Washington, Oct. 26. Many people are wondering these days what is going to happen next in base ball circles. The developments of last week did not create much of a stir to outward appearance, but beneath the surface there is a feeling of uneasiness...

The regular fall meeting of the big league managers will be held at the Fifth Avenue hotel, New York, Nov. 14 and 15, and until that time the promoters of the new association will be kept on the anxious seat, wondering what the action of the parent body will take...

years that the National league has been in existence, there has been some very hard batting, but Duffy's percentage this season is a record breaker. Previous best percentage was .403, made by Ross Barnes, in 1876, the first year of the league. The list of champion batsmen of the league is as follows:

Table listing champion batsmen of the league from 1875 to 1894, including names like Ross Barnes, John Ward, and others.

There were 620 home runs made in the league the past season, the biggest number in its history. Duffy leads the list with 117.

The Western league had eight men in its ranks the past season with a batting average of .300 or over, and 35 that had an average of .300.

An interesting test of the relative strength of the two sections of the league was made on Oct. 21, when the eastern club won 28 games from the western club in the past season, and lost to them only 18.

The Boston club has signed Catcher George Wright, who has been playing in the league of the western club since 1892. He is 29 years old, married, and is of steady habits.

YALE'S LATEST OFFER. Wants Princeton to Have a Game with Pennsy. Nov. 24. By the United Press.

credit. In addition to beating Johnson 11 times, he defeated Bliss 13 times; Harris, 18 times; and Bald, 20 times. Tyler has 57 victories to his credit, defeating Sanger and Johnson 8 times; Bald, 17 times, and Titus 7 times.

Bliss closed the season with 28 wins to put a club in Pittsburgh, so that they will not be embarrassed at the action of himself or associates.

Bliss has 55 victories to his credit, defeating Messrs. Johnson, Bliss and Sanger 3 times each; Bald, 19 times, and Tyler 2 times.

At the two hundred race meets held in this country during the past season the most successful aggressor was undoubtedly the allotment of spaces for the first national exhibit of cycles, accessories and sundries, to be held in Madison Square garden, Jan. 10 to 20, 1895.

The foreign professional bicycle riders who will come to this country next month will consist of the following: Arthur Linton and M. Huret, French champions; A. Verdon, English champion; and J. Wade McGowan, the Pittsburgh candidate for vice-consul of the Pennsylvania League of American Wheelmen.

The announced withdrawal from the racing board of the League of American Wheelmen, by Howard E. Raymond, is regretted by the members of the country. Mr. Raymond has become a dealer in cycle machinery, and in a letter to the members of the league he explains his withdrawal.

George W. Wolfe, who claims to have broken the Chicago record for a mile, is alleged to have ridden on a train between Valparaiso and Fort Wayne on Saturday, Oct. 20, at 100 miles an hour.

W. J. McGowan, of Pittsburgh, for the vice-consulship of the Pennsylvania League of American Wheelmen, is making a sharp move by mailing to all members of the league a copy of a ballot which is apparently the same as that which contains the name of Thomas Keenan in place of J. W. McGowan.

Zimmerman and Wheeler are now in Italy. They have made plans to sail for home from Genoa on November 1, on the Augusta Victoria. Manager Troy, who has returned from Europe, has arranged for the appearance of the foreign cracks at the Thanksgiving cycling carnival in Madison Square garden, may return with them.

An enthusiast with a strong liking for figures has calculated that Sanger's percentage for the season, reckoned on the basis of races won and lost, is .583, which places him at the head of the list, Johnson coming next with .527, Cabanne ranks third with .477, and then follows in descending order: Bald with .433, Bliss with .423, Charles Murphy with .409, Titus with .377, and Tyler with .357.

W. J. Goodwin, a Coventry rider who has been but little heard of, has taken the road side of twenty-four minutes of the hour, and has been recorded by the distance of 28 miles, and the course is very hilly throughout. At no part can the rider get a good start, and he has accomplished the double journey in 1:23:00. He broke the Midland twelve hour record (100 miles) on four times during the course of his jaunt.

Notes of the Turf. "Lukey" Baldwin has refused to match Ray El Santa Anita with Henry of Navarre. The board of appeals of the American Trotting association will meet in Chicago on Dec. 1.

The English sculler, which will be hung up by the citizens, is expected to get Peterson, the oarsman in participation, in which event constant will put up $1,000 to be added to the purse.

NOTES AND QUERIES. Concise Answers to the Interesting Questions of Curious People.

From the Editors of the American. Question--I. Was there not a battle in the last century, in which the troops of the French and the English were arrayed in line of battle before each other? Did not Napoleon have a publisher shot?

Answer: I. There is a tradition to the effect that at the battle of Fontenoy, in France, the English officers took off their hats to their French enemies arrayed in line of battle before them. Two French officers rode forward and also took off their hats, returning the salute.

Question: II. There is a tradition to the effect that at the battle of Fontenoy, in France, the English officers took off their hats to their French enemies arrayed in line of battle before them. Two French officers rode forward and also took off their hats, returning the salute.

Question: III. In the olden times, when Barnum's hotel was flourishing, I read frequently after Christmas that he had served watermelon for dessert. How were the melons kept so long?

Answer: Some years ago a man in New Jersey furnished some watermelons, and he claims, kept them in good condition until Christmas. He put one or two of the melons on them, and covered them with a layer of straw, letting each one get dry before putting on another. He kept them in a cool place, but took care not to let them get frozen. It is said, however, by others who have tried the plan, that a slight taste of the varnish was discovered, which was due, of course, to the liquid making its way through the rind.

Question: IV. In the olden times, when Barnum's hotel was flourishing, I read frequently after Christmas that he had served watermelon for dessert. How were the melons kept so long?

Question: V. Who was Robert Browning's "Lost Leader" and who the "Fair Rosamond" of Tennyson?

Answer: Goethe and Southey have been made conspicuous by various poems as the "Lost Leader" and "Fair Rosamond" of Browning's, because each during his lifetime had made radical changes in his views on government, and, therefore, fitted the part. But the poet as his private correspondence shows, had Wordsworth in mind at the time he wrote the poem, but he says in this letter, written some years after the publication of the poem, that that no attempt was made at a portrait. Jane Clifford was the "Fair Rosamond" in "The Dream of Fair Rosamond," she was a favorite of Lord Clifford, and the favorite of Henry II. of England. He kept her concealed in a mythical labyrinth near Woodstock, but all to no purpose, for she is said to have been released by Queen Eleanor in 1177. The story has been told frequently in prose and poetry. Samuel Davis published an historical poem about her in 1824, and in 1824, Swinburne wrote a drama entitled "Rosamond." Addison an opera, Scott refers to the story in his two novels, "The Talisman" and "Woodstock," and many ballads and romances on the subject have achieved a place largely on account of the pretty story.

Question: VI. Can you give the proportion of clear days in England and the United States?

Answer: Not exactly as you state it; but Dr. Cronk, of the State Weather Bureau, has published a table, in which it is shown that the number of clear days in London had twice the sunshine of London, and in addition to London, only two other stations in England reported a greater number of hours of sunshine than two hundred. In the United States, moreover, only three stations had more sunshine in that month than Baltimore. The least sunshine at the record stations was at Eastport, Me., and Portland, Ore. During May, 1894, the record of sunshine hours recorded at the stations is as follows: Baltimore, 385; Washington, 382; London, 165. During June of this year it was: Baltimore, 348; Washington, 323; St. Louis, 402; Santa Fe, 384; Tucson, 364; Eastport, 143; Portland, Ore., 183; London, England, 165; Guernsey, 202; Jersey, 205.

Question: VII. Inform me whether base ball is brain work or art.

Answer: It is largely brain, and comparatively little brain, except in the exercise of judgment on the part of the players, with exception of the pitcher. He has to calculate, not only largely; that is, exercise more than ordinary skill in the performance of his work, as in delivering deceptive balls to the batter. Base ball is, however, a scientific game, and, as such, requires generally more brain than the average out-door sport.
