NEWS OF THIS VICINITY

PITTSTON.

Dr. R. H. Gibbons, of Scranton, on Wednesday performed a critical surgi-cal operation on Charles F. Kuschel, of Broad street. The operation was the removal of a large tumor from the left breast. Drs. Lewis, Fry, Kearney and Kelly, of Scranton, assisted in the work. The operation took place at the home of the patient and was highly successful. Mr. Kirschel attributes the presence of he growth to a kick received several years ago from a fractious horse while on Wednesday Judge Woodward anded down a decision in the injunction proceedings instituted by M. W. Morris against the borough. By it the injunction is dissolved without preju-dice to the right of the plaintiff to re-new it any time if the borough authori-ties exceeds the constitutional limit to the amount of its indebtedness. The lecision practically leaves the borough a as bad a fix as ever, as the borough authorities cannot do any amount of paying to speak of without increasing is indebtedness.

The letter assured the anxious old lady that the writer was quite happy; that there was really no necessity for worry, and that mamma might make herself quite content at Biarritz. Geof-comic despair. "She is always want-ing to know about the skeleton. Thank goodness, there isn't one!"

On the clean blotting pad was an impress of some of her husband's writing. A palette-shaped mirror stood on the table, and, half unconsciously, she turned the pad toward it.

She knew his writing so well that she could scarcely be deceived on that point. The whole thing in a moment was clear. Her dear mother, with a less cramped experience of the world, had been right, after all.

"There is a skeleton," said the tremb-ling Mrs. Waterhouse. She tore her let-ter to Blarritz into many pieces.' As the last fragment went into the ferns in the fireplace she felt a kiss upon her

"Don't do that, please," she cried.
"Beg pardon," said her husband.
'Did I frighten you."
He took off his hat and adjusted his rince-nez. His coolness almost took er breath away.
"I must say, Geoffrey," she declared,

"I only want to know one thing. Did ou write this ridiculous stuff, please "Why, yes, I'm not going to deny that. Of course, it's only a part of the letter to the girl, but if you like I can tell you what happens afterward." "I don't want to know. If this gets known, what will be thought of you? You will be the laughing stock of all your colleagues.

"That's very true," acknowledged Professor Waterhouse, with concern-"that's very true, and it must never get known. I can't drop the affair now, unfortunately; but, you know"—he smiled at his wife a little anxiously— "there is no harm in it, and I'm not the only man who —" "Really?" In a tone of remote and frigid interest.

"I frankly admit, though, that I should be very sorry for it to get known. Of course, it seems to you a very foolish thing to do." "By no means."
"But I really don't believe that I

"Geoffrey, Iwon't listen to you."
"Well, my dear, I can't force you to can I? I believe, if you would only let me tell you the whole affair from beginning to end, you wouldn't be so much annoyed about it. It really isn't so bad as you think. Alicia is a most delightful girl, and it has been a recreation for me, you know; and I have been slogging away so of late, and——" The door slammed.
