aaron McDonnell, a verdict was returned for the plaintiff. In the case of G. W. Green against Joseph Platenberg and C. W. Moredock, a verdict was taken for the plaintiff of $78.51 and in the case of Jacob A. Thomas against the same defendants a verdict for $53.99 was given.

Scranton's Business Interests.

The TRIBUNE will soon publish a carefully compiled and classified list of the leading wholesalers, banking, manufacturing and professional interests of Scranton and vicinity. The edition will be bound in book form, beautifully illustrated with photographs of our public buildings, business blocks, streets, etc., together with portraits of leading citizens. No similar work has ever given an equal representation of Scranton's many industries. It will be an invaluable exposition of our business resources. Sent to persons outside the city, copies of this handsome work will attract new comers and be an unequalled advertisement of the city. The circulation is on a plan that cannot fail of good results to those concerned as well as the city at large. Representatives of THE TRIBUNE will call upon those whose names are desired in this edition and explain its nature more fully. Those desiring views of their residences in this edition will please have notices at the office.

FINLEY-ADAMS WEDDINGS.

Quiet Ceremony at the Home of the Bride's Parents.

Miss Margaret Finley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. P. Finley, was married at 7.30 o'clock yesterday morning at her parents' home to H. W. Adams, of Arizona. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Warren H. Pastore, the pastor of the Baptist church in the presence of only the family and a few relatives. Mr. and Mrs. Adams have gone east on a wedding trip and will return to Scranton for a few days' visit en route to the groom's Arizona home where they will reside.

At the Theaters.

The romantic military drama of "Rosedale" will be presented in the Academy of Music tonight by a company headed by Joseph S. Haworth. Supporting are such well known favorites as M. A. Kennedy, who starred in "Julius Caesar" at the Frohman company; Charles B. Hanford, who was the leading man in the Booth-Barrett combination and who afterwards starred in "Julius Caesar" at the Abbott, who is an actor of sterling merit and the husband of Maggie Mitchell; Isabelle Everson, formerly the leading lady of the famous Boston and respectively; Auld Haslam, also of the Frohman forces; and Mrs. E. A. Eberle. "Rosedale" will be given in this city with all the beautiful scenery and elegant costumes that were employed in the recent successful New York production.

At the Frothingham tonight Augustus Thomas' beautiful play, "Alabama," will be given as a benefit for the stage hands. The play will not disappoint those who admire a beautiful, idyllic story of the heart, and a play full of pathos, not over-acted, but true and beautiful. The play tells a story of post-bellum Southern life, appeals to the common heart and proceeds on coherent lines to a logical climax. In past seasons it has given great satisfaction in Scranton.

During the performance will be presented the famous "White Company," composed of ten young and beautiful lady musicians under the direction of that talented young lady, Miss Nellie Chapman, the former of the Boston White Company, now of the Frothingham White Company. Don't miss seeing them, it will be a rare treat.

No Irish drama seen in New York in recent years has been better received than "The Champion" which the Academy of Music tomorrow night. A rich girl has two admirers, one, of course, the easy-going hero and the other the villain, who is about to marry the girl. The hero in the end wins the girl, and the villain's plans are frustrated. The Irish lad, the pretty colleen and the other characters that go to make the cast of an Irish play are all introduced. The great sensation of the play is the rescue of the hero from being crushed to death by a big stone wheel, the heroine being the rescuer.

The Frothingham will have a stupendous attraction tomorrow and Saturday nights and Sunday matinee in the Trocadero Vaudeville in which the marvelous athlete is of course the central figure. This will be Sandow's first appearance. His tour of the country thus far has been nothing less than a continuous triumph. He is undoubtedly one of the wonders of our time. Eminent scientists have declared him to be the greatest physical specimen physically who has ever lived and he has been acknowledged everywhere as the strongest man in the world. His offer of $10,000 and the gold belt, emblematic of the championship of the world, to any man who would duplicate his marvelous performance, has thus far remained unaccepted. History does not record even among the great gladiators of ancient Rome, a man of such wonderful muscular development as Sandow. The entertainment surrounding Sandow has been carefully selected from the prize theatres in Europe and America and includes the following artists: "The Lucifer," grotesque; "Billy Van," comedian; "Tom Brown," the most popular of the whistlers; "Amann," Europe's greatest mimic; "Jana," Chanteuse internationale; "Herr Dewell," equilibrist; "The Marvelous Jordan Family and Dumbbell acrobats; "Miss Colie," the human dog for the past two seasons the sensation of London and Paris. The entire entertainment is under the personal supervision of F. Ziegfeld, Jr., who conducted the magnificent "Trocadero Theatre" in Chicago, during the recent Columbian Exposition.

The Kimball Opera Comique organization and charming Corinne will be at the Academy for one night, Monday, Oct. 8, representing the lyric baroque production, "Hendrick Hudson." Corinne is described as the most perfect of the world, a man of all talents, with a view of making it more popular, numerous scenes have been introduced which relate to the World's Fair of Chicago, and especially to that much talked of poem, the World's Fair—the Midway Pleasure. Corinne has made the success of her life in this production, and in her impersonation of the title role introduces some wonderful Spanish dances which have been described as novel, new and interesting. The Kimball Opera Comique company in support of Corinne, can only be lightly touched upon. It embraces the very choicest of America's best comedians, vocalists, dancers and burlesque artists. The many specialties introduced are both novel and original—the phantasmagoria, the Catro quadrille, the Persian dancing girls, infant prodigies, round the world in twenty minutes, are a few of the features of the new Hendrick Hudson. The scenery, costumes, mechanical and electrical effects are all new and brilliant. One scene representing the Everglades of Florida, is said to be a masterpiece of scenic art and stage mechanism.

Next Monday night a grand concert will be given at the Frothingham under the management of the board of lady managers of St. Luke's hospital, to be held in that institution. Among the well-known artists who will appear are Mme. Lillian Blauvelt, whose sweet voice has been heard in this city, Miss Draeger and Mr. Weller.

FURY OF THE STORM

Only Slight Damage Was Reported in the City.

SMALL PANIC IN THE MOODY TENT

Portion of the Canvas Collapsed and Cool-Headed Persons Prevented a Stampede—Street Car Traffic Was Suspended for a While—Carbon Street a Lake of Water—Telephone and Telegraph Wires Were Not Damaged.

The small-sized cyclone, with its accompanying deluge of rain last evening, created but little damage in this city, according to reports received up to midnight. What might have been a disastrous panic in the Moody tent on Court house square, by the collapsing of half of the canvas, was prevented only by the presence of mind of persons occupying the platform.

At 7.30 o'clock the tent contained more than its usual crowd at that hour, as many had hurried to seek shelter by the impending storm, by the collapsing of half of the canvas, and the rain the singing was begun but the voices were almost inaudible above the tatter of the rain on the canvas and the shrieks of the storm.

Suddenly and without warning the western end of the tent came down with violence upon the heads of a portion of the audience. Many were thrown to the ground in the confusion, and the screams of a number of women were mingled with the shouts of those on the platform that there was no danger.

A MOMENT OF DARKNESS. Fortunately the ropes supporting the large arc lights remained secure, though the lamps swung in close proximity to the heads of the people. For a moment the lights went out, but the current soon reappeared.

A number of men went outside when the wind abated and in a few moments secured the stakes which had been loosened from the wet dirt and the meeting progressed without further interruption.

During the most violent period of the storm the electric cars were stopped by the motormen, who could not see ahead in the face of the wind and rain.

The wires of the Western Union and Postal Telegraph companies worked poorly during the early hours of the evening, but at 10 o'clock each company reported that all the lines were working properly.

JOURNALISTIC NOTES.

Wilkes-Barre's promised new afternoon newspaper has vanished in the same domain that swallowed up the projected Hazleton publication which was to eclipse the Sentinel.

The more radical proceeding in newspaperdom in recent years is the old established Minneapolis Tribune's drop in price from five cents per copy to one cent. This caps the climax of Napoleonic reductions. The Tribune is not cheapened otherwise.

On Monday the New York Commercial Advertiser celebrated its ninety-eighth anniversary with a handsome twenty page paper, finely written, finely illustrated and finely printed. The Commercial Advertiser lost a jewel when it parted with Editor John A. Cockerill, but it regained a jewel when it made Foster Coates its successor.

One of the brightest magazine features in a long time, to newspaper men at any rate, is the article on Charles A. Dana, which E. P. Mitchell, Mr. Dana's chief-of-staff of the Sun, contributes to the October number of McClure's magazine. Mr. Dana is far and away the most interesting personality in the whole range of American journalism. Indeed, it may be said without exaggeration that he is one of the most interesting personalities in the journalism of the world. Mr. Mitchell sketches him in bold, easy strokes, neither flattering nor distorting, and the man who likes manhood at all will not fail to arise from a reading of his sketch with a new appreciation of the sterling qualities of America's greatest editor.

BUSY DAY IN POLICE COURT.

A Brutal Son and a Mayfield Thief Brought to Justice.

Alderman Fitzmaurice had a variety of cases before him at the police court yesterday morning. James Crossin, of Hyde Park avenue, was arrested at the instance of his mother. Crossin is a railroader and acted most brutally toward his widowed mother, who was ill in bed. On Tuesday night he went home drunk, smashed the furniture and thrashed his brother. His mother in order to stop his drunken antics was compelled to seek the aid of the police. Crossin was fined $35 or thirty days' vacation in jail.

William Broward, a miner, was arrested by Sergeant Deiter, at 11.45 on Tuesday morning upon a charge of stealing $325 from people in Mayfield. The Hungarian was anxious to get to Chicago, and had purchased his ticket, which together with $64, was found in his possession. He evidently thought he was in New York, as he offered the police $40 to allow him to escape. The offer, needless to state, was scouted and Mr. Broward was escorted to the police cells. He was very anxious to get to Chicago, and respectfully requested the police to throw it away. The pocket book was identified as the property of the person from whom the dollars had been stolen. He admitted the theft, and was sent to the county jail to await his trial at the quarter sessions.

Thomas White was arrested on Lackawanna avenue at 11.30 o'clock Tuesday night for behaving in an eccentric fashion. White was running around the numerous poles on the avenue and when questioned could not give his address. He was fined $8 or ten days' imprisonment.

William Leonard, plasterer, was arrested for being drunk and disorderly, resisting the police, and neglecting his wife and family, and in default of $300 bail was committed to the county jail to take his trial at the ensuing court.

MARRIED AT NOON.

Miss Emma Ward Became Wife of James McWilliams.

Miss Emma Ward, the eldest daughter of Mrs. Ward, of Adams avenue, was married yesterday at noon to James McWilliams, at the home of her mother, by Rev. McLeod, of the First Presbyterian church.

After the wedding a collation was served and the married couple left on the 3.30 Delaware and Hudson train for two weeks' trip to Montreal, Canada, and other points. On their return home they will make their home with the bride's mother, Mrs. Ward, on Adams avenue.
