Gov. McKinley Made Eleven Speeches to Sixty Thousand Persons.

HIS TALK IN PHILADELPHIA

It Bristles with Telling Points--The Champion of Protection Booked for Fifteen Speeches Today--Other Live Political Developments.

By the United Press.

Philadelphia, Oct. 27. At the rate of more than a mile a minute Governor McKinley was hustled across the state of New Jersey to his big political meeting here last night. Including the meetings in this city last night, Governor McKinley made eleven speeches during the day, and was greeted by an aggregate of probably 60,000 persons. At 11 o'clock he left for Illinois, where he is booked for fifteen meetings on Monday.

The governor was greeted with prolonged cheers when, at 7.50 o'clock, he was introduced at the big meeting by John Stewart, president of the Philadelphia Workingmen's Protective Tariff League, and before he had spoken a dozen words the applause broke out afresh. Governor McKinley talked on national issues. He humorously referred to the recent tariff "trouble between the house and the senate and the president," and dwelt at some length upon the "arduous" passage of the bill bearing the name of Mr. Wilson. "Pennsylvania, with all her industries," the governor continued, "had no voice in the formation of this measure." President Cleveland was characterized as "a man of peace in war, and a man of war in peace." Then the governor directly asked his hearers if they thought the Wilson tariff law was as good for this country as the law of 1890. A chorus of noes came back with vehemence.

"Do we want it?" was the next question. "Not on your life," was the reply of several of the auditors.

"Well, vote that way on Nov. 6," was the governor's admonition.

Democracy's Work.

The speaker drew a word picture of the "present state of industrial affairs," and asked how many men in Philadelphia are now receiving the wages that they got in 1892.

"Not 1," "Not 1," were the answers from different parts of the auditorium. "How many men are unemployed now who were employed in 1892?" the governor then asked.

"Thousands," "Not out of work," was the answer, especially from the galleries. One man volunteered the information that he was "working on old time," and to this remark the governor said:

"Half time only, but then that is better than no time." The speaker referred to the fact that the "eight-hour question" nowadays because what the workmen now want is "longer hours of employment."

Governor McKinley admitted that there were some mistakes in the 1890 tariff bill. "No measure having 3,500 items on its list can be framed without many mistakes," the speaker said, "but what mistakes there were, were in favor of the American people. He said the Wilson bill has thus far been found to have 52 mistakes, and "all of them are against the American people."

The governor referred to the Buchanan administration as one of "peace and detraction," and compared it to the present administration, adding that "history only repeats itself." In conclusion he urged the Republicans to fight to secure control of the next house of representatives. The governor declared that six Republicans would, in the next congress, represent Ohio, whereas many Democrats would represent Ohio in the next congress.

Governor McKinley got from Syracuse to Philadelphia without a hitch. He said, would like to speak in New York and Brooklyn, but the Republican state campaign managers have demurred.

OHIO IS ALL RIGHT.

She Will Give a Larger Republican Plurality Than Ever Before.

Columbus, O., Oct. 28.--Unless matters in Ohio take on an entirely new tinge in the next twenty days, the Democratic state ticket will be a foregone conclusion. The Democratic ticket, which was put up by Hon. L. T. Neal last fall, and that with possible exceptions in two cases, the Republicans will win in not less than six congressional districts, being a gain of six members over the present delegation.

GOTHAM'S REGISTRATION.

It Beats That of Two Years Ago--The Fig-By the United Press.

New York, Oct. 28.--The total registration in this city is 309,930. This beats 1892 by 305, so that, allowing for the increase in population, the election this year appears to have aroused nearly as much interest as the last presidential campaign. In 1892 the total vote polled for president was 92 per cent. of the registration, and for mayor 91.14 per cent., omitting in all cases defective and scattering votes. In 1893 the total vote polled was 90.5 per cent. of the registration. If we say 92 per cent. this year, a registration of 309,930 means an effective vote of 285,135.

YESTERDAY WAS THE FOURTH AND LAST DAY OF REGISTRATION IN BROOKLYN.

The number of additional voters enrolled was 22,081. For the corresponding day in 1891 the registration was 15,016; in 1892, 24,684. The total registration for the four days is 191,613, which exceeds the presidential year by over 600, and falls short of last year by nearly 400.

AFTER GIBSON'S SCALP.

An "Anti" Element Is Making Things Lively for the Maryland Senators Who Modified the Wilson Bill.

By the United Press.

Easton, Md., Oct. 28.--Senator Gibson did not preside over the Democratic mass meeting in Music Hall yesterday. As United States senator he would naturally be considered the biggest man in his party at his own home. Yet he was not even given a seat on the platform in front of the people he was sent to Washington to represent. The central committee was plainly told several days ago by a member of the anti-Gibson Democratic that if he should be made the chairman of the meeting, that at least one hundred prominent Democrats would leave the hall in a body. Their animosity toward the senator is the result of his course in the senate regarding the tariff bill.

It Is Believed that the meeting has very much widened the breach in the Talbot county Democracy.

HILL ON MCKINLEY.

He Tells Why the Ohio Governor Came to New York.

Waterbury, Oct. 28.--Senator Hill spoke here last night to a large and enthusiastic audience. Referring to Governor McKinley's recent tour of the Empire state, the senator said: "I welcome Mr. McKinley here, as a distinguished Republican and as the governor of the state of Ohio. It may be possible that he has come into this state to see about the tariff bill. He need not take a long journey into the state of Ohio, and I went out to help the Democracy of his district to elect a fair man. You probably all recollect that Mr. McKinley was not returned to congress that year. I turn to a fair play. He need not imagine I have any feeling on account of his presence here."

He wants this country to be ruined, and the country refuses to be, and prosperous times have been returning for many weeks past. It might aid Mr. McKinley's tariff hobby should you turn over the reins of government to him. I tell you he is opposed to the best interests of every manufacturer and every citizen in the country. He does not want this country to succeed under a Democratic tariff, but it will. The commercial travelers and the business men of this country report that business is picking up all over the country.

Senator Hill then referred to the repeal of the Sherman silver law and the federal elections law, and charged that last year's panic was due to vicious Republican legislation. In closing he referred to his acceptance of the nomination and said he was going to the legislature that he received a burst of applause, the audience standing on their feet and waving their hats in the air.

IMPORTATION TIN.

Tariff Reductions Seems to Have Affected American Market Seriously.

By the United Press.

Milwaukee, Oct. 28.--The cargo of 200,000 pounds of Welsh tin reported to be on the way from Baltimore to this city is consigned to the Kieckhefer company. Ferdinand Kieckhefer, speaking of the matter, said:

"We do not like to purchase tin abroad, as the grade is inferior to what we have in this country, but we could not help ourselves. All American mills have shut down. The tariff has been reduced until the manufacturers could not stand the competition, and they had to close their works. Bankruptcy and importation of plate has largely increased, as a matter of course. All the manufacturers are in the same position we are. We are getting plate a little cheaper, but we cannot make any more money."

Georgia Legislature Votes Down a Resolution for Unlimited Silver.

By the United Press.

Atlanta, Oct. 28.--A motion to take up a resolution in the house of representatives of the Georgia legislature declaring it to be the sense of the legislature that congress should enact a law for the free and unlimited coinage of silver and condemning the representatives in congress who voted for the repeal of the Sherman act, was defeated yesterday morning by a vote of 94 to 63.

New York, Oct. 28.--A rousing meeting was held in Cooper Union last night, in defense of the proposed constitutional amendments. Joseph H. Choate was the chief speaker. Mr. Choate has made a reputation for saying unexpected things on all public occasions, and he bore out his reputation last night by speaking a few words in praise of Grover Cleveland.

RESIGNED OF HIS OWN ACCORD

German Politics Are Seriously Agitated by an Unpleasant in the Ministry--Politicians Flocking to Berlin from All Directions--A Successor Chosen.

By the United Press.

New York, Oct. 28. A special cable to the Sun from Berlin says: The dramatic collapse of the ministry has been followed by such a scurrying to and fro as the capital has not seen before since Bismarck fell. Every train brings to the city politicians whose parties are affected most vitally by the change of whose influence in the cabinet is being reconstructed of the government. Several federal envoys left town yesterday morning under the impression that Thursday's conference had smoothed away all threatening difficulties, but they are returning now. All are astounded and perplexed by the sudden resignation of the chancellor, for to most officials behind the scenes it came as unexpectedly as to the public at large.

Several facts proving the suddenness of the crisis have come to light today. It has been ascertained that the emperor's thought of resigning was true only to this extent: He intimated to the emperor on that day that he would resign in case he should not get a majority of the federal envoys to support him in the conference. The report that the emperor censured Caprivi for an article written by the Kaiser's secretary, which thought of the Prussian minister against the Prussian premier and the chancellor from the first in official circles, where it was known that, upon his return from Lieberburg, the emperor greeted the chancellor most cordially. The story that the emperor had known it probably will be known to Caprivi insisted upon resigning against the emperor's will. He is shown to have expressed his unwillingness to present Dr. Miquel's new financial proposals in the reichstag and to have told the emperor, that, with another chancellor, Miquel would have freer hands in the reichstag than he had in the federal states. The emperor heard impatiently this suggestion to reform his cabinet. He eventually offered to Caprivi a cabinet officer who had known the emperor's will. D. V. Groener, one of the Republican leaders of Virginia, states that his party is making a very strong fight in the Old Dominion. He expects at least two congressmen to be elected by the Republicans.

The vote given Chauncey F. Black for lieutenant governor in 1890 is considered the true test of Democratic strength for comparison this year by Chairman Stranahan and is likely to be agreed upon by Colonel Gillespie.

Carbon county Democrats complain over the apparent inactivity of the county chairman. No meetings have been arranged for or announced and none are in sight. The Democratic workers are listless and indifferent and the voters even worse.

LYNCHING BEE POSTPONED.

Baltimore Police Rescue a Negro from a Mob in Anne Arundel County and Confine Him in the Lockup.

By the United Press.

3rd Nov. Oct. 28.--The village of Brooklyn, Anne Arundel county, was thrown into a state of excitement last night by a crowd of 200 negroes who gathered about the jail, with the declared intention of lynching a negro confined therein and accused of an attempted felonious assault. The negro's intended victim was a white girl, who was quite a village belle. The excited mob insisted that the jail caused Chief of Police Harry Acton to telephone to this city for assistance.

The Southern district patrol wagon, with a squad of eight policemen, was sent to Brooklyn at once. They surrounded the jail and drove back the crowd. A minute later the negro was brought out of prison, heavily manacled, and put into the wagon. The police closed in about him and the horse was whipped into a gallop. Almost before the crowd realized what had happened the possible victim of a lynching was gone, and was soon afterwards locked up in the southern district police station.

The negro is Henry Leonard, aged 50. His intended victim was 19 years old, Miss Louisa Schwaub. The assault was made a week ago, but the negro escaped and was not captured until yesterday.
