

REPUBLICANS OF JERMYN

A Great Mass Meeting of Unbridled Enthusiasm.

SHOW LOYALTY TO THE TICKET

Ex-Lieutenant Governor Stone, A. J. Colburn, Jr., and W. Gaylord Thomas...

The Republicans of Jermyan opened the campaign in a monster mass meeting in Windsor hall last night.

The speakers were Charles W. Stone, of Warren county, ex-lieutenant governor of the state, present congressman...

Hogarth's band furnished the music between the speeches and at other appropriate intervals.

Mr. Thomas introduced. Following an able introductory address by Chairman McCarthy, the speech-making was eloquently introduced by W. Gaylord Thomas.

At one point in Mr. Thomas' address occurred an incident which proved gratifying to the leaders present, if there is truth in the report.

Mr. Stone in his address gave a lucid and forcible lesson on the issues at stake and held the sympathy and close attention of his hearers without resorting to the subtleties of oratory.

Democratic speakers are gifted with memories who say that financial distress began four years ago.

When all had arrived there were two wagon loads of vegetables in the school garden.

IN BRACING OCTOBER

Strength Should Return and Languor Go.

No Season Is So Good for Building Up the Brain and Body.

Paine's Celery Compound's Work of Mercy in Countless Homes.

The prostrating heat of summer has long since gone.

There is now but one excuse for languor and lack of energy—ill health.

With the return of bracing, vigorous weather the thoroughly well men and women find the prospect of work attractive. Business looks promising.

The indolent, unambitious feeling of a few months ago gives place to energy and hard work.

That is, provided one is well.

To the sick man or woman the prospect is doleful. The thousands of persons who worked right through the hot summer, and the many whose vacation, instead of recruiting their strength, has only made increased demands on their tired nerves and brain—these unhappy ones should take advantage of the bracing days and nights to store their bodies with pure, vigorous blood and their nervous system with energy before the cold weather overtakes them in their weak, "run down" condition.

Paine's celery compound should be taken during the month of October. It will build up the tired system wonderfully. Increased appetite and steady growth in weight during the month will give unmistakable the stimulating effect of this remarkable nerve food. To those who know anything of the working and the purpose of the nervous system it is evident that the prompt feeding of the nerves with Paine's celery compound must be followed by a decided gain in health and vigor of the entire system. There is no organ of the body that is not controlled by the nerves.

It is the putting off of attention to the signs of heart weakness that fills the statistics with overwhelming numbers of deaths from "heart failure." Those who neglect the commands of physicians, who at once build up their strength and nourish the feeble nerves—save with Paine's celery compound, check weakness of that important organ as readily as weakness of any other part of the body. This greatest modern invigorant, discovered by a man whose Dartmouth college is most proud to honor, Prof. Edward E. Phelps, M. D., LL. D., was welcomed as a more than extraordinary step in advance of anything before the hands of physicians for curing rheumatism, neuralgia, debility, Countess women, weak, thin, mere bundles of nerves, and discouraged by their inability to gain strength, have been cured by the sure road to recovery by Paine's celery compound. Physicians prescribe it the world over. Get strong and well with Paine's celery compound.

Here is the experience of Mrs. William M'Collum, of Trenton, Mo., who says:

"I have had neuralgia for eight or ten years. I began to think that eventually I would be cured, but I have had three or four awful attacks in a month, and all the pain would settle in the base of my brain, and extend down my back, lasting several hours.

"We tried everything that we could think of, but nothing did me any lasting good until my mother came on a visit and told me to try Paine's celery compound, as she was using it for nervous trouble with wonderful success. We both think your compound saved us from going crazy. I only used two bottles of it, but I have not had a return of my old enemy since.

"On the 10th of October, and that is the doctors don't do anything for me. Some told me it was caused by nervous trouble, some said it was female trouble, some said one thing, some said another, but thanks to your wonderful compound I am free once more. I have often thought that I would write and tell you what a relief it is to be free from pain, but I neglected it from time to time. Now I speak a kind word for Paine's celery compound."

COURT HOUSE NEWS NOTES.

O. C. Whitney, committee of Dorrance E. Burdick, an habitual drunkard, yesterday filed an inventory with Prothonotary Pryor of the property owned by Burdick. It is specified as 180 acres of land, stock and farm implements.

Arbitrators Fred W. Platts, H. C. Taylor and Walter Briggs yesterday gave an award of $219.14 for the plaintiff in the case of Jacob Helmer against the Haslam Lime company. The action was brought to recover a book account.

Appeals were yesterday filed with Prothonotary Pryor in the cases of John R. Thomas and Lizzie Morgans against Edward and Winnie McDonald and William Davis, constable of Olyphant. The plaintiffs brought suits before Justice of the Peace Griffiths, of Olyphant, and each obtained judgment in the sum of $200 for the alleged unlawful seizure of personal property.

FIFTY DOLLARS FOR A NAME.

Arbitrators Thought That Enough for Annie Budehla.

The case of Annie Budehla against Susie Penzance was decided yesterday when an award of $50 was recorded in favor of the plaintiff.

Annie Budehla heard that Susie Penzance had uttered sentiments which placed her virtue at a discount, and other allegations were made derogatory to her position as an honest woman, and an action was brought in which she claimed $1,000 damages.

The action was referred to three arbitrators, C. C. Donovan, F. P. Tinkham and George W. East, who decided yesterday that $50 would be ample recompense for the injury sustained by the plaintiff.

The first trial of Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup will satisfy any one that the pine-healing virtue of the pine tree has now been refined into an effective and convenient cough medicine. Sold by all dealers on a guarantee of satisfaction.

Remarked by R. C. Joiner, of Allen P. O. Hillebrand Co., Mich.: "Nothing gave me more relief than Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. I believe it is infallible for rheumatism."

THE TIDE OF LIFE.

Produced by a Competent Company at the Frothingham.

A realistic melodrama of life in New York, called "The Tide of Life," was produced at the Frothingham last night by a company that contains very competent actors.

There are many thrilling situations in the drama, which also admits of a fine scenic display. The specialties by Healy, Watson and Gardiner provoked much applause.

"The Tide of Life" will be seen at the Frothingham again this afternoon and evening.

DISPOSED OF EIGHTY.

That Number of Indictments Wiped Off the Calendar During Term.

The two weeks term of criminal court practically closed yesterday afternoon when the jurors not then serving on cases were discharged from further attendance at court. Today aury cases will be heard.

During the two weeks term eighty indictments were disposed of. This does not include the cases that were returned on the list in which indictments were found.

NEW OLE OLSON.

Pleased an Audience at the Academy of Music Last Night.

"Ole Olson," re-written and enlivened, was produced at the Academy of Music last night before a thoroughly pleased audience.

The plot is a well defined thread of a plot running through the skit, which serves to introduce a number of good people. The specialties introduced are very entertaining.

"Ole Olson" will be produced again tonight at the Academy.

SHE WAS A CLAIRVOYANT.

But she couldn't fool the young man with her lying guesses.

From the Washington Post.

"That is a sure sign of death," said an elderly lady who affected extreme girlishness, addressing a young man and his wife, a petite brunette.

By the way, as they were standing near the south entrance of the Soldiers' Home, the remark was occasioned by hearing a passing horse utter a mournful neigh. The young man remarked that though the only sign of death was the presence of a rattle on a doorknob. "I never knew it to fail," said the elderly party, "and I have been a clairvoyant for nearly twenty years."

She then informed the young man and his wife, who she evidently mistook for brother and sister, that her place of business was on Princeton street.

"Now, you have a happy future before you," she said to him; "you will marry a tall, light haired girl with lots of money." The young man turned to his wife and winked the other eye.

"You must," she continued, "will have lots of trouble before she marries, but she must be brave and all will be well. Now, come down to my house and I will tell you many things most of importance concerning both your futures."

"You certainly are wonderful," said the young man; "but I, too, am a fortune teller."

"Yes, I can tell anyone's fortune by merely looking at the palms of their hands. Give me your hand and I'll show you what it means."

He took her hand and scrutinized it closely, remarking about certain lines and the interpretation of them. "Lots of trouble here—you are married—yes, a dark man. You expect lots of money some day." Then he stopped, and looking her square in the face, said: "I find a line here that I hesitate to tell you about; you might be offended if I told it."

"No; tell me what it means," said she, her curiosity fully aroused.

"Well," said he, "if you are sure you will not be angry I'll tell you. This line, the one near the index finger, says that you are most in danger to the habit of lying, because this young lady is my wife and we have been married."

But no more was heard by the fortune teller, as she quickly withdrew her hand and walked angrily away.

Fish Eggs.

Only the innumerable accidents to which fish are subjected prevent the overpopulation of all bodies of water containing fish. A single carp has yielded 100,000 eggs; a single cod 3,000,000; a sole, 100,000; a mackerel, 500,000; a herring, 1,500,000; and a sardine, 100,000. The eggs of one sturgeon when counted numbered 1,500,000, and there is a tradition of a giant sturgeon from which 119 pounds of roe were taken. That would indicate 7,150,000 eggs.

DUNMORE DOINGS.

Fresh oysters received daily at Palmer's market.

Martin Gibbons is pushing work on his new dwelling house.

Mrs. C. S. Maloney has returned from visiting relatives in Nantucket.

A. J. Widener has nearly completed the new addition to his house on Brook street.

Clarence E. Jackson is building a large new dwelling house on Drinker street.

Regular meeting of the Loyal Legion in Odd Fellows hall this evening at 7:45. A full attendance is desired.

Mrs. John Palmer left Thursday for New York, where she will spend two weeks visiting her daughter, Mrs. Fred Cook.

E. H. Kraus and Victor Burschel will spend Sunday at the home of Mr. Ager at Clark's Summit, going up on their wheels.

The Young Ladies Mission circle, of the Dunmore Presbyterian church, will give a social at Miss Edith Wert's next Friday evening, Oct. 25.

The mission band of the Methodist Episcopal church gave an interesting entertainment in the lecture room of the church last evening.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Easterline, on Green Ridge street, was lighted yesterday morning by the arrival of a young photographer, J. J. McDonnell, the new proprietor of the Dunmore hotel, is having painting and other improvements made throughout the interior of the hotel.
