THE CAMPAIGN IS BOOMING

Next Week Will Be the Most Interesting to Republicans.
D. H. HASTINGS WILL BE HERE
 Arrangements That Are Made for His Reception—Places Where He Will Deliver Address—Meetings to Be Held This Week.

Next Monday will be a banner day for the Republicans of Scranton and vicinity. General Hastings and associate candidates on the state ticket, reinforced by Hon. Charles Emory Smith, editor of the Philadelphia Press, City Solicitor Charles F. Warwick, of Philadelphia, and other eminent speakers, will be in this city, and between noon and bed time will address five immense mass meetings.

The party of distinguished orators will leave Philadelphia for Scranton Monday morning, arriving here at the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western station at 1:07 o'clock in the afternoon. At Manunka Chock the party will be met by a committee of prominent Lackawanna Republicans. After the reception at the station in this city, in which Bauer's band will participate, the party will be driven at once to the Wyoming House. After a brief rest, General Hastings and companions will proceed at once to Providence, where, at 3:30 o'clock, if the weather be favorable, they will address an open-air meeting. Half an hour later, another open-air meeting will be held in Hyde Park, at a convenient place yet to be announced. A third meeting will be held after supper in the South Side, with the Germania band in attendance.

Two Immense Mass Meetings.
 But the oratorical event of the day will occur Monday evening, at 8 o'clock, when two immense mass meetings will be held simultaneously in the Thirtieth regiment armory and in the Frothingham theater. General Hastings and Charles Emory Smith will speak at both meetings, alternately. There will be other prominent speakers at both places. The county candidates will be in attendance, and both meetings will, it is expected, be very largely attended.
 A meeting of the committee on arrangements was held at the Central Republican club rooms last evening, upon call of Chairman Fred W. Fleitz. Walter E. Davis, esq., acted as secretary. Three sub-committees were appointed, as follows: On printing, L. V. S. Richard, George H. Thompson and George H. Shires; on music, Milton W. Lowry, Walter E. Davis and John H. Reynolds; and on transportation, George E. Robathan, Fred W. Fleitz and E. E. Robathan. In addition to these committees, George H. Shires and Thomas Shotten were appointed to superintend the details of the North End meeting; John H. Reynolds and E. E. Robathan, the West Side meeting, and Philip Dippre and Charles Hamm, the meeting on the South Side.

A BRILLIANT WEDDING.
 Marriage of Miss Newhouse, of Wilkes-Barre, to Herman Langfeld, of this City. Ceremony Performed in the Washington Street Temple, Wilkes-Barre.

An event which attracted considerable interest in Scranton and Wilkes-Barre social circles and among Jewish people particularly was the wedding last night of Miss Ella Mae Newhouse, of Wilkes-Barre, to Herman Langfeld, of this city. The bride is a beautiful and accomplished girl, a daughter of Mrs. Isaac Newhouse, and has been a leader in Wilkes-Barre's select circle of Jewish people. Mr. Langfeld is proprietor of the Haslach millinery establishment, on Lackawanna avenue, and occupies a prominent position in Scranton's mercantile circles.
 The wedding occurred in the Washington street temple, Wilkes-Barre, at 8 o'clock. Rev. Joseph T. D. performing the ceremony. In all its appointments and detail the affair was conducted with delicate taste and was attended by many well known Scranton people. The bride and groom were completely filled with guests and friends of the bridal couple. Preceding the nuptials an enjoyable organ prelude was performed by Professor Carl Schmidt. Palms, ferns, smilax and roses were used in the decorations of the altar and temple furniture.
Members of the Bridal Party.
 Miss Newhouse entered the temple under the escort of her brother, M. J. Newhouse, of New York, who gave the bride to her husband-elect at the altar. Mr. Langfeld was attended by his best friend, Edward Valk, of Wilkes-Barre. The following constituted the bridal party: Miss Laura Newhouse, sister of the bride, maid of honor; Miss Jennie Newhouse and Miss Bertha Hoffelmeier, bridesmaids; Mrs. M. J. Newhouse, of Wilkes-Barre, and Miss Lydia Cohen, of Pittston, bridesmaids; Jonas Haslach, of Rochester; Albert N. Kramer, of Scranton; Jonas Weil, of New York; Mrs. E. P. Langfeld, of Long and F. P. Langfeld, of Wilkes-Barre, ushers.
 In all the color details, which included the gowns and the church decorations, the wedding was essentially white, light green and pink. The bride's gown was of white duchesse satin, trimmed with duchesse lace and made of muslin de soie and duchesse lace and ornamented with trailing clusters of orange blossoms. A silk tulle veil was fastened with a wreath of orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of bridal roses and wore no ornaments.
 The maid of honor wore a sea-foam tulle dress, trimmed with white and French bodice being garnished about the neck and shoulders with pistache colored chiffon, which material covered the skirt. She carried pink chrysanthemums.
 The bridesmaids wore white tulle dresses with light green chiffon trimmings and sashes. They carried white chrysanthemums.
An Elaborate Reception.
 Following the ceremony a reception was given by the bride's mother at her home, 51 Ross street. The floral decorations, refreshments, music and entertaining details were as elaborate and complete as carte blanche orders to florist, caterer and musician could make them. The lower rooms of the highway and staircase were decorated with tastefully arranged white and pink roses and chrysanthemums, ferns, palms and smilax by Marvin. The wedding supper was served by Mrs. P. Reiter and music furnished by Oppenheimer. In a boudoir on the second floor was displayed a numerous assortment of handsome and valuable collection of gifts which were sited by forcible testimonials of the popularity of the bridal couple.
 Mr. and Mrs. Langfeld left on the midnight Lehigh Valley train for a wedding trip of about ten days, after which they will reside at the Wyoming House until the completion of their private residence.
 Among the out of town wedding guests were: Mr. and Mrs. Sol Goldsmith, Mrs. H. Kramer, Mr. and Mrs. J. Freeman, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Levy, Mrs. Josephson, Mrs. Markis, Miss Lauer, Miss Tillie Lauer, Miss Martha Moss, Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Nye, Miss Nettie Nye, and Levi and Samuel Kramer, all of Scranton; Mr. B. B. Mott, New York; Mr. and Mrs. S. Haslach, Rochester.

THIS WEEK'S MEETINGS.
 The Canvass Is Beginning to Assume Very Lively Proportions.
 There can be no complaint of lukewarmness on the Republican side. A dozen meetings are being held each evening, and everywhere the enthusiasm is reported to be exceptional for an off year.
 Tonight Charles B. Krien, of Philadelphia, will speak in Linden's hall, Archbald. On Friday evening an immense mass meeting of Republicans will be held in Jersey borough. The principal speaker will be Congressman Charles W. Stone, of Warren, one of the ablest members of the present congress and a peerless authority on questions of political economy and finance. Congressman Stone will be assisted by A. J. Colborn, jr., who will, on Saturday evening, speak with Mr. Stone in Providence.
 A meeting of the West Side Republican league will take place tomorrow evening. The meeting will arrange for the giving of a new installment of ginger into the already enthusiastic ranks of the Hyde Park Republicans.
 On Saturday night Secretary Fred W. Fleitz, of the State league of Republicans, will address a big Republican meeting in Luzerne borough.

IT BEATS THE RECORD.
 Nothing Has Ever Equalled the Enthusiasm of Western Republicans.
 "I have been through a number of lively campaigns," said A. J. Colborn, jr., yesterday, who had just returned from a speaking tour of Allegheny, Beaver and Lawrence counties, "but I want to say that I have never seen such a universal feeling of party enthusiasm as is to be witnessed at the Republican mass meetings in the strong industrial districts in and near Pittsburg. The crowds that gather there are simply enormous; and the spirit they manifest makes me think that all estimates of General Hastings' plurality next month will be far exceeded by the reality."
 "Just one instance. The other day they billed me to speak in an old skating rink in what is known as the South Side of Pittsburg. I was afraid there would be a scanty attendance, as I was the only speaker from a distance. When the doors were opened, 4,500 men and iron workers swarmed into the building, and such cheering and applauding you never heard in your life. It wasn't so much my talk; that was only ordinary. It was just simply the vent of pent-up enthusiasm for the Republican cause and of dissatisfaction with the way things have been going since the Democrats took hold."
 Week after next, at the urgent solicitation of David Martin, Mr. Colborn will go to Philadelphia and remain there, delivering speeches nightly in the different wards, until a few days before election. Mr. Colborn has had invitations from nearly every section of the state, but the promise made to David Martin had priority.

SOUTH SIDE IN LINE.

Magnificent Meeting Held in Natter's Hall on Alder Street.
 South Side Republicans last night attended their weekly meeting beyond question by the unanimous and enthusiastic reception given to the speakers at the mass meeting in Natter's hall, on Alder street. The hall, although sparsely occupied, contained the number that sought access.
 At 7:30 Germania band from the balcony opened the meeting with an overture. Natta was chairman and Attorney John M. Harris was the first speaker. He paid a tribute to each candidate.
 Charles B. Krien, of Philadelphia, spoke after Mr. Harris, and his remarks in German were frequently applauded. The drift of his talk was on the relative effect of tariff and free trade.
 The next speaker was Congressman J. A. Scranton. Mr. Scranton's speech was a ringing declaration of the policy of protection. He greeted his hearers not as Republicans, but as fellow-protectionists. He said he was no calamity howler, but could not pass blindly the action of the party now in power. The Democrats are responsible for idle mills and suspended bridges. In conclusion, he prophesied that the majority for General Hastings would roll up to 250,000 votes.
 Candidate J. E. Jones was the next speaker introduced. He reviewed the work of each aspirant for favor at the hands of the Republican party; what work each one had done to entitle him to respect. Mr. Jones' speech was eloquent and well delivered. The concluding speech was delivered by R. A. Zimmerman.
 About 800 citizens were present and an intense interest was taken in the speeches. In the intervals between the speeches the occasion was enlivened with strains by the Germania band.

DISCUSSING COAL TRADE.
 Interesting Meeting Held by the Anthracite Coal Operators.
 PLEASANT TRIP TO HONSDALE
 It Was Followed by Lunch at the Bicycle Club House—Resolutions Passed on Depth of E. B. Leisenring—Partners That Were Read.
 A regular meeting of the Anthracite Coal Operators' association was held in Scranton yesterday. By invitation of Superintendent C. R. Manville the members of the association had a very enjoyable ride over the Delaware and Hudson and Gravity railroad to Honesdale and back. Luncheon was served at 2 p. m. at the rooms of the Scranton Bicycle club, and after the inner man was satisfied the meeting was called to order. E. B. Ely, of New York, was made temporary chairman in the absence of President Connell.
 The roll call showed the following gentlemen present: William H. Richmond, M. S. Kennerly, Thomas M. Highter, Edward Jones, E. P. Kingsbury, E. Tracy, T. H. Watkins, E. L. Fulton, C. D. Simpson, E. B. Ely, T. L. Greene, W. T. Smith, W. Payne, T. E. Jones, W. Kishbaugh, H. P. Simpson, John B. Law, W. A. May, J. S. McAnulty, E. D. Jenkins, M. L. Dreisbach, C. N. Shipman, C. P. Mathews, W. W. Watson, H. H. Ashley, C. P. Hunt, W. H. Hollister, R. J. Matthews, S. L. Brown, J. A. Roberts, K. N. Smith, T. D. Jones, M. Sanderson, James Archibald, Dr. J. N. Rice, J. T. Richards, J. E. Fritz, G. B. Jermyn, Thomas Sprague, S. B. Bennett, John Jermyn, J. H. Johnson, Harry Evans, R. G. Brooks, C. R. Manville, B. S. Harmon, F. T. Patterson, Albert Leisenring, Joseph Jermyn, R. E. Williams, J. C. McClure, William Winton, M. J. Wilson.
 The chairman announced to the association the death of E. B. Leisenring, the vice-president. After an address by Secretary Simpson, in which he related the important part taken by Mr. Leisenring in the negotiations which led to a renewal of the contracts between the individual operators and the Lehigh Valley railroad, and also the interest which Mr. Leisenring always shown in the organization of the association and its policy and aims, the following resolutions were adopted:
 Resolved, That in the death of Vice-President E. B. Leisenring, the Anthracite Coal Operators' association loses one of its most faithful officers and warmest friends. Identified with the coal trade since his early life, through his knowledge, energy and influence freely exerted on behalf of all trade interests which had a claim upon his attention, and by his business sagacity and personal character he won for himself a leading and enviable position in all trade councils. Born in Mauch Chunk 49 years ago, son of the late John Leisenring, who during his lifetime was prominently identified with the development of the Lehigh Coal and Navigation company. Mr. Leisenring was made president of the company a year or two ago. While Mr. Leisenring's business ventures brought him into prominence in the slate, lumber and other industries in many ways, it was as a leader in the mining of anthracite coal that he will be best remembered. In company with the trade at large, this association feels the loss of his services, which were valuable and estimable. It is his business methods, yet bold when occasion required it; prompt in fulfilling every duty; possessed of that true political sagacity which secured him a leadership in all trade councils. His death is a loss which distinguishes the gentleman, Mr. Leisenring, as a man of business and a citizen whose memory will be remembered by his friends and associates. This association gratefully puts on record its recognition of the valuable advice and assistance rendered by Mr. Leisenring during the organization of the association, and the active interest which he continued to take in its objects and aims till his death.
 Resolved, That as an expression of sympathy for the loss which this association, as well as the whole trade, has sustained in the death of Mr. Leisenring, these resolutions be spread upon the minutes and a copy, appropriately prepared, be presented to the bereaved family.
 Matter of Insurance.
 Statistics reported by the fire insurance committee showed the actual losses during the last five years on breakers and engine houses to have averaged $140 per $100 of insurance annually, being about $1 per $100 of insurance lower than the usual rates charged by the insurance companies.
 A very interesting paper was read by E. L. Fuller on the breaking of grate coals into smaller sizes, which elicited a great deal of discussion. The subject will be taken up again at the next meeting.
 Addresses on the state of trade were made by Messrs. Watkins and Ely, and on motion of Mr. Jermyn thanks were voted to Mr. Watkins for his labors on behalf of the association. A paper by T. L. Greene was read on the subject of better anthracite statistics.
 After a vote of thanks to Superintendent Manville and the Delaware and Hudson Canal company, and to the entertainment committee, Messrs. Sturges, Fuller and Joseph Jermyn, the meeting adjourned.

RECKLESS DALTON BOYS.
 They Attempted to Tear Down the House of Mrs. Mary McConnell Because She Would Not Admit Them.
 Mrs. Mary McConnell, who resides in a leased house on the road between Dalton and La Fosse, has had some decidedly interesting experiences during the last few weeks.
 Some time ago she was deserted by her husband, but continued thereafter to live, with her 16-year-old daughter, in the house that had been the home of herself and husband. Occasionally she had young lady visitors and some of the young men of the neighborhood were wont to pay a visit to her home to spend the evening.
 She disliked the calls of some of these young men and about three weeks ago when they came to her house in an intoxicated condition one night, she refused to admit them and they proceeded to rattle the windows with stones. A week ago last Saturday night they again called on her, but the door did not open at their knock. Thoroughly incensed, they made an assault on Mrs. McConnell's domicile and tore out the greater part of one side of the building, rendering it uninhabitable.
 Mrs. McConnell, several days later, came to this city and swore out a warrant before Alderman Wright for the arrest of George D. Murse, Edward Ryan, William Toner and Patrick O'Malia, whom she charged with being the leaders in the work of demolishing her house. She returned to her home to get an officer to serve the warrant, and after several days wrote to Mr. Wright, telling him to hold the warrant he had issued. In the meantime she swore out another warrant before Justice of the Peace Feeley, of Waverly. The thoroughly alarmed young men at once began to make every effort to have the case settled and negotiations are now pending.
 Bert has it that the attempt to tear down Mrs. McConnell's house was instigated by a number of women of the neighborhood who, it appears, did not look upon the lady and her daughter with much favor. The building has been repaired and Mrs. McConnell is again installed in it.

COMMMITTED TO COUNTY JAIL.
 Members of the Rising Generation Gang on the Way to Their Reward.
 Five young toughs who are self-styled "Rising Generation" of Dodgetown, were yesterday committed to jail from police court to answer in court a charge of attempted burglary.
 Late Tuesday night they were about to enter a store on Fourth street, but were frightened away by the police. Less than an hour later they attempted to force an entrance into a butcher shop on the same street, but were surprised by the proprietor, Patrick McNally, who, with Patrolmen Palmer and Haug, captured them in a nearby alley. They gave the names of John Dunleavy, William Dunn, Michael Coggins, John Brown and Mart Lavelle. They are supposed to be concerned in various petty thieftings in the vicinity of their arrest.
 Miss Hardenbergh's Pianoforte School.
 A thoroughly high-grade school for the study of the pianoforte, harmony and all branches of musical theory and interpretation.
 A special training course for teachers; also special training given children, 477 Wyoming avenue.

DISCUSSING COAL TRADE.

Interesting Meeting Held by the Anthracite Coal Operators.
 PLEASANT TRIP TO HONSDALE
 It Was Followed by Lunch at the Bicycle Club House—Resolutions Passed on Depth of E. B. Leisenring—Partners That Were Read.
 A regular meeting of the Anthracite Coal Operators' association was held in Scranton yesterday. By invitation of Superintendent C. R. Manville the members of the association had a very enjoyable ride over the Delaware and Hudson and Gravity railroad to Honesdale and back. Luncheon was served at 2 p. m. at the rooms of the Scranton Bicycle club, and after the inner man was satisfied the meeting was called to order. E. B. Ely, of New York, was made temporary chairman in the absence of President Connell.
 The roll call showed the following gentlemen present: William H. Richmond, M. S. Kennerly, Thomas M. Highter, Edward Jones, E. P. Kingsbury, E. Tracy, T. H. Watkins, E. L. Fulton, C. D. Simpson, E. B. Ely, T. L. Greene, W. T. Smith, W. Payne, T. E. Jones, W. Kishbaugh, H. P. Simpson, John B. Law, W. A. May, J. S. McAnulty, E. D. Jenkins, M. L. Dreisbach, C. N. Shipman, C. P. Mathews, W. W. Watson, H. H. Ashley, C. P. Hunt, W. H. Hollister, R. J. Matthews, S. L. Brown, J. A. Roberts, K. N. Smith, T. D. Jones, M. Sanderson, James Archibald, Dr. J. N. Rice, J. T. Richards, J. E. Fritz, G. B. Jermyn, Thomas Sprague, S. B. Bennett, John Jermyn, J. H. Johnson, Harry Evans, R. G. Brooks, C. R. Manville, B. S. Harmon, F. T. Patterson, Albert Leisenring, Joseph Jermyn, R. E. Williams, J. C. McClure, William Winton, M. J. Wilson.
 The chairman announced to the association the death of E. B. Leisenring, the vice-president. After an address by Secretary Simpson, in which he related the important part taken by Mr. Leisenring in the negotiations which led to a renewal of the contracts between the individual operators and the Lehigh Valley railroad, and also the interest which Mr. Leisenring always shown in the organization of the association and its policy and aims, the following resolutions were adopted:
 Resolved, That in the death of Vice-President E. B. Leisenring, the Anthracite Coal Operators' association loses one of its most faithful officers and warmest friends. Identified with the coal trade since his early life, through his knowledge, energy and influence freely exerted on behalf of all trade interests which had a claim upon his attention, and by his business sagacity and personal character he won for himself a leading and enviable position in all trade councils. Born in Mauch Chunk 49 years ago, son of the late John Leisenring, who during his lifetime was prominently identified with the development of the Lehigh Coal and Navigation company. Mr. Leisenring was made president of the company a year or two ago. While Mr. Leisenring's business ventures brought him into prominence in the slate, lumber and other industries in many ways, it was as a leader in the mining of anthracite coal that he will be best remembered. In company with the trade at large, this association feels the loss of his services, which were valuable and estimable. It is his business methods, yet bold when occasion required it; prompt in fulfilling every duty; possessed of that true political sagacity which secured him a leadership in all trade councils. His death is a loss which distinguishes the gentleman, Mr. Leisenring, as a man of business and a citizen whose memory will be remembered by his friends and associates. This association gratefully puts on record its recognition of the valuable advice and assistance rendered by Mr. Leisenring during the organization of the association, and the active interest which he continued to take in its objects and aims till his death.
 Resolved, That as an expression of sympathy for the loss which this association, as well as the whole trade, has sustained in the death of Mr. Leisenring, these resolutions be spread upon the minutes and a copy, appropriately prepared, be presented to the bereaved family.
 Matter of Insurance.
 Statistics reported by the fire insurance committee showed the actual losses during the last five years on breakers and engine houses to have averaged $140 per $100 of insurance annually, being about $1 per $100 of insurance lower than the usual rates charged by the insurance companies.
 A very interesting paper was read by E. L. Fuller on the breaking of grate coals into smaller sizes, which elicited a great deal of discussion. The subject will be taken up again at the next meeting.
 Addresses on the state of trade were made by Messrs. Watkins and Ely, and on motion of Mr. Jermyn thanks were voted to Mr. Watkins for his labors on behalf of the association. A paper by T. L. Greene was read on the subject of better anthracite statistics.
 After a vote of thanks to Superintendent Manville and the Delaware and Hudson Canal company, and to the entertainment committee, Messrs. Sturges, Fuller and Joseph Jermyn, the meeting adjourned.

RECKLESS DALTON BOYS.
 They Attempted to Tear Down the House of Mrs. Mary McConnell Because She Would Not Admit Them.
 Mrs. Mary McConnell, who resides in a leased house on the road between Dalton and La Fosse, has had some decidedly interesting experiences during the last few weeks.
 Some time ago she was deserted by her husband, but continued thereafter to live, with her 16-year-old daughter, in the house that had been the home of herself and husband. Occasionally she had young lady visitors and some of the young men of the neighborhood were wont to pay a visit to her home to spend the evening.
 She disliked the calls of some of these young men and about three weeks ago when they came to her house in an intoxicated condition one night, she refused to admit them and they proceeded to rattle the windows with stones. A week ago last Saturday night they again called on her, but the door did not open at their knock. Thoroughly incensed, they made an assault on Mrs. McConnell's domicile and tore out the greater part of one side of the building, rendering it uninhabitable.
 Mrs. McConnell, several days later, came to this city and swore out a warrant before Alderman Wright for the arrest of George D. Murse, Edward Ryan, William Toner and Patrick O'Malia, whom she charged with being the leaders in the work of demolishing her house. She returned to her home to get an officer to serve the warrant, and after several days wrote to Mr. Wright, telling him to hold the warrant he had issued. In the meantime she swore out another warrant before Justice of the Peace Feeley, of Waverly. The thoroughly alarmed young men at once began to make every effort to have the case settled and negotiations are now pending.
 Bert has it that the attempt to tear down Mrs. McConnell's house was instigated by a number of women of the neighborhood who, it appears, did not look upon the lady and her daughter with much favor. The building has been repaired and Mrs. McConnell is again installed in it.

COMMMITTED TO COUNTY JAIL.
 Members of the Rising Generation Gang on the Way to Their Reward.
 Five young toughs who are self-styled "Rising Generation" of Dodgetown, were yesterday committed to jail from police court to answer in court a charge of attempted burglary.
 Late Tuesday night they were about to enter a store on Fourth street, but were frightened away by the police. Less than an hour later they attempted to force an entrance into a butcher shop on the same street, but were surprised by the proprietor, Patrick McNally, who, with Patrolmen Palmer and Haug, captured them in a nearby alley. They gave the names of John Dunleavy, William Dunn, Michael Coggins, John Brown and Mart Lavelle. They are supposed to be concerned in various petty thieftings in the vicinity of their arrest.
